James L. Nichols, Treasurer
The Board of Trustees met at its regular monthly meeting on Thursday, July 10, and Friday, July 11, 1986, at The Ohio State University Fawcett Center for Tomorrow, Columbus, Ohio, pursuant to adjournment.

* * *
Minutes of the last meeting were approved.

July 10 and 11, 1986 meeting, Board of Trustees

Trustee Leonard J. Immke, called the meeting of the Board of Trustees to order on July 10, 1986, at 6:40 p.m. He requested the Secretary to call the roll. The meeting recessed into Executive Session for the purpose of considering legal issues and personnel-related matters.

Mr. Galbreath reconvened the meeting on July 11, 1986, at 10:30 a.m.

RENAMING OF DEPARTMENT

Resolution No. 87-1

Synopsis: A proposal to change the name of the Department of Medicine to the Department of Internal Medicine is recommended.

WHEREAS the Executive Committee of the College of Medicine unanimously voted to approve renaming the Department of Medicine as the Department of Internal Medicine; and

WHEREAS considerable confusion exists with having both the College, and its largest Department designated by the same name; and

WHEREAS the designation, Internal Medicine, is widely used and accepted nationally in this discipline; and

WHEREAS the University Senate approved the renaming of the Department of Medicine on June 7, 1986:

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That the Department of Medicine be renamed the Department of Internal Medicine effective immediately.

Upon motion of Mr. Immke, seconded by Mr. Teaford, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous voice vote.

JOINT DEGREE PROGRAM - MASTER OF LIBRARY SCIENCE

Resolution No. 87-2

Synopsis: Recommendation for a Master of Library Science Joint Degree Program for The Ohio State University and Kent State University is proposed.

WHEREAS the proposed Master of Library Science Joint Degree Program for The Ohio State University and Kent State University has been strongly endorsed by the College of Education; and
WHEREAS resources for outstanding instructional, research, and service programs in library science are available through innovative and technologically sophisticated libraries in Central Ohio, and by combining these resources with those of the Kent State's School of Library Science a better program will result; and

WHEREAS the program would provide access to a much needed graduate library science degree for many residents of Central and Southern Ohio; and

WHEREAS the Graduate Council voted unanimously to approve the proposed program; and

WHEREAS the University Senate approved the program on June 7, 1986:

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That the Master of Science Joint Degree Program for The Ohio State University and Kent State University be established effective Autumn Quarter 1986.

Upon motion of Ms. Casto, seconded by Mr. Teaford, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous voice vote.

AMENDMENTS TO THE RULES OF THE UNIVERSITY FACULTY

Resolution No. 87-3

Synopsis: Amendments to rules 3335-5-471, 3335-5-473, 3335-5-485, 3335-5-486, 3335-5-4814, and 3335-11-022 are being proposed.

WHEREAS the University Senate pursuant to rule 3335-1-09 of the Administrative Code is authorized to recommend through the President to the Board of Trustees the adoption of amendments to the Rules of the University Faculty as approved by the University Senate; and

WHEREAS the proposed changes in the Rules of the University Faculty were approved by the University Senate on June 7, 1986, as follows:

AMENDED RULES

3335-5-471 Steering committee.

(B) (2) Review the structure, operation, and effectiveness of the senate and its committees. It shall receive suggestions, review proposed rule changes, and initiate recommendations for change in the structure and operation of the senate, including structure, duties, and responsibilities of senate committees, without, however, in any way restricting the senate's authority to alter its operations by other means. The steering committee may also review other proposed rule changes prior to presentation to the senate.

3335-5-473 Rules committee.

(B) Duties and responsibilities.
AMENDMENTS TO THE RULES OF THE UNIVERSITY FACULTY (contd)

(1) Be responsible, in cooperation with the secretary of the university senate, for the monitoring of the "Rules of the University Faculty" and of all statutes and bylaws pertaining to the senate.

(2) Ensure that all published rules and bylaws within the senate's purview are up to date, and recommend their republication at such intervals as may be desirable.

(3) Make recommendations for the revision of the procedural rules of the senate.

(4) Following senate approval, the committee shall receive all proposed new rules and changes in existing rules. It shall review them and recommend to the senate such editorial or other changes it deems necessary to avoid conflict with other rules, to enhance clarity and precision, and to avoid ambiguity. Its recommendations shall be presented for final action at the next regular meeting of the senate; debate will be limited to the editorial changes recommended by the committee. If the committee is unable to report at this time, it shall inform the program committee of the reasons so that they may be included in the program committee's report on items not yet appearing on the senate's agenda.

(5) Initiate rules or changes in existing rules and recommend them to the program committee for scheduling for senate action.

3335-5-485 Athletic council.

(B) (2) Participate with the president in the process of selecting the university's two faculty representatives to the intercollegiate conference of faculty representatives (big ten conference).

(a) For each faculty representative position, the athletic council shall prepare a list of no fewer than two regular faculty members from which the president shall select a faculty representative. All regular tenured faculty members are eligible for inclusion on these lists.

(b) Unchanged.

(c) Final approval of each list of names submitted to the president shall be made by the full membership of the athletic council. The list for each faculty representative position shall be presented to the president during the winter quarter preceding the start of the next term of office in order to allow for a smooth transition between outgoing and incoming faculty representatives.

(d) The terms of the representatives shall be arranged so that the terms shall not begin or expire within the same year. The term of office for a faculty representative is three years, beginning the first of July following appointment. Reappointment for no more than one additional three-year term is permissible. If an incumbent faculty representative is eligible to and desires to serve another term, then at least seven months prior to the expiration of the current term, the athletic council shall undertake a review of the incumbent's performance. If the council decides that the incumbent should serve a second term and the president concurs, the faculty representative's term shall be renewed. Otherwise, the council shall move to prepare a list to submit to the president following the procedures of paragraphs (B) (2) (a) to (c) of this rule.

(e) A faculty representative who is not already a member of the athletic council shall attend meetings of the council. The chairperson of the athletic council, or the chairperson's designee from among the faculty members of the athletic council, shall serve as an ex officio alternate for either faculty representative with full voting privileges at conference meetings.

3335-5-486 Council on admission and registration.

(A) Membership.

The council on admission and registration shall consist of nineteen members.

(1) Nine regular faculty.

(a) Three regular faculty appointed by the president for three-year terms. Appointed members are eligible for reappointment.

(b) Six regular faculty, at least two of whom are senate members, elected by the senate.

(2) Unchanged.

(3) Five administration members, all non-voting.

(a) Vice president for academic affairs and provost, or designee.

(b) Vice provost for student affairs, or designee.

(c) Vice president for finance, or designee.

(d) University registrar.

(e) Director of admissions.

(B) Unchanged.

(C) Organization.

(1) The chairperson shall be elected from among the faculty members. The vice president for academic affairs and provost, or designee, shall serve as vice chairperson, and the vice provost for student affairs, or designee, shall serve as secretary.

3335-5-4814 University calendar committee.

(B) Duties and responsibilities.
AMENDMENTS TO THE RULES OF THE UNIVERSITY FACULTY (contd)

(1) Formulate guidelines for the preparation of university calendars to be presented for approval to the senate.

(2) Prepare the university calendar, following the adopted guidelines.

(3) Make minor modifications in published university calendars when circumstances warrant.

(4) Consult with the council on academic affairs, the council of deans, and other appropriate offices before recommending to the senate a major change in the university calendar.

(5) Periodically study the comparative advantages and disadvantages of the quarter system and alternative systems.

(6) Monitor and seek to improve quarter-end validation procedures.

(7) Transmit reports, including results of studies conducted by the university calendar committee, to the council of deans, the council on academic affairs, and the university senate, for consideration and appropriate action.

3335-11-022 Pending criminal law suit.

(A) Whenever a criminal court exercises jurisdiction over acts which allegedly constitute a disruption by university rules, the university shall not exercise jurisdiction, except in an extraordinary case. In such a case, the university may bring the student before a hearing officer and panel to determine whether the student poses a clear and present danger of repeated or continued violation of rule 3335-11-02 of the Administrative Code. If the panel finds that such a danger exists, it shall recommend that the student's continued enrollment be dependent on the imposition of strict disciplinary probation, under such terms and conditions as the hearing officer may specify (except that the student may not be deprived of university scholarship, loan, grant-in-aid, or employment).

(B) The term of probation shall last until such time as the hearing officer finds that the danger no longer exists. This finding may be initiated by the officer or upon petition by the student.

(C) If a probation violation is alleged to have occurred, the student will be subject to an immediate hearing before a hearing officer. If found in violation of probation, the student will be temporarily suspended or dismissed from the university pending a full hearing.

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That the foregoing amendments to the Rules of the University Faculty be adopted as recommended by the University Senate.

Upon motion of Mr. Barone, seconded by Mr. Immke, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous voice vote.
July 10 and 11, 1986 meeting, Board of Trustees

President Jennings made the following statement:

I am pleased to find in my travels through Ohio -- such as the recent trip to Cleveland -- that there is increasing understanding and acknowledgement of the breadth of Ohio State's influence and advantages. There is an unfortunate tendency in Ohio to overlook The Ohio State University's statewide mission and even broader benefits.

Students come from throughout the Buckeye state, from every other state of the Union, and more than one hundred foreign nations. The faculty is similarly diverse. Our alumni and our reputation for excellence extend to the four corners of the Earth. Research efforts extend from the farmlands of Ohio to both polar ice caps.

When this state's General Assembly established The Ohio State University some 116 years ago, it was intended to be an institution that would serve all the citizens of Ohio. Our charter and mission as Ohio's land-grant university gave us a unique and vital role to play throughout the state.

For this reason, and to recognize the growing regional, national, and international role that Ohio State plays, I am pleased to recommend to the Board of Trustees a change in the official seal of the University to reflect our comprehensive mission—to recommend that city designations for Columbus and regional campuses be replaced by the year of the University's founding, 1870.

This action serves as a symbolic re-affirmation to the people of Ohio that our University, is truly their University. We exist to serve the entire state, through the educational opportunities that we provide to its sons and daughters; the knowledge that is revealed through out wide-ranging research undertakings; and the efforts that we lead to improve the quality of life for our neighbors and fellow citizens.

We are proud to be The Ohio State University.

UNIVERSITY SEAL REVISION

Resolution No. 87-4

Synopsis: Revision of the official University Seal to replace the word "Columbus" with the year of the University's founding, 1870, and the elimination of all regional campus seals is proposed.

WHEREAS The Ohio State University Board of Trustees has on previous occasions approved the design for the official Seal of the University; and

WHEREAS in its role as Ohio's land-grant institution, the University serves the entire State of Ohio through its missions of teaching, research, and related public service; and

WHEREAS the University's influence and reputation, potential body of students, and alumni population extend throughout Ohio, across the United States, and around the world; and

WHEREAS the current University Seal design incorporates the word "Columbus"
July 10 and 11, 1986 meeting, Board of Trustees

UNIVERSITY SEAL REVISION (contd)

as part of the official seal, and the University's regional campuses incorporate their city names in their various seals; and

WHEREAS the Board of Trustees proudly acknowledges that The Ohio State University serves all Ohioans and is international in scope, influence, and reputation:

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That the official Seal of The Ohio State University and the Commercial Seal of the University be redrawn so as to replace the word "Columbus" with the year "1870," in which year the University was founded and that these revised Seals be registered with the United States Patent and Trademark Office and the Office of the Secretary of State of Ohio; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That all regional campus seals be eliminated and replaced by the single, redrawn official University Seal; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That the Secretary of the Board be directed to ensure that the revised Seals be used for all official University purposes and incorporated into the University Operating Manual and adopted for all official University uses effective July 1, 1987.

Upon motion of Mr. Barone, seconded by Mr. Immke, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous voice vote.

DEGREES AND CERTIFICATES - SUMMER QUARTER COMMENCEMENT

Resolution No. 87-5

Synopsis: Approval is being requested for awarding degrees and certificates for Summer Quarter Commencement.

WHEREAS pursuant to paragraph (E) of rule 3335-1-06 of the Administrative Code, the Board has authority for the issuance of degrees and certificates; and

WHEREAS the faculties of the colleges and schools shall transmit, in accordance with rule 3335-9-29 of the Administrative Code, for approval by the Board of Trustees, the names of persons who have completed degree and certificate requirements:

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That the degrees and certificates be conferred on August 29, 1986, to those persons who have completed the requirements for their respective degrees and certificates and are recommended by the colleges and schools, and that the names of those persons awarded degrees and certificates be included in the minutes of this meeting.

Upon motion of Ms. Casto, seconded by Mr. Barone, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous voice vote.

RESOLUTION IN MEMORIAM

Resolution No. 87-9

Synopsis: A resolution honoring the service of one of the University's faculty members who has recently died is being proposed.

RESOLVED, That the Board adopt the following Resolution in Memoriam and that the President be requested to convey a copy to the family of the deceased.

C. Gibson Scheaffer

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on March 11, 1986, of C. Gibson Scheaffer, Assistant Professor Emeritus in the School of Journalism.

Professor Scheaffer was born on April 27, 1905. He earned his B.A. degree in 1927 from the University of Wisconsin, School of Journalism.

Professor Scheaffer joined the School of Journalism as a Lecturer in 1963 and was named Assistant Professor in 1965. A dedicated teacher, he taught the School's service courses for the Colleges of Agriculture and Home Economics as well as courses which served students in the College of Dentistry. During a brief period he served as a special assistant to President Novice G. Fawcett, primarily in the area of speech preparation.

Professor Scheaffer came to OSU after a distinguished career in publishing in New York City. He was editor-in-chief for adult books for the Grosset and Dunlap Company; a senior editor for McGraw-Hill; and a managing editor for the book division of the Ziff-Davis Publishing Company and earlier held other book and newspaper editing positions.

One of his major contributions to the School of Journalism was the development and direction of a continuing education effort of the American Dental Association, a Dental Editors Seminar. During these yearly seminars, approximately 25 dental editors participated in a four-day minicourse in dental journalism. He was the program director from 1967 through 1973.

Professor Scheaffer retired and became Assistant Professor Emeritus on July 1, 1975.

On behalf of the University, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family its deep sympathy and sense of understanding in its loss. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as an expression of the Board's heartfelt sympathy.

Upon motion of Ms. Casto, seconded by Mr. Barone, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous voice vote.

REPORT OF RESEARCH CONTRACTS, GRANTS, AND GIFTS
Resolution No. 87-10

Synopsis: The reports on contracts, grants, and gifts and the summary for May 1986 are presented for Board acceptance.

WHEREAS monies are solicited and received on behalf of the University from governmental, industrial and other agencies and alumni and various other individuals in support of research, instructional activities, and service; and

WHEREAS such gifts and grants are received through The Ohio State University Research Foundation, the Engineering Experiment Station of The Ohio State University, and The Ohio State University Development Fund:

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That the research agreement between The Ohio State University and The Ohio State University Research Foundation for the contracts and grants reported herein, and the acceptance of the reports from the Engineering Experiment Station and The Ohio State University Development Fund during the month of May 1986 be approved.

Upon motion of Ms. Casto, seconded by Mr. Barone, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous voice vote.

President Jennings made the following statement:

Many of the items in today's report provide firm evidence of The Ohio State University's growing success in cooperative efforts with the corporate sector. I would like to take a moment to tell you about another success story.

During the next five years, Tominy Incorporated, a Cincinnati developer and supplier of data processing software development tools for business and industry, will give the University up to $1.5 million worth of software, and training and maintenance materials for its newest product, named "MACH 1."

Tominy officials tell us that the MACH 1 software permits data processing systems to be developed up to five times faster than with conventional methods. The software and the systems it produces can be used on mainframe, micro- and mini-computers made by a variety of vendors.

William R. Martin, Tominy's president and chief executive officer, told me recently that Ohio State was selected to receive this gift because Tominy was extremely impressed with our forward-thinking approach to the study and development of data processing systems.

Mr. Martin feels that we share his belief in the need to focus corporate America's attention on the use of computers in truly critical business applications that facilitate business expansion and economic growth.

Ohio State assisted Tominy in the development of MACH 1 on a contract research basis. Since that time, we have maintained a strong interest in using MACH 1.

We are very enthusiastic about the possibilities of using this product in the classroom, where students should be able to develop full data processing applications within a single academic quarter. We also foresee countless uses of MACH 1 for research in a wide range of administrative applications. Certainly, it will alleviate the difficulties inherent in the variety of sizes and makes of computers needed in our diverse academic and administrative areas throughout the University.

In order to promote MACH 1's use here, a steering committee and a technical advisory committee are being organized to oversee distribution and use of the software among Ohio State faculty and staff members and students. I am pleased that the steering committee will be chaired by William P. Cheng, an Ohio State alumnus and venture capitalist from San Diego, who was instrumental in securing the Tominy gift for Ohio State.

On behalf of the University, I'm pleased to extend my thanks to Bill Martin, Bill Cheng, and Tominy's founder, Tom Richley. As a result of their commitment to Ohio State, our excellence will be 进一步增强。

THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY DEVELOPMENT FUND

Establishment of Named Funds

The Walter H. Kidd Fund

The Walter H. Kidd Fund was established July 11, 1986, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from Walter H. Kidd, Bachelor of Architectural Engineering '29.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used for the benefit of the College of Engineering for any purpose relating thereto as the Dean of the College of Engineering shall determine.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to the recommendations from the appropriate administrative official of the University who is then directly responsible for engineering education.

The Charlotte S. Huck Children's Literature Endowment Fund

The Charlotte S. Huck Children's Literature Endowment Fund was established July 11, 1986, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from alumni and friends of Charlotte S. Huck, Professor, at the time of her retirement.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income and additional gifts shall be added to the fund's principal until such time as the principal reaches $500,000 and is sufficient to establish THE CHARLOTTE S. HUCK PROFESSORSHIP IN CHILDREN'S LITERATURE. At that time, the annual income shall be used to support the work of a distinguished professor in the area of children's literature. Appointment to the professorship will be recommended by the Dean of the College of Education.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to the recommendations from the appropriate administrative official of the University who is then directly responsible for children's literature.

State University Development Fund from The Dow Chemical Company of Midland, Michigan, alumni and friends.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income and additional gifts shall be added to the fund's principal until such time as the principal reaches $250,000 and is sufficient to establish THE DOW PROFESSORSHIP IN CHEMISTRY. At that time, the annual income shall be used to provide salary and program support for a distinguished faculty member in the Department of Chemistry. The Dow Professor of Chemistry will teach and conduct research in chemistry related to materials science. Appointment to the professorship will be recommended by the Dean of the College of Mathematical and Physical Sciences.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to the recommendations from the appropriate administrative official of the University who is then directly responsible for materials science education.

Robert C. Tumbleson Scholarship Foundation

The Robert C. Tumbleson Scholarship Foundation was established July 11, 1986, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from the estate of Ruth L. Tumbleson, B.S.Bus.Adm. '31, in memory of her husband, Robert C. Tumbleson, B.A., Mathematics '34.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used for scholarship awards to worthy students in the Department of Mathematics in the College of Mathematical and Physical Sciences. Selection of the award recipients shall be made by the University Committee on Student Financial Aid from nominees submitted by the Chairperson in the Department of Mathematics in consultation with the Dean of the College of Mathematical and Physical Sciences.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to the recommendations from the appropriate administrative official of the University who is then directly responsible for the teaching of mathematics at the University.

The W. B. and T. T. Stout Agricultural Economics Scholarship Fund

The W. B. and T. T. Stout Agricultural Economics Scholarship Fund was established July 11, 1986, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from Mrs. Maude Taylor Stout, B.S., Soc. Administration '23; Dr. Whitney B. Stout, B.S.Agr.E. '22, M.S., Agricultural Economics '28, Ph.D., Agricultural Economics '30, and a member of the faculty from 1930 to 1931; and Dr. Thomas T. Stout, B.S., Agronomy '52, M.S., Agricultural Economics '53, Ph.D., Agricultural Economics '56, and a member of the faculty from 1961 to the present.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to provide one or more scholarships for students who have declared Agricultural Economics as their major course of study and who have demonstrated above average academic performance and/or need for financial assistance. The selection of the recipient(s) is to be made upon the recommendation of the Dean of the College of Agriculture in cooperation with the Chairperson of the Department of Agriculture Economics and the University Committee on Student Financial Aid. For as long as Dr. T. T. Stout is an active member of the faculty of The Ohio State University, the awards shall be known as the W. B. Stout Scholarship. Upon Dr. T. T. Stout's retirement, or his written instruction, the name of this award shall be changed to reflect the broader base of contributions to this fund by the Stout Family. At that time an additional annual award shall be established to support research and graduate study in Agricultural Marketing. Any annual income not spent shall be returned to the principal of this endowment. Should the discipline of Agricultural Economics ever be administratively combined with Economics or any other academic unit at The Ohio State University, this award shall be restricted to those students who are specializing in the study of Agricultural Economics and the recipients shall be selected under the criteria outlined above.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to the recommendations from the appropriate administrative official of the University who is then directly responsible for Agricultural Economics.

The H. M. "Pete" and Velma V. Everhart Fund

The H. M. "Pete" and Velma V. Everhart Fund was established July 11, 1986, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from H. M. "Pete" Everhart, B.S.Agr. '38, and Velma V. Everhart, B.S.H.E. '38, M.S., Home Economics '54, of Circleville, Ohio.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University.

The income shall be used for the purchase of books on architecture, in support of the School of Architecture's library collection. Selections will be determined jointly with the departmental library committee and/or the Architecture Department Chairperson and the Architecture Librarian. The University Libraries will be responsible for the encumbrance and expenditures of the fund's annual income. The fund shall be administered according to policies agreed upon by the University Libraries and the Department of Architecture.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to the recommendations from the appropriate administrative official of the University who is then directly responsible for the architecture library collection.

Charles B. Boyles Memorial Scholarship Fund
in Animal Science

The Charles B. Boyles Memorial Scholarship Fund in Animal Science was established July 11, 1986, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from relatives and friends of the late Charles B. Boyles.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to provide scholarships for students from Ohio and adjoining states (with preference to students from Ohio and West Virginia) who have been admitted to their freshman year of study in Animal Science. The amount of each award in any one year is to be determined by the Department of Animal Science Scholarship Committee in consultation with the University Committee on Student Financial Aid. An appropriate sum of the annual income may be utilized in support of a luncheon or dinner for Mrs. Charles B. Boyles and/or her family representative to meet with scholarship recipients. Criteria for the selection of recipients shall include those qualities which were so admirably demonstrated by Charles Boyles throughout his life: integrity, morality, service to his fellow man, high scholarship, and steadfast dedication to the livestock industry. Students selected for a Charles B. Boyles Freshman Scholarship may be provided a similar award for their sophomore year of studies provided their academic and extra-curricular activity records during their freshman year are sufficiently meritorious to warrant such consideration.

COLUMBUS, OHIO

Synopsis: Purchase of real property at 228-230 and 234 West Tenth Avenue in Columbus, Ohio, is proposed.

WHEREAS The Ohio State University has been presented with an opportunity to purchase two adjoining lots comprising 0.33 acres at 228-230 and 234 West Tenth Avenue in Columbus, Ohio; and

WHEREAS this property has an appraised value of $136,000.00, and the owners, Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. DeSantis of Columbus, Ohio, have offered to sell the property to the University at a price of $137,000.00; and

WHEREAS this property is located within the south campus acquisition boundary of the University's Master Plan, and the acquisition of this property will enable the University to improve access to the Eleventh Avenue Parking Ramp and provide additional parking in the south campus area; and
PURCHASE OF REAL PROPERTY
228-230 and 234 WEST TENTH AVENUE
COLUMBUS, OHIO (contd)

WHEREAS the appropriate University officers have determined that the purchase of this property is in the best interest of the University; and

WHEREAS funds for the purchase of this property will be provided from University funds resulting from the previous sale of south campus properties outside the acquisition boundary:

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That the President and/or Vice President for Business and Administration be authorized to take such action necessary to purchase, in the name of the State of Ohio for the use of The Ohio State University, the real property located at 228-230 and 234 West Tenth Avenue at a price not to exceed $137,000.00 and upon such terms and conditions as are deemed to be in the best interest of the University, subject to the University receiving the necessary approvals from the Ohio Board of Regents and the State Controlling Board.

Upon motion of Mr. Teaford, seconded by Ms. Casto, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous roll call vote.

LEASE AND DEVELOPMENT OF LAND
CHILD CARE CENTER
ACKERMAN ROAD, COLUMBUS, OHIO

Resolution No. 87-17

Synopsis: Lease of land on Ackerman Road for the construction and leaseback of a Child Care Center is proposed.

WHEREAS there is a need to construct a new building, with access roads, a playground, and a parking area, to house the University's Child Care Program on the campus and meet the program's present and anticipated space needs; and

WHEREAS on February 7, 1986, the Board of Trustees authorized the University to solicit competitive proposals for the development of this facility, whereby the University would lease land to a developer for the construction and leaseback of a 33,000 square foot building designed to meet the needs of up to 300 children aged 2 months to 5 years, with additional outdoor playground space, food service facilities, and administrative support areas, with title to these facilities to pass to the University at the expiration of an 18-year lease; and

WHEREAS based on the proposals received, the University is negotiating a lease agreement with Taggart, Marryott, Reardon Company/Target Construction Company Leadership Group, Inc., (TMR/Target), and its assignee, under which TMR/Target will develop, construct, finance by certificates of participation, and lease back to the University this facility; and

WHEREAS the appropriate University offices are in agreement as to the desirability of the lease and development of land for this purpose:

NOW THEREFORE
BE IT RESOLVED, That the President and/or Vice President for Business and Administration be authorized to negotiate the terms of the proposed lease of land to, and the subsequent leaseback of the Child Care Center from, TMR/Target, and/or its assignee and to develop and execute the necessary legal instruments for the lease of land, and the subsequent leaseback of this facility, and such other documents as are necessary or desirable to facilitate this transaction and the financing contemplated thereby.

Upon motion of Mr. Redman, seconded by Mr. Barone, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous roll call vote.

COMPLIANCE WITH REGULATIONS OF THE OHIO PUBLIC FACILITIES COMMISSION

Resolution No. 87-21

Synopsis: Authorization for designated officials to submit required documentation to the Ohio Public Facilities Commission and to certify compliance with the Commission's regulations is requested.

WHEREAS pursuant to Chapter 154 of the Revised Code and the regulations of the Ohio Public Facilities Commission, each State institution of higher education, to which funds are appropriated in Substitute House Bill 870 enacted by the 116th General Assembly, is required to authorize a designated official to sign and submit to the Ohio Public Facilities Commission documentation required with respect to the individual projects for which funds are appropriated; and

WHEREAS in submitting this documentation each institution is required to permit the Commission to use designated institutional sites for the purpose of these projects and to agree to undertake the performance of the functions and responsibilities of a using governmental agency as provided in the Commission's regulations with respect to such projects:

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That the President and/or Vice President for Business and Administration be authorized to complete, sign and submit to the Ohio Public Facilities Commission documentation required by the Commission for any or all of the projects for The Ohio State University provided for or pursuant to the appropriations made under Section 8 of Substitute House Bill 870 enacted by the 116th General Assembly; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That this Board agrees to permit the Ohio Public Facilities Commission to use designated University sites for the purpose of such projects, the boundaries of which will be shown in the plans for such projects, for so long as the respective notes, if any, and bonds issued to finance the projects shall be outstanding; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That this Board agrees to undertake performance of the functions and responsibilities of a using governmental agency and of a designated governmental agency to the extent it is such as provided in the regulations of the Ohio Public Facilities Commission and any applicable leases, agreements, or rules of the Commission with respect to such projects.

Upon motion of Mr. Redman, seconded by Ms. Casto, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous roll call vote.

Code (and herein called "University Facilities") and to refund, fund or retire the Bonds and other obligations previously issued for such purpose; (b) to pledge to the payment of the Bonds all or a specified part of the gross amount of the General Receipts of the University (as defined in the Original Indenture) in priority to all other expenses, claims or payments; (c) to covenant, as herein provided, that the University will make, fix, adjust and collect the fees, rates, rentals, charges and other items comprising General Receipts to produce General Receipts sufficient at all times to meet Bond Service Charges (as defined in the Original Indenture) on the Bonds, to establish and to maintain the required reserves and meet other requirements herein provided; and (d) to provide for a trust indenture and to make further provisions for securing the payment of the Bond Service Charges;

WHEREAS the University, by resolution adopted by its Board of Trustees (the "Board") on November 1, 1985 (the "Series 1985 A Bond Resolution") and by a Trust Indenture dated as of November 15, 1985 (the "Original Indenture"), between the University and The Huntington National Bank, as Trustee (the "Trustee"), has provided for the issuance from time to time of General Receipts Bonds of the University, with each such issue to be authorized by a Series Resolution (as defined in the Original Indenture) adopted by the Board pursuant thereto; and

WHEREAS the University has heretofore issued pursuant to the Series 1985 A Bond Resolution and the Original Indenture $27,680,000 The Ohio State University General Receipts Refunding Bonds, Series 1985 A, dated as of November 15, 1985 (the "Series 1985 A Bonds") ($27,680,000 principal amount outstanding); and

WHEREAS the University has heretofore issued pursuant to the Series 1985 A Bond Resolution, the Series 1985 B Bond Resolution, adopted by the Board on December 6, 1985 (the "Series 1985 B Bond Resolution"), the Original Indenture and the First Supplemental Indenture, dated as of December 30, 1985 (the "First Supplemental Indenture"), between the University and the Trustee, the $42,500,000 The Ohio State University Variable Rate Demand General Receipts Bonds, Series 1985 B, dated as of December 30, 1985 (the "Series 1985 B Bonds") ($42,500,000 principal amount outstanding); and

WHEREAS the Board has determined that it is in the best interests of the University to authorize the issuance of The Ohio State University General Receipts Bonds, Series 1986 A (the "Series 1986 A Bonds") in a principal amount equal to the difference between the Maximum Aggregate Principal Amount and the portion of such Amount allocated as provided in the Series 1986 B Bond Resolution to the Series 1986 B Bonds (as hereinafter defined), for the purpose of paying or reimbursing costs of the 1986 Project, funding the Bond Reserve Fund (as defined in the Original Indenture), paying certain Capitalized Interest and paying costs and expenses associated with the issuance of the Series 1986 A Bonds; and

WHEREAS the University desires to make provision for the issuance of the Series 1986 A Bonds and for the payment of the Bond Service Charges thereon and the securing thereof by this Resolution and a Second Supplemental Trust Indenture (the "Second Supplemental Indenture") herein authorized:

NOW THEREFORE
July 10 and 11, 1986 meeting, Board of Trustees

AUTHORIZATION, ISSUANCE AND SALE OF GENERAL RECEIPTS BONDS,
SERIES 1986 A, OF THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY (contd)

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY, as
follows:

Section 1. Definitions and Interpretations. All words and terms defined in the Original Indenture and all interpretations therein provided shall have in this Resolution the same meanings, respectively, and be subject to the same interpretations as therein provided or used, unless the context or use clearly indicates another or different meaning or intent, except that this Resolution, together with the Certificate of Award provided for in Section 3 hereof, is sometimes herein called and may be known as the "Series 1986 A Bond Resolution." The Bonds authorized by this Resolution are referred to herein and in the Second Supplemental Indenture as the "Series 1986 A Bonds." Terms not appearing in the Indenture but used herein are defined as follows:

"1986 Construction Fund" means the fund held by the Trustee created pursuant to Section 5 of this Resolution and funded with the "1986 Project" means (i) construction, including remodeling of existing facilities, to provide a multi-sport athletic complex, including lighting, drainage, utility, and parking facilities; (ii) renovation and modernization of the Ohio Stadium dormitory; (iii) renovation and modernization of the Buckeye Village student housing facility, including the construction of support buildings and roadway and parking improvements; (iv) construction of a two-story addition to Doan Hall of University Hospitals and renovation of various hospital areas for medical logistical services; (v) construction of a four-floor addition to and the remodeling of Doan Hall of University Hospitals for clinical medical services; (vi) re-equipping the cardiac catheterization lab of University Hospitals; and (vii) construction of a multi-level, multi-building center for visual arts, including utility, driveway and other related site improvements.

"Bond proceedings" means the Series 1985 A Bond Resolution, the Original Indenture, any applicable Series Resolution, any applicable Supplemental Indenture, any applicable Certificate of Award and other resolutions and agreements and amendments of and supplements to the foregoing, or any combination thereof, authorizing or providing for the terms and conditions applicable to, or providing for the security or sale of Bonds, and the terms contained in such Bonds.

"Capitalized Interest" means an aggregate amount not to exceed $10,000,000 in respect of the Series 1986 A Bonds and the Series 1986 B
Bonds, as specified in the respective Certificates of Award, which equals a portion of the interest to become due during the construction of the 1986 Project.

"Certificate of Award" means the Certificate of Award authorized pursuant to Section 3 of this Resolution.

"Contract of Purchase" means the Contract of Purchase between the Original Purchasers and the University, authorized pursuant to Section 3 hereof.

"Mandatory sinking fund requirements" means amounts required by this Resolution to be deposited to the Bond Fund (as defined in the Original Indenture) in any year for the purpose of retiring principal maturities of the Series 1986 A Bonds which by the terms of such Bonds are due and payable, if not called for prior redemption, in any subsequent fiscal year of the University.

"Maximum Aggregate Principal Amount" means the sum of the face amounts of the Series 1986 A Bonds and of the Series 1986 B Bonds, which aggregate amount shall not exceed $90,000,000.

"Official Statement" means, as to the Series 1986 A Bonds, the Official Statement including, without limitation, the Preliminary Official Statement, relating to the original issuance of the Series 1986 A Bonds, authorized pursuant to Section 3 hereof.

"Paying Agents" means the Trustee.

"Series 1986 A Bond Resolution", or "this Resolution" as used herein, means this Resolution, as the same may be amended from time to time in accordance with the provisions of the Indenture.

"Series 1986 B Bond Resolution" means the resolution adopted by the Board on July 11, 1986, authorizing the issuance and sale of the Variable Rate Demand General Receipts Bonds, Series 1986 B (the "Series 1986 B Bonds"), in a principal amount not less than forty percent (40%) and not greater than sixty percent (60%) of the Maximum Aggregate Principal Amount, for the purpose of paying or reimbursing costs of the 1986 Project, funding the Bond Reserve Fund relating to the Series 1986 B Bonds, paying certain Capitalized Interest and paying costs and expenses associated with the issuance of the Series 1986 B Bonds, authorizing a Third Supplemental Trust Indenture to the Original Indenture to secure the payment of Bond Service Charges on the Series 1986 B Bonds, and for related purposes.

"Trustee" means The Huntington National Bank, Columbus, Ohio, and any successor Trustee as determined or designated under or pursuant to the Original Indenture.

Any reference herein to the University, the Board, or to any members or officers thereof or to other public boards, commissions, departments, institutions, agencies, bodies, entities or officers, shall include those which succeed to their functions, duties or responsibilities pursuant to or by operation of law or who are lawfully performing their functions. Any reference to a section or provision of the Ohio Revised Code or to the laws of Ohio shall include such section or provision and such laws as from time to time amended, modified, revised, supplemented, or superseded, provided that no such amendment, modification, revision, supplementation, or supersession shall alter the obligation to pay the Bond Service Charges in the amount and manner, at the times, and from the sources provided in this Resolution, the Original Indenture and the Second Supplemental Indenture, except as otherwise herein permitted.

Unless the context shall otherwise indicate, words importing the singular number shall include the plural number, and vice versa, and the

Section 2. Authorization; Terms; Pledge; and Covenant.

(a) Authorization. The Bonds, to be designated and known as The Ohio State University General Receipts Bonds, Series 1986 A (the "Series 1986 A Bonds"), shall be issued pursuant to and as authorized by the Act, Section 21 of Article VIII of the Ohio Constitution, the Series 1985 A Bond Resolution, this Resolution, the Original Indenture and the Second Supplemental Indenture for the purposes of financing costs of the University Facilities comprising the 1986 Project, funding the Bond Reserve Fund, paying certain Capitalized Interest and paying costs and expenses incidental to the issuance of the Series 1986 A Bonds.

(b) Form and Numbering. The Series 1986 A Bonds shall be issued only as fully registered bonds. The Series 1986 A Bonds shall be numbered as determined by the Trustee.

(c) Denominations and Dates. The Series 1986 A Bonds shall be in denominations of $5,000 and integral multiples thereof and shall be dated July 15, 1986.

(d) Maximum Aggregate Principal Amount. The sum of the face amounts of the Series 1986 A Bonds and the Series 1986 B Bonds shall not exceed the Maximum Aggregate Principal Amount. As provided in Section 2 of the Series 1986 B Bond Resolution, the Series 1986 B Bonds shall be issued in a principal amount not less than forty percent (40%) and not greater than sixty percent (60%) of the Maximum Aggregate Principal Amount. The Series 1986 A Bonds shall therefore be issued in a principal amount not to exceed the difference between the Maximum Aggregate Principal Amount and the portion of such Amount allocated pursuant to the Series 1986 B Bond Resolution to the Series 1986 B Bonds. The principal amount of the Series 1986 A Bonds will be specified in the Certificate of Award.

(e) Delivery and Execution. The Treasurer (as defined in the Original Indenture) is hereby authorized to make the necessary arrangements with the Original Purchasers to establish the date, location, procedures and conditions for the delivery of the Series 1986 A Bonds to the Original Purchasers and to take all steps as necessary to effect due execution, authentication and delivery of the Series 1986 A Bonds to the Original Purchasers under the terms of this Resolution. The Series 1986 A Bonds shall be signed by the Chairman of the Board (the "Chairman") and the Treasurer in their official capacities (provided that both of the signatures may be facsimiles) and shall bear the corporate seal of the University or a facsimile thereof.

(f) Interest and Maturities.

(i) The Series 1986 A Bonds shall bear interest on their unpaid principal amounts payable semi-annually on June 1 and December 1 (the "Interest Payment Dates"), beginning December 1, 1986, at the percentage rate or rates per annum set forth in the Certificate of Award (established pursuant to Section 3 hereof). Such rate or rates shall in no event produce an average interest rate in excess of ten percent (10%) per annum.

(ii) The Series 1986 A Bonds shall mature not later than
July 10 and 11, 1986 meeting, Board of Trustees

AUTHORIZATION, ISSUANCE AND SALE OF GENERAL RECEIPTS BONDS,
SERIES 1986 A, OF THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY (contd)

December 1, 2006, and in such annual amount or amounts as are provided for in the Certificate of Award.

(iii) Mandatory redemption of Series 1986 A Bonds of certain maturities prior to maturity, pursuant to the mandatory sinking fund requirements, shall be as provided in the Certificate of Award.

(iv) Certain maturities of the Series 1986 A Bonds, as provided in the Certificate of Award, are subject to optional redemption at the option of the University prior to stated maturity, in whole or in part, in accordance with the terms, conditions, redemption prices and on the dates set forth in the Certificate of Award. Notice of call for and other terms and provisions governing redemption of the Series 1986 A Bonds shall be given in the manner provided in the Original Indenture. At no time shall the redemption price on any Series 1986 A Bond, exclusive of accrued interest, exceed one hundred and three percent (103%) of the face amount of such Bond.

(g) Security. As provided in the Original Indenture and the Second Supplemental Indenture, there is hereby pledged to the security of the Series 1986 A Bonds and for the payment of the Bond Service Charges on the Series 1986 A Bonds and for establishment and maintenance of the Bond Reserve Requirement (as defined in the Original Indenture), the gross amount of General Receipts of the University (subject to the provisions for the partial release of a pledge of General Receipts contained in Section 4.11 of the Original Indenture) and the monies contained in the Special Funds (as defined in the Original Indenture). This pledge of General Receipts shall be on parity with expenses, claims and payments relating to other Parity Obligations (as defined in the Original Indenture) and in priority to all other expenses, claims and payments of the University. In accordance with the Act, all General Receipts or portions thereof are immediately subject to the lien of the pledge upon receipt thereof by the University, and such pledge creates a perfected security interest without necessity for prior separation, physical delivery, filing or recording or further act.

For the further security of the Series 1986 A Bonds, and any Additional Bonds (as defined in the Original Indenture), the University hereby covenants with the bondholders and the Trustee that so long as any Series 1986 A Bonds or Additional Bonds are outstanding, the University will fix, make, adjust and collect fees, rates, rentals, charges, and other items of General Receipts, as will produce at all times General Receipts sufficient (i) to pay Bond Service Charges when due, (ii) to establish and maintain the Bond Reserve Requirement as provided in the Original Indenture, (iii) together with other monies lawfully available therefor, to pay all costs and expenses required to be paid under the Bond proceedings, and (iv) together with other monies lawfully available therefor, to pay all other costs and expenses necessary for the proper maintenance and successful and continuous operation of the University.

(h) Payment. Places of Payment and Paying Agents. The principal of and the redemption premium on the Series 1986 A Bonds when due shall be payable to the registered holders upon presentation and surrender thereof at the principal corporate trust office of the Trustee. Interest shall be payable by check or draft mailed by the Trustee as provided in the Original Indenture; provided, however, that interest on Series 1986 A Bonds aggregating $1,000,000 or more in principal amount registered in the name of a single holder shall be paid by wire transfer in immediately available funds to such account, if any, as such holder directs in writing to the Trustee at least ten (10) days prior to any interest Payment Date, such payment by wire transfer pursuant to that direction continuing in effect as to subsequent Interest Payment Dates until such time as the holder notifies the Trustee to the contrary or until such time as such holder ceases to be a holder of the requisite principal amount of Series 1986 A Bonds.

Section 3. Contract of Purchase; Certificate of Award; Official Statement. The Series 1986 A Bonds are sold and awarded to the Original Purchasers in accordance with the Contract of Purchase at the purchase price (not less than ninety-seven percent (97%) of principal amount plus accrued interest) provided in the Certificate of Award. The form of Contract of Purchase now on file with the Secretary of the Board is hereby approved, together with any changes therein and completions thereof which are not inconsistent with this Resolution and not substantially adverse to the University, and as are permitted by the Act and approved on behalf of the University by the Chairman or the Treasurer. The approval on behalf of the University of those changes and completions by the Chairman or the Treasurer, and the status of those changes as not substantially adverse to the University, shall be conclusively evidenced by the execution of the Contract of Purchase on behalf of the University by the Chairman or the Treasurer. It is determined hereby that the purchase price and the manner of sale and the terms of the Series 1986 A Bonds, as provided in this Resolution, are consistent with all legal requirements and will carry out the public purposes of the Act.

The sale and award of the Series 1986 A Bonds shall be further evidenced by the Certificate of Award. The Certificate of Award is hereby authorized and shall be executed by the Chairman or the Treasurer. The Certificate of Award shall, as to the Series 1986 A Bonds, state or confirm the aggregate principal amount, the purchase price, the interest rate or rates, the annual principal amount or amounts, the amount of Capitalized Interest, the maturity dates, the mandatory sinking fund requirements and the optional redemption provisions, all as determined in accordance with the provisions of this Resolution and the Contract of Purchase. The Certificate of Award shall also contain such other data or provisions as the Chairman or the Treasurer determines are appropriate or necessary, and as are consistent with this Resolution, the Original Indenture, the Second Supplemental Indenture and the Contract of Purchase. The Certificate of Award shall be deemed a part of this Resolution in connection with the authorization, issuance and sale of the Series 1986 A Bonds.

The distribution of the Preliminary Official Statement relating to the Series 1986 A Bonds is hereby approved. The Official Statement, substantially in the form of the Preliminary Official Statement now on file with the Secretary of the Board, shall be executed by the Chairman or the Treasurer in his official capacity on behalf of the University with any modifications, changes and supplements necessary or desirable for the purposes thereof which the Chairman or the Treasurer shall approve. The Board has not confirmed, and assumes no responsibility for, the accuracy, sufficiency or fairness of any statements in the Preliminary Official Statement or the final Official Statement or any supplements thereto, or in any reports, financial information, offering or disclosure documents or other information in any way relating to the Original Purchasers.

Section 4. Allocation of Proceeds. The proceeds from the sale of the Series 1986 A Bonds, including any accrued interest, shall be allocated, deposited and applied as follows:
July 10 and 11, 1986 meeting, Board of Trustees

AUTHORIZATION, ISSUANCE AND SALE OF GENERAL RECEIPTS BONDS,
SERIES 1986 A, OF THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY (contd)

(i) To the Bond Fund, accrued interest received on the sale of the Series 1986 A Bonds;

(ii) To the Bond Reserve Fund, an amount equal to the amount required to bring the balance in the Bond Reserve Fund to an amount equal to the Bond Reserve Requirement in respect to all Bonds; and

(iii) To the 1986 Construction Fund, created pursuant to Section 5 of this Resolution, the entire remaining amount of the proceeds, to be applied to the purposes of that Fund, including transfers from that Fund authorized by the Act, to pay certain Capitalized Interest and to pay costs and expenses associated with the issuance of the Series 1986 A Bonds.

Section 5. 1986 Construction Fund. There is hereby created by the University and ordered maintained a separate fund with the Trustee designated the "1986 Construction Fund." The 1986 Construction Fund shall be funded from the proceeds of the sale of the Series 1986 A Bonds and the Series 1986 B Bonds. Monies in the 1986 Construction Fund may be used for the payment or reimbursement of all costs and expenses relating to the 1986 Project, expenses representing certain Capitalized Interest, and costs and expenses associated with the issuance of the Series 1986 A Bonds and the Series 1986 B Bonds. Payments from the 1986 Construction Fund for the purpose of paying costs and expenses relating to the 1986 Project shall be made as provided in Section 9 of the Series 1985 A Bond Resolution.

Transfers by the Trustee of monies from the 1986 Construction Fund to the Bond Fund for the purpose of paying Capitalized Interest shall be made only upon the receipt by the Trustee of a written order signed by the Treasurer, which shall specify the amount of such transfer. Monies remaining in the 1986 Construction Fund (including monies earned thereon by investment thereof) after receipt by the Trustee of a certificate of completion (as described in Section 9 of the Series 1985 A Bond Resolution) and payment of Capitalized Interest and of costs and expenses relating to the 1986 Project, shall be applied as provided in Section 9 of the Series 1985 A Bond Resolution.

Section 6. Application of Bond Proceeds. The University covenants that the use of the proceeds of the Series 1986 A Bonds, including amounts at any time in the Bond Reserve Fund, will be restricted in such manner and to such extent, if any, as may be necessary, after taking into account reasonable expectations at the time of delivery of and payment for the Series 1986 A Bonds, so that the Series 1986 A Bonds will not constitute "arbitrage bonds" under Section 103(c) of the Code (as defined in the Indenture). The Treasurer of the University, or any other officer having responsibility with respect to the issuance of the Series 1986 A Bonds, alone or in conjunction with any other officer or employee of or consultant to the University, will give an appropriate certificate of the University for inclusion in the transcript of proceedings for the Series 1986 A Bonds setting forth the reasonable expectations of the University regarding the amount and use of all those proceeds and the facts and estimates on which they are based, all as of the date of original delivery of and payment for the Series 1986 A Bonds.

AUTHORIZATION, ISSUANCE AND SALE OF GENERAL RECEIPTS BONDS,
SERIES 1986 A, OF THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY (contd)

The University further covenants that it will take all actions required to maintain the exemption from federal income tax for interest on the Series 1986 A Bonds, and will not take any actions which would adversely affect such exemption under the provisions of federal tax laws that apply to the Series 1986 A Bonds, or under the provisions of H.R. 3838, as passed by the U.S. House of Representatives on December 17, 1985, but with the effective date stated for certain provisions thereof listed in the March 14, 1986 Joint Statement by the chairmen and ranking minority members of the House Committee on Ways and Means and the Senate Committee on Finance and the Secretary of the Treasury, or as amended and passed by the U.S. Senate on June 24, 1986, until and unless, and except to the extent, with respect to H.R. 3838, the University obtains a written opinion of nationally recognized bond counsel that this covenant, as it pertains to H.R. 3838, need not be complied with in order for the interest on the Series 1986 A Bonds to continue to be exempt from federal income taxation; and the Chairman or the Treasurer and other appropriate officers are hereby authorized to take such actions and give such certifications as may be appropriate to assure such tax exemption of interest on the Series 1986 A Bonds.

Section 7. Further Covenants. In addition to the covenants elsewhere contained herein, The University further covenants as provided in Section 13 of the Series 1985 A Bond Resolution, which covenants are incorporated herein as if fully set forth herein.

Section 8. Second Supplemental Indenture. In order to better secure the payment of the Bond Service Charges as the same shall become due and payable, the Chairman, the President of the University, the Secretary of the Board and the Treasurer, or any one or more of them, are authorized and directed to execute, acknowledge and deliver to the Trustee, in the name and on behalf of the University and pursuant to the Indenture, the Second Supplemental Indenture, in substantially the form submitted to this Board and hereby approved, with such changes therein as are not substantially adverse to the University and as may be permitted by the Act and approved by the officers executing the same on behalf of the University. The Second Supplemental Indenture shall also include the form of the Series 1986 A Bonds. The execution of such document by any of the officers shall conclusively evidence that the officers and the Board approve such changes and that such changes are not substantially adverse to the University. Such officers are each further authorized to execute and deliver on behalf of the University such other certificates, documents and instruments as are necessary in connection with the acts authorized by this Resolution.

Section 9. Text of Resolution. The text of this Resolution authorizing the issuance and sale of the Series 1986 A Bonds and related acts by the University may be changed for the purpose of curing any ambiguity, inconsistency or formal defect or omission in this Resolution or in respect of this Resolution as it relates to the Indenture, the Second Supplemental Indenture, the Certificate of Award, the Form of Bond, the Contract of Purchase or the Official Statement. Such changes shall be subject to the approval of any one of the officers (referred to in Section 8 above) as being changes not substantially adverse to the University or contrary to the true intent and meaning hereof. Such changes must also be acceptable to Bond Counsel (as defined in the Original Indenture).

Section 10. Open Meeting Determination. It is found and determined that all formal actions of the Board concerning and relating to the adoption of this Resolution were adopted in an open meeting of the Board, and that all deliberations of the Board and of any of its committees that resulted in such formal action were in meetings open to the public, in compliance with all legal requirements including Section 121.22 of the Revised Code.

Section 11. Effective Date. This Resolution shall take effect and be in force immediately upon its adoption. Reference shall be made to the Original Indenture and the Second Supplemental Indenture concerning matters not specifically addressed in this Resolution.

Upon motion of Mrs. Bowser, seconded by Mr. Immke, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous roll call vote.

AUTHORIZATION, ISSUANCE AND SALE OF VARIABLE RATE DEMAND GENERAL RECEIPTS BONDS, SERIES 1986 B, OF THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY

Resolution No. 87-23

Synopsis: Providing for the authorization, issuance and sale of Variable Rate Demand General Receipts Bonds, Series 1986 B (the "Series 1986 B Bonds"), in a principal amount determined as provided herein, for the purpose of paying or reimbursing costs of (i) construction, including remodeling of existing facilities, to provide a multi-sport athletic complex, including lighting, drainage, utility, and parking facilities; (ii) renovation and modernization of the Ohio Stadium dormitory; (iii) renovation and modernization of the Buckeye Village student housing facility, including the construction of support buildings and roadway and parking improvements; (iv) construction of a two-story addition to Doan Hall of University Hospitals and renovation of various hospital areas for medical logistical services; (v) construction of a four-floor addition to and the remodeling of Doan Hall of University Hospitals for clinical medical services; (vi) re-equipping the cardiac catheterization lab of University Hospitals; and (vii) construction of a multi-level, multi-building center for visual arts, including utility, driveway and other related site improvements (collectively, the "1986 Project"), funding the Bond Reserve Fund, paying certain Capitalized Interest and paying costs and expenses associated with the issuance of the Series 1986 B Bonds, authorizing a Third Supplemental Trust Indenture to secure the payment of Bond Service Charges on the Series 1986 B Bonds and for related purposes.

WHEREAS pursuant to Sections 3345.11 and 3345.12 of the Ohio Revised Code (the "Act"), as enacted under authority of the Constitution of Ohio, particularly Section 21 of Article VIII thereof, The Ohio State University (the "University"), a state university of the State of Ohio (the "State") created and existing under Chapter 3335 of the Ohio Revised Code, is authorized and empowered, among other things, (a) to issue, as provided herein, Bonds (as defined in the Original Indenture (as hereinafter defined)) of the University to pay the costs of certain capital facilities defined as "auxiliary facilities" in Section 3345.12 of the Ohio Revised Code (and herein called "University Facilities") and to refund, fund or retire the Bonds and other obligations previously issued for such purpose; (b) to pledge to the payment of the Bonds all or a specified part of the gross amount of the General Receipts of the University (as defined in the

Original Indenture) in priority to all other expenses, claims or payments; (c) to covenant, as herein provided, that the University will make, fix, adjust and collect the fees, rates, rentals, charges and other items comprising General Receipts to produce General Receipts sufficient at all times to meet Bond Service Charges (as defined in the Original Indenture) on the Bonds, to establish and to maintain the required reserves and meet other requirements herein provided; and (d) to provide for a trust indenture and make further provisions for securing the payment of the Bond Service Charges; and

WHEREAS the University, by resolution adopted by its Board of Trustees (the "Board") on November 1, 1985 (the "Series 1985 A Bond Resolution") and by a Trust Indenture dated as of November 15, 1985 (the "Original Indenture") between the University and The Huntington National Bank, as Trustee (the "Trustee"), has provided for the issuance from time to time of General Receipts Bonds of the University, with each such issue to be authorized by a Series Resolution (as defined in the Original Indenture) adopted by the Board pursuant thereto; and

WHEREAS the University has heretofore issued pursuant to the Series 1985 A Bond Resolution and the Original Indenture the $27,680,000 The Ohio State University General Receipts Refunding Bonds, Series 1985 A, dated as of November 15, 1985 (the "Series 1985 A Bonds") ($27,680,000 principal amount currently outstanding); and

WHEREAS the University has heretofore issued pursuant to the Series 1985 A Bond Resolution, the Series 1985 B Bond Resolution, adopted by the Board on December 6, 1985 (the "Series 1985 B Bond Resolution"), the Original Indenture and the First Supplemental Indenture, dated as of December 30, 1985 (the "First Supplemental Indenture"), between the University and the Trustee, the $42,500,000 The Ohio State University Variable Rate Demand General Receipts Bonds, Series 1985 B (the "Series 1985 B Bonds") ($42,500,000 principal amount currently outstanding); and

WHEREAS the University intends to issue pursuant to the Series 1985 A Bond Resolution, the Series 1986 A Bond Resolution, adopted by the Board on the date hereof (the "Series 1986 A Bond Resolution"), the Original Indenture and the Second Supplemental Indenture, dated as of July 15, 1986 (the "Second Supplemental Indenture"), between the University and the Trustee, The Ohio State University General Receipts Bonds, Series 1986 A (the "Series 1986 A Bonds") in an amount equal to the difference between the Maximum Aggregate Principal Amount and the principal amount of the Series 1986 B Bonds; and

WHEREAS the Board has determined that it is in the best interests of the University to authorize the issuance of The Ohio State University Variable Rate Demand General Receipts Bonds, Series 1986 B (the "Series 1986 B Bonds") in a principal amount not less than forty percent (40%) and not greater than sixty percent (60%) of the Maximum Aggregate Principal Amount for the purpose of paying or reimbursing costs of the 1986 Project, funding the Bond Reserve Fund (as defined in the Original Indenture), paying certain Capitalized Interest and paying costs and expenses associated with the issuance of the Series 1986 B Bonds; and

WHEREAS the University desires to make provision for the issuance of the Series 1986 B Bonds and for the payment of the Bond Service Charges thereon and the securing thereof by this Resolution and a Third Supplemental Trust Indenture (the "Third Supplemental Indenture") herein authorized;

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY, as follows:

Section 1. Definitions and Interpretations. All words and terms defined in the Original Indenture and all interpretations therein provided shall have in this Resolution the same meanings, respectively, and be subject to the same interpretations as therein provided or used, unless the context or use clearly indicates another or different meaning or intent, except that this Resolution, together with the Certificate of Award provided for in Section 3 hereof, is sometimes herein called and may be known as the "Series 1986 B Bond Resolution." The Bonds authorized by this Resolution are referred to herein and in the Third Supplemental Indenture as the "Series 1986 B Bonds." Terms not appearing in the Indenture but used herein are defined as follows:

"1986 Construction Fund" means the fund held by the Trustee and created pursuant to Section 5 of the Series 1986 A Bond Resolution and funded with the proceeds of the Series 1986 A Bonds and the Series 1986 B Bonds.

"1986 Project" means (i) construction, including remodeling of existing facilities, to provide a multi-sport athletic complex, including lighting, drainage, utility, and parking facilities; (ii) renovation and modernization of the Ohio Stadium dormitory; (iii) renovation and modernization of the Buckeye Village student housing facility, including the construction of support buildings and roadway and parking improvements; (iv) construction of a two-story addition to Doan Hall of University Hospitals and renovation of various hospital areas for medical logistical services; (v) construction of a four-floor addition to and the remodeling of Doan Hall of University Hospitals for clinical medical services; (vi) re-equipping the cardiac catheterization lab of University Hospitals; and (vii) construction of a multi-level, multi-building center for visual arts, including utility, driveway and other related site improvements.

"Bank" means initially, The Fuji Bank, Limited, acting through its Chicago, Illinois Branch, as the issuer of the Standby Bond Purchase Agreement (as hereinafter defined), its successors and assigns.

"Capitalized Interest" means an aggregate amount not to exceed $10,000,000 in respect of the Series 1986 A Bonds and the Series 1986 B Bonds, as specified in the respective Certificates of Award, which equals a portion of the interest to become due during the construction of the 1986 Project.

"Contract of Purchase" means the Contract of Purchase between the Original Purchasers and the University, authorized pursuant to Section 3 hereof.

"Converted Bond(s)" means a Series 1986 B Bond, the interest on which has been converted to Fixed Interest Rates (as defined in the Third Supplemental Indenture) pursuant to Section 6(E) of the Third Supplemental Indenture.
July 10 and 11, 1986 meeting, Board of Trustees

AUTHORIZATION, ISSUANCE AND SALE OF VARIABLE RATE DEMAND GENERAL RECEIPTS BONDS, SERIES 1986 B, OF THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY (contd)

"Interest Payment Dates" means as to the Series 1986 B Bonds (i) during the effectiveness of a Weekly Rate Period, a Monthly Rate Period or a Quarterly Rate Period (as such terms are defined in the Third Supplemental Indenture), each March 1, June 1, September 1, and December 1 or, if such day is not a Business Day (as defined in the Original Indenture), the next succeeding Business Day, commencing December 1, 1986; and (ii) during the effectiveness of a Semiannual Rate Period, an Annual Rate Period or a Fixed Rate Period (as such terms are defined in the Third Supplemental Indenture), each June 1 and December 1 or, if such day is not a Business Day, the next succeeding Business Day, commencing December 1, 1986.

"Maximum Aggregate Principal Amount" means the sum of the face amounts of the Series 1986 A Bonds and the Series 1986 B Bonds, which aggregate amount shall not exceed $90,000,000.

"Maximum Interest Rate" means fifteen percentum (15%) per annum.

"Official Statement" means, as to the Series 1986 B Bonds, the Official Statement including, without limitation, the Preliminary Official Statement relating to the original issuance of the Series 1986 B Bonds, authorized pursuant to Section 3 hereof.

"Paying Agent(s)" means, as to the Series 1986 B Bonds, the Trustee.

"Remarketing Agent" means initially, John Nuveen & Co. Incorporated, and any Person (as defined in the Original Indenture) meeting the qualifications of, and designated from time to time to act as Remarketing Agent under Section 7(H) of the Third Supplemental Indenture.

"Remarketing Agreement" means the Remarketing Agreement, dated as of August 1, 1986, provided for in Section 7 of this Resolution, to be entered into between the University and the Remarketing Agent, as the agreement may be amended, modified or supplemented.

"Series 1986 B Bonds" means the Bonds authorized by this Resolution and shall include, except as expressly noted in the Third Supplemental Indenture, any Series 1986 B Bonds held by or for the account of the Bank or its designee.

"Standby Bond Purchase Agreement" or "Standby Agreement" means, as to the Series 1986 B Bonds, the Standby Bond Purchase Agreement, dated as of August 1, 1986, between the University and the Bank, as the agreement may from time to time be amended, modified or supplemented.

"Tender Agent" means United States Trust Company of New York, New York, New York or any Person meeting the qualifications of, and designated from time to time to act as Tender Agent under, Section 7(K) of the Third Supplemental Indenture.

Any reference herein to the University, the Board, or to any members or officers thereof or to other public boards, commissions, departments, institutions, agencies, bodies, entities or officers, shall include those which succeed to their functions, duties or responsibilities pursuant to or by operation of law or who are lawfully performing their functions. Any reference to a section or provision of the Ohio Revised Code or to the laws of Ohio shall include such section or provision and such laws as from time to time amended, modified, revised, supplemented, or superseded, provided that no such amendment, modification, revision, supplementation, or supersession shall alter the obligation to pay the Bond Service Charges in the amount and manner, at the times, and from the sources provided in the Series 1985 A Bond Resolution, this Resolution, the Original Indenture and the Third Supplemental Indenture, except as otherwise herein permitted.

Unless the context shall otherwise indicate, words importing the singular number shall include the plural number, and vice versa, and the terms "hereof," "herein," "hereby," "hereto," "hereunder," and similar terms, mean this Resolution.

Section 2. Authorization; Terms; Pledge; and Covenant.

(a) Authorization. The Bonds, to be designated and known as The Ohio State University Variable Rate Demand General Receipts Bonds, Series 1986 B (the "Series 1986 B Bonds"), shall be issued pursuant to and as authorized by the Act, Section 21 of Article VIII of the Ohio Constitution, the Series 1985 A Bond Resolution, this Resolution, the Original Indenture and the Third Supplemental Indenture for the purposes of financing costs of the University Facilities comprising the 1986 Project, funding the Bond Reserve Fund, paying certain Capitalized Interest and paying costs and expenses incidental to the issuance of the Series 1986 B Bonds.

(b) Form and Numbering. The Series 1986 B Bonds shall be issued only as fully registered Bonds. The Series 1986 B Bonds shall be numbered as determined by the Trustee.

(c) Denominations and Dates. Initially, the Series 1986 B Bonds shall be in denominations of $100,000 and integral multiples thereof and shall be dated as of the date of their first authentication and delivery. Series 1986 B Bonds subsequently issued in exchange for Series 1986 B Bonds surrendered for transfer or exchange shall be dated as of the Interest Payment Date to which interest has been paid in full or duly provided for. Converted Bonds shall be in denominations of $5,000 and any integral multiple thereof.

(d) Maximum Aggregate Principal Amount. The sum of the face amounts of the Series 1986 A Bonds and the Series 1986 B Bonds shall not exceed the Maximum Aggregate Principal Amount. The Series 1986 B Bonds shall be issued in a principal amount not less than forty percent (40%) and not greater than sixty percent (60%) of the Maximum Aggregate Principal Amount, as specified in the Certificate of Award. The Series 1986 A Bonds shall, pursuant to Section 2 of the Series 1986 A Bond Resolution, be issued in an amount not to exceed the difference between the Maximum Aggregate Principal Amount and the portion of such Amount allocated pursuant to this Resolution to the Series 1986 B Bonds.

(e) Delivery and Execution. The Treasurer is hereby authorized to make the necessary arrangements with the Original Purchasers to establish the date, location, procedures and conditions for the delivery of the Series 1986 B Bonds to the Original Purchasers and to take all steps as necessary to effect due execution, authentication and delivery of the Series 1986 B Bonds to the Original Purchasers under the terms of this Resolution. The Series 1986 B Bonds shall be signed by the Chairman of the Board (the "Chairman") and the Treasurer in their official capacities (provided that both of the signatures may be facsimiles) and shall bear the corporate seal of the University or a facsimile thereof.

(f) Interest. The Series 1986 B Bonds shall bear interest at a variable rate determined on a weekly, monthly, quarterly, semiannual, annual or multi-annual basis, the period of recalculation to be selected by the University and the method of calculation to be performed by the Remarketing Agent as provided in Section 6 of the Third SupplementalIndenture. The University may also, as provided in Section 6(E) of the Third Supplemental Indenture, convert the interest rate on all or a portion of the Series 1986 B Bonds to Fixed Interest Rates. Except for the Bank Bond Rate (as defined in the Third Supplemental Indenture), the interest rate on the Series 1986 B Bonds shall at no time exceed the Maximum Interest Rate. Interest shall be payable on each Interest Payment Date.

During any Interest Period (as defined in the Third Supplemental Indenture), including, without limitation, a Fixed Rate Period (as defined in the Third Supplemental Indenture), in which any Series 1986 B Bonds are held by or for the account of the Bank or its designee by reason of the purchase of such Series 1986 B Bonds pursuant to the Standby Agreement (but not otherwise), the interest rate borne by such Series 1986 B Bonds (and only such Series 1986 B Bonds) shall be the Bank Bond Rate, calculated as provided in the Standby Agreement.

(g) Optional Tender. From time to time as provided in Section 9 of the Third Supplemental Indenture, holders of the Series 1986 B Bonds (other than Converted Bonds) may request, in accordance with the provisions of Section 7(A) of the Third Supplemental Indenture, that the Tender Agent purchase such Series 1986 B Bonds at a purchase price equal to one hundred percent (100%) of the principal amount of such Series 1986 B Bonds to be purchased plus accrued interest.

(h) Maturities. The Series 1986 B Bonds (other than Converted Bonds) shall mature on December 1, 2006, unless they have been redeemed prior to such date by mandatory redemption, as provided in Section 9(C) of the Third Supplemental Indenture, or otherwise. The Converted Bonds shall mature on the dates determined as provided in Section 6(E) of the Third Supplemental Indenture. The Series 1986 B Bonds (other than Converted Bonds) shall mature and be subject to mandatory sinking fund redemption as provided in the Certificate of Award. Nothing in the preceding sentences shall be deemed to in any case extend the maturity of any Series 1986 B Bond.

(i) Redemption. Certain maturities of the Series 1986 B Bonds are subject to redemption at the option of the University prior to stated maturity, in whole or in part, in accordance with the terms, conditions, redemption prices and on the dates set forth in Section 9 of the Third Supplemental Indenture. Notice of call for and other terms and provisions governing redemption of such Series 1986 B Bonds shall be given in the manner provided in the Original Indenture and the Third Supplemental Indenture.

(j) Mandatory Purchase. Upon (i) conversion to Fixed Interest Rates, (ii) expiration of the Standby Agreement, or (iii) the occurrence of Events of Default (as defined in the Original Indenture and the Third Supplemental Indenture), certain of the Series 1986 B Bonds shall be subject to mandatory purchase, as designated by and in accordance with the provisions of Section 9(C) of the Third Supplemental Indenture. The Series 1986 B Bonds subject to mandatory purchase shall be purchased at a purchase price equal to the principal amount of the Series 1986 B Bonds to be so purchased plus accrued interest.

(k) Appointment of Remarketing Agent. The Board hereby appoints John Nuveen & Co. Incorporated as the initial Remarketing Agent under the Third Supplemental Indenture.

(l) Appointment of Tender Agent. The Board hereby appoints United States Trust Company of New York, New York, New York as the initial Tender Agent under the Third Supplemental Indenture.

(m) Security. As provided in the Original Indenture and the Third Supplemental Indenture, there is hereby pledged to the security of the Series 1986 B Bonds and for the payment of the Bond Service Charges on the Series 1986 B Bonds and for establishment and maintenance of the Bond Reserve Requirement (as defined in the Original Indenture), the gross amount of General Receipts of the University (subject to the provisions for the partial release of a pledge of General Receipts contained in Section 4.11 of the Original Indenture) and the monies contained in the Special Funds, as provided in the Original Indenture. This pledge of General Receipts shall be on parity with expenses, claims and payments relating to other Parity Obligations (as defined in the Original Indenture) and in priority to all other expenses, claims and payments of the University. In accordance with the Act, all the General Receipts or portions thereof are immediately subject to the lien of the pledge upon receipt thereof by the University, and such pledge creates a perfected security interest without necessity for prior separation, physical delivery, filing or recording or further act.

(n) Payment, Places of Payment and Paying Agents. The principal of and the redemption premium on the Series 1986 B Bonds when due shall be payable to the registered holders, upon presentation and surrender thereof at the principal corporate trust office of the Trustee and the Tender Agent, respectively. Interest shall be payable by check or draft mailed by the Trustee as provided in the Original Indenture; provided, however, that interest on Series 1986 B Bonds aggregating $1,000,000 or more in principal amount registered in the name of a single holder shall be paid by wire transfer in immediately available funds to such account, if any, as such holder directs in writing to the Trustee at least ten (10) days prior to any Interest Payment Date, such payment by wire transfer pursuant to that direction continuing in effect as to subsequent Interest Payment Dates until such time as the holder notifies the Trustee to the contrary or until such time as such holder ceases to be a holder of the requisite principal amount of Series 1986 B Bonds. Interest on Series 1986 B Bonds held by the Bank or its designee pursuant to the Standby Agreement shall be paid (at the Bank Bond Rate) by wire transfer on each Interest Payment Date unless the Bank notifies the Trustee of a different mutually acceptable method.
form of Contract of Purchase now on file with the Secretary of the Board is hereby approved, together with any changes therein and completions thereof which are not inconsistent with this Resolution and not substantially adverse to the University, and as are permitted by the Act and approved on behalf of the University by the Chairman or the Treasurer. The approval on behalf of the University of those changes and completions by the Chairman or the Treasurer, and the status of those changes as not substantially adverse to the University, shall be conclusively evidenced by the execution of the Contract of Purchase on behalf of the University by the Chairman or the Treasurer. It is determined hereby that the purchase price and the manner of sale and the terms of the Series 1986 B Bonds, as provided in this Resolution, are consistent with all legal requirements and will carry out the public purposes of the Act.

The sale and award of the Series 1986 B Bonds shall be further evidenced by the Certificate of Award. The Certificate of Award is hereby authorized and shall be executed by the Chairman or the Treasurer. The Certificate of Award shall, as to the Series 1986 B Bonds, state or confirm the aggregate principal amount, the purchase price, the initial interest rate or rates, the amount of Capitalized Interest, the mandatory sinking fund requirements and the optional redemption provisions, all as determined in accordance with the provisions of this Resolution, the Third Supplemental Indenture and the Contract of Purchase. The Certificate of Award shall also contain such other data or provisions as the Chairman or the Treasurer determines are appropriate or necessary, and as are consistent with the Series 1985 A Bond Resolution, this Resolution, the Original Indenture, the Third Supplemental Indenture and the Contract of Purchase. The Certificate of Award shall be deemed a part of this Resolution in connection with the authorization, issuance and sale of the Series 1986 B Bonds.

The distribution of the Preliminary Official Statement relating to the Series 1986 B Bonds is hereby approved. The final Official Statement, substantially in the form of the Preliminary Official Statement now on file with the Board, shall be executed by the Chairman or the Treasurer in his official capacity on behalf of the University with any modifications, changes or supplements necessary or desirable for the purposes thereof which the Chairman or the Treasurer shall approve. The Board has not confirmed, and assumes no responsibility for, the accuracy, sufficiency or fairness of any statements in the Preliminary Official Statement or the final Official Statement or any supplements thereto, or in any reports, financial information, offering or disclosure documents or other information in any way relating to the Bank or the Original Purchasers.

Section 4. Allocation of Proceeds. The proceeds from the sale of the Series 1986 B Bonds, including any accrued interest, shall be allocated, deposited and applied as follows:

(i) To the Bond Fund, accrued interest received on the sale of the Series 1986 B Bonds;

(ii) To the Bond Reserve Fund, an amount equal to the amount required to bring the balance in the Bond Reserve Fund to an amount equal to the Bond Reserve Requirement in respect of all Bonds; and

(iii) To the 1986 Construction Fund, created pursuant to Section 5 of the Series 1986 A Bond Resolution and administered as provided in Section 9 of the Series 1985 A Bond Resolution and Section 5 of the Series 1986 A Bond Resolution, the entire remaining amount of the proceeds, to be applied to the purposes of that Fund, including transfers from that Fund authorized by the Act, to pay certain Capitalized Interest and to pay costs and expenses associated with the issuance of the Series 1986 B Bonds.

Section 5. Application of Bond Proceeds. The University covenants that the use of the proceeds of the Series 1986 B Bonds, including amounts at any time in the Bond Reserve Fund, will be restricted in such manner and to such extent, if any, as may be necessary, after taking into account reasonable expectations at the time of delivery of and payment for the Series 1986 B Bonds, so that the Series 1986 B Bonds will not constitute "arbitrage bonds" under Section 103(c) of the Code. The Treasurer of the University, or any other officer having responsibility with respect to the issuance of the Series 1986 B Bonds, alone or in conjunction with any other officer or employee of or consultant to the University, will give an appropriate certificate of the University for inclusion in the transcript of proceedings for the Series 1986 B Bonds setting forth the reasonable expectations of the University regarding the amount and use of those proceeds and the facts and estimates on which they are based, all as of the date of original delivery of and payment for the Series 1986 B Bonds.

The University further covenants that it will take all actions required to maintain the exemption from federal income tax for interest on the Series 1986 B Bonds, and will not take any actions which would adversely affect such exemption under the provisions of federal tax laws that apply to the Series 1986 B Bonds, or under the provisions of H.R. 3838, as passed by the U.S. House of Representatives on December 17, 1985, but with the effective date stated for certain provisions thereof listed in the March 14, 1986 Joint Statement by the chairmen and ranking minority members of the House Committee on Ways and Means and the Senate Committee on Finance and the Secretary of the Treasury, or as amended and passed by the U.S. Senate on June 24, 1986, until and unless, and except to the extent, with respect to H.R. 3838, the University obtains a written opinion of nationally recognized bond counsel that this covenant, as it pertains to H.R. 3838, need not be complied with in order for the interest on the Series 1986 B Bonds to continue to be exempt from federal income taxation; and the Chairman or the Treasurer and other appropriate officers are hereby authorized to take such actions and give such certifications as may be appropriate to assure such tax exemption of interest on the Series 1986 B Bonds.

Section 6. Further Covenants. In addition to the covenants elsewhere contained herein, the University further covenants as provided in Section 13 of the Series 1985 A Bond Resolution, which covenants are incorporated herein as if fully set forth herein.

Section 7. Third Supplemental Indenture, Remarketing Agreement, Standby Agreement and Other Documents. In order to better secure the payment of the Bond Service Charges as the same shall become due and payable, the Chairman, the President of the University, the Secretary of the Board and the Treasurer, or any one or more of them, are authorized and directed to execute, acknowledge and deliver to the Trustee, the Remarketing Agent and the Bank, in the name and on behalf of the University and pursuant to the Original Indenture, the Third Supplemental Indenture, the Remarketing Agreement and the Standby Agreement, respectively, each in substantially the form submitted to this Board, or to such officers on behalf of this Board and the University, and hereby approved, with such changes therein as are not substantially adverse to the University and as may be permitted by the Act and approved by the officers executing the same on behalf of the University. The Third Supplemental Indenture shall also include the form of the Series 1986 B Bonds (the "Form of Bond"), attached thereto as Exhibit A. The execution of such documents by any of the officers shall conclusively evidence that the officers and the Board approve such changes and that such changes are not substantially adverse to the University. Each of such officers is further authorized to execute and deliver on behalf of the University such other certificates, documents and instruments as are necessary in connection with the acts authorized by this Resolution.

Section 8. Text of Resolution. The text of this Resolution authorizing the issuance and sale of the Series 1986 B Bonds and related acts by the University may be changed for the purpose of curing any ambiguity, inconsistency or formal defect or omission in this Resolution or in respect of this Resolution as it relates to the Original Indenture, the Third Supplemental Indenture, the Certificate of Award, the Form of Bond, the Contract of Purchase, the Official Statement, the Remarketing Agreement or the Standby Agreement. Such changes shall be subject to the approval of any one of the officers (referred to in Section 7 above) as being changes not substantially adverse to the University or contrary to the true intent and meaning hereof and shall be acceptable to Bond Counsel (as defined in the Original Indenture).

Section 9. Open Meeting Determination. It is found and determined that all formal actions of the Board concerning and relating to the adoption of this Resolution were adopted in an open meeting of the Board, and that all deliberations of the Board and of any of its committees that resulted in such formal action were in meetings open to the public, in compliance with all legal requirements including Section 121.22 of the Revised Code.

Section 10. Effective Date. This Resolution shall take effect and be in force immediately upon its adoption. Reference shall be made to the Original Indenture and the Third Supplemental Indenture concerning matters not specifically addressed in this Resolution.

Upon motion of Mr. Redman, seconded by Mr. Barone, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous roll call vote.

President Jennings made the following statement:

Mr. Chairman, one more item—it does not require official action—but I think it is important to all of us to note that at our next meeting in September, Myles Brand will report to you on Educational Affairs in his capacity as Vice President for Academic Affairs and Provost. On behalf of the University, I would like to express at this time our deep debt of gratitude, deep appreciation of the service that Dr. Firebaugh has rendered to this University. She came in with no slip at all, picked up where Deither left off, in the accomplished way that she has. I think that Ohio State University will be forever grateful to her for providing this great leadership to the institution during the changing
President Jennings: (contd)

Francille, on behalf of all of us, we deeply appreciate what you have done and we thank you from the bottom of our hearts. We expect a great deal more—she is not leaving—and she will be working on our international activities and she will, I know, do an outstanding job there, too.

Commencement Speaker

Francille M. Firebaugh

Francille M. Firebaugh has served The Ohio State University as a faculty member and academic leader since 1962. A professor of family resource management, as well as the University's vice provost for international affairs, she first came to the University as a member of Ohio State's home economics faculty. Since then she has served as director of the School of Home Economics; associate dean of the College of Agriculture; acting vice president for agricultural administration and executive dean for agriculture, home economics, and natural resources; associate provost and vice provost for international affairs; and as acting vice president for academic affairs and provost.

Firebaugh earned a doctoral degree in household economics and management at Cornell University, having received her master's and bachelor's degrees in related fields from the University of Tennessee and the University of Arkansas, respectively. Her interests in home economics, international development, and higher education administration are reflected in her numerous academic publications and presentations. Her leadership roles with national and international professional and higher education associations include service as a member of the board of directors of the Midwest Universities Consortium for International Activities.

In recent years, a special interest of hers has been the role of women in the economic development of Third World countries. Her extensive overseas experience includes work in Egypt, India, Malaysia, and Europe. As an internationally known consultant on home economics, she has served the profession of higher education as a member of teams reviewing academic programs in that field.

Firebaugh's leadership in academic and international affairs and in the colleges of Agriculture and Home Economics has been central to many areas of change and progress at Ohio State. As vice provost for international affairs, she brings her experience to a vast and growing interdisciplinary area that is of increasing importance to Ohio State, as well as higher education as a whole.
Recipient of Honors

Dale B. Baker
Doctor of Science

Dale B. Baker was director of Chemical Abstracts Service in Columbus from 1958 until his retirement earlier this year. When he became director, Chemical Abstracts was a small, financially troubled abstracting and indexing service that was finding it difficult to maintain timely coverage of the growing volume of literature on chemical science and technology. Under his leadership, Chemical Abstracts became financially sound and modernized its information handling and publishing methods. Baker initiated a research and development program that placed it in the international forefront of the application of computers to the processing and handling of chemical information. Chemical Abstracts is now the world’s largest nongovernmental scientific and technical information processor.

A native of Bucyrus, Ohio, Baker received his bachelor’s and master’s degrees from Ohio State in 1942 and 1948, respectively. After working as a chemist with duPont, he joined Chemical Abstracts Service in 1946 as an assistant editor. After promotions to associate editor and then associate director, he became director of Chemical Abstracts in 1958. In addition to his duties at Chemical Abstracts, he became chief operating officer of the American Chemical Society in 1980 and served as its deputy executive director from 1983-86.

Dale Baker has played a significant role in promoting the exchange of scientific and technical information nationally and internationally. He has held leadership positions in the International Council of Scientific and Technical Information, serving as general secretary from 1983-86. He has been a member of committees of the International Union of Pure and Applied Chemistry, the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development, and UNESCO. Baker is a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science and past president of the American Society for Information Science and the National Federation of Abstracting and Information Science.

Baker contributes his time and service to the community through such organizations as the Center for Science and Industry, the Columbus Area Chamber of Commerce, Rotary International, and North Broadway United Methodist Church. He has been a dedicated supporter of Ohio State. Baker served as president of The Ohio State University Alumni Association (life member) and as a member of the board of directors of the Development Fund and the Research Foundation.

The recipient of numerous honors for his professional activities, Baker has received an Alumni Centennial Award and a College of Engineering Distinguished Alumnus Award from Ohio State. The University is proud to recognize Dale B. Baker for his productive and innovative career.

John Deaver Drinko
Doctor of Laws

John Deaver Drinko is an attorney and senior advisor to the managing committee of the law firm of Baker Hostetler, which is based in Cleveland and has offices in Columbus, Denver, Washington, and Orlando. He joined the firm in 1945 and was made managing partner in 1969. During his career he gained a national reputation as an attorney and has been called on frequently to consult with businesses, other law firms, and judges concerning complex legal questions. During this time, he helped to build Baker & Hostetler from a well-regarded local firm to one of the 20 largest law firms in the nation.

Drinko received his bachelor’s degree from Marshall University and earned a law degree from Ohio State in 1944.

Drinko serves as chairperson of the Cleveland Institute of Electronics Inc. and is a director of the Standard Products Company, Preformed Line Products Company, Cloyes Gear and Products Inc., Orvis Inc., Double D Ranch Inc., and Jones-Zylon Inc. He is an officer and trustee of the Arnold Foundation, the Cleveland Institute of Electronics Charitable Foundation, the Hostetler Foundation, the Mellen Foundation, and the Thomas F. Peterson Foundation. In the philanthropic circles of greater Cleveland, he has benefited such institutions as the Case Western Reserve Law School, University Hospitals, the Cleveland Clinic Foundation, and the John Carroll University School of Business.

Drinko’s involvement with Ohio State has been active and generous. In April 1986, he was elected to the board of directors of The Ohio State University Foundation. He has served two terms on the Executive Committee of The Presidents Club and one term on the board of directors of The Ohio State University Development Fund.

As an active advocate of the College of Law, Drinko has served as president of the college’s national council and has helped to establish the C. William O’Neill, John W. Bricker, and Newton D. Baker-Baker & Hostetler Endowed Professorships and the Noel F. George-Baker & Hostetler Library Fund. This year, along with his wife Elizabeth G. Drinko, colleagues, friends, and other contributors, he established the John D. Drinko-Baker & Hostetler Chair in Law.

In recognition of his service to Ohio State, Drinko received an Alumni Centennial Award in 1970 and the Distinguished Service Award in 1981. The University now proudly confers this new honor upon this well-respected alumnus.
Recipients of Honors

Paul Louis Lehmann
Doctor of Humane Letters

Paul Louis Lehmann is regarded as one of the most active and influential theologians of modern times. Through more than half a century of teaching and writing, he has influenced countless numbers of students, professors, and others with an interest in philosophy and ethics. He has been characterized as a pioneer in the application of biblical and traditional Christian thought to the ethical issues that face the modern human race. One former student and colleague has written that Lehmann "has done more on an intellectual level than almost any person in America to relate the great generalities of the Christian theological tradition to the most concrete and specific of lifestyle and behavioral guidelines for religious people inside and outside the churches." This work in the area of "contextual ethics" has been presented in Lehmann's best-known books, Ethics in a Christian Context, published in 1963, and The Transfiguration of Politics, published in 1975, and in numerous other publications.

Lehmann is the Charles A. Briggs Professor of Systematic Theology, Emeritus, at Union Theological Seminary, in New York. He retired in 1974, after a teaching career that also included positions at Wellesley College, Princeton Theological Seminary, and Harvard University. Since his retirement, he has lectured extensively across the nation and has held several visiting professorships. He is a graduate of Ohio State, where he received a Bachelor of Arts with honors and a Bachelor of Science degree in education in 1927. He went on to receive a Bachelor of Divinity and a Doctor of Theology from Union Theological Seminary. Lehmann was ordained as a minister in 1937.

Lehmann has maintained a strong commitment to the practice of his philosophies. He has been active in worldwide Christian organizations, served as a delegate to the World Council of Churches, was president of the American Theological Society, and has been involved in causes for peace and assisting churches in oppressed nations. He was a leader of the Emergency Committee on Civil Liberties during the McCarthy era. and more recently, he has been active on the Committee for the Protection of the Foreign Born.

He has received honorary degrees from Lawrence College, Harvard University, Elmhurst College, Colorado College, and the University of Tubingen.

Ohio State proudly recognizes the significant contributions to society that have been made by this distinguished teacher and scholar.
Distinguished Service Awards

Virginia S. Conn
Distinguished Service Award

From her days as an Ohio State undergraduate to the present, Virginia S. Conn's name has been synonymous with service to the University. While pursuing a Bachelor of Arts degree and a Bachelor of Science degree in education that she would receive with distinction in 1936, her activities included Smolliers Dramatic Society, the Browning Dramatic Society, the Pomerene Advisory Board, and Women's Ohio (Student Senate). She was inducted into Chimes, Mortar Board, and the educational honorary Pi Lambda Theta.

Since completing her undergraduate studies and subsequently earning a master's degree in 1942, Conn has been an active and dedicated alumna. As a life member of the Alumni Association, she has served on the association's board of directors, as well as on the board of directors of the Development Fund. Conn is a past president of the Franklin County Alumnae Club, the Alumnae Council, and the Alumnae Scholarship Houses Advisory Board. She has served on planning committees for numerous Women's Day seminars and is a past chairperson of "A Day with the Arts." In 1985, she chaired the 50th reunion activities for the Alumnae Scholarship Houses and the Alumnae Council.

Conn was a member of the continuing education planning committee, which led to the existence of noncredit continuing education programs, and is a past president of the Starling-Ohio Women's Club, an organization of wives of University medical and dental faculty.

The community has benefitted from Virginia Conn's efforts as well. She is a past president of the Women's Auxiliary to the Academy of Medicine of Columbus and Franklin County and the Canterbury Unit of the Columbus Symphony Orchestra. She has also been secretary and chairperson of women's special gifts during her 25 years of service to the Franklin County Heart Council.

Conn received the University's Alumni Centennial Award in 1970. Ohio State is pleased to present her with the Distinguished Service Award in recognition of her many years of unselfish devotion to Ohio State and the community.

Arthur E. Shepard
Distinguished Service Award

Arthur E. Shepard is chairperson emeritus of the insurance brokerage firm, Turner & Shepard Inc., a subsidiary of Alexander & Alexander Inc. He now serves as a consultant to Alexander & Alexander. A native of Cambridge, Ohio, Shepard attended Ohio State in the College of Commerce in the early 1930s and also attended Franklin University. He holds the CLU designation from the American College of Life Underwriters. He is president of Mar-Lyn Corporation.

Shepard has been an enthusiastic and generous supporter of Ohio State for many years. He joined The Presidents Club in 1966 and has been a member of its Executive Committee for 11 years. He completed his fifth term as chairperson of the Executive Committee in May.

In 1982, he established the Arthur E. Shepard Professorship in Insurance in the College of Business. Shepard has also supported the Athletic Grant-in-Aid program, the Friends of WOSU, and the College of Medicine through additional gifts to the University. He is a charter member of The Presidents Council.

In addition to his Presidents Club involvement, Shepard is a member of the National Campaign Committee for The Ohio State University Campaign, and he serves on the Nominating Committee of the board of directors of The Ohio State University Foundation. He is a member of the University's Alumni Association.

Shepard has been active in professional circles and in the community. He is past president of the Columbus chapter of the American Society of Chartered Life Underwriters and a past board member of the Columbus Life Underwriters Association. He is a past board member of the Columbus Area Chamber of Commerce and served on the Columbus Downtown Action Committee. He has been a member of the Development Committee for Greater Columbus Parks and Recreation Committee. He also served as chairperson of the First Community Church Board and First Community Foundation.

Shepard's generosity has also benefited the United Way of Franklin County, Children's Hospital, the Columbus Heart Association, the Center of Science and Industry, the Columbus Symphony, the Columbus Museum of Art, the Columbus Association for Performing Arts, the Columbus Zoo, and other educational and charitable organizations.

Shepard received an Honorary Alumni Award from Berea College in 1980. Ohio State is grateful for his dedication and is pleased to extend this honor to him.

September 4 and 5, 1986 meeting, Board of Trustees

The Chairman, Mr. Galbreath, called the meeting of the Board of Trustees to order on September 4, 1986, at 6:30 p.m. He requested the Secretary to call the roll. The meeting recessed into Executive Session for the purpose of considering legal issues and personnel-related matters.

Mr. Galbreath reconvened the meeting on September 5, 1986, at 10:05 a.m.

NAMING OF AUDITORIUM

Resolution No. 87-25

Synopsis: A name is proposed for the auditorium portion of Ovalwood Hall on the Mansfield campus.

WHEREAS this Board has authority in naming of all buildings and structures at The Ohio State University, as set forth in paragraph (G) of rule 3335-1-08 of the Administrative Code; and

WHEREAS The Ohio State University Mansfield Campus was created through the efforts of a large number of individuals and corporations in the Mansfield community and its surrounding area; and

WHEREAS no physical entity on the Mansfield Campus has been designated to recognize the vital role played by these community "founders" in the establishment of the Campus; and

WHEREAS the 20th anniversary of the establishment of the Campus is being observed during the current year; and

WHEREAS the President and the President's staff concur with the recommendation of the Mansfield Campus administration that the aforementioned auditorium be named in honor of the community founders of the Campus:

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That the auditorium portion of Ovalwood Hall on The Ohio State University Mansfield Campus henceforth shall be known as "Founders Auditorium" in recognition of the important role played by numerous members of the Mansfield community in the establishment of the Mansfield Campus.

Upon motion of Mr. Redman, seconded by Mr. Barone, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous voice vote.
NAMING OF BUILDING ADDITION

Resolution No. 87-26

Synopsis: A name is proposed for the art gallery addition to Ovalwood Hall on the Mansfield campus.

WHEREAS this Board has authority in naming of all buildings and structures at The Ohio State University, as set forth in paragraph (G) of rule 3335-1-08 of the Administrative Code; and

WHEREAS the John and Pearl Conard Foundation of Mansfield, Ohio, has made a generous commitment of funds to the University for the addition of an art gallery wing to Ovalwood Hall on The Ohio State University Mansfield Campus; and

WHEREAS the Conards were longstanding and enthusiastic supporters of the Mansfield Campus, and Pearl Conard had an equally strong appreciation for and interest in the arts; and

WHEREAS the President and the President’s staff concur with the recommendation of the Mansfield Campus administration that the aforementioned art gallery addition be named in honor of Pearl Conard:

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That the art gallery wing that will be added to Ovalwood Hall on The Ohio State University Mansfield Campus shall be known as "The Pearl Conard Gallery."

Upon motion of Mr. Redman, seconded by Mr. Teaford, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous voice vote.

RESOLUTIONS IN MEMORIAM

Resolution No. 87-28

Synopsis: Resolutions honoring the service of one former member of the Board of Trustees and five of the University's faculty members who have recently died are being proposed.

RESOLVED, That the Board adopt the following Resolutions in Memoriam and that the President be requested to convey a copy to the families of the deceased.

Leonard J. Alexander

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on February 17, 1986, of Leonard J. Alexander, Professor Emeritus in the Department of Plant Pathology.

Dr. Alexander was born on a farm in Traynor, Iowa, in 1903, but moved as a youngster to Louisiana. Upon graduation from Louisiana State University he accepted a graduate assistantship at the University of Wisconsin. After receiving his M.Sc. degree in 1928, he continued graduate school until 1930 when he became an Assistant in the Department of Botany and Plant Pathology at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station (now OARDC-OSU). He returned to the University of Wisconsin for short periods and received his Ph.D. in 1934.

Dr. Alexander attained the rank of Professor at The Ohio State University and distinguished himself in many areas of research and service before his retirement in 1970. He laid the foundation for the elucidation of tomato pathogen variation, locating disease resistance genes in wild tomato species and development of disease resistant commercial greenhouse tomatoes. Dr. Alexander's genetic materials and research leadership strengthened this area of research around the world.

Dr. Alexander was a member of the American Phytopathological Society since 1928, serving as National Advertising Manager, Councilor, Vice President, and President of the North Central Division; and was honored by his election as a Fellow of the Society. He was also a member of and served in many leadership roles in numerous other scientific and honorary societies and community organizations. Dr. Alexander was a Visiting Scientist at the Institute for Phytopathological Research at Wageningen, The Netherlands; a Guest Lecturer at the Faculty di Agaria, Bari, Italy; and a Visiting Scientist in the Department of Plant Pathology (1968-69) and Visiting Professor (1972-82) at the University of Florida, Gainesville. He delivered lectures and invitational papers at many universities, international meetings and congresses.

On behalf of the University, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family its deep sympathy and sense of understanding in its loss. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as an expression of the Board's heartfelt sympathy.

John A. Eglitis

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on June 29, 1986, of John A. Eglitis, M.D., D.M.Sc., Professor Emeritus in the Department of Anatomy.

Dr. Eglitis was born on December 16, 1902, in Riga, Latvia. He received his M.D. degree in 1931 with a speciality in otolaryngology, his D.M.Sc. degree in 1940 and his D.M. habilatation in 1942 from the University of Latvia's Faculty of Medicine. His dissertation was awarded First Prize of the State Culture Fund.

Dr. Eglitis began his academic career in 1927 when he accepted an assistantship in histology at the University of Latvia where he served until 1944, advancing from instructor to chairman of his department. In 1951, Dr. Eglitis joined The Ohio State University's College of Medicine as an instructor in Anatomy where he would continue as a faculty member for the next 22 years. He became a professor in 1961. Dr. Eglitis served as the director of histology in both the medical and dental programs. He also served as advisor for seven graduate students in Anatomy. Four received their doctorates in Anatomy; two their master's degrees; and one received both a master's and doctorate degree. He retired in 1973 having taught medical, dental and graduate students both here and abroad for 46 years.

Dr. Eglitis served on numerous departmental, college and university committees. He was a fellow and member of several scientific societies. He was recognized by his students as an outstanding teacher. For his efforts, he was selected by the senior medical class of 1965 as the College of Medicine's, "Professor of the Year."

On behalf of the University community, the Board of Trustees expresses to his wife, Dr. Irma Eglitis, its deepest sympathy. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to his wife as a sincere expression of the Board's realization of the loss that his wife, the University, and his many friends and associates have sustained.

RESOLUTIONS IN MEMORIAM (contd)

Alan B. Loop

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on August 9, 1986, of Alan B. Loop, a former member of this Board.

Alan B. Loop was appointed as a Trustee of The Ohio State University effective July 23, 1959, by Governor Michael V. DiSalle, for a term ending May 13, 1966. He served as Chairman of the Board from May 13, 1965, to the end of his term. Mr. Loop was the recipient of the University's Distinguished Service Award in 1967.

Mr. Loop was born in Toledo, Ohio, and attended The Ohio State University, earning a Bachelor of Arts degree in 1932 and a Juris Doctor degree in 1933. As an undergraduate, Alan Loop was a member and President of The Ohio State University Chapter of Phi Kappa Psi; a member of the Toastmaster's Club of Columbus; a member and captain of The Ohio State University varsity golf team; a member of Ohio State Varsity "O"; and a member of the Interfraternity Council. During law school, Mr. Loop was a member of the Order of the Coif and a member of Phi Delta Phi.

In 1933 Mr. Loop became associated with the law firm of Fraser, Hiett, Wall & Effler in Toledo, Ohio, the predecessor of the Toledo firm of Shumaker, Loop & Kendrick. In 1940 Mr. Loop became a partner in the firm and became a senior partner in 1948. Mr. Loop's legal work focused on Corporate law and Trusts and Estates and he was a member of the American, Ohio and Toledo Bar Associations. He was also a member of the American Judicature Society and a life member of the American Bar Foundation.

Mr. Loop was also very active in his community. He served as a Trustee of the Toledo Chamber of Commerce from 1971-1973, and served as a Director for many corporations including Gregory Industries, Inc.; Toledo Stamping & Manufacturing Company; Toledo Steel Tube Co.; Dubuque Stamping & Manufacturing Company; and the Mather Company. He was a member of the Toledo Club, the Belmont Country Club, the Naples Yacht Club, and the Hole-in-the-Wall Golf Club. He was a member of the St. Michael's in the Hills Episcopal Church in Toledo, and served as a member of the Vestry and as Senior Warden.

Alan Loop's interest in education went beyond his service on this Board. He was a member of the Board of Trustees of the Edna B. Rowe School of Organic Education; a Trustee of the Maumee Valley Country Day School; and a member of the Advisory Committee to the Senior Class at Vassar College in 1956-1957.

Mr. Loop's dedication to education and his strong commitment to his community are evident in the many ways he generously contributed his time and energy to these schools, corporations and other groups. He was indeed a fine example of how an individual can enrich both his life and the lives of those around him by serving the public interest.

On behalf of the University, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family its deep sympathy and sense of understanding in its loss. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as a sincere expression of the Board's realization of the loss which the family and The Ohio State University community have sustained.
The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on July 6, 1986, of Robert C. McMaster, Professor Emeritus in the Department of Welding Engineering.

Dr. McMaster was born May 13, 1913, in Wilkinsburg, Pennsylvania. In his early years he was introduced to river-related activities by his father and his interest in boating and canoeing continued throughout his lifetime.

His career as an engineer and scientist began at Carnegie Institute of Technology where he received a Bachelor of Science in Electrical Engineering degree in 1936. Employment with the General Electric Company in Schenectady, New York, led to graduate work at the California Institute of Technology, Pasadena, California. A Master of Science degree was received in 1938 and a Doctor of Philosophy degree in Electrical Engineering and Physics, magna cum laude, in 1944. While in California he supervised the welding and x-ray research programs and worked extensively in the high voltage testing laboratory studying the effects of lightning on electric power transmission lines. Dr. McMaster developed during this period an interest in weather that later resulted in his participation in a twice-daily televised program which pioneered this activity and included an explanation of weather phenomena along with the usual data reports. His enthusiasm and knowledge of the subject established, over a span of fifteen years, the standards for weather news reporting followed today.

Dr. McMaster joined Battelle Memorial Institute in 1945 and developed and supervised, during ten years of association, the Department of Electrical Engineering. His interest in nondestructive testing continued to expand and included his serving as President of the Society of Nondestructive Testing in 1952-53. While at Battelle, he was awarded a patent on xeroradiography, a process extensively used in the medical field.

In 1955, Dr. McMaster joined the faculty of The Ohio State University as a Professor of Welding Engineering. He taught welding and nondestructive testing courses at both undergraduate and graduate levels. His outgoing personality coupled with his ability to explain complex concepts in a clear and understandable manner was well received by his students. He truly made the learning experience enjoyable. Until his retirement in 1977, Dr. McMaster continued his efforts in research, working with graduate students and a professional staff engaged in sponsored programs. His activities expanded into sonic power, the applications of which are still being developed. During this time he edited the first edition of the "Nondestructive Testing Handbook," a monumental task requiring thousands of hours of dedicated work. The two-volume publication was first available in 1959 and is in widespread use today as the best single reference on the subject.

Dr. McMaster was awarded nineteen patents including the application of x-rays for sterilization of food, an x-ray television imaging system, sonic power devices and a magnetic-reaction device using the Hall effect. He authored over 300 technical papers and received awards too numerous to list. His devotion to his work was equalled by his devotion to his family and friends. Dr. McMaster came into contact with a great many people during his lifetime and it is likely everyone of those people benefited from the association with him.

On behalf of the University community, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family of Dr. McMaster its deepest sympathy. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family of Dr. McMaster as a sincere expression of the Board’s realization of the loss that the family, the University, and his many friends and associates have sustained.

William F. Shepard

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on July 1, 1986, of William F. Shepard, Assistant Professor Emeritus in the School of Allied Medical Professions.

William ("Friendly Fred") Shepard was born June 14, 1909, in Nelsonville, Ohio. He attended the Columbus Art School and the Landon School of Art in St. Louis. He completed two years in the College of Education at The Ohio State University.

In 1939, he was employed as a lab assistant in hematology at The Ohio State University. In 1948, he founded and was appointed director of the new Department of Medical Illustration in University Hospital. Medical Illustration was transferred to the School of Allied Medical Professions in 1966 and he continued as director and was appointed to the faculty as an Assistant Professor. He retired on September 30, 1968, and was granted emeritus status November 1, 1968.

He served as past director of education for the Ohio State Conservation Congress and for the Junior Sportsmen of Ohio. He was a past trustee for the Hilltop Sportsman's Club and a member of the Masons.

Garth W. Volk

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on June 8, 1986, of Dr. Garth W. Volk, Professor Emeritus in the Department of Agronomy.

Professor Volk was born in Maple Valley, Wisconsin, June 12, 1905. He received three academic degrees from the University of Wisconsin: a Bachelor's degree in 1934; a Master's degree in 1935; and a Ph.D. degree in 1936. Professor Volk held professional positions in industry and universities. He served as a soil chemist for United Fruit Company in Central America (1928-1933); Assistant Professor at Oklahoma State University (1936-1944); and as a Soil Chemist at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station (1944-1947). He was the first person to be chairman, in 1947, of the reunified Department of Agronomy formed by combining the two departments; one at The Ohio State University and the other at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station in Wooster (1947-1975). He was a consultant to various USAID projects and international development organizations. He was granted emeritus status upon his retirement on July 1, 1975.

Professor Volk was elected Fellow of the American Society of Agronomy. He also received many other honorary positions and awards including Sigma Xi; Gamma Sigma Delta; Gamma Alpha; Phi Lambda Upsilon; recipient of the Agronomy Club; and received the Outstanding Faculty Award. He advised over twenty-five Ph.D. students and published over 50 articles on soil chemistry and soil fertility. He served on many university and professional committees.

On behalf of the University, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family its deep sympathy and sense of understanding in its loss. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as an expression of the Board's heartfelt sympathy.

Upon motion of Mr. Redman, seconded by Mr. Teaford, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous voice vote.

The Ohio State University Development Fund

Establishment of Named Funds

Humanities Fund (Research and curricula development) $15,000.00

The Michael Pupin Memorial Fund
(Provide stipends to scholars and doctoral candidates in the field of Medieval Slavic Studies (Hilander Research Library)) $10,000.00

The Robert E. Taylor Graduate Fellowship Fund
(Support a doctoral level graduate student in comprehensive vocational education) $10,000.00

The Nikola Tesla Memorial Fund
(Provide stipends to scholars and doctoral candidates in the field of Medieval Slavic Studies (Hilander Research Library)) $10,000.00

Marian K. Thomas Horticulture Fund
(Scholarships - Landscape Architecture) $10,000.00

The Bishop Mardarije Uskokovich Memorial Fund
(Provide stipends to scholars and doctoral candidates in the field of Medieval Slavic Studies (Hilander Research Library)) $10,000.00

Bishop Nikolai Velimirovich Memorial Fund
(Provide stipends to scholars and doctoral candidates in the field of Medieval Slavic Studies (Hilander Research Library)) $10,000.00

The Walter William Cooke Memorial Fund
(Support the Raptor Rehabilitation Program in the College of Veterinary Medicine) $9,100.00

THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY RESEARCH FOUNDATION

Report - June 1986

Federal Research Contracts/Grants

$1,250,000.00 - National Science Foundation, Washington, DC, Engineering Research Center for Net Shape Manufacturing, Department of Industrial and Systems Engineering (T. Altan), 1 May 1986 through 30 April 1987. (Project 765393 - New)

$866,400.00 - Department of Education, Office of Special Education, Washington, DC, Regional Resource Center, Department of Human Services Education (T. Stephens), 1 June 1986 through 31 May 1987. (Project 763600 - Continuation)

$564,765.00 - Department of Health and Human Services, Public Health Service, Health Resources and Services Administration, Rockville, MD, Mental Retardation Training, Nisonger Center (G. E. Martin), 1 July 1986 through 30 June 1987. (Project 761169 - Continuation)

$195,967.00 - Department of Health and Human Services, Public Health Service, National Institutes of Health, Bethesda, MD, Advanced Educational Program in General Dentistry, Community Dentistry (L. P. Diorio), 1 July 1986 through 30 June 1987. (Project 765454 - New)

$186,388.00 - Department of Health and Human Services, Public Health Service, National Institutes of Health, Bethesda, MD, Cytotoxic Carcinogenic and Antileukemic Agents, Department of Chemistry (L. A. Paquette), 1 June 1986 through 31 May 1987. (Project 763284 - Continuation)

$184,328.00 - Department of Defense, National Security Agency, Fort George G. Meade, MD, Advanced Individualized Materials for Seven Slavic and East European Languages, Department of Slavic and East European Languages and Literatures (L. I. Twarog), 1 May 1986 through 28 February 1987. (Project 764672 - Continuation)

$183,480.00 - National Science Foundation, Washington, DC, An Integrated Cell for Machining and Polishing of Dies, Molds and Other Complex Shaped Parts, Department of Industrial and Systems Engineering (A. Bagchi, R. L. Lewis and T. Altan) and Department of Mechanical Engineering (K. Srinivasan), 1 July 1986 through 30 June 1987. (Project 765220 - New)

$175,000.00 - Department of Health and Human Services, Office of Human Development Services, Administration on Developmental Disabilities, Kansas City, MO, UAF (University Affiliated Facility) Administration and Operation, Nisonger Center (V. L. Reynolds), 1 July 1986 through 30 June 1987. (Project 763712 - Continuation)

$168,000.00 - Department of Education, Office of Postsecondary Education, Washington, DC, Graduate and Professional Study Fellowships Program, Graduate School Administration (J. D. Dickerscheid), 1 September 1986 through 31 August 1987. (Project 765430 - Continuation)

$156,835.00 - Environmental Protection Agency, Washington, DC, Cocarcinogenesis Studies with Epstein-Barr Virus, Department of Medical

Microbiology and Immunology (M. R. Glaser) and Cancer Research Center (L. D. Tomei), 1 July 1986 through 30 June 1987. (Project 764169 - Continuation)

$149,615.00 - Department of Health and Human Services, Public Health Service, National Institutes of Health, Bethesda, MD, Carcinogenesis, Molecular and Cellular Biology, Cancer Research Center and Department of Physiological Chemistry (G. E. Milo), 1 September 1986 through 31 August 1987. (Project 764351 - Continuation)

$142,000.00 - Environmental Protection Agency, Chicago, IL, Annual Open Lake Water Quality Surveillance Program for Lake Erie, Center for Lake Erie Research (D. E. Rathke), 1 March 1986 through 28 February 1987. (Project 765389 - Continuation)

$142,000.00 - Department of the Interior, Bureau of Mines, Washington, DC, Mining and Mineral Resources Research Institute - Annual Allotment 86/87, Department of Metallurgical Engineering (G. R. St. Pierre), 1 July 1986 through 30 June 1987. (Project 765442 - Continuation)

$137,895.00 - Department of Health and Human Services, Public Health Service, National Institutes of Health, Bethesda, MD, Human Thrombin: Binding and Recognition Sites, Department of Chemistry (L. J. Berliner), 1 September 1986 through 31 August 1987. (Project 761742 - Continuation)

$137,576.00 - Department of Health and Human Services, Public Health Service, National Institutes of Health, Research Triangle Park, NC, Genotoxicity in Human Fetal Brain, Dermis and Kidney Cells, Department of Radiology (S. M. D'Ambrosio and A. A. Wani), 20 June 1986 through 31 May 1987. (Project 763673 - Continuation)

$134,715.00 - Department of Health and Human Services, Public Health Service, National Institutes of Health, Bethesda, MD, Pathobiological Determinants of Atherosclerosis in Youth, Department of Surgery (J. F. Cornhill), 1 June 1986 through 31 December 1986. (Project 764727 - Continuation)

$130,958.00 - Department of Health and Human Services, Public Health Service, National Institutes of Health, Bethesda, MD, Study of the Pharmacokinetics of Anticancer Drugs, College of Pharmacy (L. Malspeis), 1 May 1986 through 30 April 1987. (Project 764113 - Continuation)

$123,614.00 - National Science Foundation, Washington, DC, Stratigraphy, Paleontology and Sedimentology of the Sirius Formation, Institute of Polar Studies and Department of Geology and Mineralogy (P. N. Webb) and Institute of Polar Studies (J. H. Mercer), 1 September 1986 through 31 August 1987. (Project 764799 - Continuation)

$121,503.00 - Department of Health and Human Services, Public Health Service, National Institutes of Health, Bethesda, MD, Cardiac Dysfunction and Sudden Death Modified by Exercise, Department of Physiology (G. E. Billman), 1 July 1986 through 30 June 1987. (Project 765510 - Continuation)

THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY DEVELOPMENT FUND

Establishment of Named Funds

The Admissions and Allocations Fund

The Admissions and Allocations Fund was established September 5, 1986, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from numerous donors.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to support projects and programs as determined each year by the Admissions and Allocations Committee of The Ohio State University Development Fund.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees.

The Lawrence D. Stanley Professorship in Law

The Lawrence D. Stanley Professorship in Law was established September 5, 1986, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from Mrs. Lawrence D. Stanley of Columbus, in memory of her husband, Lawrence D. Stanley (B.A. '27), a distinguished corporate lawyer, who practiced law in Columbus with the firm of Porter, Stanley, Platt and Arthur (and predecessor firms) until his retirement in 1977.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

Annual income shall be used to provide support for the work of a distinguished scholar and teacher in the College of Law with appointment to the Lawrence D. Stanley Professorship as recommended by the Dean of the College of Law to the Provost of The Ohio State University and approved by the Board of Trustees.

The named professor will devote significant time to one or more of the areas in which Mr. Stanley practiced: the law of business associations (including corporations, partnerships, and other business enterprises), business litigation, business or financial planning, securities regulation, the law of taxation as it impacts on corporations and other business enterprises, and other law relating to the activities of corporations and other business enterprises.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to the recommendations from the appropriate administrative official of the University then responsible for the College of Law.

Meat Science Endowment Fund

The Meat Science Endowment Fund was established September 5, 1986, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from various transfer funds within the Department of Animal Science.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to support students, travel and research expenses related to Meat Science in the Department of Animal Science. All expenditures from the fund shall be approved by the Department Chairperson.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to the recommendations from the appropriate administrative official of the University who is then directly responsible for instruction in agriculture.

Center for Epigraphical Studies

The Center for Epigraphical Studies was established September 5, 1986, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from various transfer funds from the College of Humanities.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to fund the purchase of materials and equipment and to provide personnel services in connection with the activities of the Center for Epigraphical Studies at the discretion of the Chairperson of the Department of Classics.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to the recommendations from the appropriate administrative official of the University who is then directly responsible for meeting the educational goals of the College of Humanities.

Emerson and Miriam Wollam Scholarship Fund

The Emerson and Miriam Wollam Scholarship Fund was established September 5, 1986, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from Robert Wollam, Kristin Goodwillie, Gretchen O'Connor, and Karen Sewell, in honor of their father, Emerson Wollam (B.S.S.A. '33) and in memory of their mother, Miriam Wollam (M.S.W. '64).

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income is to be used to provide a scholarship(s) to graduate student(s) currently enrolled in the College of Social Work. The student(s) must maintain a grade point average of 2.5 and be in need of financial assistance. The selection of the scholarship recipient shall be made by the University Scholarship Committee and the Dean of the College of Social Work, in cooperation with the University Committee on Student Financial Aid.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to the recommendations from the appropriate administrative official of the University who is then directly responsible for the College of Social Work.

Charles Wallschlaeger Scholarship Fund

The Charles Wallschlaeger Scholarship Fund was established September 5, 1986, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from alumni, faculty, staff, and members of the design community in recognition of Charles Wallschlaeger for twenty-five years' service as Professor and nineteen as Chairperson of the Department of Industrial Design.
Establishment of Named Funds (contd)

Charles Wallschlaeger Scholarship Fund (contd)

The annual income shall be awarded to one or more outstanding undergraduate or graduate students majoring in Industrial Design. Recipients will be determined by the established procedures within the Department of Industrial Design, with final approval by the Chairperson of the Department and the Dean of the College of The Arts in cooperation with the University Committee on Student Financial Aid.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to the recommendations from the appropriate administrative official of the University who is then directly responsible for the academic programs in the Department of Industrial Design.

The George R. Haddad Piano Scholarship

The George R. Haddad Piano Scholarship was established September 5, 1986, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from friends of George R. Haddad, Professor of the School of Music.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be awarded to one or more outstanding undergraduate or graduate students in music with piano as their major instrument.

Recipients will be selected by the established procedures within the School of Music, with final approval by the Director of the School of Music and the Dean of the College of The Arts in cooperation with the University Committee on Student Financial Aid.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to the recommendations from the appropriate administrative official of the University who is then directly responsible for academic programs in the School of Music.
The Guy and Jeannette Miller Scholarship Fund was established September 5, 1986, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from Mrs. M. R. Lepper, the daughter of Guy (B.S.Agr. '19) and Jeannette (B.S.H.E. '19) Miller.

Professor Miller, who began his career as a County Extension Agent in Trumbull County, and then became a Cooperative Extension Service Farm Management Specialist in the Department of Agricultural Economics and Rural Sociology, spent the final years of his career as an Agricultural Advisor to the government of Pakistan. Throughout his career, Guy Miller was greatly admired and respected by his co-workers, clientele, and his many friends. His wife, Jeannette, was equally admired and respected as a home economist, homemaker, and devoted wife and mother.

In accordance with the wishes of the Miller family, as well as with their financial support, and that of the faculty, staff, students, and alumni of the Department of Agricultural Economics and Rural Sociology in the College of Agriculture, plus the many friends of Guy and Jeannette Miller from throughout Ohio and neighboring states, a Memorial Scholarship Fund is hereby established.

Annual income from the endowment is to be used to provide scholarship assistance to Ohio high school graduates who have an outstanding record in their academic work, as well as in their 4-H Club accomplishments. These scholarships may vary in value according to the interest income generated from the endowment. To the extent possible, each scholarship shall be awarded for at least $500, and these scholarships shall be awarded to entering freshmen who meet the aforementioned qualifications, and who will be enrolled in either the College of Agriculture or the College of Home Economics. The scholarships shall go to students entering the College of Agriculture or the College of Home Economics (alternately in succeeding years).

Criteria for the selection of recipients of "The Guy and Jeannette Miller Scholarship" shall include those qualities of scholarship, leadership, integrity, and excellence in 4-H Club projects and activities which were fostered by Guy and Jeannette Miller throughout their lifetimes. Administration of these scholarships shall be under the Vice President, Agricultural Administration, with the selection of scholarship recipients to be the joint responsibility of appropriate officers in the College of Agriculture and College of Home Economics and the State 4-H Office in cooperation with the University Committee on Student Financial Aid, with chairpersonship of the selection committee to reside in the College of Agriculture.

Paul D. Morrill Memorial Lecture Fund

The Paul D. Morrill Memorial Lecture Fund was established September 5, 1986, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from Alice B. Morrill, Columbus, Ohio, and friends in memory of Paul D. Morrill, retired University Architect.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to underwrite the costs of lectures with the focus directed toward the design of kitchen facilities. Appropriate promotional efforts will be given to each presentation. Expenditure of funds shall be at the recommendation of the Chairperson of the Department of Architecture and approved by the Director of the School of Architecture.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to the recommendations from the appropriate administrative official of the University who is then directly responsible for the School of Architecture.

The Social Psychology Advancement Fund

The Social Psychology Advancement Fund was established September 5, 1986, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from Dr. Anthony Greenwald, Professor of Social Psychology.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used if possible on a matching basis with funds from other University sources to support colloquia arranged by the social psychology area. The fund will be supervised by an oversight committee in conjunction with the Chairperson of the Department of Psychology and the Office of the Dean of the College of Social and Behavioral Sciences. This committee will consist of the faculty of the social psychology area, chaired by the area head.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to the recommendations from the appropriate administrative official of the University who is then directly responsible for the Department of Psychology.

Change of Name and Description of Named Fund

Department of Family Resource Management Endowment Fund

The Department of Home Management and Housing Endowment Fund was established February 4, 1983, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from alumni, faculty and friends of the Department of Family Resource Management of the College of Home Economics. The name and description were changed September 5, 1986.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income is to be used to further programs in the Department of Family Resource Management with preference given to graduate and research programs, in that order. Expenditure of annual income will be determined by the chairperson and two faculty members of the Department of Family Resource Management. Annual income from the endowment shall be accumulated and added to the principal until the endowment reaches a total of $10,000. Subsequent earnings shall be distributed on the basis of eighty percent (80%) of the earnings awarded, as directed in the first sentence of this paragraph, and twenty percent (20%) of earnings returned to the principal of the endowment.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to the recommendations from the appropriate administrative official of the University who is then directly responsible for consumer/family economics, equipment and family resource management education.

THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY DEVELOPMENT FUND

Establishment of Named Funds

Humanities Fund

The Humanities Fund was established September 5, 1986, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from Barbara Brandt of Columbus, Ohio, and various transfer funds.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The Humanities Fund of The Ohio State University's College of Humanities will provide the support necessary for the achievement of excellence in research and curricula development by its faculty and students through the supplementation of the limited resources presently available for those purposes.

The annual income shall be used (1) to support archival, library and field research; (2) to sponsor scholarly conferences and research colloquia on The Ohio State University campus; and (3) to provide for programs necessary to foster curricular development.

The Fund will be organized into discrete segments named for the donors who provide for each segment, and will be administered by a special committee of the College of Humanities chaired by the Associate Dean of the College.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to the recommendations from the appropriate administrative official of the University who is then directly responsible for the College of Humanities.

The Michael Pupin Memorial Fund

The Michael Pupin Memorial Fund was established September 5, 1986, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from the Serb National Federation of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The Michael Pupin Memorial Fund was established in memory of Michael Pupin, Serbian scientist, scholar and diplomat, buried on American soil, whose inventions in the area of telecommunications provided a solid basis for this branch of science with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from: 1) Lodges and members of the Serb National Federation; 2) Serbian Orthodox Churches and their parishioners; and 3) Serbian Orthodox individuals throughout the USA and Canada and transmitted through the Serb National Federation for the benefit of the Resource Center for Medieval Slavic Studies (Hilandar Research Project).

The annual income shall be used to provide stipends to qualified scholars and doctoral candidates in the field of Medieval Slavic Studies, working on the study of material in the Hilandar Research Library, relating to Serbian Orthodox religion and culture.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to the recommendations from the appropriate administrative official of the University who is then directly responsible for Slavic and/or Serbian studies.

The Robert E. Taylor Graduate Fellowship Fund

The Robert E. Taylor Graduate Fellowship Fund was established September 5, 1986, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund in honor of Robert E.

Taylor, founder and director of the National Center for Research in Vocational Education for twenty years.

The annual income shall be used to support a doctoral level graduate student in comprehensive vocational education preparing for initial or advanced leadership responsibility in a state department (division) of vocational education. One student is to be selected every two years to allow the individual the time required to complete the degree. Selection of the recipient is to be made by the National Center for Research in Vocational Education, The Ohio State University. Income produced in excess of the amount required for annual support of the doctoral level graduate student, will be used for appropriate national leadership initiatives as determined by the National Center for Research in Vocational Education.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to the recommendations from the appropriate administrative official of the University who is then directly responsible for the National Center for Research in Vocational Education.

In the unlikely event that the National Center for Research in Vocational Education should cease to exist as a unit of the University then the administration and selection authority under the stated purposes for the Fund should be assigned to the Department of Agricultural Education.

The Nikola Tesla Memorial Fund

The Nikola Tesla Memorial Fund was established September 5, 1986, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from the Serb National Federation of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The Nikola Tesla Memorial Fund was established in the memory of Nikola Tesla, Serbian scientist, son of a Serbian Orthodox priest, inventor whose contributions to the development of modern technology and civilization are of immense value to the entire world, buried on American soil, with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from: 1) Lodges and members of the Serb National Federation; 2) Serbian Orthodox

The Marian K. Thomas Horticulture Fund was established September 5, 1986, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from Mrs. Marian K. Thomas of Columbus, Ohio.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to provide scholarships to one or more undergraduate students in the area of landscape architecture. Selections shall be made by the faculty of the Horticulture Department in consultation with the Assistant Dean for Student Affairs in the College of Agriculture and the University Committee on Student Financial Aid. Insofar as practical, the donor shall be involved in the selection of the recipient. Criteria for the scholarship shall emphasize financial need, academic achievement and the student's personal motivation.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to the recommendations from the appropriate administrative official of the University who is then directly responsible for horticultural instruction.

The Taber-Thompson Fellowship (contd)

The annual income shall be used to provide graduate fellowships for doctoral students in the College of Home Economics. Preference will be given to a student with interest in human nutrition. The fellowship will be awarded by the Dean of the College of Home Economics upon the recommendation of the College Financial Aid and Scholarship Committee in cooperation with the University Committee on Student Financial Aid.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to the recommendations from the appropriate administrative official of the University who is then directly responsible for the College of Home Economics.

Stella J. Becker Scholarship Fund

The Stella J. Becker Scholarship Fund was established September 5, 1986, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from friends and former students in recognition of Stella J. Becker for distinguished instruction in dance and service to the Central Ohio community.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be awarded to one or more outstanding undergraduate or graduate students who major in the Department of Dance. Recipients will be determined by the established procedures within the Department of Dance, with final approval by the Chairperson of the Department and the Dean of the College of The Arts in cooperation with the University Committee on Student Financial Aid.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to the recommendations from the appropriate administrative official of the University who is then directly responsible for the academic programs in the Department of Dance.

The Agricultural Leaders Fund (contd)

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to fund special projects or programs which will enhance the learning experience for students in the College of Agriculture. Priorities will be given to those projects which benefit the greatest number of students per dollar spent and which are unique and creative in their nature. Procedures for funding projects and projects under this fund shall be established by the Dean of the College of Agriculture and shall involve representatives of the faculty, alumni and students in the College.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to the recommendations from the appropriate administrative official of the University who is then directly responsible for undergraduate student activities in the College of Agriculture.

Max V. and Carolyn Martin Puderbaugh Bonsai Scholarship Fund

The Max V. and Carolyn Martin Puderbaugh Bonsai Scholarship Fund was established September 5, 1986, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from Max V. Puderbaugh (former student who attended from 1944-48) and Carolyn Martin Puderbaugh (B.S.Ed. '49) of Columbus, Ohio.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to provide one or more scholarships with preference for, but not limited to students in the College of Agriculture enrolled in the Department of Horticulture. Criteria for the scholarships shall include academic achievement and an interest in, and the willingness to learn more about, the art and culture of Bonsai through extracurricular courses or activities per guidelines on file in the College of Agriculture. Preference will be given to sophomores or juniors. Scholarship recipients will be selected by a committee consisting of the Assistant Dean for Student Affairs in the College of Agriculture and appropriate faculty from the Department of Horticulture, the donors so long as they are living and any others necessary as determined by those aforementioned in cooperation with the University Committee on Student Financial Aid.

Should this scholarship go unawarded for three consecutive years, this fund shall be known as the Max V. and Carolyn Martin Puderbaugh...

Scholarship Fund. The income from this fund shall then be used as a general University scholarship fund, under the administration of the Office of Student Financial Aid. Preference shall then be given to students enrolled either in Engineering or Education, the areas of study pursued by the donors. The Director of Student Financial Aid shall determine the selection criteria and procedures in consultation with the donors so long as they are living.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to the recommendations from the appropriate administrative official of the University who is then directly responsible for Student Financial Aid.

The Richard Delaney Athletic Scholarship Fund

The Richard Delaney Athletic Scholarship Fund was established September 5, 1986, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from the family and friends in honor and memory of Richard Delaney (OSU Assistant Athletic Director, 1970-1985).

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to provide scholarship assistance to undergraduate students in good standing who are participating in a varsity sports program. Selection of the recipient(s) is to be made by the Director of Athletics in cooperation with the University Committee on Student Financial Aid.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to the recommendations from the appropriate administrative official of the University who is then directly responsible for the athletic program at The Ohio State University.

Fulton County 4-H Endowment Fund

The Fulton County 4-H Endowment Fund was established September 5, 1986, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from the Fulton County 4-H committee and other friends of the Fulton County 4-H Program.

ACCEPTANCE OF THE GIFT OF REAL PROPERTY

Resolution No. 87-31

Synopsis: A report on the acceptance of the gift of real property at 1375 South Hamilton Road is presented.
September 4 and 5, 1986 meeting, Board of Trustees

ACCEPTANCE OF THE GIFT OF REAL PROPERTY (contd)

WHEREAS Monterey Life Systems, Inc., was the owner of an undivided one-half interest in real property located at 1375 South Hamilton Road in Columbus, Ohio, and desired to make a gift of this interest in the property to The Ohio State University through The Ohio State University Development Fund, for the purpose of supporting the Irving Abramowitz Memorial Professorship in the College of Business; and

WHEREAS because of the pending liquidation of Monterey Life Systems, Inc., the donor corporation desired to make this gift by August 15, 1986, which requirement made it impractical for the Board of Trustees to accept this gift prior to this September meeting; and

WHEREAS it was determined by the appropriate University offices that acceptance of this gift was in the best interests of the University and the President and Vice President for Business and Administration, in consultation with the Chairman of the Board and the Chairman of the Fiscal Affairs Committee of the Board, accepted this gift, and acquired title to this property, on behalf of the Board of Trustees pursuant to Resolution 86-28:

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That the Board of Trustees accept this report on the acceptance of this gift by Monterey Life Systems, Inc., of an undivided one-half interest in real property located at 1375 South Hamilton Road.

Upon motion of Ms. Casto, seconded by Mr. Barone, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous roll call vote.

REPORT - EXPENSES FOR DESIGNATED ADMINISTRATIVE OFFICIALS

Resolution No. 87-32

Synopsis: Approval for reimbursement of expenses for designated administrative officials is requested.

WHEREAS the Fiscal Affairs Committee has authorized the payment of expenses for designated administrative officials; and

WHEREAS it is deemed in the best interest of the University for the Fiscal Affairs Committee to provide from the unrestricted gifts to the University Endowment Fund on an appropriate basis, to the President and designated University officials, reimbursement for expenditures which are directly and necessarily related to the performance of their assigned responsibilities and in the best interest of the University:

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That the Fiscal Affairs Committee be authorized to provide reimbursement to designated University officials from unrestricted gifts to the University Endowment Fund.

Upon motion of Mr. Barone, seconded by Ms. Casto, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous roll call vote.

President Jennings made the following statement:

Mr. Chairman, I want to bring to the attention of the Board a matter of concern to our students in regard to their student financial aid — specifically, the Guaranteed Student Loans program under which lending institutions make low-interest, individual loans to college students that are guaranteed by the federal government.

As you may know, there has been some confusion in recent weeks over new federal regulations that have required loans to be distributed by the universities, rather than being sent by the banking institutions directly to the students. In fulfilling our new role as the disburser of these loans, we began distributing the checks to students once we received them from the banks beginning August 25, the first day that Autumn Quarter tuition could be paid.

This policy enables students to receive their loans at the time they pay their tuition prior to our September 10 fee payment deadline, as well as have funds to make their residence hall payments or rent and utility deposits, purchase their books, and in general take up campus residence for the Autumn Quarter.

The executive director of the Ohio Student Loan Commission this week sent a letter to me which claims that this policy is not in compliance with federal regulations. It is apparently his opinion that checks should not be distributed until classes begin on September 24 — two full weeks after fees are due. He has further threatened to unilaterally declare Ohio State an ineligible institution for Guaranteed Student Loans unless we agree to withhold the checks until September 24.

Because it is our belief that these actions stem from a misunderstanding of our policies, I think it is important to clarify the University's position on disbursement of these loan checks. And I also want to point out that our staff are thoroughly familiar with the federal regulations, and we have no doubt that we have been operating in full compliance.

The regulations require that in order to receive a check, the student must enroll at an institution of higher education by completing the registration requirements and beginning what is called the "attendance period." We define the attendance period as the first day upon which students can pay fees. Any other definition would not permit our students to receive these financial aid checks to which they are fully entitled in time to pay their fees.

I might add that not only is our policy in compliance with federal regulations, we also fulfill the Commission's own requirements that loans be disbursed not more than thirty days before the beginning of the "academic" period. The first day of classes for Autumn Quarter is September 24. Our release of checks to students paying fees beginning August 25 is still within the Commission's thirty day limitation.

It is our opinion that the executive director's interpretation of the federal regulations would impose undue and unnecessary hardship on our students and their parents. I see no purpose being served by subjecting our students to unreasonable delays in the disbursement of the funds to which they are legally entitled.
September 4 and 5, 1986 meeting, Board of Trustees

I have informed the executive director and want to assure the Board that we are prepared to take whatever steps are necessary to protect the rights of our students and their ability to obtain their student loans to enroll at The Ohio State University. We are still disbursing Guaranteed Student Loan checks according to our established policies and will continue to do so.

RESOLUTIONS IN MEMORIAM

Resolution No. 87-36

Synopsis: Resolutions honoring the service of ten of the University's faculty members who have recently died are being proposed.

RESOLVED, That the Board adopt the following Resolutions in Memoriam and that the President be requested to convey a copy to the families of the deceased.

Morgan L. Allison

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on August 12, 1986, of Morgan L. Allison, Professor Emeritus in the College of Dentistry.

Dr. Allison was born on November 15, 1919. He received his D.D.S. from The Ohio State University in 1944, and joined the College of Dentistry in 1949 as an Instructor. In 1950 he was promoted to Assistant Professor; in 1953, to Associate Professor; and to Professor in 1957. He served as Chairman of the Section of Oral and Maxillofacial Surgery from 1953-1971. Dr. Allison served as Director of Continuing Dental Education from 1971-1980. He retired from the University on January 31, 1982, and was named Professor Emeritus.

Dr. Allison started the first graduate program in Oral Surgery at Ohio State and was the first dentist in Ohio to administer endotracheal anesthesia. Among the many honors accorded him, he received the Heidbrink Award of the American Dental Society of Anesthesiology in 1962; a prestigious appointment by the Ohio Board of Regents as Regents Professor in 1966; the Hullihen Memorial Award for "advancements in oral and maxillofacial surgery" from the West Virginia School of Dentistry; and this year, he received the Callahan Award, an annual award given by the Ohio Dental Association to individuals who have made outstanding contributions to the dental profession.

Dr. Allison was internationally admired for his TMJ work and his studies in surgical reduction of the tongue. During his 33 year career at Ohio State, he published many scientific articles, wrote textbook chapters, and produced 13 motion pictures as teaching aids.

Lydia D. Bruny

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on September 8, 1986, of Lydia D. Bruny, Assistant Professor in the Cooperative Extension Service.

Lydia Bruny was born November 10, 1951, in Zanesville, Ohio. She attended John Glenn High School and graduated in 1969. She received her Bachelor of Science degree in Home Economics in 1973 and a Master's degree in Extension Education in 1976, both from The Ohio State University.

Ms. Bruny began her Extension experience in Perry County as a County Extension Agent, Home Economics in 1973. In 1984, she became the County Extension Agent, Home Economics in Fairfield County and remained in this position until her death.

She was a member of the Ohio Cooperative Extension Agents' Association; the professional Extension fraternal organization of Epsilon Sigma Phi; the National Association of Home Economics Agents; and Delta Kappa Gamma. Lydia Bruny was the recipient of several peer awards sponsored by the Ohio Cooperative Extension Agents' Association and the National Association of Extension Home Economists. She was highly respected by her associates throughout the State and country.

Lydia D. Bruny (contd)

On behalf of the University community, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family its deepest sympathy. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family of Ms. Bruny as an expression of the Board's realization of the loss which the family, the University, her many friends and associates have sustained.

George G. Everhart

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on July 20, 1986, of George G. Everhart, County Agent Emeritus in the Cooperative Extension Service.

Mr. Everhart was born November 11, 1893, in Baltic, Ohio. He received his Bachelor of Science degree in Agriculture from The Ohio State University in 1921.

He became a Club Agent in Knox County on May 1, 1928. He then moved to Morgan County as the Club Agent in April of 1933. On August 1, 1935, he returned to Knox County as the County Agriculture Agent; the position he held until his retirement on March 31, 1956.

On behalf of the University community, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family of Mr. Everhart its deepest sympathy. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to his family as a sincere expression of the Board's realization of the loss that the family, the University and his many friends and associates have sustained.

Hazel L. Gibbony

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on September 16, 1986, of Dr. Hazel L. Gibbony, Associate Professor Emeritus in the Department of Educational Policy and Leadership.

Professor Gibbony was born in October 1907, in Massena, New York. She received three degrees from The Ohio State University: a Bachelor of Arts in English in 1936; a Master's degree in 1937; and a Ph.D. in 1957. Professor Gibbony was recognized by students and teachers as a skilled practitioner in the field of Audio-Visual Materials and Instruction. She managed the Curriculum Materials Center in the College of Education from 1954 to 1968. She served from 1936 to 1962 as co-editor along with Edgar Dale of the News Letter published by the Bureau of Educational Research. Upon her retirement in 1969, she was named Associate Professor Emeritus.

Her contributions to her profession were numerous. She served on the boards and as a chief program officer for local, state, and national governmental projects aimed at improving the quality of audio-visual curriculum. She was the author and co-author of many articles, pamphlets, and books in her field. She was a member of Phi Beta Kappa and Pi Lambda Theta, the education honorary.

Helene Heye

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on August 4, 1986, of Helene Heye, Professor Emeritus in the Department of Family Relations and Human Development.

Dr. Heye was born January 31, 1903. She attended Hastings College in Hastings, Nebraska, from 1921-1925. She received her B.S. degree in Home Economics with a minor in Education, French, and English. Her Master's degree was earned at Iowa State University in 1927, in Home Management. Dr. Heye earned her Ph.D. in Child Welfare in 1940, from Iowa State University.

Dr. Heye came to The Ohio State University in October 1944, as an Associate Professor in the Division of Family and Child Development, now the Department of Family Relations and Human Development. In 1945 Dr. Heye was promoted to the rank of Professor and from 1945 to 1963 she served as Chair in the Department. She retired in June 1973, after almost 30 years of service to the Department, College, and University.

At The Ohio State University, Dr. Heye was a leader in the establishment of curricula for the preparation of day care teachers. She also introduced many new courses in Child Development, Program Planning, and Administration of Day Care Centers. She was Director of three Laboratory Nursery Schools as well as Director-Teacher in two schools. These laboratory schools were among the first in the nation. Dr. Heye's extensive experience in supervising field work in day care centers was enhanced by directing several in-service training programs. She served as advisor for a private non-profit nursery school and directed the first Head Start Training Program in Columbus, Ohio.

Recognition of her ability in program development included appointment on national committees such as The White House Conference on Children and Youth, 1960; Fiftieth Anniversary Celebration: Children's Bureau, 1962; and the National Conference on Day Care Services, 1963. Dr. Heye was also active in the development of day care licensing standards for the State of Ohio.

Dr. Heye contributed a great deal of her efforts to facilitate projects with the community and students. She helped to establish the local professional association, the Columbus Association for Education of Young Children. Her professional career won her wide respect in the university and academic world.

On behalf of the University, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family its deep sympathy and sense of understanding in its loss. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as an expression of the Board's heartfelt sympathy.

Joann I. Kurbatov

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on August 20, 1986, of Joann I. Kurbatov, Associate Professor Emeritus in the Department of Physics.

Joann I. Kurbatov was born on August 25, 1894, in Vorenesh, Russia. He attended Moscow Polytechnicum and in 1922 he received his Ph.D. degree from Moscow University. He served there as a faculty member from 1922 to 1930, and in 1930-31 he was a Fellow at the Kaiser Wilhelm Institute for Chemistry. He came to the United States in 1932 and from that time until 1941, he was a research chemist at Universal Oil Products, Chicago, Illinois. He came to The Ohio State University in 1941.

Dr. Kurbatov served as a Research Associate Professor in the Department of Physics. He was a research nuclear chemist, and worked in nuclear spectroscopy, involving physics and chemistry. He was also associated with the Department of Chemistry at The Ohio State University, and had a research grant with the Atomic Energy Commission. His wife, Margaret Kurbatov, was a member of the Chemistry Department at The Ohio State University, and together they advised many graduate students in both physics and chemistry. He had an extensive publication record. Upon his retirement in 1961, he was named Associate Professor Emeritus.

On behalf of the University, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family its deep sympathy and sense of understanding in its loss. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as an expression of the Board's heartfelt sympathy.

Lyle S. Pettit, Sr.

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on September 8, 1986, of Lyle S. Pettit, Sr., Professor Emeritus in the College of Dentistry.

Dr. Pettit was born on February 18, 1905. He received his D.D.S. degree from The Ohio State University in 1929. He joined the College of Dentistry faculty in 1930 as a Demonstrator in Oral Hygiene. In 1936, he was promoted to Instructor (part-time); in 1940 to Assistant Professor (part-time); in 1944 to Associate Professor (part-time); and in 1951 to Professor (part-time). From 1929 until 1953, he was also in the private practice of dentistry in Columbus, Ohio. In 1953, Dr. Pettit became a full-time member of the faculty with the rank of Professor.

Dr. Pettit became Chairperson of the College of Dentistry Section of Pediatric Dentistry in 1951, a position he occupied until his retirement in 1972. He established the College's first curricular program in dentistry for children in 1936; and the first dental clinic at the Columbus Children's Hospital in 1939. He was one of the founders of the American Academy of Pediatric Dentistry and served as its President in 1952 and 1953.

Dr. Pettit was noted for his scholarship and was a member of Omicron Kappa Upsilon, honorary dental scholarship society. He was a Fellow of the American College of Dentists and an honorary member of the Ohio Society of Dentistry for Children. Dr. Pettit was recognized by his colleagues as the "father of pediatric dentistry" at The Ohio State University.

Jean C. Rhoad

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on February 20, 1985, of Jean C. Rhoad, Assistant Professor Emeritus in the Department of English (Lima Campus).

Professor Rhoad attended The Ohio State University and graduated in 1930 with a B.S. in Education. She received a Master's degree in English from The Ohio State University in 1936.

Professor Rhoad was an Instructor of English at the Columbus Campus during 1945-46. In 1960, she was one of the first faculty members employed at The Ohio State University at Lima, and continued in that employment until 1977 when she retired and became Assistant Professor Emeritus.

She maintained a strong interest in her students long after they left the University. She dedicated her instructional efforts toward the betterment of their careers. Although she maintained her primary residence in Washington Court House, she also had continuing ties to the Lima community.

On behalf of the University, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family its deep sympathy and sense of understanding in its loss. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as an expression of the Board's heartfelt sympathy.

John S. Tecklenberg

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on July 20, 1986, of Dr. John S. Tecklenberg, Clinical Associate - Dentistry, College of Dentistry. Dr. Tecklenberg had been a member of the dental faculty since August 1975. He received his D.D.S. degree from The Ohio State University in 1971, and was a dentist with the Whetstone Dental Group.

Dr. Tecklenberg taught in the Department of Community Dentistry. He supervised pre-doctoral and graduate students in clinical dentistry. In 1979, "Teck" was voted the Outstanding Clinical Teacher by the dental students. He served on numerous College committees including the Faculty Council. Dr. Tecklenberg was devoted to his students, treated patients with compassion and was proud of his profession.

Edwin E. Zorn

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on September 13, 1986, of Edwin E. Zorn, Professor in the Cooperative Extension Service.

Edwin E. Zorn was born February 25, 1932, in Jackson Center, Ohio. He attended Jackson Center High School and graduated in 1950. He received his Bachelor of Science degree in Animal Science in 1954 from The Ohio State University. He then served in the artillery branch of the U.S. Army from 1954 to 1956, attaining the rank of 1st Lieutenant. Mr. Zorn then returned to The Ohio State University and received a Master's degree in Animal Science in 1969.

Mr. Zorn began his Extension experience in Warren County as an Associate County Extension Agent working with 4-H Clubs. He became the County Extension Agent, 4-H in Warren County in 1960, and remained in that position until 1965 when he was named Butler County Extension Agent, Agriculture. He served in Butler County until 1970 when he became the Eaton Area Extension Agent, Animal Industry. In 1982, he attained the rank of Professor. During most of 1982 and 1983, Professor Zorn served as the Acting Eaton Area Supervisor while also continuing his regular duties. When the Eaton Area office was closed due to a redistricting plan, Professor Zorn resumed his work as a District Specialist, Animal Industry in the Southwest District. He continued in this position until his death.

Mr. Zorn was a member of the Ohio County Extension Agents' Association; the professional Extension fraternal organization of Epsilon Sigma Phi; and the National Association of County Agricultural Agents where he received the Distinguished Service Award in 1975. This is the highest honor bestowed by the National Association in recognition of outstanding contributions to Cooperative Extension education programs. Mr. Zorn was highly respected by his peers and associates throughout the State and country.

On behalf of the University community, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family of Edwin Zorn its deepest sympathy. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as an expression of the Board's realization of the loss which the family, the University, his many friends and associates have sustained.

Upon motion of Ms. Casto, seconded by Mr. Teaford, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous voice vote.

The A. Merle and Pearl (Gray) Hamilton Scholarship Fund (contd)

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

Twenty percent (20%) of the annual income shall be added to the fund's principal. The remaining eighty percent (80%) of the annual income shall be used to provide scholarship assistance to qualified students from Marion County who enroll at The Ohio State University, Marion Campus. One or more scholarships shall be awarded each year to students, giving preference to those who have declared agriculture, medicine, engineering, or one of the arts as their major course of study. The scholarship awards will be made to students who have demonstrated (1) financial need, or (2) a high degree of academic potential, or (3) scholastic ability. Should income from this fund not be awarded in any given year, then the income is to be added to the fund's principal. Selection of the scholarship recipients will be made by the University Committee on Student Financial Aid upon recommendation of the Dean and Director of The Ohio State University at Marion.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to the recommendations from the appropriate administrative official of the University who is then directly responsible for student scholarship awards to students attending The Ohio State University from Marion County, Ohio.

Carl F. and Marjorie Cottingham Obenauf Agricultural Merit Scholarship

The Carl F. and Marjorie Cottingham Obenauf Agricultural Merit Scholarship was established October 3, 1986, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from Carl F. Obenauf, B.S.Agr. '43, and Marjorie Cottingham Obenauf, B.A., Arts and Sciences '43.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to provide one or more agricultural merit scholarships for undergraduate students, who are United States citizens, and who intend to major in the food sciences in the College of Agriculture, including the Department of Food Science and Nutrition and programs in Food Technology. The criteria for selection shall include outstanding scholastic achievement and demonstrated leadership potential through extracurricular activities. Selections shall be made by the Assistant Dean for the College of Agriculture in consultation with the University Committee on Student Financial Aid.

Holmes County 4-H Endowment Fund

The Holmes County 4-H Endowment Fund was established October 3, 1986, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from the Holmes County 4-H Committee and other friends of the Holmes County 4-H program.

All gifts are to be invested in the University’s Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to support the Holmes County 4-H program. This support may include, but is not limited to the funding of scholarships and awards for 4-H members, volunteer leaders and friends of 4-H; sponsoring seminars and supplementing 4-H programming, or increasing the visibility and public support for 4-H in Holmes County. All expenditures from this fund shall be approved by the Holmes County 4-H Committee.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to the recommendations from the appropriate administrative official of the University who is then directly responsible for the Ohio Cooperative Extension Service in consultation with a committee representing the local 4-H donors.

The Ashley Brittany Calhoon (ABC) 4-H Leadership/Scholarship Fund

The Ashley Brittany Calhoon (ABC) 4-H Leadership/Scholarship Fund was established October 3, 1986, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from Thomas Franklin Calhoon II, (B.A., Social and Behavioral Sciences '71), a long-time member of the Ohio 4-H Foundation Board of Directors, and Donnette Calhoon, (B.S.Ed. '72), Columbus, Ohio. This gift is presented in honor of the first birthday (September 3, 1986) of the first grandchild (Brittany) of Gloria J. Wensing and in honor of the seven grandchildren of J. Thomas Calhoon (Ohio State University 1948-52) and Sarah Mae Calhoon: (Benjamin Samuel, Joshua Thomas, Brian Thomas, Sarah

Twenty percent (20%) of the income shall be added to the fund's principal. Criteria for the scholarship shall include demonstrated leadership and above-average scholastic performance with preference given to those applicants from Franklin County. Selections shall be made by a committee appointed by the State 4-H Office in consultation with the University Committee on Student Financial Aid. If at all possible, at least one Calhoon Family member shall serve on the committee appointed by the State 4-H Office.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to the recommendations from the appropriate administrative official of the University who is then directly responsible for 4-H programs.

The William J. Tyznik Equine Research Fund

The William J. Tyznik Equine Research Fund was established October 3, 1986, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from Professor William J. Tyznik.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to support research and equine nutrition as determined by a committee of no less than three faculty members. Recommendations of the committee shall be approved by the Department Chair. Should the need for Equine Research Support cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income shall be used to fund the William J. Tyznik Scholarship in Animal Science.

Should the need for the purposes described above cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to the recommendations from the appropriate

Outdoor Performance Center Endowment Fund (contd)

The annual income and additional gifts shall be added to the principal for the purpose of establishing the Outdoor Performance Center at the Browning Amphitheatre in Mirror Lake Hollow, which shall be dedicated to the University on the 50th Anniversary of the incorporation of Ohio Staters, Inc.

Principal as well as income of the Endowment Fund may be expended for any one or more of the following purposes: (1) Planning, construction and maintenance of the Outdoor Performance Center and any additions and modifications thereto; and (2) Fund raising expenses for the purpose of supplementing the Endowment Fund.

Approval of all expenditures from the Endowment Fund shall be made by the affirmative vote of a majority of the Ohio Staters, Inc., Alumni Council, consisting of the President and Faculty Treasurer of Ohio Staters, Inc.; the Director of Alumni Affairs and the two co-chairmen of the 50th Anniversary Committee. Should either of the co-chairmen of the 50th Anniversary Committee resign, die or become permanently unable to serve, a replacement (who shall be a former member of Ohio Staters, Inc.) shall be appointed by vote of the remaining members of the Council.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or should the Ohio Staters, Inc., Alumni Council cease to exist, the principal and income may be used as determined by the Board of Trustees for purposes consistent with the traditional projects of Ohio Staters, Inc., that have been of service to the University. In making such a determination, and if the Ohio Staters, Inc., Alumni Council is then in existence, the Board of Trustees shall give preference to such projects as shall be recommended to it for such purposes by such Council.

THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY
OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS OF THE
ONE THOUSAND TWO HUNDRED AND TWENTY-FIFTH MEETING
OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES

Columbus, Ohio, November 7, 1986
November 7, 1986 meeting, Board of Trustees

The Chairman, Mr. Galbreath, called the meeting of the Board of Trustees to order on November 7, 1986, at 10:30 a.m. He requested the Secretary to call the roll.

Present: Daniel M. Galbreath, Chairman, Edmund C. Redman, John W. Berry, Shirley D. Bowser, Hamilton J. Teaford, John J. Barone, and John W. Kessler.

Mr. Galbreath made the following comments:

Mr. President, before I ask you for your presentation, I would like to make a couple of comments. One, I don't know how many people in the room noticed that our Seal has been changed -- "1870." That is well done, whoever pulled that one off.

President Jennings:

Dan Heinlen.

Mr. Galbreath:

Secondly, I would like for my colleagues to understand that Debbie Casto will away from our Board for a couple of months, due to some surgery that she is dealing with. Scottie, I would like to ask if you would keep us up-to-date on that. When she does have surgery, let us know and then maybe get an address where we can drop her a note. Will you do that for us?

Mr. Scott:

I certainly will, Sir.

ENROLLMENT - AUTUMN QUARTER 1986

Mr. Galbreath:

President Jennings will you report to us on the Autumn Quarter enrollment.

President Jennings:

Thank you, Mr. Chairman. I would like to call on Mr. Ihrig to bring us up-to-date on the Autumn Quarter enrollment.

Mr. Ihrig:

Thank you. Earlier in the Fiscal Affairs Committee, Mr. Teaford commented on our excellent projections on the budget through the first quarter. Now we will go the other direction and have to admit how lousyly we project on enrollment. A perfect example of having an infinite amount of data, but the actual facts and knowing what we are doing are very difficult to find.

The enrollment for the entire University for the Autumn Quarter 1986 is 58,838 students. That is 1,113 students more than it was a year ago. The Columbus campus is 53,880 students, which instead of being one fewer student than we had a year ago, as our target indicated, we have actually 681 students more than a year ago on the Columbus campus. The other good news is that the regional campuses are up significantly this year: Lima is up to 1,154, that is an increase of 76; Mansfield is up to 1,141, an increase of 66; Marion is up to 983, an increase of 140 -- that is over a 16 percent increase. Similarly, Newark is up to 1,122, a 162 student increase, about a 17 percent increase; and Wooster is at approximately the same level as last year, 390, that is 7 fewer than the 397 a year ago. So the regional campuses are very strong and the enrollments around the State reflected that. The branch campuses at all the institutions had the largest increase in the preliminary Regents' data that they put out in October. The universities around the State were the other high increase this year.

If you turn to the second page of the separate handout on Enrollment, Table 2, the new first quarter freshmen number shows that we have one more entering freshmen than a year ago -- 6,863, and we had one fewer last year. If you remember correctly when we came to this Board last November, we had the problem with the large number of admission applications in the freshmen area. We had over 17,000 applications for admission. We projected at that time, with the mid-November cut-off, that we would have 7,500 new entering freshmen this year. Well, our projections are so great that we are right at last year's level. A lot of this has to do with the rapid influx of applications and having a calendar-type cut-off. As we add more applications, all of the various trends of the past have just been depleted. From the standpoint of admissions to applications, we had over a three percent drop in retention. Even acceptance fees paid had a two percent drop in one year, over the number of students who actually enrolled. So while we projected a significant increase in the freshman class, we remained at last year's level.

The other good news is that the retention in the University continues to increase, especially at the upper-division levels. The continuing students increased by three percent over last year. The other great news is that in the Graduate School we had an increase of 659 students. We went over 10,000, to 10,203 on the Columbus campus. That was due to a combination of new graduate students, plus the retention of graduate students. And as we are looking at graduate and upper-division education emphasis with our enrollment models, this is indeed very good news. The professional enrollments stayed approximately the same, as we expected.

Now while we have had these significant increases in actual numbers of students, the key question is what it does to our enrollment limitation and the subsidy. We think the subsidy, again, by the mix of students and the credit hours will come out to about where we projected dollar-wise. On the overenrollment figure, while the final data are not in with regard to that -- I am going to estimate again and I'll probably come back in December and change this number, but I think I'm close this time.
November 7, 1986 meeting, Board of Trustees

ENROLLMENT - AUTUMN QUARTER 1986 (contd)

Mr. Ihrig: (contd)

-- that we are looking at an overenrollment of 749 students, compared to 890 last year. So the interesting trend on this is that we have over 600 more students than we projected in our model. At the same time, we projected that we would be overenrolled by about 1300 this year and we are actually going to be overenrolled by half that, 749. Now, what that means is that there are fewer credit hours being taken by the students and our data shows -- if you turn back three pages to Table 5, you see full-time equivalents. You get that by taking the total credit hours enrolled by the students and dividing by 15, as an overall full-time equivalent estimate. We are showing on the Columbus campus that while head counts went up by over 600, FTE actually went down by 368. So we are having more students that are taking a lower load. A significant part of this is an increase in the numbers of part-time students in the undergraduate and graduate levels in this Institution. While the data aren't there, the part-time students and the undergraduates on the Columbus campus increased by 750 this year, and the graduate part-time enrollments increased by 706.

Mr. Galbreath:

Does that mean that a lot of the students now are working their way through school?

Mr. Ihrig:

Right. These students are usually holding full-time jobs elsewhere and come to Campus to take one or two courses a quarter.

Mr. Galbreath:

At the undergraduate level?

Mr. Ihrig:

Both undergraduate and graduate. People from around the Campus are indicating that there are more working students on the Campus. I have my own personal -- what I call the "freeway theory" -- and that is based upon the number of cars early in the morning on the freeway. There are more people in the Central Ohio area, therefore there are more people wanting to get an advanced education. And we have heard from comments around the University, that there are students on this Campus that see where they are in their careers, they have made a decision that they need more education to advance their careers, and they are coming back for that.

President Jennings:

That is part of becoming a big city.

Mr. Galbreath:

Is this any reflection on the selective enrollment policy which
November 7, 1986 meeting, Board of Trustees

ENROLLMENT - AUTUMN QUARTER 1986 (contd)

Mr. Galbreath: (contd)

we adopted earlier this year?

Mr. Ihrig:

No.

President Jennings:

Let me bring that up. This, of course, is the last enrollment report on the so called historic open-admissions. The enrollment report will undoubtedly be extraordinarily different next year, because our projection models -- as bad as they are today -- all go out the window for next year, because of this brand new admissions policy at The Ohio State University. While we can draw on experience of other universities, we can draw on experience of some of the norms in higher education, the reality is that in establishing our numbers and our policies for next year, we will be using statistics that we have very little history for at Ohio State. So that next year, I would expect that we are going to be plus or minus some larger numbers than we are this year.

Mr. Teaford:

No confidence?

President Jennings:

I have great confidence, but they don't have any numbers. They are, for example, dealing with a statistic that says that 52 percent of the applications that we accept will come to Ohio State. Well, that is a historic number at other institutions, it has some history here, but doesn't really have any empirical basis that we know of. So if the number is higher, we are going to get more students than we can handle. If the number is lower, we will get fewer students. I expect that it is going to take several years to get fairly good statistics with this new admissions policy. The point is we are going to be flying blind in terms of numbers for the next two or three years.

Mr. Galbreath:

But you don't think that anticipation of the different enrollment policy for next year is one of the reasons that you have had a little bit of a surge this year?

President Jennings:

No, I don't think so.

Mr. Ihrig:

No. This year the surge in applications was due to our continually moving forward the deadline date for applying. The students understand that Ohio State is going to close earlier every year; therefore, they rush their applications in. They are what I would call "phantom applications," where they just want to make sure they had their foot in the door in case some other opportunities don't come through.
November 7, 1986 meeting, Board of Trustees

ENROLLMENT - AUTUMN QUARTER 1986 (contd)

Mr. Ihrig: (contd)

President Jennings:

That is one of the problems with this. What we are dealing with here are numbers that decisions were made on back in November of 1985. This was six months before we announced the selective admissions -- one reason we have gone to selective admissions. The other problem that I'd like Myles Brand, our Provost, to discuss a bit is in the minority area. As you know, it is our feeling that our open-admissions policies of times gone by have been one of the causes of our continued low numbers of minorities coming into this Institution. When we close off enrollment in November, it is very difficult for the first generation educated person to get the proper parental guidance, the proper guidance counseling, to apply that early. We expect our new selective admissions policies to make some substantial improvements in our minority population at Ohio State. I'd like Myles to take a minute or two to bring us up-to-date on what we are doing in order to improve that situation.

Dr. Brand:

Thank you. Over the last decade or so, there has been nationally a decrease in the number of black students attending universities and colleges. There is, therefore, a decreasing pool of black students available to Ohio State University as well as other institutions. That, combined with the fact that we have a new admission policy that enables students to apply later in the year and allows us to recruit and attract them for a longer period of time, presents new opportunities. We thought a new initiative in trying to attract black students to The Ohio State University was necessary. We created a task force on Black Student Recruitment, whose goal is to identify and recruit qualified black students. We are concerned with that population that has the best opportunity to be retained and exit from our programs. It doesn't do anyone any good to come in and then drop out. So, we are looking for qualified students that we can bring through the entire four-year process.

This task force has a short-term goal of bringing the opportunities presented by the new selective admissions policies to the attention of the communities; and a long-term goal of providing recruitment strategies to attract qualified black students. The task force is advisory to the Office of Minority Affairs. At this time, I would like to call on Sue Blanshan, who is the administrative facilitator for this task force, as well as Professor William Moore, who is the chairperson of the force.

Professor Moore:

Good morning, Mr. President, Mr. Chairman, and others. Let me give you about two minutes of background. Three weeks ago or so, I was in San Antonio, and received an urgent phone call. I couldn't imagine what had happened. I thought I left everything in order when I left my office. Well, to make a long story short, I spoke to Sue, who indicated that Dr. Brand was interested in establishing a task force on enrollment, particularly targeted for black students. As you know, with regard to minority students, the other areas of minority students are increasing -- some greatly, some slightly, but increasing. And for about the last ten years, almost ten years now, the number of black students enrolled in colleges and universities in this country has been decreasing. So that was the concern.
November 7, 1986 meeting, Board of Trustees

Ohio State has a long history of being involved with black students. You have heard the President mention many times about our success in graduate education and the number of Ph.D.'s that we turn out and so on, but that really didn't do a great deal for the students coming in now. He felt, I felt, and I'm really interested in this area of how do you reach students before the graduate-level. By the time they reach there they are on their own, they can do what they need to do. How do you go out and find other students? To his great credit, he chose a very interesting group of people to work with us. Across this State he found important persons: Judge Robert Duncan, Bob Dorsey, William Grimes, and Archie Griffin. That gives you some idea of the spread of people who work on this committee, whose job it is to come up with both long-range and short-range plans and strategies to attract black students, particularly, at the freshman level.

I enjoy working with this group of people, not only are they distinguished but they have to at least operate in self-defense. Because the first thing I said was that I expected to meet on Saturdays and Sundays. They didn't smile upon that, so we agreed to meet at 7:00 or 7:30 a.m. By the second meeting we had our subcommittees working. These are quite professional people, they are hard workers, they are eager, and we are well on the move. The word has gotten out across the community and I am getting telephone calls from other people who have some concern in being involved in this initiative. Some are doing it in other ways -- in many different ways.

In the three weeks that we have been involved, Frank Hale has come in and made a presentation to us about his initiatives and the kinds of things that he is doing. We have had presentations from members of the subcommittees already and we expect to have another one on Tuesday and so on. We are eager to move and there are many ideas. We are getting considerable assistance from the Provost's Office. He has said the resources are there, as long as we are reasonable. Well, we are going to challenge him to see if he really means what he says. At this juncture, we are moving. We are satisfied with the people that we have and we hope we have continued cooperation. If you have any questions, I am here to act, react and interact with you.
November 7, 1986 meeting, Board of Trustees

ENROLLMENT - AUTUMN QUARTER 1986 (contd)

Mrs. Bowser:

Are you recruiting only in the State of Ohio?

Professor Moore:

Our primary target is the State of Ohio, but this question has come up. We have brought it to the attention of the Provost and he indicates while we are most concerned with the State of Ohio, that does not preclude spreading the net wider. As you know, it is a very real problem in finding a large -- well there is no large pool. That there is a pool of minorities and we have to compete for them, it becomes a little problematic. We are competing for those that we hope will make it. I said to Dr. Brand, if you are looking for bodies I am not the guy to be involved with this. I just refuse to do that. I went through that for 10 or 15 years between 1960 and 1975. But if we are really looking for students that we believe are going to make it then --

Mr. Galbreath:

You say compete, who are we competing with?

Professor Moore:

Well, for those very bright students, we are competing with everyone. We are competing primarily with the top Eastern schools. And we are competing with the Adams states, that is, those states that were under litigation for integration. Now, we happen to be an Adams state at this time, but a package that they provide in the Adams states and the packages that are provided by the Eastern schools at this juncture are larger packages than we provide.

Mr. Galbreath:

So when you say competing, we are competing with other institutions, not with the job market.

Professor Moore:

Well, we are competing with both, really, but certainly more with other institutions than with the job market for freshmen. Remember, we are talking about freshmen students, very bright students, and so on. We really have a job ahead of us, because we would like to identify and attract some 700 students by next fall.

Mr. Galbreath:

What I was trying to distinguish is that we're -- it is not a matter of convincing them to go to college, as opposed to go to work, you are trying --

Professor Moore:

Not this particular group of students.
November 7, 1986 meeting, Board of Trustees

ENROLLMENT - AUTUMN QUARTER 1986 (contd)

Mr. Galbreath:

You're really competing with the other institutions.

Professor Moore:

Yes.

Mr. Teaford:

I take it do we have a program to increase that pool -- to recognize that as a long-range goal.

Professor Moore:

Well, we have both long-range and short-range goals. Many of the initiatives that have been taken by Frank Hale and others produce some students in this category, but more at the graduate-level than at the undergraduate-level. So, yes, we do have things that are operative at the University, but we realize that we have to do a great deal more.

Mr. Galbreath:

Is a part of the competition, scholarships?

Professor Moore:

Yes.

Mr. Galbreath:

So the Harvards, and whatever over there are offering scholarships. Can we compete on that basis?

Professor Moore:

At this juncture, we are not competing on that basis. I am sure much of that will depend upon what you do and others -- you as the Board, and other kinds of considerations we have. In a sense, many of these institutions go out and literally buy students.

Mr. Galbreath:

Yes, right, through scholarships.

Professor Moore:

Lots of us can be bought, but when they see what is available it becomes very interesting. You see the subsistence kind of support we provided students through the '60's worked very well, but now we have to do a great deal more. To give you an example, forty percent of the families, black families, in the State of Ohio earn $18,000 or less. There is a close correlation between college attendance and family income. And only twenty-one percent of the families in this State earn $30,000 or above. So, even the ones earning $30,000 find it difficult to support a college education, even at a college like Ohio State which is relatively inexpensive compared to many institutions.
November 7, 1986 meeting, Board of Trustees

Professor Moore: (contd)

Mr. Galbreath:

So the scholarship program is a part of what you are working with.

Professor Moore:

Oh, yes. We are to come in with suggestions and strategies -- some of them will work, some of them maybe will not work, but we've got to dream. To the credit of this community, I'm getting calls from people saying, "I hear you are doing this, did you know..." "You're doing this, well we are doing this as well." What we'd like to do is to find ways to bring all of these together, so the effort is one that is not fragmented, but one that has a unified focus and we can bring these students in. But you do have to realize that we are up against a formidable competitors in this country.

Mr. Teaford:

That's why, I think, the pool increase is essential in the long run. Because, in the first place, the pool is far too small compared to the population. I think that it is only a question of not making the opportunities that are here known and at an early enough age to increase that pool.

Dr. Brand:

May I comment on that? The trends, unfortunately, nationally show decreasing pools of the students from the black communities that are attending colleges at all. So it is not a local issue; it really is a national issue. We will do what we can to increase the pool, but there may be factors beyond our local control that are affecting the situation.

Professor Moore:

Yes, there is less than a one percent difference between what happens at Ohio State and what happens across the nation with regard to this. So it is a problem that is recognized nation-wide and everybody sees the need to do something about it and they are doing something about it. The problem is that we are dealing with a biased market in a sense. And these very bright students are conning the counselors in high schools all over the country. I talked to a mother yesterday morning who indicated that her son is a tenth grader, but he looks like a great prospect. He has had offers already from three universities --

Mr. Galbreath:

And he is a sophomore in high school?
November 7, 1986 meeting, Board of Trustees

ENROLLMENT - AUTUMN QUARTER 1986 (contd)

Professor Moore:
Yes, he is a sophomore in high school.

Mr. Teaford:
Well, I think, we can only communicate to that population that being able to dribble a basketball is not the only way to go to college.

Mr. Tobin:
Do we have outreach programs that get into the junior and high school levels?

Professor Moore:
We do have those, yes. I would like to see it much more broadly based. You see, I would like to see us start about fifth grade. I don't mean seventh grade, that is almost too late. I would like to start about fifth grade and do the things I saw Sam Shepard do back in the mid-fifties and so on. Target those students, bring them in early on, give dinners and other kinds of things for counselors and other people who were involved. In other words, we are buying the students in a sense; give awards, certificates, and all the things that people like to hang on walls. You know, they don't cost much, but it makes them feel important. And they become a part of what we do, our effort. We will really have it made when we can be as ingenious, I suspect, at finding these students as we are finding athletes. You ought to hear them talk about how ingenious our methods are. Maybe we need to learn something from those methods. To find a good halfback, you know, we'll go by mule pack, if necessary, but we will find him. Well, I've talked too much, but I think you have my point.

President Jennings:
Well, part of this is economics, but also -- and that's why I think Bill put so much emphasis on the fifth grade or fourth grade. Part of it is developing an attitude about going to college. Here again, it is first generation educated. The second and third generation educated already have that attitude, but that first generation educated doesn't know what college is. There is a bias in our society right now to send the young black student, if he is going post-high school, to technical school for vocational preparation. But society has got to develop the attitude that higher education is important, can allow one to accomplish goals, and that it is available.

Dr. Blanshan:
A bit of the task force discussion, even in these early days, talked about the two phases of increasing the pool that Mr. Galbreath and Mr. Teaford ask about. There have been some suggestions, in terms of the possibility, that indeed we can increase the number of black students who are graduating from high school, but not applying to college. That there are some programs that can build a bridge to the University with those students. There are not huge numbers there right now, but there are some in answer to your question. And then there are the kinds of models that reach back to the middle school or even the grade school to begin some familiarizing in links with what the college/university experience is about. That work has begun and we have some programs. I hear from the members of the task force that there is a lot of interest in looking at that. Because there is a belief that if we, in the long run, really are going to do our job, the whole educational system must work together. I think we will have some really wonderful, creative suggestions.
November 7, 1986 meeting, Board of Trustees

Dr. Blanshan: (contd)

Mr. Tobin:

The University of Illinois has a program that has been in place for a long time called the "Presidential Scholars Program." It receives a lot of corporate support and has been very effective in terms of identifying and cultivating youngsters even in the primary school level.

President Jennings:

I also think it is important to recognize in all of this, while these long-run approaches, I think, are extraordinarily important, we also should recognize that we have put a fairly major charge to this committee, to the Provost and to Sue. When Bill talks about 700 minorities coming next fall, we are essentially expecting to be able to report to you a doubling of minority enrollment, of black enrollment, next fall. Now, we might not accomplish that, but I am a believer in setting a goal and I think with a lot of support we can do that or at worst make very substantial short-run progress. But we do have to do the long-run activity also.

Mr. Berry:

Ed, your statement there -- 700 would be about 10 percent of the entering class, is that right?

President Jennings:

Twelve percent.

Mr. Berry:

Twelve, all right. You said it would be doubling what we have now, so we have about 350 in this present class?

President Jennings:

That is about right.

Mr. Ihrig:

Three hundred and sixty one, exactly.
November 7, 1986 meeting, Board of Trustees

ENROLLMENT - AUTUMN QUARTER 1986 (contd)

Mr. Berry:

In other words, you are going to be more selective and still try to double it.

President Jennings:

You see, I think that we also should recognize that selectivity in admissions allows us to do this because in times gone by -- last year we announced on November 15 that we had closed admissions. Most first generation educated people, this is not just minority, but first generation educated people have not been thinking about applying to a university in October. Now we have the time opportunities during this to encourage activity. But, I think, just as important from a purely practical point of view, without delving into politics at all, the great strength of our American universities and of Ohio State is our diversity. And if we have a segment of the population that is left out of this University, our excellence hurts, and it hurts very badly. Because the part of the great American educational system, part of its excellence world-wide is having all segments of the population represented in our University. With 350 entering freshmen we don't have enough of that diversity at Ohio State and we must bring in more, otherwise our excellence will hurt. We will not be as good as we can be.

Mr. Galbreath:

What is the most appealing sales pitch, or what means the most to these minority students when you talk to them about going to Ohio State? Does an Archie Griffin calling on them have that much influence, or is it the fact that financially they can go to Ohio State? What are the top elements that are the most --

Professor Moore:

Well, an Archie Griffin is always a good sales pitch, but they soon get over that. You know, he's nice, he's good, he carries the football and so on, but after a while they get over that sort of thing. They are interested first of all in support for going to school. All of the research work shows that this is a concern of the students, not only black students, but students across the board, but particularly of black students because the family incomes are so low. That is the first thing they are concerned about.

The second thing that they are concerned about is, how will I fit in. That is the obvious concern. You mention 361 freshmen coming in and 53,000 people -- can I fit in, will I be O.K. In this light the work that Russ Spillman is doing and Frank -- they try to buttress the problem of what you are going to run into, so you don't feel so isolated. But it is hard to go to a large school like this and not feel isolated, as the research also shows -- wherever you happen to be. That is particularly true with minority students.

The third thing is, as you might imagine, where can I have a good time. They usually know about High Street and the Oval even before they get here. So, support to make it and the ability to be able to fit in and to take an active role are important. And they run into problems with that quite frankly, and as we all know, but that is not insurmountable.
November 7, 1986 meeting, Board of Trustees

Professor Moore: (contd)

Dr. Blanshan:

Recruitment is really a multi-stage process. Even before these issues, one of the areas is that personalized contact from alumni and from current students who are black, so that they feel that there is someone that knows the Institution, that is getting to know them, that helps linking them in. Because from the application point to the actual enrollment point, we lose about half the students. Now, what we quite honestly have to do with this task force this year is we want every black student who applies, to enroll. One of things that will help us do that is to personalize that contact from the application to the enrollment period.

Mr. Tobin:

Are our black alumni being involved in the process?

Dr. Blanshan:

We are at the point where the task force is talking about strategies and it is premature to say absolutely it is going to be done, but it sure is sounding like it.

Professor Moore:

But to be more specific in answer to your question, to the degree that they ought to be, the answer is no. Even the extra steps that we have taken in the past have not really addressed black alumni the way they should. That is even true in predominately black institutions. For one reason or another we have never addressed the black alumni in the way we should have in whatever type of institution. So, I think, not the way they should be, but I really think you want to be. When we talk to them usually, that community -- and I'm a part of that community -- sometimes I'm a part of that community, I wonder about that at times -- when you talk to the community they ask what can we do. But the second thing they ask us is, once we give suggestions, do they pay any attention to us. There is always that kind of problem with --

Mr. Tobin:

That's true of all of them --

Mr. Scott:

Tom, as you know, in Columbus, a group of folks from the Merry Makers, for example, just one isolated group, have been very, very much involved in some targeted group activities and fund-raising for scholarships, etc. Now I think, Bill, on your committee there must be at least two or three --
Mr. Scott: (contd)

Dr. Blanshan:

Colleen McMurray, whose husband is in Merry Makers, is on the task force.

Professor Moore:

And the Links, of course, you remember Ohio State sponsored an affair for the Links about two or three years ago. Bill Preston who is in Washington now, did a great deal in working with the people here and so on. So there are Links out there and in many ways it is pretty much the position Ohio State was in a few years ago when the business community of Columbus was on one end of High Street and the University on the other, and they never really started to come together. Well about five years ago, you may recall, we had that push and look what has happened now. It seems to me a tremendous kind of activity takes place as we have brought these two communities together. It was not always easy, you know, we both came in kicking and screaming, I suppose.

Mr. Tobin:

Bill or Sue, how does our financial aid package for a minority student with total need compare with other institutions in the State of Ohio, when competing in the same pool?

Professor Moore:

Well, in the State of Ohio it is about the same.

Dr. Blanshan:

The issue, I think, with the financial aid package addresses the kind of elite academic student that everybody is competing for and willing to buy, which is one issue. But the other issue is that our black students have, if you will, a much smaller margin of error for their financial aid package. Being short a $100, $200, or $500, could pivot them into a drop out situation, where it might not for another student.

Mr. Tobin:

Or in going to school at home, or in coming to Columbus.

Professor Moore:

Well, what they have to do in a situation where they are not getting not enough money, not having adequate resources, they go out and start to work. Now you see them having some difficulty, academic difficulty, many of them do not having the kind of academic backgrounds some of them should have. They come here or elsewhere, they get a few dollars in the EOG grants or other kinds of grants, then they go out and get a part-time job to augment that and that takes more time away from studying and so on. Whereas the eastern colleges mentioned a little earlier, they will provide them with full resources, and that does make a difference.

President Jennings:

See the scholarship issue -- I think what we have to continue to keep in mind, is that we are a land-grant institution, we have done this before, targeted groups. We need to be able to continue to provide the economic resources that a group or all groups of students need. There is no reason a student should not come to Ohio State because of finances. Now, some are better, but a student should be able to afford to come to Ohio State. Now, we expect things out of the student and so forth, but financial aid becomes -- I'm convinced that we can deal with this on an economic basis.

Professor Moore:

Just one final point. We do have to -- and we have alluded to it earlier -- we do have to give attention to preparation, which is another reason they do not come. The pool is small because so many of them are not prepared as they should be. On the ACT, for example, that has a range of one to thirty-six. The average ACT composite score for Ohio, for example, is 13.4 among black students. So you can see that the job is a terrific job and why Dr. Brand and others have said we have got to start earlier. Now for the sons and daughters of people of the Merry Makers, you don't have to worry about that, but for the others it is another problem.

President Jennings:

I think, Bill, it is also important to point out that again that ACT test score gap -- we also know that those gaps have existed with other minority groups, historically, that are not minority groups today. That this is not an unusual phenomena when you are dealing with first generation educated. That this is not a racial situation, this is an educational opportunity situation that has existed. You can tick off minority groups, historically, who have started with low ACT scores on the average and now they are into the system. Education is important for all.

Professor Moore:

Well, the increase we are seeing among minority groups is the Spanish speaking, which is unbelievable in terms of where they were.

Dr. Blanshan:

On the ACT scores, also, we do have some good institutional studies that indicate there is a range of scores that we consider lower -- not the best students, but lower scores that we know those kids can succeed here. We've got documentation of a range that is acceptable in terms of success, good success at completing a degree. And then there is a level below which we know if we don't get more help in the earlier educational levels, in terms of college preparation, those students will not have a chance to succeed at the University. And that is where we can work with other systems as well.
November 7, 1986 meeting, Board of Trustees

Dr. Blanshan: (contd)

Mr. Tobin:

How well do we do on recruiting black students right here in Central Ohio, in Columbus?

Professor Moore:

Well we don't do as well as we were able to do a few years ago. That is one of those things that we don't quite understand. A part of it has to do with just the number of students who are going to school. Since that number has been decreasing we can't really tell. But I recall seeing a figure just recently that about 75 percent of those very bright students go elsewhere.

President Jennings:

Bill, thank you very much. It is an exciting program and we thank you for your efforts on this and I look forward to great progress.

President Jennings:

I would like to call on Dr. Al Kuhn to bring us up-to-date on the activities he is engaged in and the development and continuing progress for our Honors Program. I think you all know, Al. He is now doing what we all long to do; he was a bureaucrat here and now he is back to doing real stuff on the faculty. Al —

Dr. Kuhn:

Thank you, President Jennings. Mr. Chairman, Members of the Board, I am delighted to report on my activities working with the Honors Program in the University. Let me give you some highlights of things of interest to us all.

You know about the national concern for the quality of undergraduate education all over the country. This week's Chronicle of Higher Education prints a report of, I would say, deep and grave concern about the state of health of undergraduate programs, the coherence of these programs, their directions, depth vs. breadth, vocationalism, that kind of thing.

There is with all of this a keen national competition for the best students. It is a fierce competition for the best students and not just minority students. Because the issue is, of course, leadership and talent for the next century. It is as simple as that. The institutions are in competition with each other for the talented and the high ability students, and the world is in competition for the same kind of talent. Well, here at our own University, we're reflecting these concerns by looking at aspects of the undergraduate program, and the selective admissions, which, as the President spoke a moment ago, seeks to provide at once a more diverse undergraduate student body and yet a more stable one; therefore, a more qualitative one.

Honors simply hopes to highlight these endeavors and to help set standards and to be in the forefront of the pursuit of excellence. As all of you know, the University has traditionally had many honors programs. This is not a new endeavor. The College of Agriculture has had a long and distinguished program, and in the Arts and Sciences there are distinguished honors programs. With the recent initiatives, the creation of a university-wide office that I direct, we are seeking to facilitate, support, encourage, to be cheerleaders of university-wide efforts to support what is established and to bring new initiatives. All of us understand that honors programs are not imposed, these are things finally that faculty members are interested in and press forward themselves. And so we want to encourage individual and departmental initiatives.

Our agenda is fairly simple. A major one is the recruitment of highly-abled students. You know about our Battelle and our Joyce scholarships, and about our national achievement and national merit scholarships. And the various colleges have many such scholarships for talented students. Our office is also working with Frank Hale in attracting top minority scholars. Just as a kind of anecdote to Bill's point, one of the top minority scholars, a valedictorian of one of the City's high schools last year -- we offered her a scholarship which was -- well she had national offers and finally chose the University of Chicago which offered her $12,500 for a single year -- which would have been about our four years. But I am just talking about this sort of competition which is for the very exotic. In an instance like that, you tell a student, well, this is a personal choice. It might be in the way, really, of trying to get that student to come here when the choice is another institution. That is also a dimension of really trying to attract a top scholar.

To help the recruitment of able scholars we are proposing to set up a University Honors Society, which will be a kind of umbrella organization that will seek to attract talented high school students. It will be a membership organization, they will be invited to join. The benefits of this organization will be special faculty advisement, entry to honors courses, our assistance in getting scholarships and aid for them. But more than that it gives talented students a new sense of identity and we hope aspiration to fulfill their talents. We hope that that will be an effective recruitment devise.

In academic programming, across the Institution, we are assisting various new efforts in honors programming. The

College of Arts, Architecture, and several other units are beginning new initiatives there. Currently there are about 150 honors courses taught during the three quarters of the academic year. The class size is typically twenty to twenty-five students. These 150 courses would enroll then about 2,000 to 2,500 students. I am teaching an introductory Shakespeare to brand new first quarter freshmen; these students I am teaching would be eligible for this Honors Society. I think that the course I am teaching is fairly typical of the Honors approach. Which is an intensive kind of one on one, intellectual experience for students in which the development of intellectual concernment, the ability to read sensitively, to write sensitively, to speak sensitively are all goals. And because I have twenty students and because I assign them three different essays spaced throughout the quarter, they usually wind-up writing about six essays. It is because they keep rewriting. I reference this, not to call attention to myself, but to the kind of individual attention that an Honors experience can provide. An academic enrichment that is at once both penetrating and broad. That generally is the kind of standard that we would like for Honors students generally. I draw a distinction between the highly-abled student and the Honors student. We get many, many highly-abled students. Many of those students pursue a very narrow path, in part, because their curriculum forces them to it and there isn't time enough to explore other things. But what Honors is hoping to do all over Campus, is to convert the high ability or the talented students into Honor students. To have them undertake challenging experiences, to take some risks, to not only learn a discipline, but to understand something about its moral, social, ethical implications -- in short its future and their future. So these are some of the kinds of things we try to support in our Honors academic programs. For example, independent research or a senior thesis is key to this kind of thing. The Carnegie Commission report, interestingly enough, recommends that every senior be required to write a thesis. That is the kind ideal that we're holding up for Honors.

Well, in short then our Honors efforts and our academic programs really speak to the enriched major, to independent research, to depth and breadth and discipline, in short, a more broadly educated person. I guess we are really speaking very fundamentally about the difference between training and education. We want to take the highly able students and turn them into students who take on the risks of the Honors experience. We want, therefore, to try to attract more scholarship money to the Honors enterprise. There is in the Capital Campaign, a $5 million item for scholarships -- this over and above the individual college goals. The University Honors Center wants to be actively involved in defining perhaps a new level of prestigious scholarship that would be like our Joyce or our Battelle scholars to attract the most abled students.

The third emphasis then in the University Honors Center is the living/learning environment for talented students once they're here. We want to reinforce, support, and extend classroom work into the residence halls. Not to say that that doesn't go on now, but -- I want to, in a moment, show a slide or two about Taylor Tower and the Honors Living/Learning Center, where through informal seminars, where through piggybacking upon events that go on in the University, like the Schooler Reese lectures, like the recent lectures on nuclear deterrence. We try to involve students especially in those programs through some dormitory or residence hall programs. So that there is in effect the effort to broaden the intellectual, emotional growth of students, the emphasis is upon cultivation. Last night, for example, Christian Badea was at Taylor. Also at one of the programs we had Frank Wobst from Huntington Bank who came up to talk with students on the theme, "What would happen tomorrow if all the Latin American Countries who owe us money defaulted?" A very interesting presentation and frightening for some business majors.

Mr. Galbreath:

What was his answer?

Dr. Kuhn:

It had something to do with Huntington National. Well, we look forward to extending this kind of thing into other areas, not necessarily in creating whole new other residence halls, but perhaps floors or suites or little communities of enterprising students of that sort. And, of course, we look forward to the refurbishment of Honors House. That will be the new home of the Honors Center and the tentative plans, as Dick Jackson has talked with us about that, is maybe get us in there on a temporary basis as the architects work around us or whatever. As planned, we are going to have a student seminar room there. Classes will actually be conducted there. There will be rooms for student organizations and honoraries, Mortar Board, Phi Beta Kappa, Phi Eta Sigma, that kind of thing. There are exciting prospects, in short, for that splendid old building on that splendid part of the campus. It can be the literal center and the symbolic center of Honors on campus. Now if I can show just a few slides, five or six here.

This is Taylor Tower, of course, named for Jacob Taylor, who was a business vice president. It has in it 831 honors students or they're mostly honors students. You'll see that there are 47 percent females, 53 percent males; 55 percent freshmen, 32 percent sophomores, then it falls off in the upper classmen. In the academic area of enrollment in the Arts and Sciences, 36 percent of the students in Taylor are interested in Arts and Sciences disciplines, and 37 percent in Engineering. The engineers, as you would expect, are among the most talented students that come to the University these days. They're interested in Taylor because it is near the Engineering building. Art, a very practical interest. Then 7 percent in Business and 3 in Education, and on down in those other areas. And this is what their performance, their past and current performance is like.

You see that of the 583 students, 70 percent, or 583, graduated in the top percent of their high school class. Of that number, 125 graduated first in their class. And their ACT scores -- 7 percent at the very highest range of 32 to 35, and then 53 percent at 28 to 31 and on down -- 28 percent from 24 to 27, and 12 percent at 18 to 23. Then their grade point averages 3.8 to 4.0, 11 percent, these are upper classmen, these are sophomores, juniors and seniors. The freshmen are excluded. Eleven percent are performing at the very top level, 36 percent performing at 3.3 to 3.79, and then 20 percent at the B's range and on down. Some of that performance is in the 2.7 range or so, I can testify that these are very, very bright high school students who have just chosen the wrong major. They have come in and just bombed-out. So there, special counseling and special advising is needed. These are some of the activities -- there is a micro-computer center there in Taylor itself. These are activities that go on. That is Professor Alan Mellett, who is speaking to students right before the Kissinger lecture of last year, to sort of alert them to issues. And this was a student/faculty dinner that is held almost every quarter in Taylor.

Now, I want to move on to Honors House. That was when it was freshly built in 1926, sixty years ago. This is looking from the north and the main entrance of the building is here. That is, it faces the north and the Campus is here. And one of the exciting prospects that the architects have in mind is turning the building back to face Mirror Lake and the library, and having its entrance here and landscaping this, so that ceremonials for students and their parents can be held here using this. Another exciting idea that the architects tentatively have in mind is converting this floor for student seminar and study space. This is a third floor in the building, but it is really cubbyhole space. The architects have proposed a very exciting idea tentatively of removing these ceilings so that you have cathedral vaulting for these small seminar rooms. And one of these we might call the "President's Seminar Room" with memorabilia of the presidents who lived there, George Rightmire, Howard Bevis and Novice Fawcett. There are some very exciting ideas possibly that the architects now can bring back for your approval.

Mrs. Bowser:

We might want to meet there, it looks better all the time.

Mr. Barone:

You don't have the grades.

Mr. Teaford:

Yes she does.

Dr. Kuhn:

University Honors, in short, wants to encourage and challenge students to rigorous and highly intellectual achievement. And our programs do so through small classes, special faculty, and challenging courses of instruction for highly motivated students. Academic distinction, pursuit of excellence, is the constant name of all great institutions. Honors learning seeks to provide that challenge at our University.

One of the signs of the times, you may have noticed there was a little speech given by Shirley Chisholm, former Congresswoman, who is now a Professor of Political Sciences at Mount Holyoke. She recently expressed her concern about the general quality of undergraduate education. She just returned from a trip where she was comparing our students with students abroad. She thought that we were doing a good job of training our students, but not so good a job of educating. And she said, "I'm deeply concerned about all of these things. Mediocrity is not the answer, the world is filled with mediocrity. Excellence reaps rewards. I am concerned about excellence." And I think that we all share that concern and thank you for this opportunity to let me come before you.

Mr. Teaford:

Mr. Chairman, I know it's late, but if I could add just one comment. I had occasion recently to meet a number of Dr. Kuhn's honor students when I was a judge of the Homecoming Court. And I think we need to know that we are not talking about a bunch of grinds, we are talking about some of the most amazing young men and women that I have ever had occasion to meet. I don't think people realize that the woman on the Homecoming Court with the lowest point-hour average had a 3.7. That is the lowest point hour. The best was 3.97. So, we need to realize that these are absolutely extraordinary persons, we are talking leadership.

Mr. Galbreath:

Al, it is nice to have you back at one of our meetings. I remember my earlier days on this Board when you were with us on a regular basis, and I personally miss your participation. It's good to have you back.

EXPRESSION OF APPRECIATION

Resolution No. 87-41

Synopsis: Appreciation is extended to Jerome Lawrence and Robert E. Lee for contributions to The Ohio State University.

WHEREAS Jerome Lawrence (B.A., 1937; Doctor of Humane Letters, 1963) and Robert E. Lee (Doctor of Humanities, 1979) have long been interested in and supportive of excellence at The Ohio State University; and

WHEREAS the most recent example of this dedication is their contribution to the University of an extensive collection of books, research materials, and original papers relating to their playwrighting careers and the history of American theater; and
November 7, 1986 meeting, Board of Trustees

EXPRESSION OF APPRECIATION (contd)

WHEREAS this collection, when combined with the existing materials in Ohio State's Theatre Research Institute, will create one of the most comprehensive centers for research in theater history, literature, and criticism in the world; and

WHEREAS the combined collections will bear the name, "The Lawrence and Lee Theatre Research Institute," and will be housed in a specially designed facility on the Fourteenth Floor of Lincoln Tower; and

WHEREAS the new facility is to be dedicated today, November 7, 1986:

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University extends its deep appreciation to Jerome Lawrence and Robert E. Lee for their commitment to excellence in the playwrighting profession, in American theater, and at The Ohio State University; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That this Board extends its congratulations to Jerome Lawrence and Robert E. Lee upon the dedication of the Lawrence and Lee Theatre Research Institute.

Upon motion of Mr. Teaford, seconded by Mr. Barone, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous voice vote.

RESOLUTIONS IN MEMORIAM

Resolution No. 87-45

Synopsis: Resolutions honoring the service of three of the University's faculty members, one administrator, and a former member on the Board of Trustees Agricultural Affairs Committee who have recently died are being proposed.

RESOLVED, That the Board adopt the following Resolutions in Memoriam and that the President be requested to convey a copy to the families of the deceased.
November 7, 1986 meeting, Board of Trustees

RESOLUTIONS IN MEMORIAM (contd)

Robert J. Kane

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on September 18, 1986, of Robert J. Kane, Assistant Professor Emeritus in the Department of English.

Robert J. Kane was born on December 9, 1897, in Columbus, Ohio, and graduated from Aquinas High School in 1917. He received a B.A. in 1921 and an M.A. in 1922, both from The Ohio State University; and he earned a Ph.D. from Harvard University in 1929. In 1921 he was named a University Scholar at The Ohio State University and was elected to Phi Beta Kappa. In 1927 he was an Austin Scholar at Harvard University.

Dr. Kane was especially knowledgeable in the bibliography of English literature, and in the Renaissance and Romantic periods of English literature. His publications centered in Shakespeare studies. He retired as an Assistant Professor Emeritus in 1965, having taught since 1926.

On behalf of the University, the Board of Trustees expresses its deep sympathy and sense of understanding to those who mourn for Professor Kane. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees.

James G. Krafft

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on September 12, 1986, of James G. Krafft, Director of Administration in the Office of Physical Facilities.

James Krafft was born January 28, 1930, in Cleveland, Ohio. He graduated from Grandview Heights High School and received his Bachelor of Science in Business Administration degree in 1952 and his Master of Business Administration degree in 1961, both from The Ohio State University.

After working as an examiner and supervisor in the Ohio Department of Taxation, Mr. Krafft came to Ohio State in 1967 as an Administrative Assistant in the Office of Physical Facilities, and was promoted to Director of Administration in 1975.

Throughout his dedicated career at Ohio State, Mr. Krafft served the best interest of the University and its staff. He had a great concern for improving the work environment of his employees and all Physical Facilities staff. Most of all, he was advisor and friend to all who needed or sought his guidance. He continually promoted the careers of others and helped them to succeed in their chosen areas of expertise.

On behalf of the University, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family its deep sympathy and sense of understanding in its loss. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as an expression of the Board's heartfelt sympathy.
November 7, 1986 meeting, Board of Trustees

RESOLUTIONS IN MEMORIAM (contd)

Joseph N. Miller

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on August 21, 1986, of Joseph N. Miller, Professor Emeritus in the Department of Zoology.

Dr. Miller was born in 1903 in Hillsboro, Highland County, Ohio. Upon graduation from Hillsboro High School in 1921, he entered Miami University. He served as an undergraduate assistant for two years at Miami University and received his AB from that institution in 1925.

He received his other degrees from The Ohio State University: MA in Zoology in 1926 and a Ph.D. in Zoology in 1935. He also studied at Ohio State's Biological Station, Stone Laboratory on Lake Erie, and at the University of Michigan Biological Station at Douglas Lake. The topic of his dissertation was "The Life History and Growth Rate of the Trematode, Postharrowostomum lareui McIntosh, 1934." He maintained a deep interest in trematode parasites throughout his academic career. His positions in both the Department of Zoology and Entomology and the Department of Zoology include: graduate assistant (1925-27), instructor (1927-42), assistant professor (1942-48), associate professor (1948-56), professor (1956-73), and professor emeritus (1973).

Dr. Miller was an excellent teacher known for the clarity with which he presented ideas and concepts. He was an advisor for numerous graduate students who now teach in other universities and colleges, a true mark of his success. A friendly man with a sharp wit and twinkling eyes, he will be fondly remembered.

A member of Delta Upsilon Fraternity, he also belonged to the scientific honorary Sigma Xi, The Ohio Academy of Science, The American Association for the Advancement of Science, The American Society of Parasitologists, Gamma Sigma Delta and Alpha Epsilon Delta. He was a member of Lion's International and the Masonic Lodge. Dr. Miller was a loyal fan of Ohio State's athletic teams and he was a much respected tennis player in his day. He also enjoyed oil painting and the theater.

On behalf of the University community, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family of Dr. Miller its deepest sympathy. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as a sincere expression of the Board's realization of the loss that the family, the University and his many friends and associates have sustained.

John M. Stackhouse

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on September 17, 1986, of John M. Stackhouse, President, Citizens National Bank of Norwalk, Ohio, and former Director, Ohio Department of Agriculture, who served for 16 years on the Board of Control of the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center.

John M. Stackhouse was born on March 3, 1929, in Oberlin, Ohio, and grew up on the Humphrey Farm at Wakeman, where his father, Clay, was manager. He graduated as valedictorian of the Wakeman High School Class of 1947. He received his B.S. degree from The Ohio State University in 1951, with a major in Agricultural Engineering and minors in Agronomy and Animal

John M. Stackhouse (contd)

Science. Mr. Stackhouse entered the Graduate School of The Ohio State University in the summer of 1951, and held assistantships at the University in both research and resident instruction from 1951-54.

In addition to work on his academic program, Mr. Stackhouse assumed management of the Humphrey Farm in 1954, at which time his father went to Washington, D.C., as an administrator in the United States Department of Agriculture. Since his father's death in 1959, he had full responsibility for management of the 1,300-acre Humphrey Farm. From 1947-52, he served on the Board of Directors of the Ohio Drainage Contractors Association, and served as Executive Secretary for two years. During 1960-62, he was an elected member of the Board of Supervisors of the Huron Soil and Water Conservation District, serving as Chairman in 1961-62, at which time he served, also, as a member of the Research Committee of the Ohio Federation of Soil and Water Conservation Districts.

Mr. Stackhouse was appointed Director, Ohio Department of Agriculture in April 1963, and served on Governor Rhodes' cabinet throughout the remainder of the 16 years that Rhodes was in office. By virtue of his office, he served as a member of the Board of Control of the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center and as a member of the Ohio Expositions Commission. From 1970 to 1975, Mr. Stackhouse worked as Vice President and lobbyist with the National Agricultural Chemicals Association in Washington, D.C. During 1983-84, Mr. Stackhouse operated an agribusiness consulting firm, Stackhouse and Associates, Inc. He continued to manage the home farm at Wakeman and in 1984, was appointed Executive Director of the Ohio Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service. Former Chairman of the Bank Board, he was named President of the Citizens National Bank of Norwalk in 1985, and served in that position until his death.

Mr. Stackhouse was active in Alpha Zeta Fraternity, and in Gamma Sigma Delta, the Honor Society of Agriculture. He was a Fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science; and held memberships in the Ohio Academy of Science, American Society of Agronomy, the Soil Science Society of America, American Society of Agricultural Engineers, and the Ohio Society of Farm Managers and Rural Appraisers. He was inducted into the Ohio Agricultural Hall of Fame in 1983. Local activities included his church, the Wakeman Board of Education, and the Wakeman Civic Association.

On behalf of the University, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family its deep sympathy and sense of understanding in their loss. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as an expression of the Board's heartfelt sympathy.

Frederic C. Wise

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on August 9, 1986, of Frederic C. Wise, Assistant Professor Emeritus in the Cooperative Extension Service.

Mr. Wise was born April 24, 1922, in Newark, Ohio. He received his

Frederic C. Wise (contd)

Bachelor and Master's degrees in agriculture from The Ohio State University in 1949 and 1957.

He became an Associate County Agent in Huron County on April 1, 1949. He then moved to Adams County as the Associate County Agent in December of 1955. On November 16, 1957, he became the County Extension Agent, Agriculture in Defiance County; the position he held until his retirement on June 30, 1979.

On behalf of the University community, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family of Mr. Wise its deepest sympathy. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to Mrs. Wise as a sincere expression of the Board's realization of the loss that the family, the University and his many friends and associates have sustained.

Upon motion of Mrs. Bowser, seconded by Mr. Barone, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous voice vote.

REPORT OF RESEARCH CONTRACTS, GRANTS, AND GIFTS
Resolution No. 87-46

Synopsis: The reports on contracts, grants, and gifts and the summary for September 1986 are presented for Board acceptance.

WHEREAS monies are solicited and received on behalf of the University from governmental, industrial, other agencies, alumni, and various individuals in support of research, instructional activities, and service; and

WHEREAS such gifts and grants are received through The Ohio State University Research Foundation, the Engineering Experiment Station of The Ohio State University, and The Ohio State University Development Fund:

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That the research agreement between The Ohio State University and The Ohio State University Research Foundation for the contracts and grants reported herein, and the acceptance of the reports from the Engineering Experiment Station and The Ohio State University Development Fund during the month of September 1986 be approved.

Upon motion of Mrs. Bowser, seconded by Mr. Barone, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous voice vote.

University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from Eleanor S. Resler, Columbus, Ohio.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to support cancer research as approved by the Medical Director of the Cancer Research Institute and the Dean of the College of Medicine. If it is determined that funding for cancer research is so ample, then the income from this fund may be used for those purposes as deemed appropriate by the Medical Director of the Cancer Research Institute.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to the recommendations from the appropriate administrative official of the University who is then directly responsible for medical education.

The Excellence in Botany Fund

The Excellence in Botany Fund was established November 7, 1986, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from alumni, faculty and friends of the Department of Botany and the College of Biological Sciences.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used for support of excellence in botanical teaching and research in the Department of Botany in the College of Biological Sciences. The Chairperson of the Botany Department will have sole authority to authorize expenditures from the Fund, as approved by the Dean of the College of Biological Sciences.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to the recommendations from the appropriate administrative official of the University who is then directly responsible for the teaching, research and service of Botany.

to The Ohio State University Development Fund from the Columbus Feed Club, an organization of marketing representatives of feed manufacturers doing business in the Central Ohio area.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to fund one or more scholarships for students in the College of Agriculture with preference being given to those students enrolled in the Department of Animal Science. Criteria for the scholarships shall include academic performance and financial need. Scholarships shall be selected by a committee consisting of the Assistant Dean for Student Affairs in the College of Agriculture and appropriate faculty representation from Animal Science, in consultation with the University Committee on Student Financial Aid.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to the recommendations from the appropriate administrative official of the University who is then directly responsible for the College of Agriculture.

Change of Name and Description of Named Fund

The Andersons Endowed Chair in Agricultural Marketing, Trade and Policy

The Andersons Agricultural Advancement Fund was established November 1, 1985, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with a gift to The Ohio State University Development Fund from The Andersons, the prominent agricultural grain and supply firm headquartered in Maumee, Ohio. The name and description were changed November 7, 1986.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to support the work of the distinguished professor whose research, teaching and public service focus on agricultural marketing, agricultural policy, macroeconomics, and/or international trade. The chair holder shall provide leadership for innovative research and teaching programs concerned with alternative macroeconomic, international trade policies, analyzing the effect of domestic and foreign agricultural policies on U.S. agriculture, the marketing of agricultural products and agricultural trade. The chair shall be appointed and shall serve at the pleasure of the Vice President for Agricultural Administration in consultation with the Chairperson of

PURCHASE OF REAL PROPERTY FOR WOSU-AM ANTENNA SITE 96.38 ACRES IN SOUTHWEST FRANKLIN COUNTY, OHIO

Resolution No. 87-47

Synopsis: Authorization to purchase approximately 96.38 acres in southwest Franklin County to provide a new site for WOSU-AM's transmitter is requested.

WHEREAS to improve services to its listeners, the WOSU Stations desire to expand the operating hours of WOSU-AM to include night broadcasting and have been granted a construction permit by the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) to construct nighttime broadcasting facilities; and

WHEREAS in accordance with FCC regulations protecting the nighttime service areas of clear channel stations, WOSU-AM must reduce power for nighttime operation and use an array of antennas and the present daytime antenna site cannot be used to both serve the Central Ohio area and protect the service areas of clear channel stations; and

WHEREAS Kenyon College owns approximately 96.38 acres of undeveloped real property in southwest Franklin County, which site will meet the technical and geographic needs of WOSU-AM, and has offered this property for sale; and

WHEREAS funds to purchase this property will be provided through funds contributed through the Friends of WOSU; and

WHEREAS the appropriate University offices are in agreement as to the desirability of purchasing this property:
November 7, 1986 meeting, Board of Trustees

PURCHASE OF REAL PROPERTY FOR WOSU-AM ANTENNA SITE
96.38 ACRES IN SOUTHWEST FRANKLIN COUNTY, OHIO (contd)

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That the President and/or Vice President for Business and Administration be authorized to purchase, in the name of the Board of Trustees, approximately 96.38 acres located off Gantz Road in southwest Franklin County, at a price not to exceed $300,000.00 and under such terms and conditions as are deemed to be in the best interest of the University.

Upon motion of Mr. Kessler, seconded by Mr. Barone, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous roll call vote.

EMPLOYMENT OF ARCHITECT/ENGINEER AND REQUEST FOR CONSTRUCTION BIDS WOSU-AM NIGHTTIME TRANSMITTER PARK Resolution No. 87-52

Synopsis: Authorization to employ an architectural/engineering firm and request construction bids is proposed.
WHEREAS this project will provide for the construction of night broadcasting facilities, including an array of six antenna and an operations building, for WOSU-AM, which facilities also could be used to broadcast during the day should the regular daytime transmitter fail; and

WHEREAS $760,000 will be made available for this project from University funds, of which $450,100 is estimated for construction, $207,100 for moveable equipment, and $102,800 for engineering and architectural fees and contingencies:

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That the President and/or Vice President for Business and Administration be authorized, in accordance with established University procedures, to select a qualified architectural/engineering firm for this project, to request construction bids on this project, and if satisfactory bids are received, to award the necessary contracts, with all actions to be reported to this Board at the appropriate time.

Upon motion of Mrs. Bowser, seconded by Mr. Barone, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous roll call vote.

IMPROVEMENTS IN MAJOR MEDICAL AND VISION PROGRAM BENEFITS

Resolution No. 87-54

Synopsis: Improvements in the major medical and vision program benefits are proposed.

WHEREAS the Board of Trustees in previous resolutions has awarded the coverage and subsequent improvements of the major medical program to the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Company and the vision program to Community Mutual Insurance Company; and

WHEREAS the Faculty Compensation and Benefits Committee along with other appropriate University offices has made a comparative analysis of the programs' components, and based on this review has recommended improvements to these programs:

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That the outpatient nervous and mental benefit of the major medical coverage for the conventional program and the University's Alternative Health Plan out-of-network benefits be improved from 80% of the first $500 after applying the deductible to 80% of the first $1200 after applying the deductible. The estimated annual cost of this improvement to the University is $122,400. The vision program benefits be improved as follows:

<thead>
<tr>

Commencement Speaker

Mary L. Good

Mary L. Good is president of Engineered Materials Research for Allied-Signal, Inc., an advanced technology company whose primary businesses are in aerospace/electronics, automotive, and engineered materials. She is also president-elect of the American Chemical Society, the world's largest professional scientific organization devoted to a single discipline. Her professional activities have encompassed both academic and industrial scientific research and have included a continuing role in science policy at the national level.

A Texan by birth, Good grew up and was educated in Arkansas. After receiving a Ph.D. in inorganic chemistry from the University of Arkansas at Fayetteville in 1954, she began a career of teaching and research in chemistry and materials science with the Louisiana State University System and the University of New Orleans. Good moved into industry in 1980, becoming vice president and director of research at UOP, a company well known in the industry for its oil and gas processing technology.

Good's activities in science policy include service on the National Science Board and on several National Academy of Science panels and government advisory committees. Her service in other professional organizations includes five years as president of the Inorganic Division of the International Union of Pure and Applied Chemistry.

Good also has been active in the community, contributing service to such organizations as Zonta International, in which she serves as chair of the Amelia Earhart Awards Committee, and as a member of the Chicago Network. She is a member of the board of trustees of the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute in Troy, New York, and of the board of directors of the Industrial Research Institute.

She was elected a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science in 1986 and has received honorary doctoral degrees from the University of Arkansas, the University of Illinois-Chicago, and Clarkson University. The University is proud to welcome this very distinguished member of the scientific world to our campus today.
Frederick J. Doyle
Doctor of Science

Frederick J. Doyle is currently the senior advisor for cartography at the National Mapping Division of the U.S. Geological Survey in Reston, Virginia. He plans, directs, and performs research on aircraft and space sensors and ground processing systems for the National Mapping Program. He also is an adjunct professor of photogrammetry at George Washington University and Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University. Prior to joining the survey in 1967, Doyle was an assistant professor of photogrammetry and first chairperson of the Department of Geodetic Science at Ohio State.

Born in Oak Park, Illinois, Doyle received his bachelor's degree in civil engineering summa cum laude in 1951. He studied at the International Training Centre for Aerial Survey in Delft, Netherlands, on a Fulbright Fellowship and did graduate work in mathematics at Ohio State and in astronomy at Georgetown University.

In recent years, Doyle's primary concerns have been the applications of satellites to reconnaissance and mapping. He was chairperson of the Apollo Orbital Science Photographic Team and received the NASA medal for exceptional scientific achievement for his work in lunar mapping. One of Doyle's most significant accomplishments was his work with the large format camera that was first flown on October 5, 1984, on Space Shuttle Mission STS-41-G, reflecting 20 years of research. Over 2,000 pictures were received by the world's mapping community, marking the first time that space photography suitable for maps was obtained for civilian purposes.

His scientific and leadership qualities have been recognized nationally and internationally by his election as president and honorary life member of the American Society of Photogrammetry and his service as secretary general and president of the International Society of Photogrammetry and Remote Sensing.

Doyle has received Meritorious and Distinguished Service Awards from the Department of the Interior, and an honorary Doctor of Engineering degree from the Technical University of Hannover, Federal Republic of Germany. The Ohio State University is delighted to recognize this very distinguished scientist, teacher, researcher, administrator, and former faculty member.

Arthur E. Adams
Distinguished Service Award

Since 1970, when he joined Ohio State as the second dean of the College of Humanities, Arthur E. Adams has epitomized the outstanding service that helps to make Ohio State the institution it is today. Coming to Ohio State from Michigan State, Adams brought with him the ideals of liberal education, serious scholarship, and the notion of responsible faculty governance.

Under Adam's seven-year leadership, the College of Humanities nurtured and expanded departments in a time of difficult growth and change. Under his leadership, the Department of Black Studies and the Center for Comparative Studies were established. During his time, Adams was also a professor in the Department of History and continued to work on his own scholarly activities outside the University. These activities included membership on the Accreditation Commission of the American Council on Higher Education, the Board for Radio Free Europe/Radio Liberty, and the Midwestern Universities Consortium for International Activities.

Adams helped bring the University Senate, the governing body of the Ohio State faculty, into being during the early 1970s. Adams also contributed substantially to the development of the Office of Continuing Education, serving as vice provost from 1978-82 and expanding opportunities for education to non-traditional students. From 1982-84 he served as a special assistant to the president and the vice president for research and graduate studies, working toward the development of The Ohio State University Research Park. Adams retired from the University as professor emeritus of history in 1984.

Adams has served on many councils and committees within the University, and has published several books and numerous articles. He has traveled extensively in Europe and the USSR, attending many conferences with government and academic participants. Ohio State is grateful for his many years of dedication to academia and is pleased to extend this honor to him.
Recipients of Honors

Paul G. Craig
Distinguished Service Award

Paul G. Craig is professor emeritus of public administration and economics at Ohio State. He served as a faculty member from 1951-70 and from 1972 until his retirement in 1980. Since then he has worked as a consultant in economic forecasting, regional economic analysis and financial analysis for banks, insurance companies, and government.

A native of Middletown, Craig received his bachelor's degree from Otterbein College and his master's and Ph.D. degrees in economics from Ohio State. He served as chairperson of the Department of Economics, as the first dean of the College of Social and Behavioral Sciences, and as the chairperson of the Coordinating Council of Deans for the Colleges of the Arts and Sciences.

Craig was a Ford Foundation Post-Doctoral Fellow in the Institute of Basic Mathematics for Application to Business at Harvard University. He is a member of Beta Gamma Sigma and Phi Beta Kappa. During his career at Ohio State, Craig developed the managerial economics course in the Executive Development Program. He also served on the Faculty Council and was president of the Faculty Club.

He has several civic and professional activities to his credit, including chairperson of the Advisory Committee for Economic Development for the Columbus Area Chamber of Commerce; member of the Ohio Citizens Council for Health and Welfare; member of the Universities Committee of the National Bureau of Economic Research; and trustee of Otterbein College. Craig's long years of service to the fields of economics, public administration, and higher education for business, and to Ohio State uniquely qualify him for this award.

Weldon A. Kefauver
Distinguished Service Award

For twenty-six years Weldon A. Kefauver served Ohio State and the publishing world with special distinction as director of The Ohio State University Press. Under his leadership, the University Press has become one of the most well-respected academic presses in the country. Now director emeritus, Kefauver developed a series of publications in the humanities, social sciences, legal studies, and education.

Kefauver is responsible for the University Press' publication of Helen Hooven Santmyer's bestselling book ... And Ladies of the Club,—a book which sold more copies than any other book originally published by a university press. He is well known for his ability to work with authors and editorial boards, for his high standards of excellence, and for nurturing young authors in the development of their work.

Kefauver has been recognized many times by his publishing peers. He has served on the board of directors and as president of the American Association of University Presses and has attended the Asian Conference on Publishing. He has often contributed to Editor, Author, and Publisher and has edited Scholars and Their Publishers.

He is the recipient of the Association of American University Presses Golden Fluke Award, the Association's Medal in 1984, the Johns Hopkins University Press Centennial Medal, a Citation from the Ohioana Library Association, and The Ohio State University Centennial Service Award.

Kefauver is an alumnus of The Ohio State University, a member of the Society of Scholarly Publishing, the Nathaniel Hawthorne Society, and the Association of American University Professors. He has instituted a great tradition of excellence for The Ohio State University Press. In recognition of his many years of outstanding dedication, Ohio State is pleased to present him with the Distinguished Service Award.

THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY

OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS OF THE

ONE THOUSAND TWO HUNDRED AND TWENTY-SIXTH MEETING

OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES

Columbus, Ohio, December 4 and 5, 1986
December 4 and 5, 1986 meeting, Board of Trustees

The Chairman, Mr. Galbreath, called the meeting of the Board of Trustees to order on December 4, 1986, at 6:30 p.m. He requested the Secretary to call the roll. The meeting recessed into Executive Session for the purpose of considering legal issues and personnel-related matters.

Present: Daniel M. Galbreath, Chairman, Leonard J. Immke, John W. Berry, Hamilton J. Teaford, John J. Barone, Deborah E. Casto, and John W. Kessler.

Mr. Galbreath reconvened the meeting on December 5, 1986, at 10:15 a.m.

Mr. Galbreath:

Before we get too serious this morning, I would like to comment that I have served on this Board for eight and half years and one of the excitements about being at the head of the table is that I can be close to the coffee pot. And I note now that we are out of coffee. I was reminded by Ms. Casto that we are also out of heat. So Mr. Barone suggested that we have our February meeting in Florida and that you would all make it. We'll vote on that a little later on. I guess I really shouldn't have started it off that way, but it must be the Holiday spirit. One of our guests today is Mr. Michael Klepper, a senior in the Colleges of the Arts and Sciences, who would like to discuss something with us. Mr. Klepper, if you will please--

Mr. Klepper:

Thank you. House Bill 845 is a law that requires registration with the Selective Service if a person is to be charged in-state tuition and to receive state financial aid. This law will effectively stop the education of those non-registrants who are currently in school and will similarly influence those who are not yet in college. Ohio State will begin enforcing this law beginning next quarter. I would like to point out reasons why Ohio State shouldn't implement this law and to suggest possible actions that the Board of Trustees could initiate that would alleviate the effects of the law.

Now besides stopping the education of non-registrants, Ohio State should have reservations about implementing this law: some general considerations about the relationship between the individual and the State; considerations about the fairness of House Bill 845 and similar Selective Service laws; and considerations about how the relationship between the University and the State will change under this law. I will only go into detail on the last subject.

Under House Bill 845, state universities will not only be places of research and education, but also tools of coercion -- performing the job customarily done by the Justice Department.

Mr. Klepper: (contd)

So the state university will essentially become a policeman, which isn't its job. But even if it were, then why would untried and unconvicted non-registrants be barred from attending classes, while a tried and convicted murderer wouldn't be?

By preventing non-registrants from attending a university, the particular combination of philosophical, moral, political and religious beliefs that result in a non-registrant being a non-registrant, cannot become part of the academic landscape. Therefore, House Bill 845, in a sense, is a restriction on the communication of ideas. Also, this law could just be the tip of an iceberg. What is to prevent the Government from denying education to people on the grounds of other non-academic reasons, such as having AIDS or espousing world communism? And what is to prevent the Government from having universities implement other programs, for example, quota systems on admissions?

For these reasons, maybe Ohio State should do something other than blindly enforce the law. Now at the two extremes Ohio State could complacently enforce the law, or could outright refuse to enforce this. But intermediate reactions are possible, such as denying state aid to non-registrants, but refuse to raise tuition. Or, create an alternative financial aid package designed to alleviate the effects of House Bill 845. Other than just enforcing the law, the choice of creating an alternative financial aid seems to be the most legally safe, but that's for lawyers to decide. I think it is worth pointing out, though, that several universities, such as the Universities of California and Iowa, have chosen to do just this. It is also worth pointing out that the creation of an alternative financial aid program would not be in conflict with the Government's goal of attaining 100% draft registration compliance, but only in conflict with the means it employs.

So, I think, two things are needed: discussion to decide what action would be best, and if anything other than enforcing the law blindly is chosen in the determination, to follow through with that decision. Thank you. I will be willing to take any questions that you have.

Mr. Galbreath:

Thank you, Mr. Klepper. Let me ask one thing, is House Bill 845, is that a state or federal bill?

Mr. Klepper:

State bill.

President Jennings:

There are two laws. There is a state law that Michael described that requires out-of-state tuition for non-registrants unless, of course, there is an exception. There are exceptions for religion and that type of activity. The federal law makes one ineligible for federal financial aid if one is not a draft registrant.
Mr. Klepper:

I beg to differ with you, Mr. President. Draft registration is required of all people and there is no Conscientious Objector status.

President Jennings:

I thought there was a-

Mr. Teaford:

Not from registration.

President Jennings:

Not from registration, but you can get an exemption from service because of religious reasons.

Mr. Teaford:

If there was service connected with registration, you could get an exemption.

Mr. Galbreath:

Have both of these bills passed?

President Jennings:

Yes. They are law.

Mr. Teaford:

And the University is enforcing them.

President Jennings:

We are.

Mr. Teaford:

What penalty will the University suffer by not enforcing them?

President Jennings:

I don't think there is a penalty in the law, but obviously the State could force us.

Mr. Thompson:

There are two things: number one is, as you were saying, there could be an injunction action, for example, to require us to comply with the law. But the other penalty is, in essence, the loss of state subsidy if, in fact, we do not comply with this provision of the law.

Mr. Klepper:

But by creating an alternative financial aid program that uses non-state funds, then Ohio State would still be enforcing the law, but the law wouldn't have as much impact as was intended to do so.
Mr. Klepper: (contd)

Mr. Thompson:

The difficulty, however, is -- you mentioned California and Iowa. Their state laws are different than the state law that has been enacted here. But the difficulty is, it's sort of a Catch-22, in a sense. If you provide the alternative financial aid, it is state aid, because it is coming from state funds. And therefore, you are in a never ending cycle as to how to -- in other words, you would not be eligible if you had not registered for the draft for that aid given to persons who have not registered, because it is state aid through the University.

President Jennings:

Independent of what the source of the money is.

Mr. Thompson:

Exactly.

Mr. Klepper:

I see --

Mr. Teaford:

I mean, as I understand it, the University is not at all happy that they have been put in the position of an enforcement tool of a Federal or State policy. To that extent we are certainly sympathetic to what you are saying, Mr. Klepper. If they want to have laws on that subject, they should enforce them themselves, rather than forcing us to do it. I think we are in a Catch-22, at this point.

President Jennings:

Yes, this both locally -- we have been opposed to that legislation and our national organizations have been opposed to that legislation -- not on political grounds, but on grounds of being an enforcement agent that we are not equipped to deal with. As a matter of fact, the problem with this is just not a denial of students, it is very costly to invoke these enforcement mechanisms.

Mr. Galbreath:

Thank you, Mr. Klepper. I appreciate your being here and that you would go through the proper channels to come before us and we encourage that participation. Thank you very much.

December 4 and 5, 1986 meeting, Board of Trustees

Mr. Galbreath: (contd)

We have another special guest, Malcolm Baroway, who has a presentation to make to us.

Mr. Baroway:

Thank you, Mr. Galbreath. I will be, in a moment, presenting a new logo or symbol for the University. Appropriately, last night, those of you who might have been watching television after the basketball game, you might have seen OSU play Missouri, and I'm not sure who won. The score was ten to six in favor of OSU at about midnight when I turned it off. OSU, of course, was Oklahoma State University. It was on national television and millions of people were watching. I will be presenting a brief rationale and slides here as to why we have decided to make a new logo for the University. If I can have the slides.

Basically, we are in visual society now in which an institution can have a name -- an oral name, but an institution also has a visual name, a visual identity. And of course, the first types of institutions that recognized that in this country were institutions that themselves were visual -- newspapers. So if you might close your eyes at sometime and try to visualize the Wall Street Journal or the New York Times or The Columbus Dispatch, you will probably see a type face. If you do the same in magazines, you see a type face in which the name of the institution is identified with the way it looks. And, of course, in the corporate world DuPont, E. F. Hutton, Eaton, there are thousands of examples, Kodak, Coca Cola, Giorgio.

Since 1977, the Ohio State identification has purely been OSU. There is really nothing wrong with OSU, it has a classic identification in itself. But there are at least three OSU's with national identity -- some people have said that there is a fourth OSU. Anytime that we present OSU, the symbol, as an identity, we have to attach the caveat, The Ohio State University, as far as using it on University publications, on television spots that we produce for the bowl games for national television, and they are getting more and more numerous. In case you wonder whether other universities who are sometimes known by initials, have an identity, a visual look to the name, most of them do. Here is an example. We took it off some ads in the Chronicle of Higher Education. NYU is, of course, NYU to a lot of people, but it has a visual look, New York University. University of Pittsburgh is Pitt to a lot of people, but it has a University of Pittsburgh identity, as does Harvard, as does Illinois, as does Iowa, as do most of the institutions. Here are some examples, some of them right from our State -- Kent State, Wright State, Toledo, Miami University, and we just grabbed a few others there, that have a visual identity for the name of the institution.

Our identity has been since 1977, OSU. And there certainly are still reasons for that application. And to add an identity -- we are not in anyway going to take the OSU off of Larkins Hall or to eliminate some of the major ones. But over time, we will phase in a different logo in the many situations in which you see OSU on campus, in other materials and situations -- the University buses, signage. That is the back of University publications (slide), of which we produce, in our office alone, about 500 a year. We are presenting to you a classic identity -- The Ohio State University. It is a version of a type face called palatino. It exemplifies, to me, an institution that has a history, that is classic, that is excellent, and one that is classic in itself.

These are some examples of letterheads that we have set up for the identity and there are, I believe you have seen, some calling cards. The words "Ohio State" can be plucked out of the logo itself and used in certain applications. That is the same type face without the box. And there will be applications for the Ohio State in a more informal situation. That is the logo and that is the end of the presentation. We have a classic item to distribute at the end of the meeting and that would be the first Ohio State University T-shirts with the new logo on it, which we had produced -- in the tradition of student government -- for this meeting.

Mrs. Bowser:

When they write the history of your Presidency --

President Jennings:

Now watch it, Shirley --

Mrs. Bowser:

You are going to go down as having taken Columbus out of the seal, and now the new logo -- got rid of OSU.

Mr. Galbreath:

Everybody has to be known for something. Mr. President, is this open for debate? You know I would like to ask, I noticed that two of the letters in State are joined together is that by the style that you talk about, whatever that name was?

Mr. Baroway:

That's right, that was done on purpose. It is combining them to unify the letters, so you get a feeling of a whole word there, as opposed to separate letters.

Mr. Galbreath:

That is not a gimmickry thing, that's the style of script that you are using?

Mr. Baroway:

That was done on purpose. It takes the letters and closes them up so that they are connected, yes, Sir.

Mrs. Bowser:

You have four letters in Ohio and you are trying to condense the
December 4 and 5, 1986 meeting, Board of Trustees

Mrs. Bowser: (contd)

five letters of State, I judge?

Mr. Baroway:

We are trying to condense them so that they take the same horizontal space, that is correct.

Mrs. Bowser:

Now what I want to know is, are we going to have the band change the Script Ohio?

Mr. Baroway:

This does not change the registered and licensed symbols of the institution — Script Ohio, the Block O, the University Seal, Brutus Buckeye. These are all registered. We don't lose them, we simply gain another symbol that we will use as a symbol for the institutional name.

Mr. Galbreath:

Shirley, rumor has it that the only other change in Script Ohio is that the President is going to dot the "i." Thank you, Malcolm.

AMENDMENTS TO THE BYLAWS OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES
AND RULES OF THE UNIVERSITY FACULTY
Resolution No. 87-57

Synopsis: Amendments to the Bylaws of the Board of Trustees and Rules of the University Faculty are proposed.

WHEREAS the Vice President for Academic Affairs and Provost has made recommendations regarding the reorganization of the administration for the Regional Campuses and the Colleges of the Arts and Sciences which resulted in the creation of the new titles of Coordinating Dean for Regional Campuses, Coordinating Dean for Arts and Sciences, and Dean for Undergraduate Studies for Arts and Sciences; and

WHEREAS pursuant to rule 3335-1-09 of the Administrative Code and upon recommendation of the President, the following changes in bylaw 3335-1-03 (Q), and rules 3335-3-22, 3335-3-261, 3335-3-26, 3335-3-291, 3335-3-30, and 3335-5-091, rescission of rule 3335-3-175 and the creation of new rules 3335-3-262 and 3335-3-301 are proposed as follows:

BYLAW

3335-1-03 Administration of the university.

(Q) Council of deans.

(1) The president of the university, the vice president for academic affairs and provost, the deans of the colleges, the vice president for research and graduate studies, the dean of the graduate school, the deans and directors of the regional campuses, the dean for undergraduate studies for arts and sciences, and the director of libraries shall comprise the council of deans of the university. The president shall be chairperson of the council, the vice president for academic affairs and provost shall be vice chairperson, and the vice president for academic affairs and provost's designee shall serve as secretary. In the temporary absence of the president, the duties of the presiding officer shall be assumed by the vice president for academic affairs and provost.

(2) The council of deans shall meet on the call of the chairperson. The council of deans shall serve as an advisory council to the president.

RULES

3335-3-175 to be rescinded.

3335-3-22 Council of deans.

(A) The president of the university, the vice president for academic affairs and provost, the deans of the colleges, the vice president for research and graduate studies, the dean of the graduate school, the deans and directors of the regional campuses, the dean for undergraduate studies for arts and sciences, and the director of libraries shall comprise the council of deans of the university. The president shall be chairperson of the council, the vice president for academic affairs and provost shall be vice chairperson, and the vice president for academic affairs and provost's designee shall serve as secretary. In the temporary absence of the president, the duties of the presiding officer shall be assumed by the vice president for academic affairs and provost.

(B) The council of deans shall meet on the call of the chairperson. The council of deans shall serve as an advisory council to the president.

3335-3-261 Establishment of regional campuses.

(A) There shall be four regional campuses of the university located at Lima, Mansfield, Marion, and Newark, Ohio. The administrative head of each regional campus shall be a dean and director.

(B) The four regional campuses shall be administered separately by their respective deans and directors. However, matters of common concern to the regional campuses shall be coordinated through a coordinating council of regional campus deans and directors. The coordinating dean for regional campuses, created in rule 3335-3-262 of the Administrative Code, shall serve as chairperson of the council.

3335-3-262 Coordinating dean for regional campuses.

(A) There shall be a coordinating dean for regional campuses. The coordinating dean shall be appointed from among the four regional campus deans and directors by the vice president for academic affairs and provost in consultation with the president to serve a two-year term and shall be eligible for reappointment.

(B) The coordinating dean for regional campuses shall report to the vice president for academic affairs and provost.

(C) The coordinating dean for regional campuses shall serve as chairperson of the coordinating council of regional campus deans and directors (see rule 3335-3-261 of the Administrative Code).

(D) The coordinating dean for regional campuses shall also be responsible for such other matters pertinent to the regional campus which may be designated by the vice president for academic affairs and provost.

3335-3-28 Organization of the colleges of the arts and sciences.

(A) The colleges of the arts and sciences shall consist of: the five colleges so designated by rule 3335-3-26 of the Administrative Code; the faculty of the arts and sciences as created by rules 3335-5-26 to 3335-5-28 of the Administrative Code; and a coordinating council of deans comprised of the deans of the five colleges and the dean for undergraduate studies for arts and sciences as created by rule 3335-3-301 of the Administrative Code.

(B) The five colleges in the arts and sciences shall be administered separately by their respective deans, and their individual faculties shall have jurisdiction over college academic programs and the nature and content of courses offered. However, matters of common concern to the several colleges shall be coordinated through the coordinating council of deans. The coordinating dean for arts and sciences, created by rule 3335-3-30 of the Administrative Code, shall serve as chairperson of the coordinating council of deans.

(C) Student personnel services and student records for the colleges of the arts and sciences shall be administered by the colleges of the arts and sciences.

3335-3-291 Dean and director of a regional campus.

(A) There shall be a dean and director of each regional campus who shall be a member of its faculty and the administrative head of the regional campus. The dean and director shall be appointed by the board of trustees upon nomination of the vice president for academic affairs and provost in consultation with the president. Before making this nomination, the vice president for academic affairs and provost or designee shall confer with the regional campus faculty, the department or school in which the faculty appointment would be made, and shall consider the recommendations of the deans of the colleges with regular faculty assigned to that campus.

(B) The major responsibility of each regional campus dean and director shall be that of providing active leadership in the promotion, direction, and support of educational activities and research opportunities, in the maintenance of a high level of morale among the faculty, and in the encouragement of the spirit of learning among the students. In addition the dean and director shall have administrative responsibility for the program of the regional campus subject to the approval of the vice president for academic affairs and provost or designee, the president, and the board of trustees.

These administrative responsibilities shall include the duty:

(1) To preside at meetings of the faculty executive committee and to appoint members to regional campus committees unless the method of selection is determined by the Administrative Code or by the regional campus faculty.

(2) To develop in consultation with the faculty a pattern of administration for the regional campus following the principles set forth in paragraph (B)(2) of rule 3335-3-35 of the Administrative Code.

(3) To communicate to the regional campus community the educational programs, standards, and policies of the campus and the university.

(4) To establish the extent and variety of course offerings on the regional campus in consultation with the vice president for academic affairs and provost or designee, the appropriate college deans, department chairpersons or school directors, and the faculty of the regional campus.

(5) To consult with the appropriate college dean and department chairperson or school director and to jointly offer employment to prospective faculty members assigned to the campus.

(6) To assist the appropriate college deans, department chairpersons, and school directors in the annual review of all faculty assigned to the regional campus. This assistance shall include a written evaluation of the faculty member's teaching, research, and service activities on and for the regional campus. The regional campus dean and director shall be consulted when a regional campus faculty member is being considered for promotion and tenure and may suggest such candidates to the appropriate chairpersons and directors.

(7) To prepare and administer the regional campus budget in consultation with the regional campus faculty budget committee; to consult with the appropriate chairperson or director regarding faculty salary recommendations; to be responsible for the management, maintenance, and security of the physical plant and capital equipment of the regional campus.

(8) To maintain liaison with community councils and agencies and to garner support of regional campus programs and activities.

(9) To develop, promote, and maintain educational, cultural, and service programs with approval of the appropriate university bodies and administrative officials. The dean and director shall review all such programs periodically.

(10) Consult with the coordinating dean for regional campuses on matters of common concern to the regional campuses.
December 4 and 5, 1986 meeting, Board of Trustees

AMENDMENTS TO THE BYLAWS OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES AND RULES OF THE UNIVERSITY FACULTY (contd)

(C) The dean and director shall also be responsible for such other matters pertinent to the regional campus which may be designated by the vice president for academic affairs and provost or designee.

3335-3-30 Coordinating dean for arts and sciences.

(A) There shall be a coordinating dean for arts and sciences who shall be a member of the coordinating council of deans for arts and sciences. The coordinating dean shall be appointed by the vice president for academic affairs and provost, in consultation with the president, for a two-year term and shall be eligible for reappointment.

(B) The coordinating dean for arts and sciences shall report to the vice president for academic affairs and provost.

(C) The coordinating dean for arts and sciences shall serve as chairperson of the coordinating council of deans of the colleges of the arts and sciences (see rule 3335-3-28 of the Administrative Code).

(D) The coordinating dean for arts and sciences shall also be responsible for such other matters pertinent to the arts and sciences which may be designated by the vice president for academic affairs and provost.

3335-3-301 Dean for undergraduate studies for arts and sciences.

(A) There shall be a dean for undergraduate studies for arts and sciences who shall be a member of the faculty of the arts and sciences charged with implementing policies of the faculty as set forth in paragraphs (E) and (F) of this rule. The dean for undergraduate studies shall be appointed by the board of trustees upon nomination by the vice president for academic affairs and provost in consultation with the president. Before making this nomination, the vice president for academic affairs and provost shall confer with members of the faculty of the arts and sciences.

(B) The dean for undergraduate studies for arts and sciences shall report to the coordinating dean for arts and sciences.

(C) The dean for undergraduate studies for arts and sciences shall be a voting member of the coordinating council of deans of the colleges of the arts and sciences (see rule 3335-3-28 of the Administrative Code).

(D) The dean for undergraduate studies for arts and sciences shall implement policies of the faculty of the arts and sciences with respect to the following:

(1) Curricula and requirements for "untagged" baccalaureate programs and development of new and useful programs in this area.

(2) Basic education requirements for all undergraduate students.

(3) The retention and further development of curricula assigned specifically for the general education of undergraduate students.

(4) A general honors program for the arts and sciences.

(5) Counseling and record services and attendant procedures.

(6) Coordination of student intercollege transfers involving the arts and sciences.

(E) The dean for undergraduate studies for arts and sciences shall be responsible for the fulfillment and certification of the untagged degree requirements in the arts and sciences.

(F) The dean for undergraduate studies for arts and sciences shall, in cooperation with the dean of university college, be responsible for the coordination of university college counseling and curricular development with that of the arts and sciences. Specifically, the dean for undergraduate studies shall keep university college informed of all changes in curricular requirements and other matters pertaining to academic counseling, and in this manner assist in achieving consistency of counseling in the university college with that in the arts and sciences.

(G) The dean for undergraduate studies for arts and sciences shall be consulted by the deans of the individual colleges on personnel matters relating to faculty primarily engaged in undergraduate instruction.

(H) With the approval of the faculty of the arts and sciences, or its designated representative body and the coordinating dean of arts and sciences, the dean for undergraduate studies may appoint committees from the faculty of the arts and sciences to work with him/her in the implementation of those policy areas as outlined in paragraph (D) of this rule. Should there be established a curriculum committee of the faculty of the arts and sciences, the dean for undergraduate studies shall serve as its chairperson ex officio.

(I) The dean for undergraduate studies for arts and sciences shall also be responsible for such other matters pertinent to the arts and sciences which may be designated by the coordinating dean for arts and sciences.

3335-5-091 Communication with the vice president for academic affairs and provost.

(A) Each faculty member assigned to a regional campus shall have the right to transmit, through the dean and director, to the vice president for academic affairs and provost or designee, any communication bearing upon the work in which he/she is personally engaged, and the dean and director shall promptly transmit to the vice president for academic affairs and provost or designee any communication so received. For faculty with the rank of professor, this usual method of communication may be altered in an individual case.

(B) This rule shall in no way limit the vice president for academic affairs and provost or designee in communicating with the regional

AMENDMENTS TO THE RULES OF THE UNIVERSITY FACULTY
Resolution No. 87-58

Synopsis: Amendments to rule 3335-9-22 of the Rules of the University Faculty are proposed.

WHEREAS the University Senate pursuant to rule 3335-1-09 of the Administrative Code is authorized to recommend through the President to the Board of Trustees the adoption of amendments to the Rules of the University Faculty; and

WHEREAS the University Senate approved changes to rule 3335-9-22 of the Rules of the University Faculty on December 7, 1985, as follows:

3335-9-22 Group absences.

(A) Whenever possible, group absences shall be planned so that they do not conflict with regularly scheduled classes.

(B) Group absences which are a necessary part of a class scheduled in the university must be authorized by the chairperson of the department or director of the school in which the class is scheduled.

Group absences which are a necessary part of a non-class function of the university must be authorized by the office of student programs and development who coordinates all student activities. In the latter instance, the person authorizing the absence shall file in the office of student programs and development, a letter containing: a list of names of all of the students involved, the dates and times of the absence, and a complete explanation of the purpose of the absence. The person authorizing the absence shall distribute a copy of this letter to each student involved in the group absence.

The student may then present his copy of the letter to each instructor of the classes from which the student will be absent. This letter may be the basis of an excuse for an absence from class under the policies provided in rule 3335-9-21 of the Administrative Code.

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That rule 3335-9-22 of the Rules of the University Faculty be amended as approved by the University Senate.

Synopsis: A resolution honoring the service of one of the University's faculty members who has recently died is being proposed.

RESOLVED, That the Board adopt the following Resolution in Memoriam and that the President be requested to convey a copy to the family of the deceased.

H. Wayne Ramsey

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on October 18, 1986, of H. Wayne Ramsey, Professor Emeritus in the School of Music.

Dr. Ramsey was originally from New Concord, Ohio, where he attended public school and subsequently graduated from Muskingum College. He taught in public schools within Ohio, prior to receiving his Master's and Ph.D. degrees from The Ohio State University. Dr. Ramsey was an instructor in vocal and instrumental music in the University School at The Ohio State University from 1950 to 1952; a faculty member in the School of Music, Music Education Division, from 1952 until his retirement in 1984; and Chairman of the Music Education Division from 1969 to 1975. He was a veteran of WW II, serving in the U.S. Army 716th Tank Battalion. Dr. Ramsey was an elder in the Overbrook Presbyterian Church and also attended Xenos Christian Fellowship.

Dr. Ramsey was active in his service to the music education profession. For the Ohio Music Education Association he served as treasurer and convention chairman; and was member of executive, junior high school, higher education, curriculum, and district reorganization committees. He served as a member of the Music Educators National Conference advisory board for the National Council on Instruction. He also served as clinician, consultant and advisor to schools and organizations too numerous to mention, and was a frequent member of various accreditation teams. Dr. Ramsey was a student-centered professor, and encouraged many of those students showing promise to consider teaching in urban settings.

Wayne Ramsey worked diligently for his profession, and it was often his presence and wisdom that provided the needed momentum and perspective in developing a receptive climate for music education for all students within Ohio. Further recognizing his contributions to music education within the State, the Ohio Music Education Association awarded him the prestigious Distinguished Service Award at their 1984 annual conference held in Dayton.

Dr. H. Wayne Ramsey's contributions during his lifetime have proven repeatedly that he cared about people, and that he cared enough to devote the necessary time to assure, as best he could, that the present and future generations of school-age children receive quality music education instruction. It is because of his caring, quite, unrelenting advocacy that he will be deeply missed by his colleagues and students.

On behalf of the University, the Board of Trustees express to the family its sympathy and sense of understanding in its loss. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as an expression of the Board's heartfelt sympathy.
December 4 and 5, 1986 meeting, Board of Trustees

RESOLUTION IN MEMORIAM (contd)

Upon motion of Mr. Immke, seconded by Mr. Berry, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous voice vote.

REPORT OF RESEARCH CONTRACTS, GRANTS, AND GIFTS
Resolution No. 87-61

Synopsis: The reports on contracts, grants, and gifts and the summary for October 1986 are presented for Board acceptance.

WHEREAS monies are solicited and received on behalf of the University from governmental, industrial, other agencies, alumni, and various individuals in support of research, instructional activities, and service; and

WHEREAS such gifts and grants are received through The Ohio State University Research Foundation, the Engineering Experiment Station of The Ohio State University, and The Ohio State University Development Fund:

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That the research agreement between The Ohio State University and The Ohio State University Research Foundation for the contracts and grants reported herein, and the acceptance of the reports from the Engineering Experiment Station and The Ohio State University Development Fund during the month of October 1986 be approved.

Upon motion of Mr. Teaford, seconded by Mr. Berry, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous voice vote.

THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY DEVELOPMENT FUND

Establishment of Named Funds

The Biotechnology Professorship in Plant Tissue Culture and Cellular Genetics Fund

The Biotechnology Professorship in Plant Tissue Culture and Cellular Genetics Fund was established December 5, 1986, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from an anonymous donor.

When the principal of this fund reaches $300,000, the annual income shall be used to provide salary and program support for the work of an outstanding researcher and teacher in the field of tissue culture and cellular genetics who will hold a joint appointment in the departments of microbiology and plant pathology. The person named to this position must have experience in the interfacing of plant tissue culture and cellular genetics laboratory research with the applied plant sciences on the development of value added plant varieties for industry. Appointment to this position will be recommended by the Dean of the College of Biological Sciences to the Provost and President and approved by the Board of Trustees.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to the recommendations from the appropriate administrative official of the University who is then directly responsible for the Department of Microbiology.

The Harry C. Moores Scholarship Fund

The Harry C. Moores Scholarship Fund was established December 5, 1986, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from The Harry C. Moores Foundation.

All gifts are to be invested in the University’s Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to fund Harry C. Moores Scholarships in the field of education. Scholarship assistance will cover the cost of tuition and books for academically gifted students in a teacher certification program. Selection shall be made by the College of Education Scholarship Committee in consultation with the University Committee on Student Financial Aid.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to the recommendations from the appropriate administrative official of the University who is then directly responsible for the College of Education.

The James W. Overstreet/Columbus Foundation Scholarship Fund

The James W. Overstreet/Columbus Foundation Scholarship Fund was established December 5, 1986, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with a gift from the Columbus Foundation.

The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to provide undergraduate scholarships for Central Ohio students who demonstrate financial need and academic promise. Selection of the award recipients shall be made by the University Committee on Student Financial Aid.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used as directed by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to the Office of Financial Aid.

The College of Education Fund for Excellence

The College of Education Fund for Excellence was established December 5, 1986, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from Jack Culbertson, Columbus, Ohio, and other alumni and friends. This fund was established to provide support for the College of Education and to honor those contributors of $5,000 or more.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to support programs of the College of Education upon the recommendation of the Dean of the College. Should an individual's contributions to the Fund for Excellence reach the minimum level for establishing a separate endowment, a separate endowment may be established.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to the recommendations from the appropriate administrative official of the University who is then directly responsible for the study of education.

Marlowe and Oscar F. Axene Merit Scholarship in Agriculture

The Marlowe and Oscar F. Axene Merit Scholarship in Agriculture was established December 5, 1986, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from Mrs. John B. Gerlach, in honor of her parents.

Marlowe and Oscar F. Axene Merit Scholarship in Agriculture (contd)

The annual income shall be used to provide a scholarship including tuition, fees, books and supplies for an outstanding freshman student enrolling in the College of Agriculture. Criteria for selection shall include outstanding scholastic achievement and demonstrated leadership potential through extracurricular activities. Preference will be given to those students with financial need. Preference will also be given to those students with an interest in horticulture. Selections will be made by the Assistant Dean for the College of Agriculture in consultation with the University Committee on Student Financial Aid. This scholarship shall be renewable for up to four years providing the student remains in the upper twenty-five percent of his or her class and is making satisfactory progress toward a degree in agriculture. Any income not utilized for the scholarship shall be reinvested in the principal of the endowment.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to the recommendations from the appropriate administrative official of the University who is then directly responsible for agricultural instruction.

The D. J. and J. N. Knull Fund in Entomology

The D. J. and J. N. Knull Fund in Entomology was established December 5, 1986, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from the estate of Josef N. Knull, Columbus, Ohio.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used for systematic entomological research and curatorial work in entomology. All expenditures are to be authorized by the Chairperson of the Department of Entomology in consultation with the Curator of the Collections and with the approval of the Dean of the College of Biological Sciences.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to the recommendations from the appropriate administrative official of the University who is then directly responsible for programs in entomology.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to support the Seneca County 4-H Program. This support may include, but is not limited to the funding of scholarships and awards for 4-H members, volunteer leaders and friends of 4-H; sponsoring seminars and programs; and purchasing material or services that will supplement 4-H programming or increase the visibility and public support for 4-H in Seneca County. All expenditures from this fund shall be approved by the Seneca County 4-H Committee.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, the income may then be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to the recommendations from the appropriate administrative official of the University who is then directly responsible for the Ohio Cooperative Extension Service in consultation with a committee representing the local 4-H donors.

Edward L. Fox Memorial Fund

The Edward L. Fox Memorial Fund was established December 5, 1986, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund in memory of Edward L. Fox, B.S.Ed. '60, M.A., Physical Education '61, Ph.D., Physiology '65, who was a Professor in the School of Health, Physical Education and Recreation.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to provide research support to postdoctoral fellows in human exercise physiology in the Division of Physical Education in the School of Health, Physical Education and Recreation. The recipients will be expected to pursue research in the field of human exercise physiology. No funds are to be used for research that involves animals. The primary purpose of this fund is to provide a Ph.D. graduate an opportunity for a short term experience with Ohio State faculty in human exercise physiology research. For this reason, recipients should be recent Ph.D. graduates from another institution or any individual, excluding Ohio State faculty, with work experience succeeding the doctorate. Selection of the recipients will be made by the Dean of the College of Education upon the recommendation of a committee of faculty in exercise physiology and in consultation with the Directors of the School of Health, Physical Education and Recreation and

The Sara Ann Leach Adams Loan Fund was established December 5, 1986, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from the family and friends of Sara Ann Adams, D.D.S. '77, in her memory.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to help second, third or fourth year students in orthodontics. The income will be loaned to the students at an interest rate being used for other University loan funds. The loan should be paid back as soon as possible, but in no event should the loan be outstanding five years after graduation. Should the income account exceed the loans, the excess should be added to the principal.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to the recommendations from the appropriate administrative official of the University who is then directly responsible for the College of Dentistry.

PERS EARLY RETIREMENT INCENTIVE PROGRAM
Resolution No. 87-68

Synopsis: PERS Early Retirement Incentive Program is proposed.

WHEREAS the Ohio General Assembly enacted Amended Substitute House Bill 706 which enables State agencies and institutions of higher education to establish retirement incentive plans for individuals at their respective institutions who are members of the Public Employees Retirement System (PERS); and

WHEREAS The Ohio State University desires to adopt such a retirement incentive plan in order to provide more flexibility in its long term planning for its human resource needs; and

WHEREAS pursuant to Section 145.297 of the Ohio Revised Code the University desires to purchase service credit for eligible PERS members electing to retire under the proposed early retirement plan in an amount not to exceed the lesser of five (5) years or one-fifth of the individual's total service credited by PERS; and

WHEREAS the number of persons for whom the University wishes to purchase credit in any calendar year under this plan will be limited to five percent (5%) of the total number of the University's current PERS membership, and further that if the total number of persons applying for this program exceeds the five percent (5%) maximum, then approval for participation will be determined in accordance with Section 145.297 (C):

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That upon the Governor's signature of the referenced legislation and the promulgation of rules by the Public Employees Retirement System Board, the President and/or Vice President for Personnel Services will issue policy guidelines to implement a PERS early retirement program consistent with this resolution to be effective from the date of such issuance and continuing through October 31, 1988; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That those individuals who retire under this plan will not be eligible for re-employment with the University.

AUTHORIZATION OF AMENDMENTS TO THE FIRST SUPPLEMENTAL TRUST INDENTURE AND THE STANDBY BOND PURCHASE AND TERM LOAN AGREEMENT RELATING TO THE VARIABLE RATE DEMAND
GENERAL RECEIPTS BONDS, SERIES 1985 B OF THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY
Resolution No. 87-70

Synopsis: Providing for certain amendments to the First Supplemental Trust Indenture, dated as of December 30, 1985 (the "First Supplemental Indenture"), by and between The Ohio State University (the "University") and The Huntington National Bank (the "Trustee"), and the Standby Bond Purchase and Term Loan Agreement (the "Standby Agreement"), dated as of December 30, 1985, by and between the University and The Industrial Bank of Japan, Limited, New York Branch (the "Bank"), for the purpose of complying with new rating criteria recently instituted by Moody's Investors Service, Inc. ("Moody's"), thereby enabling Moody's to provide a rating higher than would otherwise be assigned to the $42,500,000 The Ohio State University Variable Rate Demand General Receipts Bonds, Series 1985 B (the "Series 1985 B Bonds") and permitting the University to market the Series 1985 B Bonds at the lowest interest rate possible.

WHEREAS on December 6, 1985, the Board of Trustees (the "Board") of the University adopted a resolution authorizing the issuance of the Series 1985 B Bonds (the "Series 1985 B Bond Resolution"); and

WHEREAS the Series 1985 B Bonds are secured by a Trust Indenture, dated as of November 15, 1985, by and between the Trustee and the University
(the "Original Indenture"), as supplemented by the First Supplemental Indenture (the "First Supplemental Indenture," together with the "Original Indenture," being referred to herein as the "Indenture"); and

WHEREAS pursuant to the Series 1985 B Bond Resolution and the Indenture, the University and the Bank entered into the Standby Agreement; and

WHEREAS Moody's has recently instituted new criteria for rating bonds bearing interest at a variable rate, the repurchase of which is backed by liquidity facilities similar in form to the Standby Agreement; and

WHEREAS the Board has determined that it is in the best interests of the University to authorize certain amendments to the First Supplemental Indenture and the Standby Agreement for the purpose of complying with new rating criteria recently instituted by Moody's, thereby enabling Moody's to provide a rating higher than would otherwise be assigned to the Series 1985 B Bonds and permitting the University to market the Series 1985 B
Bonds at the lowest interest rate possible:

NOW THEREFORE

follows:

Section 1. Definitions and Interpretations. All words and terms defined in the Indenture and the Series 1985 B Bond Resolution and all interpretations therein provided shall have in this Resolution the same meanings, respectively, and be subject to the same interpretations as therein provided or used, unless the context or use clearly indicates another or different meaning or intent.
December 4 and 5, 1986 meeting, Board of Trustees

Authorization of Amendments to the First Supplemental Trust Indenture and the Standby Bond Purchase and Term Loan Agreement Relating to the Variable Rate Demand General Receipts Bonds, Series 1985 B of the Ohio State University (contd)

Section 2. The Amendment Agreement. The First Supplemental Indenture will be amended in accordance with the provisions of an Amendment Agreement, dated as of December 1, 1986, by and between the Bank and the University (the "Amendment Agreement"). The form of Amendment Agreement now on file with the Secretary of the Board is hereby approved, together with any changes therein and completions thereof which are not inconsistent with this Resolution and not substantially adverse to the University, and as are approved on behalf of the University by the Chairman of the Board (the "Chairman") or the Treasurer. The approval on behalf of the University of those changes and completions by the Chairman or the Treasurer, and the status of those changes as not substantially adverse to the University, shall be conclusively evidenced by the execution of the Amendment Agreement on behalf of the University by the Chairman or the Treasurer.

Section 3. Restated Standby Bond Purchase and Term Loan Agreement. The Standby Agreement has been amended to reflect the new Moody's rating criteria and shall hereafter be in the form of the Restated Standby Bond Purchase and Term Loan Agreement, dated as of December 1, 1986, by and between the University and the Bank (the "Restated Standby Agreement"). The form of Restated Standby Agreement now on file with the Secretary of the Board is hereby approved, together with any changes therein and completions thereof which are not inconsistent with this Resolution and not substantially adverse to the University, and as are approved on behalf of the University by the Chairman or the Treasurer. The approval on behalf of the University of those changes and completions by the Chairman or the Treasurer, and the status of those changes as not substantially adverse to the University, shall be conclusively evidenced by the execution of the Restated Standby Agreement on behalf of the University by the Chairman or the Treasurer.

Section 4. Text of Resolution. The text of this Resolution authorizing the execution of the Amendment Agreement and the Restated Standby Agreement and related acts by the University may be changed for the purpose of curing any ambiguity, inconsistency or formal defect or omission in this Resolution or in respect of this Resolution as it relates to the Amendment Agreement or the Restated Standby Agreement. Such changes shall be subject to the approval of the Chairman or the Treasurer as being changes not substantially adverse to the University or contrary to the true intent and meaning hereof and shall be acceptable to Bond Counsel.

Section 5. Open Meeting Determination. It is found and determined that all formal actions of the Board concerning or relating to the adoption of this Resolution were adopted in an open meeting of the Board, and that all deliberations of the Board and of any of its committees that resulted in such formal action were in meetings opened to the public, in compliance with all legal requirements including Section 121.22 of the Revised Code.

Section 6. Effective Date. This Resolution shall take effect and be enforced immediately upon its adoption.
December 4 and 5, 1986 meeting, Board of Trustees

AUTHORIZATION OF AMENDMENTS TO THE FIRST SUPPLEMENTAL TRUST INDENTURE AND THE STANDBY BOND PURCHASE AND TERM LOAN AGREEMENT RELATING TO THE VARIABLE RATE DEMAND GENERAL RECEIPTS BONDS, SERIES 1985 B OF THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY (contd)

Upon motion of Mr. Immke, seconded by Mr. Redman, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous roll call vote.

AUTHORIZATION OF THE EXECUTION OF AN AMENDED THIRD SUPPLEMENTAL TRUST INDENTURE AND AN AMENDED STANDBY BOND PURCHASE AGREEMENT RELATING TO THE VARIABLE RATE DEMAND GENERAL RECEIPTS BONDS, SERIES 1986 B OF THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY

Resolution No. 87-71

Synopsis: Providing for the execution of an amended Third Supplemental Trust Indenture, dated as of August 1, 1986 (the "Amended Third Supplemental Indenture"), by and between The Ohio State University (the "University") and The Huntington National Bank (the "Trustee"), and an amended Standby Bond Purchase Agreement (the "Amended Standby Agreement"), dated as of August 1, 1986, by and between the University and The Fuji Bank, Limited, Chicago Branch (the "Bank"), for the purpose of complying with new rating criteria recently instituted by Moody's Investors Service, Inc. ("Moody's"), thereby enabling Moody's to provide a rating higher than would otherwise be assigned to the $45,000,000 The Ohio State University Variable Rate Demand General Receipts Bonds, Series 1986 B (the "Series 1986 B Bonds") and permitting the University to market the Series 1986 B Bonds at the lowest interest rate possible.

WHEREAS on July 11, 1986, the Board of Trustees (the "Board") of the University adopted a resolution authorizing the issuance of the Series 1986 B Bonds (the "Series 1986 B Bond Resolution"); and

WHEREAS the Series 1986 B Bonds are secured by a Trust Indenture, dated as of November 15, 1985, by and between the Trustee and the University (the "Original Indenture"), as supplemented by a First Supplemental Trust Indenture, dated as of December 30, 1985 (the "First Supplemental Indenture"), a Second Supplemental Trust Indenture, dated as of August 1, 1986 (the "Second Supplemental Indenture") and the Third Supplemental Trust Indenture, dated as of August 1, 1986 (the "Third Supplemental Indenture") (the "First Supplemental Indenture," the "Second Supplemental Indenture," and the "Third Supplemental Indenture," together with the "Original Indenture," being referred to herein as the "Indenture"); and

WHEREAS pursuant to the Series 1986 B Bond Resolution and the Indenture, the University and the Bank entered into a Standby Bond Purchase Agreement, dated as of August 1, 1986, by and between the University and the Bank (the "Standby Agreement"); and

WHEREAS Moody's has recently instituted new criteria for rating bonds bearing interest at a variable rate, the repurchase of which is backed by liquidity facilities similar in form to the Standby Agreement; and

WHEREAS the Board has determined that it is in the best interests of the University to authorize the execution of the Amended Third Supplemental Indenture and the Amended Standby Agreement for the purpose of complying
December 4 and 5, 1986 meeting, Board of Trustees

AUTHORIZATION OF THE EXECUTION OF AN AMENDED THIRD SUPPLEMENTAL TRUST INDENTURE AND AN AMENDED STANDBY BOND PURCHASE AGREEMENT RELATING TO THE VARIABLE RATE DEMAND GENERAL RECEIPTS BONDS, SERIES 1986 B OF THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY (contd)

with the new rating criteria recently instituted by Moody's, thereby enabling Moody's to provide a rating higher than would otherwise be assigned to the Series 1986 B Bonds and permitting the University to market the Series 1986 B Bonds at the lowest interest rate possible:

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY, as follows:

Section 1. Definitions and Interpretations. All words and terms defined in the Indenture and the Series 1986 B Bond Resolution and all interpretations therein provided shall have in this Resolution the same meanings, respectively, and be subject to the same interpretations as therein provided or used, unless the context or use clearly indicates another or different meaning or intent.

Section 2. The Amended Third Supplemental Indenture. The Third Supplemental Indenture has been amended to reflect the new Moody's rating criteria and shall hereafter be in the form of the Amended Third Supplemental Indenture. The form of the Amended Third Supplemental Indenture now on file with the Secretary of the Board is hereby approved, together with any changes therein and completions thereof which are not inconsistent with this Resolution and not substantially adverse to the University, and as are approved on behalf of the University by the Chairman of the Board (the "Chairman") or the Treasurer. The approval on behalf of the University of those changes and completions by the Chairman or the Treasurer, and the status of those changes as not substantially adverse to the University, shall be conclusively evidenced by the execution of the Amended Third Supplemental Indenture on behalf of the University by the Chairman or the Treasurer.

Section 3. Amended Standby Agreement. The Standby Agreement has been amended to reflect the new Moody's rating criteria and shall hereafter be in the form of the Amended Standby Agreement. The form of Amended Standby Agreement now on file with the Secretary of the Board is hereby approved, together with any changes therein and completions thereof which are not inconsistent with this Resolution and not substantially adverse to the University, and as are approved on behalf of the University by the Chairman or the Treasurer. The approval on behalf of the University of those changes and completions by the Chairman or the Treasurer, and the status of those changes as not substantially adverse to the University, shall be conclusively evidenced by the execution of the Amended Standby Agreement on behalf of the University by the Chairman or the Treasurer.

Section 4. Text of Resolution. The text of this Resolution authorizing the execution of the Amended Third Supplemental Indenture and the Amended Standby Agreement and related acts by the University may be changed for the purpose of curing any ambiguity, inconsistency or formal defect or omission in this Resolution or in respect of this Resolution as it relates to the Amended Third Supplemental Indenture or the Amended Standby Agreement. Such changes shall be subject to the approval of the Chairman or the Treasurer as being changes not substantially adverse to the University or contrary to the true intent and meaning hereof and shall be acceptable to Bond Counsel.

Section 5. Open Meeting Determination. It is found and determined that all formal actions of the Board concerning or relating to the adoption of this Resolution were adopted in an open meeting of the Board, and that all deliberations of the Board and of any of its committees that resulted in such formal action were in meetings opened to the public, in compliance with all legal requirements including Section 121.22 of the Revised Code.

Section 6. Effective Date. This Resolution shall take effect and be enforced immediately upon its adoption.

Upon motion of Mr. Redman, seconded by Mr. Immke, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous roll call vote.

Mr. Galbreath made the following statement:

I would like to make a couple of remarks. In addition, Scottie, I appreciate the coffee and the warm feet. On a very serious note, Len, as a member of our Board, it is particularly significant and I would like to acknowledge and thank you for that very generous gift. It is very special indeed.

Also, I think it is appropriate to acknowledge and congratulate all those who were involved in winning a berth at the Cotton Bowl. I personally was disappointed in, by about 3 feet, not going to California. But being the first Big 10 school to be represented in the Cotton Bowl, I think, is a distinct pleasure and privilege for us. I hope we can have a pretty good turnout down there. I know we will as fans, and Scottie, you have a good program going for the administrative group and I will look forward to being there.

And lastly, I would like to wish all of you a very Merry Christmas, a healthy and happy New Year, and I look forward to seeing you at our next meeting. Unless you hear from us further, it will be here in Ohio, February 5 and 6, on the same premises here.

Thereupon the Board adjourned to meet Thursday, February 5, 1987, at The Ohio State University Fawcett Center for Tomorrow, Columbus, Ohio, at 6:30 p.m.

Attest:

Madison H. Scott
Secretary

Daniel M. Galbreath
Chairman
The Board of Trustees met at its regular monthly meeting on Thursday, February 5, and Friday, February 6, 1987, at The Ohio State University Fawcett Center for Tomorrow, Columbus, Ohio, pursuant to adjournment.

* * *

Minutes of the last meeting were approved.

* * *
February 5 and 6, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

Trustee Leonard J. Immke, called the meeting of the Board of Trustees to order on February 5, 1987, at 4:05 p.m. He requested the Secretary to call the roll. The meeting recessed into Executive Session for the purpose of considering legal issues and personnel-related matters.

---0---

Mr. Galbreath reconvened the meeting on February 6, 1987, at 10:30 a.m.

---0---

Mr. Galbreath:

Even though we are somewhat behind schedule, we have dealt with some very heavy subjects here. On the lighter side -- since this is our first visit since the New Year, I want to wish you all a happy New Year -- and acknowledge the fact that it couldn't have started any better for us in Dallas on January 1. It was a great effort on the part of our football team and I think, last night's basketball game was almost as good, as well. We have started this year off pretty well.

AMENDMENTS TO THE BYLAWS OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES
AND RULES OF THE UNIVERSITY FACULTY

Resolution No. 87-75

Synopsis: Amendments to the Bylaws of the Board of Trustees and Rules of the University Faculty are proposed.

WHEREAS the Board of Trustees approved a change in titles and responsibilities for several administrative positions at its last meeting; and

WHEREAS these changes and several minor changes in title and responsibility in various administrative areas and programs now require the modification of the existing Bylaws of the Board of Trustees and Rules of the University Faculty, as follows:

BYLAWS

3335-1-01 Meetings of the board of trustees.

(A) Regular meetings. Unless otherwise specified by the chairman, regular meetings of the board of trustees shall be held on the first Friday of each month except the month of August, during which there will be no regular meeting.

(B) Special meetings. Special meetings of the board of trustees shall be held upon call of the chairman. Special meetings may be called by the chairman on his own initiative and shall be called by the chairman, upon written request of three members of the board.

(C) Time and place of meetings. Unless otherwise specified in the notice of meeting, all meetings of the board shall be held at the Ohio state university at such time as is designated in the notice of meetings.

Balance unchanged.

3335-1-03 Administration of the university.

(A) through (G) unchanged.

(H) Vice president for business and administration. The major area of responsibility and authority of the vice president for business and administration shall be that of the administration of the university operations. Without limiting the generality of the foregoing, the vice president for business and administration shall, under the direction of the president and with the approval of the board of trustees, be responsible and have the requisite authority for: the conduct and evaluation of all business and administrative activities and procedures, including management improvement programs; internal auditing; contracts administration; business management; business services; the development, allocation, utilization, and maintenance of the physical facilities; university public safety; university systems; the operation of the Fawcett Center for Tomorrow; the operation of university air transportation services; the coordination of all matters administratively assigned to the other vice presidents which relate to the business and administrative areas of the university.

(I) Unchanged.

(J) Vice president for personnel services. The major area of responsibility and authority of the vice president for personnel services shall be that of the administration of the personnel services of the university. Without limiting the generality of the foregoing, the vice president for personnel services shall, under the direction of the president and subject to the approval of the board of trustees, be responsible and have the requisite authority for: benefits administration which includes the various insurance programs for the faculty, staff, and students; the employee assistance program; classification administration including determining which employees and positions are to be in the unclassified and classified service; professional employment services; staff employment services; employee relations, including negotiating with the labor unions; personnel research and information; compensation administration; payroll; and the child care program. Pursuant to the provisions of Chapter 124. of the Ohio Revised Code, the vice president for personnel services shall serve as the appointing authority for classified civil service employees of the university. In addition to the above the vice president for personnel services, along with other members of the staff designated by the president, shall provide such assistance as may be deemed appropriate for the implementation of programs related to affirmative action at the university.

Balance unchanged.

3335-1-04 The faculty and staff.

(A) University faculty; membership.

(1) As used in these bylaws and in the "Rules of the University Faculty," the term faculty shall include persons with regular, regular clinical, auxiliary, and emeritus faculty titles on full or part-time appointments with or without salary.

(2) For purposes of the legislative authority described in paragraph (B) of this rule, the term university faculty shall mean all regular faculty, the president, members of the president's staff serving at his pleasure and designated as executive heads of offices, the deans of the colleges and of the graduate school, and the dean for undergraduate studies for arts and sciences.

RULES

3335-3-08 Vice president for business and administration.

(A) The vice president for business and administration shall be the executive head of the office of business and administration.

(B) The major area of responsibility and authority of the vice president for business and administration shall be that of the administration of the university operations. Without limiting the generality of the foregoing, the vice president for business and administration shall, under the direction of the president and with the approval of the board of trustees, be responsible and have the requisite authority for: the conduct and evaluation of all business and administrative activities and procedures, including management improvement programs; internal auditing; contracts administration; business management; business services; the development, allocation, utilization, and maintenance of the physical facilities; university public safety; university systems; the operation of the Fawcett center for tomorrow; the operation of the university air transportation services; and the coordination of all matters administratively assigned to the other vice presidents which relate to the business and administrative areas of the university.

(C) The principal administrative officials of the office of business and administration shall include the assistant vice president, administration; assistant vice president, physical facilities; assistant vice president, university architect; assistant vice president, university public safety; assistant vice president, business management; assistant vice president, business services; assistant vice president, university systems; director, contracts administration; director, internal auditing; and such other associates as may be authorized from time to time.

3335-3-14 Vice president for personnel services.

(A) The vice president for personnel services shall be the executive head of the office of personnel services.

(B) The major area of responsibility and authority of the vice president for personnel services shall be that of the administration of the personnel services of the university. Without limiting the generality of the foregoing, the vice president for personnel services shall, under the direction of the president and subject to the approval of the board of trustees, be responsible and have the requisite authority for: benefits administration which includes the various insurance programs for the faculty, staff, and students; the employee assistance program; classification administration including determining which employees and positions are to be in the unclassified and classified service; professional employment services; staff employment services; employee relations, including negotiating with the labor unions; personnel research and information; compensation administration; payroll; and the child care program. Pursuant to the provisions of Chapter 124. of the Ohio Revised Code, the vice president for personnel services shall serve as the appointing authority for classified civil service employees of the university. In addition to the above the vice president for personnel services, along with other members of the staff designated by the president, shall provide such assistance as may be deemed appropriate for the implementation of programs related to affirmative action at the university.
The principal administrative officials of the office of personnel services shall include the associate vice president; assistant vice president; assistant vice president of compensation services; director of employment services; director of staff relations; director of benefits administration; director of personnel systems and research; director of classification services; director of the child care center; and such other associates as may be authorized from time to time.

3335-3-153 Vice president for university communications and development.

(A) The vice president for university communications and development shall be the executive head of the office of university communications and development.

(B) The major area of responsibility and authority of the vice president for university communications and development shall be the administration of the university communications and university development activities of the university. Without limiting the generality of the foregoing, the vice president for university communications and development shall, under the direction of the president and with the approval of the board of trustees, be responsible and have the requisite authority for: public relations; coordination of university efforts relating to public information; and management and direction of fund raising, including individual, corporate and foundation giving.

(C) The principal administrative officials of the office of university communications and development shall be the executive director of university communications, the executive director of university development, and such other associates as may be authorized from time to time.

3335-3-171 Assistant provost for continuing education.

(A) There shall be an assistant provost for continuing education in the office of academic affairs.

(B) The assistant provost for continuing education shall be responsible for and have the requisite authority to provide coordinated leadership for the maintenance and improvement of all aspects of university continuing education, including but not limited to: responsibility and the requisite authority for the development and administration of policies and operating procedures for credit, continuing professional education, and non-credit programs; administration of the continuing education enrollment unit and the university office of continuing education; development of new courses and programs in cooperation with other academic units; provision of support for counseling and other services to continuing learners; and development of external sources of support for continuing education research and teaching.

3335-5-191 University faculty.

For purposes of the governance functions described in rules 3335-5-20 to 3335-5-25 of the Administrative Code, the term "university faculty" shall mean all regular faculty, the president, members of the president's staff serving at his pleasure and designated as executive heads of offices, the deans of the colleges and of the graduate school, and the dean for undergraduate studies for arts and sciences.

3335-5-20 Presiding officer.

The president of the university shall be the presiding officer of the university faculty. In his absence the duties of the presiding officer shall be assigned to the vice president for academic affairs and provost. In the absence of both the president and the vice president for academic affairs and provost, the duties of the presiding officer shall be assigned by the president to the dean of one of the colleges, the dean for undergraduate studies for arts and sciences, or the vice president for research and graduate studies.

3335-9-19 Instructional and general fees for instructors, graduate teaching associates, graduate research associates, graduate administrative associates, fellows, scholars, and university employees.

(A) "Fees authorized" are those fees which are paid on behalf of a student through university accounts for the purpose of services rendered, employee benefits or student assistance. A fee authorization provides the authority to spend money from whatever account is specified to pay student fees. All fees must be authorized by an appropriate fee authorization card. Approved fee authorization will be processed as an expenditure against the department and account specified.

(B) The payment of instructional and general fees may be authorized, except as specifically prohibited by the university, for those within the following classifications:

(1) Members of the instructional staff of the university, with the rank of instructor and above who were employed before July 1, 1955 and who are registered in the graduate school, and any members of the teaching staff who, on the approval of the appropriate instructor and department chairperson or director of a school, enrolls as an auditor. (Rule 3335-9-11 of the Administrative Code)

(2) Graduate teaching associates, graduate research associates, and graduate administrative associates who meet the specified requirements of enrollment and employment may have their instructional and general fees authorized for payment as a benefit for services rendered.

(3) Employees of organizations having specific contracts with the board of trustees of the university whereby fees of persons designated by the agreement are authorized, in whole or in part, in lieu of payment for service rendered by the organization to the Ohio state university.

(4) Undergraduate and professional students eligible for the authorization of fees under scholarship assistance programs.

(5) Graduate students eligible for the authorization of fees under university, private, and governmental fellowships and traineeship agreements.

(6) Qualified university employees under the provisions of the fee authorization program as administered by the office of personnel services. As a general principle, employees who are members of the administrative or clerical staff of the university will not be permitted to take courses except outside of the prescribed working hours.

(C) The president, subject to the approval of the board of trustees, shall have authority to enter into an agreement with an organization or person not provided for in another category.

(D) A copy of the agreement and the names of person, or persons, designated to sign and certify fee authorizations will be filed with the office of personnel services. All agreements shall contain information as to who is responsible for the overall administration of fee authorizations for these programs. Problems of coordination and individual cases that need interpretation of the rules concerning fee authorizations shall be referred for decision to the office of personnel services.

(E) In all cases where interpretation and application of the rules specified herein are required, the question shall be referred for decision to the office of personnel services.

3335-47-07 Campus assignment.

The Ohio state university provides instructional programs at several locations including the central campus in Columbus, regional campuses in Lima, Mansfield, Marion, and Newark, and the agricultural technical institute (Wooster). Members of the regular faculty who receive tenure while rendering primary service on a particular campus hold tenure only at that campus.

It is the policy of the university to achieve and maintain high quality programs on each of the several campuses. Decisions regarding the selection, salary, assessment, promotion, assignment, and responsibilities of a regional campus faculty member should reflect full cooperation between the Columbus academic unit, which is responsible for instruction, and the regional campus administration. All formal recommendations (e.g., appointments, nominations for promotions or tenure, etc.) must bear the signature of the chairperson of the Columbus campus academic unit, the dean of the college of instruction, the dean of the regional campus, and the vice president for academic affairs and provost or designee.

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That the foregoing amendments to the Bylaws of the Board of Trustees and the Rules of the University Faculty be adopted.

Upon motion of Mr. Barone, seconded by Mr. Immke, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous voice vote.

AMENDMENTS TO THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY CODE OF STUDENT CONDUCT
Resolution No. 87-77

Synopsis: Amendments to The Ohio State University Code of Student Conduct are being proposed.

WHEREAS reorganization in the Division of Student Affairs has resulted in changes of title and office designations; and
February 5 and 6, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

AMENDMENTS TO THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY CODE OF STUDENT CONDUCT (contd)

WHEREAS legal counsel has suggested some changes in wording to assure the rights of due process; and

WHEREAS the Council on Student Affairs, the Office of the President, the Office of the Provost, and appropriate Senate committees, have reviewed the proposed changes:

WHEREAS the University Senate approved the following changes, additions, and deletions to The Ohio State University Code of Student Conduct on December 6, 1986, as follows:

Chapter 3335-23

THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY CODE OF STUDENT CONDUCT

3335-23-01 Introduction.

The code exists to protect the persons, their rights, and the property of the university community and to foster and enhance the academic mission of the university. The code does not list all activities that may seriously affect the university community. It applies to the conduct of all registered students and registered student organizations (hereinafter "student") while on university premises. The term "university premises" means all lands, buildings, and facilities owned, leased, or operated by the university. Jurisdiction is limited to actions on university premises expect for academic misconduct and hazing.

All persons are encouraged to report code violations to a university official as soon as possible. A charge of a code violation must be filed with the university within six months of the identification of the person allegedly committing the violation. The university shall notify the student of the alleged violation within one week of the filing of charges.

As members of the Ohio State University community, students also are subject to city, county, state, and federal law. Therefore, legal action in addition to university disciplinary action may occur.

Chapter 3335-25

RULES, POLICIES AND REGULATIONS

A student found guilty of the following conduct will be subject to university disciplinary action.

3335-25-01 Prohibited conduct.

(A) Academic misconduct.

Academic misconduct, as defined in rule 3335-31-02 of the Administrative Code.

(B) Infliction of bodily or emotional harm.

Infliction or threat of infliction of bodily or emotional harm,
February 5 and 6, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

AMENDMENTS TO THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY
CODE OF STUDENT CONDUCT (contd)

whether done intentionally or with reckless disregard, including threat or action in retaliation for making allegations of misconduct.

(C) Destruction of property.

Actual or threatened damage to or destruction of university property or property of others while on university premises, whether done intentionally or with reckless disregard.

(D) Dangerous weapons or devices.

Use, storage, or possession of dangerous weapons or devices unless authorized by an appropriate university official or as permitted by a university policy.

(E) Dishonest conduct.

Dishonest conduct, including, but not limited to, knowingly reporting a false emergency; knowingly making false accusation of misconduct; misuse or falsification of university documents by actions such as forgery, alteration, or improper transfer; submission to a university official of information known by the submitter to be false.

(F) Theft/unauthorized use of property.

Theft or attempted theft, or the unauthorized use or possession of university property or services, or the property of others while on university premises.

(G) Failure to comply with university authority.

Failure to comply with directives of authorized university officials, identified as such, in the performance of their duties, including failure to identify oneself when so requested; or, violation of the terms of a disciplinary sanction.

(H) Drugs or alcohol.

Use, production, distribution, sale, or possession of drugs or alcohol in a manner prohibited under Ohio law.

(I) Unauthorized presence.

Unauthorized entrance to or presence in or on university premises.

(J) Disorderly conduct.

Disorderly conduct that interferes with university-authorized activities, including teaching, research, administration, or other activities conducted, sponsored, or permitted by the university.

(K) Violation of university rules.

Violation of other published university regulations, policies, or rules, or any other violation of state or federal law committed on university premises.
AMENDMENTS TO THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY
CODE OF STUDENT CONDUCT (contd)

3335-25-02 Disruption.

(A) Rule 3335-11-02 of the Administrative Code provides for disciplinary action to be taken when a person commits conduct that is intended to disrupt or prevent university-authorized activities. This includes conduct as obstruction of lawful movement on campus, occupation of buildings, employment or threat of force, interferences with teaching, research, or administration, damage to equipment or property, or successful solicitation to such actions. The rule does not prohibit peaceful dissent or demonstration. Rule 3335-11-021 provides for the appointment of hearing officers for these cases. Moreover, under rule 3335-11-022 of the Administrative Code, whenever a criminal court exercises jurisdiction over acts which allegedly constitute disruption by university rules, the university will not exercise jurisdiction, except in extraordinary cases of clear and present danger. (Rules 3335-11-02, 3335-11-021, and 3335-11-022 of the Administrative Code are available from the office of student life or college offices.)

(B) The Ohio Campus Disruption Act.

The Campus Disruption Act procedures are contained in sections 3345.22 to 3345.26 of the Revised Code. This act provides for a special hearing officer to be appointed by the board of regents to hear cases where a student, faculty or staff member, or employee has been arrested for certain offenses under the criminal code. The offenses include, but are not limited to: assault, menacing, arson, vandalism, and incitement to riot. Under the act, a hearing is to be held within five days of arrest of the person for the purpose of determining whether the accused person should be immediately suspended from the university. If a preponderance of the evidence elicited at the hearing indicates that the accused committed an offense under the Disruption Act, the person will be suspended from the university unless the order of the university would not be compromised by the person's presence. Conviction of the charges on which the accused was arrested will cause dismissal. An acquittal will cause reinstatement and expungement of the record. If charged but not arrested, a hearing as authorized under the act will not be held, but a conviction for any of the enumerated offenses will result in automatic dismissal from the university for one year. (Section 3345.23 (A)) 3335-25-03 Policies.

Established policies and rights exist to ensure an environment conducive to equity and quality living for all members of the university community. Students violating university policy may be subject to disciplinary action.

(A) Nondiscrimination.

The policy of the Ohio state university is that discrimination against any individual for reasons of race, color, creed, religion, sexual orientation, national origin, sex, age, handicap, or Vietnam-era veteran status is specifically prohibited. Title IX of the education amendments of 1972 prohibits sex discrimination and
AMENDMENTS TO THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY
CODE OF STUDENT CONDUCT (contd)

Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 prohibits discrimination on the basis of handicap in education programs and activities. Accordingly, equal access to employment opportunities, admissions, educational programs, and all other university activities is extended to all persons, and the university promotes equal opportunity through a positive and continuing affirmative action program. (Further details on this policy may be obtained in the office of affirmative action.)

(B) Sexual harassment.

Sexual harassment is prohibited and includes: sexual contact that is not freely and mutually agreeable to both parties; communications of a sexual nature, whether physical, oral, written, or pictorial that are made for the purpose of threatening, intimidating, or humiliating the person receiving such communications; solicitation of sexual contact when submission to or rejection of such contact implicitly or explicitly imposes adverse or favorable terms or conditions on employment or academic standing. (Further details and procedures may be obtained in the office of student life and/or the office of affirmative action.)

(C) Anti-hazing.

The Ohio state university specifically prohibits "hazing," which is defined as any activity that might reasonably bring embarrassment or emotional, psychological, or physical harm to the individual or that might degrade or otherwise compromise the dignity of the individual. (Details on this policy are available in the office of student life.)

(D) Confidentiality of records.

Education records are defined by the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974, as amended, to be those records, files, documents, and other materials which contain information directly related to a student and are maintained by any unit of the university. The following are not considered to be educational records: records made by university personnel which are in the sole possession of the maker and are not accessible or revealed to any other person, records maintained by the office of public safety, and medical and counseling records used solely for treatment. Under the act, students are given the following rights regarding their educational records:

(1) Students have the right to inspect and review all of their education records except financial records of parents, and confidential letters and statements of recommendation for which students have waived their right of access.

(2) Students have the right to challenge the content of their education records if they consider the information contained therein to be inaccurate, misleading, or inappropriate, and to have these records amended if a hearing officer or an appeals board, appointed by the university registrar, renders a decision favorable to the student.
(3) Students may waive their right of access to confidential letters and statements of recommendation.

(4) Students must provide written consent for the release of educational records except for certain types of requests specified by the act.

(Details are available in the offices of student life and the university registrar.)

(E) Entry, search and seizure.

(1) Every effort is made to ensure privacy in university housing and offices. Nevertheless, a designated university official has the right to enter any part of the university premises to perform reasonable custodial, maintenance and repair services, to inspect for damages or cleanliness, or in case of emergency. In university housing, reasonable effort will be made to give twenty-four-hour notice before the service or inspection is performed.

(2) A designated university official may enter and search university premises if there is reason to believe that the premises are being used for an illegal purpose or a purpose which violates health or safety regulations or interferes with normal university operation; evidence found in such a search may be confiscated and used in disciplinary proceedings. In university housing, the designated university official shall be a residence hall director. When a residence hall director enters and searches university housing as provided for under this paragraph, reasonable efforts must be made to have present a resident of the room or apartment being searched. If a resident of the room or apartment is not present after such reasonable efforts have been made, an officer of the hall or complex student council shall witness the search.

(3) Law officials may enter, search, and seize evidence in accordance with law.

(F) Means of expression.

(1) The university may establish, promulgate, and enforce regulations, including regulation of sound equipment, rallies, parades, demonstrations, or other assemblies, to assure safety of persons and property and to prevent disruption of the educational process. The university must make available to students any such regulations.

(2) No written materials may be attached by any method to university premises or property unless such posting is approved in accordance with regulations to be obtained from the student organizations and activities office.

(G) Patents and copyrights.

The university's policy on patents and copyrights in some circumstances may require that legal rights in inventions, discoveries, copyrightable works (including computer software), etc., developed by students be transferred to the university. That policy provides appeal procedures for resolving questions relating to such rights. Students enrolled in the university are subject to the policy. Copies of the full policy are available from the office of the patent and copyright administrator, 204 research center.

Chapter 3335-27

DISCIPLINE PROCEEDINGS

3335-27-01 Investigation.

When information is presented to a university official that indicates code violation(s) may have occurred, the university may conduct a preliminary investigation of the alleged violation. Residence hall directors, assistant hall directors, the coordinator of judicial affairs, and others appointed by the dean of student life are authorized to investigate violations other than those involving academic misconduct. During preliminary investigation, the student allegedly involved in misconduct will be sent a letter describing the violation, whom to contact for a preliminary interview, and that date by which the contact should occur. Any person believed to have information relevant to the investigation may be contacted and requested to make an appointment to discuss the matter. Upon completion of the preliminary investigation the investigator will decide whether to dismiss, change or affirm the charges. Residence hall officials may refer cases involving possible suspension or dismissal to the dean of student life or the dean's designee.

3335-27-02 Administrative decision.

In all cases, a student has the right to a panel hearing. However, in a case where a student is charged with violations other than academic misconduct, the student may opt in writing to have a decision as to appropriate action made administratively by an appropriate investigator/hearing officer rather than have the charges referred to a panel or commission for the decision. The student thus waives the right to a hearing and the related procedural guarantees provided in a panel or commission hearing. The student will sign the waiver at the time of the preliminary interview. Administrative decision does not preclude further investigation into other charges related to the incident. The student retains the right to request an appeal of the original action.

3335-27-03 Notice of proceedings.

If a hearing is to be held, written notification will be delivered to the last known address of the student, either by certified mail, first class mail or by hand-delivery, no fewer than seven calendar days prior to the hearing. In residence hall cases notification of hearings will be hand delivered or placed in student mailboxes, no fewer than seven calendar days prior to the hearing. The notification will include the charge, date, time, and location of the hearing, the hearing officer or panel, a statement of the accused's rights, and information on the hearing procedures. The accused student may waive the notice period, request a postponement for reasonable cause, or request a hearing separate from other accused persons. Request for a postponement or separate hearing must be received at least one day before the scheduled hearing.

3335-27-04 Hearing procedures.

Students have a right to fair hearings. Although the procedural requirements are not as formal as those existing in the civil courts of law, to ensure fairness, the following procedures apply and will be included within hearing notices:

(A) Hearings are restricted to those directly involved or requested by the accused or hearing officer to attend. The hearing officer may take reasonable measures to assure an orderly hearing, including removal of persons who impede or disrupt proceedings.

(B) The accused student may have a person present to advise him/her. The adviser may only counsel the student and not actively participate in the hearing, unless clarification is needed as determined by the hearing officer.

(C) The accused may submit a written statement, may invite witnesses to attend on the accused's behalf, may ask questions of witnesses called by others, and will be notified of witnesses to be called. The university may present witnesses as well as question those presented by the accused.

(D) Written statements signed by a witness, accepted and verified as that witness' statement by the preliminary investigating officer, may be used if, for good reason, the witness cannot attend the hearing.

(E) University hearings, unlike proceedings of courts of law, do not require conclusive proof; instead, the greater weight of the evidence is sufficient for the hearing officer or panel to decide if a violation of the code has occurred and to impose a sanction.

Attendance.

Because the most accurate and fair review of the facts can best be accomplished when all parties are present, the accused is expected to attend. If an individual does not choose to attend a hearing, the charges will be reviewed as scheduled on the basis of the information available and a decision will be made. No decision shall be based solely on the failure of the accused student to attend the hearing or answer the charges.

Record and nature of proceedings.

A record consisting of written notes, tape, or other method selected by the hearing panel or officer, will be made of all hearings. This record will be available to the accused, during the appeal period, and can be copied at his or her expense. A written notice of the decision and information regarding appeal procedures will be sent to the accused student. In general, materials relating to a disciplinary action are confidential and may be made available by the hearing officer or panel only to those who have a valid need to know, e.g., discipline officers, vice president for academic affairs and provost and other university officials who have a demonstrated need to know. The policy governing confidentiality and release of records is printed in the quarterly master schedule and available from the office of student life.

3335-27-07 Appeal.

A student found to have violated this code has the right to appeal the original decision. Appeals must be filed within fourteen calendar days from the date of the sanction decision letter. The following guidelines apply:

(A) The grounds for appeal are procedural error, misapplication or misinterpretation of the rule alleged to be violated, findings of facts not supported by a greater weight of evidence, and discovery of substantial new facts that were unavailable at the time of hearing.

(B) Barring introduction of substantial new facts, an appeal is limited to a review of the proceedings of the previous hearing.

(C) An appeal based on grounds of procedural error, misapplication or misinterpretation of the rule alleged to be violated, or findings of facts not supported by a greater weight of evidence cannot result in a more severe sanction being imposed.

(D) A decision by a person designated to decide appeals, that there are substantial new facts that were unavailable at the time of the hearing, shall result in a new hearing by a different hearing panel or hearing officer. The determinations of this panel or officer shall in no way be influenced or bound by the results of the original hearing.

(E) On appeal, where charges resulted in suspension or dismissal, a student is allowed active representation by an adviser.

(F) In residence halls, appeals from living unit commissions are referred to the hall director; appeals from director's administrative decision are referred to the area coordinator; appeals of area coordinators are referred to the associate director of residence and dining halls for residence life; appeals from decisions of hearing officers appointed by the dean of student life are referred to the dean of student life; appeals from cases heard by the dean are referred to the vice provost for student affairs; appeals from university court decisions in disciplinary hearings are referred to the dean of student life; appeals from council on academic misconduct are referred to the provost.

3335-27-08 Minor deviations from procedure.

A student and hearing panel or officer may agree in advance to minor deviations from procedure; such deviations are not then subject to appeal. Other minor deviations are acceptable as long as such deviations are not found upon appeal, as provided for in rule 3335-27-07 (A), to be unreasonably harmful to the student.
AMENDMENTS TO THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY
CODE OF STUDENT CONDUCT (contd)

Chapter 3335-29

UNIVERSITY SANCTIONS

3335-29-01 General.

Sanctions to be imposed upon students by the university are varied and may be imposed for violation of policies, rules, and regulations. When the sanctions are imposed, consideration will be given to individual mitigating circumstances as well as aggravating factors, such as, past misconduct by the student or failure of the student to fully comply with previous sanction conditions. Sanctions take effect immediately upon date of first notice, whether oral or written, unless otherwise specified within such notice.

3335-29-02 Warning admonition.

A warning letter of admonition to a student represents a formal statement for a specific conduct violation. Upon issuance of a formal letter of admonition, a discipline file is created in the office of the dean of student life. The file will be consulted in determining sanctions for any further proven code violations at a future date.

3335-29-03 Disciplinary probation.

Probation is a sanction that is given for a specified period of time. A discipline record is created in the office of the dean of student life. Misconduct during the probationary period may cause more serious disciplinary action to be taken. Written notice of probationary status is forwarded to the student's college. Conditions restricting the student's privileges or eligibility for activities may be imposed. Such privileges and eligibility are automatically restored upon completion of the probation period if the student has complied satisfactorily with all conditions and refrained from further code violations.

3335-29-04 Suspension and dismissal.

(A) Suspension.

Suspension is a sanction by which the student is involuntarily separated from the university for a period not to exceed three full academic quarters following the effective date specified in the sanction letter. Eligibility for reenrollment is restored upon expiration of suspension.

(B) Dismissal.

Dismissal is a sanction by which the student is involuntarily separated from the university for four full quarters or more following the effective date specified in the sanction letter. Reenrollment of the student at the university after dismissal is not guaranteed. The student must reapply for admission to the university.

(C) Conditions of suspension and dismissal.
AMENDMENTS TO THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY CODE OF STUDENT CONDUCT (contd)

(1) A student who has been dismissed or suspended from the university:

(a) shall be denied all privileges accorded a student; and

(b) shall be required to leave campus at a time determined by the hearing officer or panel.

However, the dismissed or suspended student:

(i) may petition to the vice president for academic affairs and provost for entrance to the campus for a specified purpose; and

(ii) has the right of appeal to remove or to reduce the terms of this condition. The appeal procedures will be specified in every sanction letter.

(2) Upon reinstatement, a student may be required to meet certain other conditions imposed by the hearing body such as ineligibility to participate in specified student activities; or ineligibility to participate in intercollegiate events; or periodic contact with a designated university staff member or counseling agency, to the extent that such conditions pertain to the original offense.

Depending upon the merits of the individual case, and recommendation from the coordinator of the committee on academic misconduct, the coordinator of judicial affairs, or the dean of the student's college, these conditions may be waived by the vice president for academic affairs and provost, or designee, at the time of the student's reinstatement.

3335-29-05 Interim suspension.

When the vice president for academic affairs and provost is given reasonable cause to believe that a student has violated university rules and there is reasonable cause to believe that the student's presence on campus constitutes a clear danger to the university community or creates a substantial risk of injury to any person on university premises, the student may be immediately suspended from university premises. This temporary suspension is imposed pending the initiation of a full hearing without undue delay on the merits of the case in accordance with the rules of the Ohio state university. The student may request, in writing, an appeal of the interim suspension to the vice president for academic affairs and provost, within three working days of imposition of the suspension. An appeal hearing will be conducted without undue delay by the vice president for academic affairs and provost, or the vice president's designee.

3335-29-06 Restitution.

Restitution is a sanction that requires the student to make reimbursement for damages to, destruction or misappropriation of university property or services, or the property of any person. This sanction may be ordered in lieu of or in connection with another sanction.
February 5 and 6, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

AMENDMENTS TO THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY CODE OF STUDENT CONDUCT (contd)

3335-29-07 Other sanctions.

Other sanctions that the hearing officer or panel deems appropriate to the student and the conduct violation in question may be imposed. For example, research assignments, community service projects, and special workshop participation can be assigned as recommended sanctions or as conditions to another sanction. In cases of academic misconduct, a failing grade may be recommended for the academic coursework. In residence halls, other sanctions may include contract termination or reassignment to another room. Non-residence hall hearing officers or panels may recommend sanctions of this type to the office of residence life.

Failure to meet requirements of any sanction in the time allotted or a repetition of misconduct may result in an extension of the period of sanction or imposition of a more severe sanction.

3335-29-08 Concurrent jurisdiction.

A student whose conduct has been found to be in violation of established university rules and regulations also may be subject to other appropriate actions by individual university offices. An incident may result in criminal or civil charges as well as a university disciplinary action. Unless otherwise provided by law, disciplinary and court proceedings may occur concurrently.

3335-29-09 Registered student organization sanctions.

Registered student organizations may lose privileges or registration for violation of the code or the regulations contained within the student organization handbook.

Chapter 3335-31

HEARING BODIES

3335-31-01 Jurisdiction.

Except for conduct that occurs on regional campuses and the agricultural technical institute, the following hearing bodies decide cases occurring on the Columbus campus involving student conduct in violation of the rules, policies and regulations of the university. These hearing bodies may establish and promulgate their own operating procedures in accordance with university regulations and procedures. Such procedures shall be made available to students. On the regional campuses, and the agricultural technical institute, similar hearing processes and procedures shall be created, as necessary, and promulgated on each campus as appropriate and as approved by the vice president for academic affairs and provost. Students on regional campuses and the agricultural technical institute are, therefore, advised to consult regional campus publications for details on these local procedures.

3335-31-02 Committee on academic misconduct.

(A) The committee shall investigate or establish procedures for investigation of all reported cases of student academic misconduct and decide upon suitable disciplinary action. However, the committee does not hear cases involving academic misconduct in professional colleges having a published honor code. These colleges shall follow their own codes and procedures which can be obtained in their respective central offices. The committee may, in its discretion, refer cases to the university judicial panel if it determines that the academic misconduct allegation is incidental to some other misconduct.

(B) "Academic misconduct" is defined as any activity which tends to compromise the academic integrity of the institution, or subvert the educational process. Examples of academic misconduct include, but are not limited to:

1. Violation of course rules as contained in the course syllabus or other information provided the student; violation of program regulations as established by departmental committees;

2. Providing or receiving information during quizzes and examinations such as course examinations and general examinations; or providing or using unauthorized assistance in the laboratory, at the computer terminal, or on field work;

3. Plagiarism, including the use of term papers or laboratory reports from any source other than the student's own work;

4. Falsification, fabrication, or dishonesty in reporting research results;

5. Serving as, or enlisting the assistance of, a "ringer" or substitute for a student in the taking of examinations;

6. Alteration of grades or marks by the student in an effort to change the earned grade or credit; and

7. Alteration of university forms used to drop or add courses to a program, or unauthorized use of those forms.

(C) All cases of suspected misconduct shall be reported to the committee. The committee also shall investigate cases of lax or irregular examination methods and report findings to the vice president for academic affairs and provost. Students have the obligation to report suspected misconduct or irregular or lax examination methods. The committee may impose any code sanction. The committee consists of:

1. Fifteen faculty members elected by the university senate for three-year terms; beginning with summer quarter, the election to be held annually so that five members will retire each year. No member of the university faculty may serve more than two consecutive terms;

2. Five graduate student members appointed in the summer quarter by the president of the council of graduate students, with the approval of the council of graduate students, for a one-year term beginning with the autumn quarter;
February 5 and 6, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

AMENDMENTS TO THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY CODE OF STUDENT CONDUCT (contd)

(3) Five undergraduate student members appointed in the spring quarter by the president of the undergraduate student government, with the approval of the undergraduate student assembly, for a one-year term beginning with the summer quarter;

(4) The dean of student life, or designee, ex-officio and without vote; and

(5) A coordinator, appointed by the vice president for academic affairs and provost, ex-officio and without vote and charged with assisting the committee in administrative matters. The coordinator does not participate in the decisions of the committee.

(D) The committee on academic misconduct establishes panels from its membership with student/faculty ratios at least as great as that of the full committee to conduct hearings and make decisions with the same authority as the full committee on academic misconduct.

(E) The committee on academic misconduct establishes rules and procedures to conduct hearings, including the definition of a quorum.

(Details of rule 3335-5-487 of the Administrative Code, which defines the committee on academic misconduct, and committee procedures are available from the office of the vice president for academic affairs and provost.)

3335-31-03 University judicial panel.

The panel hears cases of non-academic misconduct referred by the coordinator of judicial affairs, except for cases involving disruption or professional college codes. The panel may hear cases referred by the committee on academic misconduct. The panel is authorized to impose any code-authorized sanction. The panel consists of:

(A) A chairperson (faculty or administrative staff member) appointed by the dean of student life;

(B) Three faculty members recommended to the dean by the vice president for academic affairs and provost for three-year terms, annually appointed so that one member retires each year; and

(C) Three student members, selected from a total group of seven: three undergraduate students, appointed by the president of the undergraduate student government; two graduate students, appointed by the president of the council of graduate students; and, two professional students, appointed by the president of the inter-professional council. Selection for each panel hearing will be made to reflect the undergraduate, graduate or professional status of the accused student. All student appointments shall be for one-year terms.

(D) The coordinator of judicial affairs shall serve ex-officio as panel coordinator without a vote.

(E) The dean of student life will appoint a panel composed of six members with expertise to include, but not be limited to, sexual harassment cases or those with racial overtones. This panel will serve as a resource for information concerning a variety of cases.
AMENDMENTS TO THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY CODE OF STUDENT CONDUCT (contd)

One member from this panel of experts may be selected by the coordinator of judicial affairs, to serve as a member of the university judicial panel as the case warrants. The expert panel member will participate in the entire case, but will not vote at the conclusion of the deliberations.

3335-31-04 Residence hall living unit commissions.

The commission may only hear cases, referred by a residence hall hearing officer, that involve code violations which occur within the residence halls, whether committed by residents or non-residents. The commissions are comprised of students from each living unit, and may recommend any sanction to the hearing officer, with the exception of suspension or dismissal. During the hearing, should new facts emerge that indicate that the violation may be serious enough to warrant suspension or dismissal, the commission will adjourn and refer the case back to the hearing officer for referral to the dean of student life, or the dean's designee.

3335-31-05 Administrative hearings.

The coordinator of judicial affairs and hearing officers designated by the dean of student life may investigate and conduct administrative hearings of alleged non-academic code violations. If the student so requests and waives the notice period, the coordinator of judicial affairs or hearing officer may hear cases administratively after investigation, or refer them to the university judicial panel.

After investigation, residence hall hearing officers also may conduct administrative hearings. The residence hall hearing officer may hear cases administratively rather than refer them to the commission, if the student so requests. The student must request, in writing, an administrative or commission decision. The residence hall hearing officer must refer cases to the coordinator of judicial affairs if suspension or dismissal is believed a possibility.

3335-31-06 University court.

(A) The university court will hear campus election disputes, undergraduate student government impeachment proceedings, and contested student traffic violations. The court shall interpret the undergraduate student government constitution as applied to students and student organizations. The court shall be empowered to issue restraining orders when the conduct of the student organization is in violation of the undergraduate student government constitution and to terminate student organization registration until compliance.

(B) The court consists of a magistrate, chief justice and five prosecutor/defenders in accordance with committee rules.

3335-31-07 Hearing panels on campus disruption.

In accordance with the university disruption rule and the Ohio Campus Disruption Act, cases involving disruption of university activities will be heard by a special hearing body or officer. (For details on hearing officers, panels, and procedures, see rules 3335-11-02, 3335-11-021, and 3335-11-022 of the Administrative Code, and sections 3345.22 to 3345.26

AUTHORITY SECTION

The bylaws of the university board of trustees and rules of the university faculty provide that the university president shall have the final responsibility and authority for the discipline of all students of the university.1/ This responsibility and authority has been delegated by the president to the vice provost for student affairs, whose office is also charged with responsibility for promulgation of rules governing student conduct.2/
The deans of colleges and of the graduate school, the directors of schools, and the chairpersons of departments, respectively, are responsible to the president through regular disciplinary channels for the discipline of all students in the activities of their respective colleges, schools, and departments. Likewise, the deans and directors of the regional campuses are responsible to the president through the vice president for academic affairs and provost for the discipline of all students in the activities of their respective campuses.

The Ohio state university code of student conduct is an official publication of the university board of trustees. All petitions for revision and amendment of this student code should be submitted through the office of the vice provost for student affairs. Proposed revisions to the code shall be reviewed, in draft form, by the office of the president, the office of academic affairs, and the steering committee of the university senate before being presented for approval to the university senate by the council on student affairs. No revision shall become effective unless approved by the university board of trustees and until printed notice of such revision is made available to students.

The code applies to all students. Students attending at regional campuses and the agricultural technical institute are advised to consult their local campus publications for additional information pertaining to those campuses.

2/ Rule 3335-3-174
3/ Rule 3335-11-01 (B)

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That the foregoing amendments to The Ohio State University Code of Student Conduct be adopted as recommended by the University Senate.

Upon motion of Mr. Immke, seconded by Mr. Barone, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous voice vote.

RESOLUTIONS IN MEMORIAM

Resolution No. 87-79

Synopsis: Resolutions honoring the service of five of the University's faculty members who have recently died are being proposed.

RESOLVED, That the Board adopt the following Resolutions in Memoriam and that the President be requested to convey a copy to the families of the deceased.

Fred E. Deatherage

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on October 20, 1986, of Fred E. Deatherage, Professor Emeritus in the Department of Biochemistry.

Dr. Deatherage was born in 1913 in Waverly, Illinois. He received his B.A. from Illinois College, Jacksonville, Illinois, in 1935; his M.A. from the University of Illinois, Urbana, in 1936; and his Ph.D. in 1938 from the State University of Iowa, Iowa City, Iowa. His honors included Phi Beta Kappa, Sigma Xi, Phi Lambda Upsilon, and Gamma Sigma Delta.

Dr. Deatherage joined the faculty at Ohio State as an Assistant Professor in 1946 and became Professor and Chairman of the Department of Agricultural Biochemistry in 1951. In 1960, he was appointed by the U.S. Government as a member of a seven-man delegation to Russia, to study food production, processing, and supply problems in the USSR. From 1964-1968 he was on leave from the University to participate in AID-Brazil, Pirachicaba, Brazil. He retired from The Ohio State University in 1981.

Dr. Deatherage produced 75 original papers of a research nature, a textbook for a course he taught for many years in biochemical nutrition, and held many research grants, both public and private, to support his research in food science. He was especially interested in the biochemical nature and quality of meat and other foods, and served as a consultant for food industries. He lectured locally, nationally, and internationally on the subject that he wrote on extensively, Food for Life (incidentally, the title of his textbook).

Dr. Deatherage maintained an intense interest in developing biochemistry at The Ohio State University. On the occasion of the centennial of The Ohio State University, the Board of Trustees requested each unit to prepare a history of its work "to assess our first 100 years and to utilize this heritage as a foundation for building an even greater institution." Dr. Deatherage saw this request as a deep responsibility to trace from its origin (as a Professorship in Agricultural Chemistry, created in 1882), the development into a Faculty of Biochemistry and Molecular Biology, changed in 1970 to the Department of Biochemistry in the College of Biological Sciences. Dr. Deatherage produced an exhaustive history of this development which he called "Liberal Academic Conservatism, Conservative Academic Liberalism, and Biochemistry: A History of the Academic Faculty of Biochemistry and Molecular Biology, College of Biological Sciences, The Ohio State University" (unpublished).

Professor Deatherage was an outstanding teacher whose many graduate students achieved goals that gave him much satisfaction. His special role in encouraging younger scholars in teaching and research was evident.

to all. He gave the University 40 years of devoted service. A complete record of his efforts is found in work cited above.

On behalf of the University community, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family of Dr. Deatherage its deepest sympathy. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as a sincere expression of the Board's realization of the loss that the family, the University and his many friends and associates have sustained.

Martha P. Lawry

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on December 16, 1986, of Martha P. Lawry, Assistant Professor Emeritus in the University Libraries.

Professor Lawry was born in 1925 and spent her formative years in Clyde, Sandusky County, Ohio. She held a B.A. degree (with distinction) from the College of Wooster; a M.A. (Speech) from Northwestern University; and a M.S. (Library Science) from Case Western Reserve University. Among honors awarded Ms. Lawry were membership in Phi Beta Kappa, Delta Sigma Rho (Public Speaking), and Beta Phi Mu (Library Science).

Ms. Lawry held several positions in the University Libraries during her decade of service (1976-1986) to Ohio State, among them Head of the Women's Studies Library (1979-1980) and Head of the Catalog Department (1982-1986). She was also an active member of many professional organizations and held several positions of leadership, including service as a member of the Executive Board of the Academic Library Association of Ohio, and of the Board of Directors of the Ohio Library Foundation. She contributed substantively to the literature of women's studies and librarianship, especially as co-editor and editor (1979-1980) of Women's Studies Review. She became a thoughtful essayist on the role of catalogers in the age of online catalogs and a strong advocate for the involvement of all librarians, especially catalogers, in the bibliographic instruction of students and other users of libraries. Her last article, "Subject Access in the Online Catalog: Is the Medium Projecting the Correct Message?" was published in Research Strategies in Summer 1986. She retired from The Ohio State University in October 1986 and was named Assistant Professor Emeritus.

A highly intelligent, well-educated, and dedicated librarian, Professor Lawry analyzed issues clearly and expressed her ideas and research findings with style and wit, and always with full sensitivity to the values and feelings of others. She became a natural leader in the University Libraries out of a sense of duty to Ohio State, the Libraries, and the profession of librarianship, but most of all out of a strongly felt sense of responsibility to her colleagues. As much as Ms. Lawry was a leader, she was a confidant, teacher, and mentor for many librarians, especially other women attempting to establish their own way and define their own identities. Martha Lawry will be missed by the many people at Ohio State who counted themselves fortunate to have known and worked with her.
February 5 and 6, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

Martha P. Lawry (contd)

On behalf of the University community, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family of Professor Lawry its deepest sympathy. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as a sincere expression of the Board's realization of the loss that the family, the University and her many friends and associates have sustained.

C. Eugene Maynard

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on November 15, 1986, of C. Eugene Maynard, Dean/Director Emeritus of The Ohio State University Marion Campus.

Gene Maynard was born June 25, 1923, in Marion, Ohio. He graduated from Marion Harding High School with the class of 1941. Following service with the U.S. Infantry in Italy during World War II, he received a Bachelor of Science in Education degree (magna cum laude) from Bowling Green State University in 1950, and a Master of Arts degree in 1951.

Prior to joining The Ohio State University faculty, he taught at Marion Harding High School. When The Ohio State University opened its doors in Marion in 1957, Maynard was named director and continued to teach English and history at Harding. He also taught courses in history and education at Ohio Wesleyan University from 1954-1958.

In July 1965, Maynard accepted the appointment of full-time director of the Marion Campus. That same year funds were appropriated to establish a permanent Ohio State campus in Marion. He ably directed the transition from an afternoon and evening branch operation to a full daytime and evening campus beginning in the fall of 1968.

In 1970 he wrote the "Official Plan for the Establishment of the Marion County Technical Institute," now Marion Technical College, which was adopted by the Ohio Board of Regents. Also in 1970, upper division courses were added at the Marion Campus in elementary education.

Dean Maynard saw the campus grow from 165 students in 1957 to a high of 765 on January 31, 1980, the date of his retirement. John T. Mount, former Ohio State University Vice President for Regional Campuses said, "All who have been associated with Gene Maynard know of his sincere dedication to the profession of education and respect him for his steadfast integrity. Over the past 28 years he served as a valuable and faithful member of The Ohio State University administrative team."

Dean Emeritus Maynard was a member of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Kiwanis Club of Marion, the Marion County Mental Health Board, and was a past president of the Order of Symposiarchs. He held memberships in Phi Alpha Theta history honorary; Sigma Tau Delta English honorary; Kappa Delta Pi education honorary; and Omicron Delta Kappa leadership honorary. He was a member of the American Association for Higher Education.

On behalf of the University, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family its deep sympathy and sense of understanding in its loss. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as an expression of the Board's heartfelt sympathy.

W. Hugh Missildine

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on November 25, 1986, of W. Hugh Missildine, Professor Emeritus in the Department of Psychiatry.

Dr. Missildine was born July 23, 1915, and graduated from The University of Iowa Medical School in 1939. He completed residency training in general psychiatry and child psychiatry at Johns Hopkins, and has been a member of The Ohio State University College of Medicine faculty since 1949. He served for over two decades as a member of the regular faculty, and converted to clinical faculty status in 1976. In this role, he continued to contribute actively to the teaching programs of the Departments of Psychiatry and Pediatrics.

For many years, he was the only trained child psychiatrist in Central Ohio, and is recognized as the "grandfather of child psychiatry" in Central Ohio. He contributed invaluably to the teaching of generations of medical students, residents, and fellows.

He authored a well-known book, Your Inner Child of the Past, which, in its innovative concepts, anticipated by several years the advent of transactional analysis. As editor of a monthly newsletter for pediatricians, he promoted child mental health on a national scope. He was highly respected in the community and nation.

On behalf of the University, the Board of Trustees expresses its sympathy and understanding to those who mourn for Professor Missildine. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as an expression of the Board's heartfelt sympathy.

Margaret M. Willis

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on November 5, 1986, of Margaret M. Willis, Associate Professor Emeritus in the Department of Educational Theory and Practice.

Professor Willis was born in 1899 in Port Clinton, New York. She received her Bachelor of Arts degree in history from Wellesley College in Massachusetts in 1919. After working as a governess in Japan and teaching high school in her native state of Washington, she earned a Master of Arts in Education from Columbia University in New York (1925). She then taught for a number of years in Switzerland and Turkey before joining the faculty in the College of Education.

As a teacher of history and social studies in the University School from 1932 to 1967, she inspired many students by instilling a curiosity for truth and a sense of independent inquiry. Her colleagues had a deep respect and love for her as a teacher and friend. Upon her retirement in 1967, Professor Willis was named Associate Professor Emeritus.

Margaret M. Willis (contd)

On behalf of the University, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family its deep sympathy and sense of understanding in their loss. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as an expression of the Board's heartfelt sympathy.

Upon motion of Mr. Barone, seconded by Mr. Teaford, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous voice vote.

THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY DEVELOPMENT FUND (contd)

The Jack L. Beal Fellowship (contd)

The annual income shall be used for a graduate fellowship in the area of medicinal chemistry and pharmacognosy. The selection of the recipient shall be made by the faculty of the Division of Medicinal Chemistry and Pharmacognosy in cooperation with the University Committee on Student Financial Aid.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to the recommendations from the appropriate administrative official of the University who is then directly responsible for pharmacy education.

The Matthew J. Eggert Scholarship for Veterinary Medicine

The Matthew J. Eggert Scholarship for Veterinary Medicine was established February 6, 1987, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from Matthew J. Eggert, D.V.M. '33, M.S. '35, of Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to provide scholarship funds to students in the College of Veterinary Medicine at the junior or senior class level, who demonstrate financial need and have excellent scholarship records. Preference will be given to students who show a special interest and aptitude in veterinary pathology. Selection of the award recipients shall be made by the University Committee on Student Financial Aid in consultation with the dean of the College of Veterinary Medicine.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to the recommendations from the appropriate administrative official of the University who is then directly responsible for veterinary medicine education.

Dr. Carl F. Goll College of Medicine Scholarship Fund

The Dr. Carl F. Goll College of Medicine Scholarship Fund was established February 6, 1987, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from Dr. Carl F. Goll, M.D. '38, of Naples, Florida.

Establishment of Named Chair

The Berry Chair of New Technologies in Marketing

The Berry Chair of New Technologies in Marketing was established February 6, 1987, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with support from The Ohio State University Foundation, which has established an endowed fund with gifts from L.M. Berry and Company of Dayton, Ohio.

Income provided by the Foundation shall be used to support the Berry Chair. The Chair shall be established to advance marketing and related technologies in the College of Business, Academic Faculty of Marketing, at The Ohio State University. Appointment to the Berry Chair will be recommended by the Dean of the College of Business to the Provost and approved by The Ohio State University Board of Trustees.

The individual appointed to this Chair should have a record of significant achievements in marketing and related technologies; personal qualities that enable the individual to inspire, instruct and motivate students toward innovative and productive careers in marketing and related technologies; demonstrated research capabilities; and the ability to work effectively with the professional community, industry and government.

The occupant of this Chair will be charged with the responsibility to develop and teach courses to prepare students for careers in the field of marketing and related new technologies; and to initiate and direct a program of research and development in the field.

Establishment of Named Funds

Walter A. and M. Irene Merriman Dental Student Loan Fund

The Walter A. and M. Irene Merriman Dental Student Loan Fund was established February 6, 1987, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from the estate of M. Irene Merriman in memory of her husband, Dr. Walter A. Merriman, D.D.S. '30.

Establishment of Named Funds (contd)

Walter A. and M. Irene Merriman Dental Student Loan Fund (contd)

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to provide loans for students enrolled in the College of Dentistry at The Ohio State University. Awards will be made by the University Committee on Student Financial Aid in coordination and consultation with the dean of the College of Dentistry.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to the recommendations from the appropriate administrative official of the University who is then directly responsible for the College of Dentistry.

The James J. Kreglow Agricultural Education Scholarship Fund

The James J. Kreglow Agricultural Education Scholarship Fund was established February 6, 1987, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from James A. Kreglow, B.S.Agr. '51, in honor of his father, James J. Kreglow, B.S.Agr. '27, teacher of vocational agriculture for 37 years in the State of Ohio.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

Annual income shall be used to fund one or more undergraduate scholarships in the College of Agriculture with preference given to the students majoring in Agricultural Education. Selection criteria for the scholarship shall include academic achievement and/or financial need. The scholarship recipient shall be selected by the Chairperson of the Department of Agricultural Education and the assistant dean for student affairs in the College of Agriculture in consultation with the University Committee on Student Financial Aid.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to the recommendations from the appropriate administrative official of the University who is then directly responsible for the College of Agriculture.

Thomas H. Mallory Orthopaedic Fund Endowment (contd)

to The Ohio State University Development Fund from Thomas H. Mallory, M.D. '65, Columbus, Ohio.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to provide resources for research in orthopaedics, specifically the biological facets of disease and injury such as genetics and bone morphogenesis, and to promote cross-disciplinary approaches to create new treatment methods. Should the fund in the future reach $1,250,000, a chair would be established and be named the THOMAS H. MALLORY CHAIR IN ORTHOPAEDIC RESEARCH/SURGERY.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to the recommendations from the appropriate administrative official of the University who is then directly responsible for the College of Medicine.

Class of '49 Endowment for the College of Nursing

The Class of '49 Endowment for the College of Nursing was established February 6, 1987, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from the College of Nursing Class of 1949. The Class of '49 gift was spearheaded by the efforts of Marie Sinsabaugh, Class President.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to provide funding for scholarships, equipment, research, or archives, based on the College's need as determined by the dean of the College of Nursing in conjunction with the appropriate committee (Scholarship Committee, Committee for Research, etc.) with the advice and counsel of the College fiscal officer.

As each award is made from the Class of '49 Endowment Fund, the Class of '49 will be notified of the decision through the class agent, Marie Sinsabaugh.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to the recommendations from the appropriate administrative official of the University who is then directly responsible for the College of Nursing.

Defiance County 4-H Endowment Fund

The Defiance County 4-H Endowment Fund was established February 6, 1987, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from the Defiance County 4-H Committee and other friends of the Defiance County 4-H Program.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income from this fund shall be used to support the County 4-H Program. This support may include, but is not limited to, the funding of scholarships and awards for 4-H members, volunteer leaders and friends of 4-H; sponsoring seminars and programs; and purchasing material or services that will supplement 4-H programming or increase the visibility and public support for 4-H in Defiance County. All expenditures from this fund shall be approved by the Defiance County 4-H Committee.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to the recommendations from the appropriate administrative official of the University who is then directly responsible for the Ohio Cooperative Extension Service in consultation with a committee representing the local 4-H donors.

Harrison County 4-H Endowment Fund

The Harrison County 4-H Endowment Fund was established February 6, 1987, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from Mrs. Merret Culbertson in honor of her late husband, Hugh W. Culbertson.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income from this fund shall be used to support any or all Harrison County 4-H Programs in a way that will directly benefit both male and female 4-H members. The income from this fund may be used to purchase teaching materials or to sponsor awards or other activities that will promote good citizenship and outstanding community service among Harrison County 4-H members.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to the recommendations from the appropriate administrative official of the University who is then directly responsible for the 4-H Program in Harrison County.

The College of Nursing Minority Scholarship

The College of Nursing Minority Scholarship was established February 6, 1987, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from Ethelrine Shaw Nickerson, and other alumni/friends of the College of Nursing.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to provide one or more scholarships to minority students enrolled in the College of Nursing who have demonstrated academic ability, the need for financial aid and concern about minority issues; and are highly motivated. Students who have been unable to secure financial aid through other means should be given the highest priority. If there are no applicants, the fund may be used for recruitment of minority students.

The award will be administered by the College of Nursing Scholarship Committee with recommendations by Elsie Williams Wilson and Ethelrine Shaw Nickerson and the Dean of the College in cooperation with the University Committee on Student Financial Aid.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to the recommendations from the appropriate administrative official of the University who is then directly responsible for the College of Nursing.

REPORT OF RESEARCH CONTRACTS, GRANTS, AND GIFTS (contd)

THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY DEVELOPMENT FUND (contd)

Change of Name and Description of Named Fund (contd)

The Schwartz Family Fund Lecture Series (contd)

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to assist the College of Law in sponsoring an annual series of lectures by distinguished visitors to the College of Law.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to the recommendations from the appropriate administrative official of the University who is then directly responsible for legal education.

President Jennings:

Mr. Chairman, in the Report of Research Contracts, Grants, and Gifts, I think it is worthy to note, that in accepting that report we did establish a Chair, The Berry Chair of New Technologies in Marketing. It is significant to Mr. Berry, who has completed his pledge to The Ohio State University, I might add. This is the first Chair to be established at Ohio State where the finances were operated through the new Ohio State University Foundation -- the Chair is established in the institution, and the Foundation provides the resources to establish that Chair.

February 5 and 6, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

Thereupon the Board adjourned to meet Thursday, March 5, 1987, at The Ohio State University Fawcett Center for Tomorrow, Columbus, Ohio, at 4:30 p.m.

Attest:

Madison H. Scott
Secretary

Daniel M. Galbreath
Chairman
The Board of Trustees met at its regular monthly meeting on Thursday, March 5, and Friday, March 6, 1987, at The Ohio State University Fawcett Center for Tomorrow, Columbus, Ohio, pursuant to adjournment.

* * *
Minutes of the last meeting were approved.

* * *
March 5 and 6, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

The Vice Chairman, Mr. Redman, called the meeting of the Board of Trustees to order on March 5, 1987, at 5:00 p.m. He requested the Secretary to call the roll. The meeting recessed into Executive Session for the purpose of considering legal issues and personnel-related matters.

Mr. Redman reconvened the meeting on March 6, 1987, at 9:55 a.m.

Mr. Redman:

Dr. Brand, will you introduce Dr. Yuri Medvedkov?

Dr. Brand:

Members of the Board, I would like to introduce you to Dr. Yuri Medvedkov, a prominent Soviet geographer, who is currently a distinguished Visiting Professor in our Department of Geography.

Dr. Medvedkov first applied for an exit visa from the Soviet Union in 1981, and was refused. He was demoted and eventually fired from his post on the faculty of Moscow State University and with the Institute of Geography of the Soviet Academy of Sciences. Dr. Medvedkov and his wife, Olga, were members of the Helsinki Watch Group. They helped organize, in the Soviet Union, the "Group to Establish Trust Between the U.S. and USSR."

Dr. Medvedkov's case was taken by The Ohio State University Concerned Academics and Scientists for Soviet Refuseniks, a group which was formed in 1981. The founder of this group was Professor George Demko, who is now the Director of the Office of the Geographer, U.S. State Department. Assisting with Professor Demko were Professor Jacques Zakin, Chemical Engineering, who is the current chair of the group; as well as, Professor Howard Fink, from our College of Law; and Professor Herb Asher, Special Assistant to the President. This effort was initiated in 1984, and was vigorously supported by President Jennings and the Office of Academic Affairs. I should note that Senator John Glenn was quite helpful in monitoring the case for us. Dr. Medvedkov received his visa in late September and arrived here late Autumn Quarter, after visiting the World Peace Conference in Denmark, as well as visiting Geneva.

Many believe that Ohio State's offer of a distinguished visiting professorship was instrumental in bringing about his move to the United States. Dr. Medvedkov's specialty is the study of urban and city systems, as well as Soviet geography. We are absolutely delighted that he is here and we will ask him, and Olga, if they would like to take a few minutes and describe some of their recent experiences and impressions of life in the United States, as well as at Ohio State.

Dr. Yuri Medvedkov:

Thank you. It is a privilege for me to be here and to thank you for the support given systematically, which is a tremendous help for the scientific community of independently thinking academicians in Moscow, and in other parts of the Soviet Union.

I am an old-timer in the Soviet Academy of Sciences -- I did thirty years of research there and then when some of the results became unacceptable to the hard-liners in the Soviet internal policy. In the end, around the end of the 1970's, when the invasion of Afghanistan started, the hardening-up in the internal life of the Academy, and the exile of an academian -- many examples of this exist. All of that led us to the point that, to continue with the type of results which I wanted, and considered to be important, internal, stratification of soviet society, pockets of poverty, deterioration of the quality of urban environment, etc. -- all of this led me to the necessity to apply to emigrate. That was my way to protest against the conditions which were there and it was my way to continue with research which I considered to be important for the School of Human Ecology, which I organized there.

In the battles of six years, which are still going on in the Soviet Union, it was always the support of the academic world which gave us the biggest strength. The very possibility of creating the Group to Establish Trust Between the U.S. and USSR, by mobilizing independently thinking academicians of Moscow for this group, was of tremendous significance -- tremendous symbolic significance for internal development in the Soviet Union. The possibility to do that existed only because we had the umbrella of security given by letters of support, letters of protest and the pressure of the presence of frequent visitors from the United States and other countries of the West. Now, we may see certain changes in internal and external politics of the Soviet Union. The changes are not yet very decisive according to my estimate, but are important because they indicate that with patience, with insistence, we may corner hard-liners in the Soviet political life and we may bring the power of reason back to the life of that nation, as well.

Well, I am an educator, so it is great to be back to the possibilities of the university and to teach, to see the students. I am using every opportunity, even before my classes properly begin (they start in April). Thank you for all of your support. Please be assured that there are other forces, there are other persons within the Soviet Union, who need your help and who are doing their best to increase the potential of returning the Soviet Union back to the family of the civilized nations.
March 5 and 6, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

Mr. Teaford:

Mr. Chairman, I've had the privilege of hearing Dr. Medvedkov speak before and I think it is very important to realize that when we write these letters to President Gorbachev and others in the Soviet Union, that it is important. It has helped him get here and will help others in their struggle. Sometimes we think letter writing is an insignificant act, but I think what he says demonstrates that that is not true. One other thing he said before, and I would like him to repeat here, is that he had some impressions of Columbus, Ohio, before he left the Soviet Union, and I think we all need to hear them.

Dr. Medvedkov:

Well that is really so. Even on the day when the visa was brought to the door of my apartment, I was busy rapidly translating the manual of using PC computers for communication purposes and the CompuServe facilities were described there. It means that the scientific community of Moscow and now the independent circle are really interested in them. And we realize that Columbus is a capital of the information age. Which is now going on and on.

Mr. Redman:

Any other comments?

Dr. Olga Medvedkov:

You know a lot of people ask us how we are adjusting here. You know, it is just going excellent. I don't know, maybe it's because the community of Columbus and Ohio State is very warm. Maybe it's not very usual for the whole United States. But we are feeling ourselves, as we return to our natural environment from which we were divorced for so many years. We kept our positions at the Academy of Science in Moscow, because of great support from our colleagues, but it was a nominal position, certainly. Here, Yuri can continue his teaching and research and even I've gotten support from the Mershon Center to continue my research work in social studies, as well. It is just great and our kids are flourishing here. They are very excited about everything here. I would just like to thank you, again. It is very nice to be here.

President Jennings:

I think it is also important to recognize that the Medvedkovs are being somewhat modest. We benefit every bit as much from their presence at Ohio State, as they benefit from our assistance. This is a joint activity. Professor Medvedkov is one of the premier scholars, not only in the Soviet Union, but in the world. Our faculty do not shy away from pointing out that by bringing them here, we have substantially improved our scholarship at Ohio State University -- that this is not just a one-way street of bringing the Medvedkovs to Columbus, Ohio. From their distinguished research record and future research and distinguished teaching, we and our students will benefit enormously from their presence. And we thank you for choosing

President Jennings: (contd)

Columbus, Ohio, we think we have a pretty good place here. It is nice to hear some confirmation of the public relations statements that go on in Columbus, that we are the third largest information center in the world, behind Washington and Moscow. We, in the Midwest, have a tendency to take things like that with a grain of salt, but perhaps it will be more believed now that we have some confirmation. We are delighted that you are here. There is no need to thank us; this is part and parcel of the continuing improvement of this great University and you are part of that and we hope you can be part of it for a long time to come.

REPRINTED STATUTES APPLICING TO THE UNIVERSITY, BYLAWS OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES, AND RULES OF THE UNIVERSITY FACULTY

RESOLUTIONS IN MEMORIAM

Resolution No. 87-96

Synopsis: Resolutions honoring the service of two of the University's faculty members who have recently died are being proposed.

RESOLVED, That the Board adopt the following Resolutions in Memoriam and that the President be requested to convey a copy to the families of the deceased.

Dallas S. Bolon

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on January 8, 1987, of Dallas S. Bolon, Assistant Professor Emeritus in the Academic Faculty of Accounting and Management Information Systems.

Professor Bolon was born December 27, 1894. He served as a Second Lieutenant in World War I. He received the Bachelor of Science degree from The Ohio State University in 1921.

Professor Bolon joined the faculty as an Instructor in Accounting in 1923. He served as a Lecturer in Accounting from 1928 until his retirement in 1961. In July 1966 he was awarded the rank of Assistant Professor Emeritus.

Author of a text in introductory accounting, Professor Bolon's research involved improvements in accounting systems: cost, tax, and financing problems.

Professor Bolon became a CPA in 1923, and was a partner in the firm of Bolon, Hart and Beuhler.

On behalf of the University community, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family of Dallas S. Bolon its deepest sympathy. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as an expression of the Board's heartfelt sympathy.
March 5 and 6, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

RESOLUTIONS IN MEMORIAM (contd)

Roy J. Secrest

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on November 7, 1986, of Roy J. Secrest, Professor Emeritus in the Department of Surgery.

Dr. Secrest was born on May 15, 1902, and received his M.D. degree from The Ohio State University in 1926. For some years he was a country doctor making his rounds on horseback. He became associated with Dr. Harry LeFever, the pioneer neurosurgeon in the Central Ohio area in the late 1930's. Drs. LeFever and Secrest founded the residency training program in neurologic surgery, initially at the old White Cross Hospital, later at University Hospitals, Children's Hospital, and Riverside Methodist Hospital. Dr. Secrest retired and was named Professor Emeritus on July 1, 1970.

Dr. Secrest's major contributions were in his clinical and teaching skills. He was a kind man. His demeanor was always reassuring to his patients, many of whom suffered from serious disorders of the nervous system and suffered great anxiety and pain. Dr. Secrest's example was an inspiration to many medical students and residents, a number of whom are still on the faculty of The Ohio State University.

His memorial will be in the minds of his patients and those whom he inspired to enter the specialty of neurologic surgery. He was a model of a warm, gracious and skillful physician.

On behalf of the University, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family its deep sympathy and sense of understanding in its loss. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as an expression of the Board's heartfelt sympathy.

Upon motion of Mr. Teaford, seconded by Mr. Immke, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous voice vote.

AUTHORIZATION FOR DESIGNATED OFFICIALS TO BUY, SELL, ASSIGN AND TRANSFER SECURITIES, TO DEPOSIT OR WITHDRAW FUNDS FROM BANK ACCOUNTS, AND TO DESIGNATE DEPOSITORIES

Resolution No. 87-102

Synopsis: The reaffirmation of Board of Trustees Resolution No. 83-96 (March 4, 1983), which authorized designated officials to buy, sell, assign and transfer securities, to deposit or withdraw funds from bank accounts held in the name of The Ohio State University, and to designate depositories is requested.

WHEREAS designated officials of the University buy, sell, assign and transfer stocks, bonds and other financial instruments owned by The Ohio State University; and

WHEREAS various financial institutions are designated as depositories for The Ohio State University; and

WHEREAS accounts at various financial institutions are opened and maintained in the name of The Ohio State University:

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That the Vice President for Business and Administration and/or the Treasurer be authorized and empowered to buy, sell, assign and transfer any and all stocks, bonds, evidences of interest and/or indebtedness, rights and options to acquire or to sell the same, and all other securities corporate or otherwise, standing in the name of or belonging to The Ohio State University in any capacity; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That the Vice President for Business and Administration and/or Treasurer be authorized and empowered to designate various financial institutions as depositories for The Ohio State University and open and maintain accounts at various financial institutions in the name of The Ohio State University; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That the Vice President for Business and Administration and/or the Treasurer be authorized, on behalf of The Ohio State University and in its name, to sign checks, drafts, notes, bills of exchange, acceptances or other orders for the payment of money from said accounts; to endorse in writing or by stamp checks, notes, bills, certificates of deposit or other instruments owned or held by this University for deposit in said accounts or for collection or discount by said banks; to accept drafts, acceptances, and other instruments payable to said banks; to waive, demand, protest, file notice of protest, or dishonor any check, note, bill, draft or other instrument made, drawn or endorsed by the University.

Upon motion of Mr. Immke, seconded by Mr. Berry, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous roll call vote.

STUDENT HEALTH INSURANCE

Resolution No. 87-103

Synopsis: Renewal of the Student Health Insurance Program with Central Benefits Mutual Insurance Company, formerly known as Blue Cross of Central Ohio, is proposed.

WHEREAS on April 5, 1985, this Board awarded a two-year competitively bid contract (effective Autumn Quarter 1985) to provide Student Health Insurance; and

WHEREAS after consideration of the desires and concerns of the students who purchase the insurance, the Student Health Insurance Committee of the Council on Student Affairs has recommended -- and the full Council on Student Affairs has ratified this recommendation -- that the renegotiated contract continue to provide the existing benefits plus the following improved benefits:

Increase the daily semi-private hospital room and board rate from $195 to $210 for 1987-88.

Increase the preventive dental benefit for x-rays, if needed, from $20 to $30.

Increase the surgical fee for removal of impacted teeth
- Covered by bone from $60 to $75
- Soft tissue from $50 to $60

Add a benefit of $50 for general anesthesia for the removal of impacted teeth.

Add a benefit for endodontic root canal
- $50 for one per tooth
- $75 for two per tooth
- $112.50 for three per tooth

WHEREAS this program will be available on an optional basis to all registered students for the following proposed Quarterly Premium Rates:

THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY
COMMENCEMENT CONVOCATION

March 20, 1987
Commencement Speaker

John P. Hirth

John P. Hirth is a professor in the Department of Metallurgical Engineering who is one of the most distinguished metallurgists in the world today. Hirth's work concerns the fundamental properties of metals—how and why they fracture. His ideas have contributed to an improved understanding of the properties of alloys and have lead to many applications in industry.

Professor Hirth received his B.S. and M.S. degrees in metallurgical engineering from Ohio State and his Ph.D. degree from Carnegie Institute of Technology (now Carnegie-Mellon University). He was a Fulbright Research Fellow at Bristol University in England and has taught at Carnegie, Stanford, the University of Mexico, and Oslo University in Norway. In 1961, Hirth was appointed as Mershon Associate Professor of Materials Science and Metallurgical Engineering at Ohio State.

Hirth is the author or coauthor of more than 290 articles and the coauthor of two books, as well as serving as editor of several others. His service to Ohio State includes participation in many University-wide committees and councils, including the Board of Directors of The Research Foundation and the University Promotion and Tenure Committee. Hirth also is a member of the Carnegie-Mellon University Visiting Committee.

He was named a Fellow of the American Society of Metals in 1971 and was elected to the National Academy of Engineering in 1974. Hirth has been honored with Ohio State's highest research awards, including the University Distinguished Scholar Award and the College of Engineering Distinguished Research Award. He has earned recognition for teaching excellence as well with the Mars G. Fontana Teaching Award and the MacQuigg Teaching Award.

Since 1974, Professor Hirth has been editor of Scripta Metallurgica, a leading professional journal, and has advised various federal agencies and laboratories, including the Department of Defense, the National Science Foundation, the National Bureau of Standards, Battelle Memorial Institute, and the Los Alamos National Laboratory Center for Materials Science. The University is very pleased to welcome this distinguished faculty member and alumnus as commencement speaker today.
Recipients of Honors

Alfred D. Chandler, Jr.
Doctor of Humane Letters

Alfred D. Chandler, Jr. is the Straus Professor of Business History at Harvard University. He is widely recognized as the world’s leading figure in the study of business history and has done much to clarify and explain the development patterns of American business firms and their effect on history. His approach to history, known as the “organizational synthesis,” has influenced the teaching of history and other academic fields at Ohio State and across the nation.

Professor Chandler received his A.B., M.A., and Ph.D. degrees from Harvard University. He has taught at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Johns Hopkins University, and at Harvard University since 1970. His book, The Visible Hand: The Managerial Revolution in American Business, incorporating his research and scholarship, received the Bancroft and Pulitzer prizes and has stimulated a reinterpretation of American history.

Recently retired from active teaching, Chandler has trained numerous graduate students, many of whom are now leading business historians. He has written or coauthored four major books in his field and has written several chapters in books, articles, essays, and book reviews for numerous journals. While at Johns Hopkins University, Professor Chandler was the editor of the Eisenhower Papers and served as one of its trustees from 1971 to 1981.

In addition to his scholarly pursuits, he has served on the executive board of the Organization of American Historians, on the editorial boards of Business History Review, Strategic Management Journal, and the New England Quarterly, and is a trustee of the Eleutherian Mills Flagley Foundation. Chandler was the chairman of the Historical Advisory Committee for the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission from 1969 to 1977.

Professor Chandler has received honorary degrees from the University of Leuven, the University of Antwerp, and Babson College. He is currently in the latter stages of a comparative study of business firms from around the world—work which promises to provide all modern historians with important new ways of understanding our past and present conditions.

The Ohio State University is very proud to confer its highest award upon this distinguished teacher, researcher, and scholar.

Yoshiyuki Funatsu
Doctor of Engineering

Yoshiyuki Funatsu is vice president of All Nippon Airways, Japan’s largest domestic carrier and fifth-largest passenger service in the world. He is acknowledged as an international leader in the application of flight safety measures to commercial aircraft.

Mr. Funatsu pursued his graduate work in aeronautical engineering as a Fulbright Scholar at The Ohio State University in the early 1950s. He was one of the first Japanese engineers to study jet engines in the United States after World War II.

While in this country, he had frequent contact with the Civil Aviation Authority (now the FAA), which led to the formation of the Japanese counterpart, the Japan Civil Aeronautics Board. While with the JCAB, Mr. Funatsu developed farsighted safety regulations and procedures which are still in effect today. During the past decade, he has had major responsibilities for the introduction of wide-body commercial aircraft to Japanese domestic service.

Today, Mr. Funatsu serves on several government and industrial councils in Japan, including committees for the Ministry of International Trade and Industry. He is also managing director of both the New Japan Aircraft Maintenance Company, Ltd., and Japan Aircraft Manufacturing Company, Ltd. Mr. Funatsu was president of the International Federation of Airworthiness, and he has an extensive list of publications and lectures on airlines maintenance, flight safety, and the future of aviation to his credit.

Mr. Funatsu has amply demonstrated outstanding technical and managerial skills, which have earned him great respect as a leader in the international airline industry. We take pride in this alumnus who has put his knowledge to work for the benefit of this industry and the safety and comfort of the worldwide traveling public. Ohio State is very pleased to recognize Yoshiyuki Funatsu with the honorary degree, Doctor of Engineering.
Recipients of Honors

Ullrich Georg Trendelenburg
Doctor of Science

Ullrich Georg Trendelenburg is the Ordentlicher Professor at the Institute for Pharmacology and Toxicology of the University of Würzburg in the Federal Republic of Germany. He is a world-renowned scholar in pharmacology and biomedical science, noted for his contributions in researching and explaining drug actions on the nervous systems.

Born in Gehlsdorf, Germany, Professor Trendelenburg received his M.D. from the University of Göttingen, his Ph.D. degree in pharmacology from Oxford University, and Master of Arts Honors from Harvard University. He taught pharmacology at Harvard Medical School for more than ten years before joining the University of Würzburg in 1968.

For more than 35 years, Trendelenburg has been concerned with improving the quality of pharmacological research and education at the international level. His research has directly influenced many young scientists in the United States and abroad, particularly in the understanding of information transmission in the nervous system and the effect drugs have on that system.

Trendelenburg is currently managing editor of the Naunyn-Schmiedeberg's Archives of Pharmacology, associate editor of Pharmacological Reviews and Trends in Pharmacological Sciences, and past president of the German Pharmacological Society. He has over 150 publications to his credit.

Dr. Trendelenburg has received honorary degrees from Tampere University in Finland and from Porto University in Portugal. He is an honorary member of the pharmacological societies of Poland, India, and Czechoslovakia. Ohio State is proud to recognize this outstanding scientist, scholar, and educator.

The Board of Trustees met at its regular monthly meeting on Thursday, April 2, at The Ohio State University Fawcett Center for Tomorrow, Columbus, Ohio; and Friday, April 3, 1987, at The Ohio State University Marion Campus, Marion, Ohio, pursuant to adjournment.

Minutes of the last meeting were approved.

* * *
April 2 and 3, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

The Chairman, Mr. Galbreath, called the meeting of the Board of Trustees to order on April 2, 1987, at 4:40 p.m. He requested the Secretary to call the roll. The meeting recessed into Executive Session for the purpose of considering legal issues and personnel-related matters.

Mr. Galbreath reconvened the meeting on April 3, 1987, at 10:50 a.m.

Mr. Galbreath:

First of all, I would like to thank those of you at the Marion Campus, as well as the community, for hosting us and inviting us up here to see your campus, and particularly this lovely new building. We appreciate that very much and look forward to sharing the rest of the morning and having lunch with you.

Mr. Galbreath announced the appointment of the following persons to the Nominating Committee:

Leonard J. Immke, Chairman
John W. Berry
Shirley D. Bowser

NEW DEGREE PROGRAM — MASTER OF FINE ARTS DEGREE IN DANCE
Resolution No. 87-106

Synopsis: Establishment of a Master of Fine Arts degree in Dance is proposed.

WHEREAS the Department of Dance, the College of The Arts, and the Council on Research and Graduate Studies have approved the addition of a tagged Master of Fine Arts degree in Dance; and

WHEREAS the MFA degree is recognized as the major terminal degree in the practical and creative areas of dance study, and would better meet the needs of students competing for professional employment; and

WHEREAS sufficient resources and student interest exist to support the tagged Master of Fine Arts degree in Dance; and

WHEREAS the MFA would keep Ohio State competitive with other dance programs in the country, and would attract highly qualified students; and
NEW DEGREE PROGRAM – MASTER OF FINE ARTS DEGREE IN DANCE (contd)

WHEREAS the current Master of Arts degree with a major in Dance would be retained for interested students; and

WHEREAS the University Senate approved this action at their March 7, 1987 meeting:

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That the establishment of the Master of Fine Arts degree in Dance is hereby approved.

Upon motion of Mr. Teaford, seconded by Mr. Barone, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous voice vote.

CHANGE IN DEGREE

Resolution No. 87-107

Synopsis: Change in degree from a Bachelor of Arts degree to a Bachelor of Science degree for students specializing in Climatology and Cartography is proposed.

WHEREAS the Department of Geography and the Colleges of the Arts and Sciences have approved the conversion of the Cartography and Climatology tracks in the Department of Geography from the Bachelor of Arts degree to the Bachelor of Science degree; and

WHEREAS during the past two years the Department of Geography has strengthened the quantitative and analytical nature of these two tracks by emphasizing mathematics and physical sciences; and

WHEREAS awarding the Bachelor of Science degree to students specializing in Climatology and Cartography would bring Ohio State in line with other major research institutions; and

WHEREAS the option to pursue a Bachelor of Arts degree with a major in Geography would be available to students through the Department's other four tracks; and

WHEREAS the Bachelor of Science degree with a major in Geography is more marketable and offers greater potential for advancement for students in both academic and non-academic settings; and

WHEREAS the University Senate approved this action at their March 7, 1987 meeting:

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That the aforementioned change in degree is hereby approved, effective Spring Quarter 1987.

Upon motion of Mr. Immke, seconded by Mr. Teaford, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous voice vote.
April 2 and 3, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

AMENDMENTS TO THE RULES OF THE UNIVERSITY FACULTY

Resolution No. 87-108

Synopsis: Amendments to rules 3335-5-45 and 3335-5-488 are being proposed.

WHEREAS the University Senate pursuant to rule 3335-1-09 of the Administrative Code is authorized to recommend through the President to the Board of Trustees the adoption of amendments to the Rules of the University Faculty as approved by the University Senate; and

WHEREAS the proposed changes in the Rules of the University Faculty were approved by the University Senate on May 20, 1978, and March 7, 1987, as follows:

AMENDED RULES

3335-5-45 Bylaws of the senate.

The university senate shall have the power to organize itself and to make such bylaws for its own proceedings as shall not contravene the sections of the Revised Code applying to the university, the "Bylaws of the Board of Trustees," or the "Rules of the University Faculty." The senate's bylaws may be amended at any time by a majority of senate members present and voting thereon. The bylaws shall also be the subject of review by the rules committee at the beginning of each new autumn session of the senate.

3335-5-488 Committee on honorary degrees.

(A) Membership.

The committee on honorary degrees shall consist of five members of the regular faculty, nominated by the faculty council and elected by the senate. The term of office is five years with one member retiring each year. A retiring member shall not be eligible for immediate reelection.

(B) Duties and responsibilities.

(1) (Unchanged.)

(2) Receive nominations concerning persons who might be considered for an honorary degree.

(3) Review thoroughly the achievements and qualifications of all persons nominated.

(4) Report to the university senate for its consideration and action such persons as have received no fewer than four affirmative votes from the committee membership.

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That the foregoing amendments to the Rules of the University Faculty be adopted as recommended by the University Senate.
April 2 and 3, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

AMENDMENTS TO THE RULES OF THE UNIVERSITY FACULTY (contd)

Upon motion of Mr. Immke, seconded by Mr. Barone, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous voice vote.

RESOLUTIONS IN MEMORIAM

Resolution No. 87-110

Synopsis: Resolutions honoring the service of three of the University's faculty members who have recently died are being proposed.

RESOLVED, That the Board adopt the following Resolutions in Memoriam and that the President be requested to convey a copy to the families of the deceased.

Henry J. Barre

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on January 15, 1987, of Henry J. Barre, Professor Emeritus in the Department of Agricultural Engineering.

Dr. Barre was born on April 11, 1905. He earned his BS and MS degrees in Agricultural Engineering at Kansas State University. His Ph.D. degree from Iowa State University in 1938 was the first awarded in agricultural engineering. He served on the faculties of Iowa State University from 1930-43; as departmental head at Purdue from 1943-52; and The Ohio State University from 1963-73. From 1952-63, he worked as an industry consultant in agricultural drying and air-handling systems. He also served as a consultant for the Ford Foundation in India and for the World Bank in Indonesia while at Ohio State. Upon his retirement in 1973, he was named Professor Emeritus.

As the prolific author of many research reports, papers, and bulletins on theory and practice of grain drying, as well as the senior author of a widely-used text on farm structures, Dr. Barre was awarded the highest honor of the American Society of Agricultural Engineers, its Cyrus Hall-McCormick Gold Medal in 1969. He received the MacQuigg Award for outstanding teaching in 1971, and was a member of Phi Kappa Phi, Sigma XI, Sigma Tau, and Tau Beta Pi.

On behalf of the University, the Board of Trustees expresses its sympathy and understanding to the family of Professor Barre. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as an expression of the Board's heartfelt sympathy.

Wayne Woodrow Hayes

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its deep sorrow upon the death on March 12, 1987, of W. W. "Woody" Hayes, former head football coach and beloved member of the University family.

Coach Hayes was born on February 14, 1913, in Clifton, Ohio. He attended Denison University where he majored in English and History, played tackle on the football team and was an outfielder on the baseball team. He was graduated in 1935. Hayes received a Master of Arts degree in Education Administration at Ohio State in 1948.

Woody Hayes accepted his first coaching job as an Assistant Coach at Mingo Junction High School in Ohio, in 1935. He took a Head Coach position in 1938 at New Philadelphia High School in New Philadelphia, Ohio. Hayes spent five years in the Navy during World War II, finishing his military career as a highly decorated Lieutenant Commander before accepting the position of Head Coach of the Denison University football team in 1946. He coached at Denison for three years and then coached at Miami University in Oxford, Ohio, for two years. In 1951 Coach Hayes began his career at The Ohio State University, having been selected ahead of Coach Paul Brown of the Cleveland Browns football team. He ended his coaching career at Ohio State University in 1978.

As the coach of the Buckeyes, Woody Hayes developed an impressive record of success by every measurement. His teams won 205 games between 1951 and 1978 with a Big Ten record of 152-37-7. His teams were winners of 5 post-season bowls, 13 Big Ten championships and national championships in 1954, 1957 and 1968. Hayes was elected College Coach of the Year in 1957 and 1975, and served as President of the National Football Coaches Association. Known for his strong recruiting and coaching, Hayes coached three Heisman Trophy winners and 56 first team All-American players. In addition, he trained many Assistant Coaches who later became successful Head Coaches including Bo Schembechler, Earle Bruce, Lou Holz, David McClain, Bill Mallory, and George Chaump.

Woody Hayes was honored in many ways in his life. He was named Head Football Coach and Professor Emeritus in the School of Health, Physical Education and Recreation in 1979 by The Ohio State University Board of Trustees. Also in 1979, the University's Development Fund established a scholarship in the names of Woody and Anne Hayes which helps student athletes attend Ohio State's professional and graduate schools. Part of West Woodruff Avenue on campus was named for Hayes by the University in 1982 as Woody Hayes Drive. In 1986 Hayes received an honorary Doctor of Humanities degree from Ohio State on the occasion of his being the Commencement speaker on March 21, 1986. Woody Hayes was the subject of many stories, television shows and documentaries as the quintessential college football coach.

Perhaps the greatest achievement of his distinguished career is the way in which he has personally touched so many lives. Although he was in the public eye for many years, he had tremendous success on a more private, individual level. The compassion he felt for all of his football players was often expressed in his interest in their education and their development as members of society. He was always available to discuss problems and he was free with his advice. This personal attention was well-utilized by his players and has resulted in many life-long friendships and associations. Woody Hayes was also available to the University community whenever it needed his help. He was a guest lecturer, advisor, spokesman, and fund raiser, among other things. He was willing to give of himself for the greater good and was able to respond to a great variety of requests for support. He visited hospitals and nursing homes, served on boards and talked with everyone who had the interest, especially students. He was truly generous with his time.

Woody Hayes will be long-remembered by his players, his colleagues, his friends, his family, and the University itself. He has left a tremendous legacy of commitment, success and love.

On behalf of the University, the Board of Trustees wishes to express its deep sympathy to Woody's wife, Anne, his son and daughter-in-law Steve and Kathy, his grandchildren Phil and Laura and his sister Mary North. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as an expression of the Board's heartfelt sympathy.

Bernard William Poland

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on March 8, 1987, of Bernard William Poland, Professor Emeritus in the School of Music.

Dr. Poland was born August 29, 1919. A native of Philadelphia, his early musical career led him to Ann Arbor, where he received from the University of Michigan the degrees Bachelor of Music in 1948 and Master of Music in 1949.

His thirty-five year tenure on the faculty of the School of Music began in 1949. By 1970, he rose to the rank of Professor of music theory. From 1975 to 1984, he also served as Associate Dean of the Graduate School. Upon his retirement in 1984, he was awarded the rank of Professor Emeritus.

During his early years at Ohio State, Dr. Poland co-founded the Columbus Symphony Orchestra and served as principal oboist and program annotator. Later, he earned the first doctorate granted by Ohio State's School of Music. He did extensive research in predicting success in music study, which resulted in the Music Achievement Test that is now required of undergraduate music applicants. He helped found the Center for Experimental Research in the Arts, which he directed from 1965 to 1969. His research in musical behavior and in program review strategies led to an extensive list of publications and presentations.

Active in numerous professional organizations, Dr. Poland received many music honors, including the Archibald T. Davidson Award in Musicology and membership in Pi Kappa Lambda Music Honorary Society. In 1971, he was granted The Ohio State University Alumni Award for Distinguished Teaching and, in 1987, The Ohio State University Distinguished Service Award.

On behalf of the University community, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family of Bernard William Poland its deepest sympathy. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as an expression of the Board's heartfelt sympathy.

Upon motion of Mr. Immke, seconded by Mr. Teaford, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous voice vote.

REPORT OF RESEARCH CONTRACTS, GRANTS, AND GIFTS

Resolution No. 87-111

Synopsis: The reports on contracts, grants, and gifts and the summary for February 1987 are presented for Board acceptance.

WHEREAS monies are solicited and received on behalf of the University from governmental, industrial, other agencies, alumni, and various individuals in support of research, instructional activities, and service; and

WHEREAS such gifts and grants are received through The Ohio State University Research Foundation, the Engineering Experiment Station of The Ohio State University, and The Ohio State University Development Fund:

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That the research agreement between The Ohio State University and The Ohio State University Research Foundation for the contracts and grants reported herein, and the acceptance of the reports from the Engineering Experiment Station and The Ohio State University Development Fund during the month of February 1987 be approved.

Upon motion of Mrs. Bowser, seconded by Mr. Teaford, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous voice vote.

Establishment of Named Funds

The William A. Meiter Scholarship Fund

The William A. Meiter Scholarship Fund was established April 3, 1987, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from William A. Meiter, B.S.M.E. '27, Delray Beach, Florida, in memory of his immigrant parents who by hard work on a dairy farm near Damascus, Ohio, were able to provide a college education for their three sons.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to provide one or more scholarship award(s) to students entering or attending The Ohio State University, including its regional campuses and technical institute, from the West Branch School District, Damascus area. Selection of the award recipient(s) shall be made by the University Committee on Student Financial Aid at The Ohio State University in conjunction with the Scholarship Selection Committee of the Damascus Area Historical Society. All awards shall be based on financial need.

Should the need for this fund in the West Branch School District cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used to provide scholarship support for students from the Salem School District, Salem, Ohio. A joint decision by the Damascus Area Historical Society and the University Committee on Student Financial Aid or its representative is required. Should the need for this fund cease to exist entirely, then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to the recommendations from the appropriate administrative official of the University who is then directly responsible for Student Financial Aid.

The J. M. Shepherd Scholarship Fund

The J. M. Shepherd Scholarship Fund was established April 3, 1987, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from J. M. Shepherd, B.Cer.E. '58, M.B.A. '59, of Cincinnati, Ohio.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be awarded to students who have successfully combined athletics or other extracurricular activities with challenging academic study as evidenced by their major in chemistry in the College of Mathematical and Physical Sciences or in any field of engineering. Recipients of the scholarship shall be limited to Ohio residents with a record of academic achievement. Preference shall be given to students involved in intercollegiate athletics, including club level sports.

The J. M. Shepherd Scholarship Fund (contd)

Should there be no such suitable candidates, the scholarships shall be awarded to students in the above-named academic areas who are actively involved in other extracurricular activities.

Recipients shall be selected by the Dean of the College of Engineering or his designee in consultation with the appropriate officials in the Departments of Chemistry and Athletics, and the University Committee on Student Financial Aid.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to the recommendations from the appropriate administrative official of the University who is then directly responsible for the Colleges of Engineering and Mathematical and Physical Sciences.

The George Stambaugh Memorial Fund

The George Stambaugh Memorial Fund was established April 3, 1987, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from the estate of Anna May Stambaugh, in memory of her father, George Stambaugh.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to benefit The Ohio State University Libraries, including support for personnel and/or the acquisition of such items as books, journals, supplies or equipment as determined by the Director of The Ohio State University Libraries. Any unused income shall be reinvested in the fund's principal.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to the recommendations from the appropriate administrative official of the University who is then directly responsible for The Ohio State University Libraries.

The Henry and Blanche Abell Endowment Fund

The Henry and Blanche Abell Endowment Fund was established April 3, 1987, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from Mr. Carl T. Abell, B.S.Dairy Tech. '49, Medina, Ohio, as recognition for and in honor of his parents, Henry and Blanche Abell.
Establishment of Named Funds (contd)

The Henry and Blanche Abell Endowment Fund (contd)

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be divided equally between the Department of Food Science and Nutrition in the College of Agriculture and the wrestling program in the Athletic Department. The use of said funds shall be at the discretion of the Chairperson of the Department of Food Science and Nutrition and the Coach and/or Director of the wrestling program.

Should the need for these funds cease to exist or so diminish in either of these programs or departments, then 100% of the annual income shall be distributed to the other department or program. Should the need for these funds cease to exist in both programs or departments, then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to the recommendations from the appropriate administrative officials of the University who are then directly responsible for the College of Agriculture and the Department of Athletics.

The Roy C. and Lillian M. Holdridge Scholarship Fund

The Roy C. and Lillian M. Holdridge Scholarship Fund was established April 3, 1987, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from Roy C. Holdridge, and others, of Marion, Ohio.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

Twenty percent (20%) of the annual income shall be added to the fund's principal. The remaining eighty percent (80%) of the annual income shall be used to provide scholarship support for one or more qualified second year students enrolled at The Ohio State University Marion Campus who have indicated a major in Business. Selection of the scholarship recipients will be made by the University Committee on Student Financial Aid upon the recommendation of the Dean and Director of The Ohio State University at Marion. Unused income in any given year will be reinvested in the fund's principal.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income shall be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to the recommendations from the appropriate administrative official of the University who is then directly responsible for scholarship awards to students of the Marion, Ohio, area.

The Sugarbush Kennel Club Fund in Veterinary Medicine

The Sugarbush Kennel Club Fund in Veterinary Medicine was established April 3, 1987, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from the Sugarbush Kennel Club, Inc.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to provide a scholarship for one or more students in the College of Veterinary Medicine who are residents of Geauga County. Preference will be given to the student(s) that exhibit financial need. Selection of the award recipients shall be made by the University Committee on Student Financial Aid and approved by the Dean of the College of Veterinary Medicine.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to the recommendations from the appropriate administrative official of the University who is then directly responsible for veterinary medicine education.

The Lloyd W. Chapman Pharmacy Memorial Scholarship

The Lloyd W. Chapman Pharmacy Memorial Scholarship was established April 3, 1987, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with a gift to The Ohio State University Development Fund from Mrs. Lloyd W. Chapman, New Concord, Ohio, and friends.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to assist students in the College of Pharmacy who have demonstrated high academic achievement and a need for financial support. The selection of the award recipients shall be made by the appropriate College of Pharmacy faculty committee in consultation with the University Committee on Student Financial Aid.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish to provide unused income then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to the recommendations from the appropriate administrative official of the University who is then directly responsible for pharmacy education.

EMPLOYMENT OF ARCHITECT/ENGINEER AND REQUEST FOR CONSTRUCTION BIDS RIGHTMIRE HALL - BIOCHEMISTRY REMODELING

Resolution No. 87-112

Synopsis: Authorization to employ an architectural/engineering firm and request construction bids is proposed.

WHEREAS The Ohio State University is in the process of establishing a Biotechnology Center; and

WHEREAS approximately 5,800 square feet of space on the ground floor of Rightmire Hall will be renovated to establish research space and equipment for the biological chemistry area of the Department of Chemistry; and

WHEREAS $675,000.00 will be made available for this project from Substitute House Bill 870 (the capital appropriations bill) enacted by the 116th General Assembly, of which approximately $525,150.00 is estimated for construction:

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That the President and/or Vice President for Business and Administration, be authorized to select a qualified architectural/engineering firm for this project in conjunction with the Department of Administrative Services, and that the fees for this architectural/engineering service be negotiated between the firm selected and the Department of Administrative Services, Division of Public Works; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That the President and/or Vice President for Business and Administration, be authorized to request construction bids on this project in accordance with established University procedures, and if satisfactory bids are received, to recommend to the Department of Administrative Services, Division of Public Works, the award of contracts with all actions to be reported to this Board at the appropriate time.

Upon motion of Mr. Immke, seconded by Mr. Teaford, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous roll call vote.

REPORT - UNIVERSITY'S INVESTMENT PORTFOLIO
Resolution No. 87-116

RESOLVED, That the report on the University's Investment Portfolio, dated March 20, 1987, as submitted to the Fiscal Affairs Committee of the Board of Trustees, be received and filed with the official records of the Board.

Thereupon the Board adjourned to meet Thursday, May 7, 1987, at The Ohio State University Fawcett Center for Tomorrow, Columbus, Ohio, at 6:30 p.m.

Attest:

Madison H. Scott
Secretary

Daniel M. Galbreath
Chairman
The Board of Trustees met at its regular monthly meeting on Thursday, May 7, and Friday, May 8, 1987, at The Ohio State University Fawcett Center for Tomorrow, Columbus, Ohio, pursuant to adjournment.

Minutes of the last meeting were approved.
May 7 and 8, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

The Chairman, Mr. Galbreath, called the meeting of the Board of Trustees to order on May 7, 1987, at 3:05 p.m. He requested the Secretary to call the roll. The meeting recessed into Executive Session for the purpose of considering legal issues and personnel-related matters.

Present: Daniel M. Galbreath, Chairman, Edmund C. Redman, Shirley D. Bowser, John J. Barone, and Deborah E. Casto.

Mr. Galbreath reconvened the meeting on May 8, 1987, at 10:35 a.m.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS
BOARD OF TRUSTEES

Resolution No. 87-117

Mr. Scott read the Nominating Committee's report in which the following slate of officers were recommended:

WHEREAS pursuant to paragraph (B) of rule 3335-1-02 of the Administrative Code, the officers of the Board are to be elected at the May meeting to take office immediately following adjournment of the meeting (May 8, 1987) and shall hold their office through the May 1988 meeting:

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That the following slate of officers for 1987-88 be elected:

Edmund C. Redman, Chairman
Leonard J. Immke, Vice Chairman
Madison H. Scott, Secretary
James L. Nichols, Treasurer

Upon motion of Mr. Teaford, seconded by Ms. Casto, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous roll call vote.

APPRECIATION TO DANIEL M. GALBREATH

President Jennings made the following statement:

Mr. Chairman, upon the election of new officers I would like, on behalf of all of The Ohio State University, as well as personally, to express our deep and abiding appreciation for all of the outstanding work that you, Dan Galbreath, have done for
President Jennings: (contd)

Ohio State University. The time and the effort that you have expended for us have been well worth it. Nine years seems like a long time, but I know from your point of view it has gone by in a wink of an eye. All of us have benefited from your counsel, your support, your wisdom, and most particularly your understanding of the University and all of its various complexities and constituencies; and for that, Ohio State and I will be eternally grateful.

With that we would like to present to you a very small token of our appreciation to remind you, not only of your efforts through the last nine years, but particularly your efforts during the past year as Chairman of the Board of Trustees.

President Jennings presented Mr. Galbreath with a gavel, inscribed as follows, in recognition of outstanding service as a member and chairman of the Board of Trustees:

DANIEL M. GALBREATH

in appreciation of his service to the Board of Trustees of

The Ohio State University

Member 1978-1987

Chairman 1986-1987

Mr. Galbreath made the following statement:

Thank you, Ed, I appreciate that. It's very, very nice -- I will cherish this. We had a Trustee's dinner last night and I said my farewells, so I will not do that again. But maybe at the end of the meeting I will have a comment or two, because I consider this to be a rare privilege to have had the opportunity to serve.

My father has joined us on my last day, my last hurrah, but for another reason as well. As perhaps some of you might know, we are in the thoroughbred business and have been very close to the Veterinary Hospital here. And as we have traveled around the country, literally, with our horses in competition, the doctors (the vets) that have graduated from Ohio State continually lead the rest of the country in their reputation, particularly in equine surgery. Sadly enough, my father's best three year old, who was an outside possible starter in the Derby this year, came up with a fracture about two months ago. Our trainer in New York said, "I would like to send him out to Dr. Bramlage at Ohio State." Again, more evidence of the reputation, not only of Dr. Bramlage, but other doctors such as Bob Copeland down in Lexington, and Dr. Reed, who travels the racing circuits in New York.
APPRECIATION TO DANIEL M. GALBREATH (contd)

In this Capital Campaign that the University is involved in, one major emphasis is in upgrading and expanding the critical care area in this veterinary surgery area. My father and our family would like to announce a pledge of $1.5 million towards the construction of that. I wanted my dad, obviously, to be here for that announcement.

You can be sure that as we travel in various circles, whether it be the thoroughbred or others, that we expound the virtues of this great University. And in no place, including Lexington, Kentucky, is the work that is done here at our Vet Clinic more appreciated. It is an honor for us to be able to give this particular surgery center an extra little boost. We have enjoyed that opportunity and look forward to its construction.

President Jennings:

Dan, this is a tremendous show of generosity on the part of yourself and the entire Galbreath family. I think it is significant, not only the generosity, but the recognition on the part of the Galbreath family of the truly national and international reputation that The Ohio State University Veterinary School enjoys, not only generally but specifically, in dealing with equine research. This is the type of generosity that will be extraordinarily important in that it provides us with that margin of excellence needed to maintain and continue to expand our quality. We particularly appreciate the faith and confidence that the Galbreath family has placed in Ohio State University, particularly the Vet School, by this tremendously generous gift. We think that we will be up to your confidence and hope to do better. Although, when you're the best in the nation, it's tough to continue to do better. We appreciate it and I think there is no question now that Columbus, Ohio, is the center of equine research and not Lexington, Kentucky.

Mr. Galbreath:

Mr. President, I appreciate you fitting that into your agenda and I might ask Mr. Redman, if he would chair this meeting as I go outside with my dad for a few minutes.

RESOLUTIONS IN MEMORIAM

Resolution No. 87-123

Synopsis: Resolutions honoring the service of three of the University's faculty members who have recently died are being proposed.

RESOLVED, That the Board adopt the following Resolutions in Memoriam and that the President be requested to convey a copy to the families of the deceased.

George L. Lewis

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, expresses its sorrow upon the death on April 16, 1987, of George L. Lewis, Professor Emeritus in the Department of Educational Theory and Practice.

Professor Lewis was born on March 12, 1916. He received Bachelor of Arts and Master of Arts degrees from Brigham Young University and a Ph.D. from the University of Denver in 1954. During World War II, he served as a radio operator with the Army Air Corps.

Dr. Lewis joined the faculty in 1956, serving as Assistant Professor, Associate Professor, and then Professor of Speech and Theater Education in the Humanities Education Program of the Department of Educational Theory and Practice. Upon his retirement in 1985, he was named Professor Emeritus.

Professor Lewis served as Chairman for Graduate Studies in Education from 1957 to 1961. He developed a vigorous children's theater program and directed many children's theater productions on Campus. He authored nearly fifty articles, reviews, and books.

On behalf of the University community, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family of George Lewis its deepest sympathy. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as an expression of the Board's heartfelt sympathy.

H. Farrand Livingston

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on March 9, 1987, of H. Farrand Livingston, Professor Emeritus in the College of Social Work.
May 7 and 8, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

H. Farrand Livingston (cont'd)

Professor Livingston was born December 1, 1907. He received a Bachelor of Arts degree from Yankton College in 1929. For several years he was Chief of the Social Security Administration for the State of South Dakota. He received his MA degree in social service administration from the University of Chicago in 1940.

Professor Livingston joined the faculty of The Ohio State University as an Associate Professor in 1947. He served as an Associate Professor until 1961 when he was promoted to Professor. He served as Professor until his retirement in June 1973. Upon his retirement, Professor Livingston was awarded the rank of Professor Emeritus.

Professor Livingston was the author of several studies related to the nation's experiences during the great depression including works on the CCC, AFDC and Public Welfare. He also gave leadership to the development of national standards for child adoptions and child welfare practices.

On behalf of the University community, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family of H. Farrand Livingston its deepest sympathy. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as an expression of the Board's heartfelt sympathy.

Minnie Price

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on February 21, 1987, of Minnie Price, Professor Emeritus in the Ohio Cooperative Extension Service.

Minnie Price was born December 2, 1888, in Kings Valley, Oregon, and received a Bachelor of Science degree from Oregon State College in 1911. Later, she received a Bachelor of Science degree in Home Economics and Education in 1915 and a Master of Arts degree in Education and Sociology in 1930, both from Columbia University.

Miss Price began her teaching career in an Oregon one-room county school. She became the first county home demonstration agent in New England in 1915. She came to The Ohio State University in 1921 as an Assistant State Home Demonstration Leader and was appointed to the post of State Home Demonstration Leader in 1923, remaining in that position until her retirement in 1951.

After retirement, Minnie Price continued to be involved with home economics related activities serving as Extension Home Economist with the Organization of American States headquartered in Lima, Peru. She was a member of the American and Ohio Home Economics Association; League of Women Voters; Ohio Congress of Parents and Teachers; the American Adult Education Association; and enjoyed working as a hospital volunteer. In her distinguished career, Minnie Price was selected as a representative to the Executive Committee of the National Association of Land Grant Colleges and Universities; received a Superior Service Award from the U.S. Department of Agriculture in May 1950; and received The Ohio State University Centennial Award for Distinguished Service in 1970.
May 7 and 8, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

Minnie Price (contd)

Minnie Price was a true pioneer in her field, a great innovator in the early-day education for women, and enjoyed a long and distinguished career holding the highest of ideals for herself and expected nothing less from those around her. In this model role, she was highly respected by her associates throughout the State and country. Two scholarships bearing her name were established, one at The Ohio State University and one at Oregon State University.

On behalf of the University, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family its deep sympathy and sense of understanding in its loss. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as an expression of the Board's heartfelt sympathy.

Upon motion of Mr. Berry, seconded by Mr. Barone, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous voice vote.

REPORT OF RESEARCH CONTRACTS, GRANTS, AND GIFTS

Resolution No. 87-124

Synopsis: The reports on contracts, grants, and gifts and the summary for March 1987 are presented for Board acceptance.

WHEREAS monies are solicited and received on behalf of the University from governmental, industrial, other agencies, alumni, and various individuals in support of research, instructional activities, and service; and

WHEREAS such gifts and grants are received through The Ohio State University Research Foundation, the Engineering Experiment Station of The Ohio State University, The Ohio State University Development Fund, and The Ohio State University Foundation:

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That the research agreement between The Ohio State University and The Ohio State University Research Foundation for the contracts and grants reported herein, and the acceptance of the reports from the Engineering Experiment Station, The Ohio State University Development Fund, and The Ohio State University Foundation during the month of March 1987 be approved.

Upon motion of Mr. Teaford, seconded by Mr. Barone, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous voice vote.

Law, and Ida Topper, his wife, who was a loyal benefactor of the College of Law, of Columbus, Ohio.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to support and recognize the work of a distinguished scholar and teacher in the College of Law, with first preference being given to a member of the faculty who teaches in the area of administrative law and/or Constitutional law.

It is the desire of the donors that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity. If the need for this fund should cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then another use shall be designated by the Board of Trustees in order to carry out the desire of the donors.

The Dunning, Higham, Mucil and Sprock Fund in Industrial & Systems Engineering

The Dunning, Higham, Mucil and Sprock Fund in Industrial & Systems Engineering was established May 8, 1987, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from members of the Industrial Engineering Class of 1943.

All gifts are to be invested in the University’s Permanent Endowment Fund, in common stock of leading corporations, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used for those purposes other than student aid which will aid the research, teaching, service program/facilities and alumni functions, within the Department of Industrial & Systems Engineering in the College of Engineering. The Chairperson of the Department of Industrial & Systems Engineering will have sole authority to authorize the expenditures from the fund, as approved by the Dean of the College of Engineering.

It is the desire of the donors that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity. If the need for this fund should cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then another use shall be designated by the Board of Trustees in order to carry out the desire of the donors.

Dr. H. Wayne Ramsey Memorial Scholarship in Music Education

The Dr. H. Wayne Ramsey Memorial Scholarship in Music Education was established May 8, 1987, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from friends and family of H. Wayne Ramsey (M.A. '50, Ph.D. '57, Education), Professor Emeritus in the School of Music.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to provide scholarships to students majoring in Music Education with preference given, when possible, to those students majoring in general or choral music education. Recipients will be selected in accordance with procedures established in the School of Music, with final approval of the Director of the School of Music and the Dean of the College of The Arts, in cooperation with the University Committee on Student Financial Aid.

It is the desire of the donors that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity. If the need for this fund should cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then another use shall be designated by the Board of Trustees in order to carry out the desire of the donors.

The Donald N. and Eleanor L. Friend Scholarship Fund

The Donald N. and Eleanor L. Friend Scholarship Fund was established May 8, 1987, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from Donald N. (B.S.Bus.Adm. '40), and Eleanor L. Friend (B.S.Ed. '43) of Harbor Springs, Michigan.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

Ninety percent (90%) of the annual income shall be used to provide a scholarship(s) for an undergraduate student(s) in good standing. The recipient(s) must be a major in Finance with a concentration in banking studies. First preference should be given to a student(s) either attending the Lima Regional Campus of The Ohio State University, or one who has transferred to the Columbus Campus, College of Business, from the Lima Regional Campus. Scholarship recipients will be selected by the Dean of the Lima Campus and the Dean of the College of Business in consultation with the University Committee on Student Financial Aid. The remaining ten percent (10%) shall be allocated to the Beta Alpha Psi Fraternity in the College of Business at The Ohio State University.

The Maude Taylor Stout Instrumental Music Scholarship Fund

The Maude Taylor Stout Instrumental Music Scholarship Fund was established May 8, 1987, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from Dr. Whitney B. Stout (Ph.D., Agricultural Economics '30) and Mrs. Maude Taylor Stout (B.S.Soc.Adm. '23) of Columbus, Ohio.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

Eighty percent (80%) of the annual income is to be used to provide one or more scholarships for academically superior students who are pursuing music degree study in Instrumental Music and/or who may have a need for financial assistance. Recipients will be selected in accordance with procedures established in the School of Music, with final approval of the Director of the School of Music and the Dean of the College of The Arts, in cooperation with the University Committee on Student Financial Aid. The remaining twenty percent (20%) of the annual income is to be added to the principal of the scholarship fund.

It is the desire of the donors that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity. If the need for this fund should cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then another use shall be designated by the Board of Trustees in order to carry out the desire of the donors.

The Thomas E. Leontis Lecture in Modern Greek Studies

The Thomas E. Leontis Lecture in Modern Greek Studies was established May 8, 1987, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from Thomas E. Leontis of Columbus, Ohio.

The Thomas E. Leontis Lecture in Modern Greek Studies (contd)

The annual income shall be used to support a lectureship in Modern Greek Studies. The purpose of the lecture fund is two-fold: first, it is to serve as a catalyst in the Modern Greek Studies Program at the University in generating a keener awareness of the importance of Greek history and culture, especially since 1204, and their contribution to solidifying the bonds between Greece and the United States; and secondly, the lecture fund will bring annually to the Ohio State campus a distinguished speaker of national and/or international reputation who will contribute to the cultural growth of the University and community bodies, by offering new ideas and historical and cultural interpretations of important past and current situations. The selection of the lecturer will be made by a committee chaired by the senior staff member of The Ohio State University Modern Greek Studies Program and including (a) the second staff member of the Program, and (b) an individual selected by the committee Chair either from the University faculty involved with the Program or from the Greek Orthodox Community.

It is the desire of the donor that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity. If the need for this fund should cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then another use shall be designated by the Board of Trustees in order to carry out the desire of the donor.

Change in Description of Named Funds

The William M. and Frances Smith Junk Endowed Fund

The William M. and Frances Smith Junk Endowed Fund was established March 5, 1982, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with a gift to The Ohio State University Development Fund from William M. and Frances Smith Junk of Washington Court House, Ohio. The description was changed May 8, 1987.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income is to be awarded to a physically handicapped student enrolled at The Ohio State University and residing at Creative Living, Columbus, Ohio. Recipients will be determined by the University Committee for Student Financial Aid and the University Office for Disability Services. Preference should be given to a student with demonstrated academic ability and with the greatest financial need.

If the Creative Living housing facility should cease to exist, the income may be awarded to any physically handicapped student enrolled at The Ohio State University. Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any

The Frank E. and Harriet E. Hedrick Aviation Student Award Fund

The Frank E. and Harriet E. Hedrick Scholarship Endowment Fund was established November 5, 1982, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts from Frank E. and Harriet E. Hedrick. By mutual agreement between the Frank E. and Harriet E. Hedrick Foundation and the University's Department of Aviation, the purpose of this fund was changed May 8, 1987, to a student award in Aviation, and the title was revised accordingly.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income is to be used to provide one or more awards to students enrolled in the Department of Aviation with proven academic ability and good moral character. In keeping with Frank E. and Harriet E. Hedrick's long interest in involving young persons in flight careers, preference will be given to students beginning an aviation career involving flight. Selection will be made by the Dean of the College of Engineering in cooperation with the Chairperson of the Department of Aviation.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to the recommendations from the appropriate administrative official of the University who is then directly responsible for aviation education.

Income will be added to the principal until such time as Bank One recommends how the initial distribution of funds is to be made to The Ohio State University, at which time the chair shall be established. Bank One may recommend that income be distributed to the University rather than reinvested before completion of its pledge commitment. However, the principal may not be invaded.

When determining its recommendation for the initial distribution of income to The Ohio State University (e.g., the first recipient of the Bank One Chair for Excellence), Bank One officials will consult with representatives of the University administration (including, but not limited to, the President and the Vice President for Academic Affairs and Provost) and the Board of Directors of The Ohio State University Foundation. Bank One's recommendation will be based on its assessment of a critical need that exists at the University to attract a renowned individual to the faculty, or to encourage a distinguished member of the current faculty to remain at Ohio State. The most important qualification for the person who will hold the chair will be his or her ability to enhance the excellence of The Ohio State University. The final recommendation will be made to the Vice President for Academic Affairs and Provost, and approved by The Ohio State University Board of Trustees.

The occupant of the chair shall be known as "The Bank One Professor of Excellence." The individual named by the University as the initial holder of the Bank One Chair for Excellence will retain the chair until he or she leaves the faculty. Subsequent holders of the chair will be recommended by the Vice President for Academic Affairs and Provost, in consultation with officials of Bank One.

The William H. Davis Medical Research Center Fund

The William H. Davis Medical Research Center Fund was established May 8, 1987, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University through funds received by the University from The Ohio State University Foundation, which has established an endowed fund with gifts from Dorothy M. Davis, in memory of her husband, William H. Davis, B.S.Bus.Adm. '26.

Income provided by the Foundation shall be used to support the basic and applied clinical research activities, to be undertaken in The William H. Davis Medical Research Center, into the cause, cure and prevention of human illnesses and disorders common during normal aging, such as arteriosclerosis, rheumatoid arthritis, and chronic liver disease. All expenditures of such funds shall have the approval of both the Director of the Division of Immunology and the Dean of the College of Medicine.

The College of Medicine will also be responsible for providing an annual report to Dorothy M. Davis and William C. Davis, during their lifetimes, with regard to all research activity.

The Dorothy M. Davis Chair in Cancer Research Fund was established May 8, 1987, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University through funds received by the University from The Ohio State University Foundation, which has established an endowed fund with gifts from Dorothy M. Davis.

Income provided by the Foundation shall be used to support The Dorothy M. Davis Chair in Cancer Research Fund. This chair shall be established by The Ohio State University to advance cancer research.

The individual appointed to this chair should have a record of significant achievements in the field of cancer research. Appointment to the Davis Chair in Cancer Research will be recommended by the Dean of the College of Medicine to the Provost and approved by The Ohio State University Board of Trustees.

The College of Medicine will also be responsible for providing an annual report to Dorothy M. Davis and William C. Davis, during their lifetimes, with regard to all research activity.

NON-SMOKING POLICY Resolution No. 87-127

Synopsis: A change in the University's non-smoking policy is proposed.

WHEREAS the University's interest in promoting the general health and well-being of its faculty, staff, and students has been well documented and over time has been demonstrated through a multiplicity of health promotion programs; and

WHEREAS in furtherance of this commitment, the University recognizes the need to modify its present smoking policy as set forth in Faculty Rule 3335-13-02 and Trustee Bylaw 3335-1-08(F) in an effort to reduce the level of environmental contaminants produced by smoking; and

WHEREAS in addressing this question the University should seek to accommodate the needs of smokers and non-smokers through the adoption of a comprehensive policy statement; and

WHEREAS the University has received a report from a Committee established to review the University Non-Smoking Policy which solicited opinion and other information from the University community and other comparable institutions on the issue of smoking, which study has been reviewed by University administrative personnel who have made their own independent assessment:

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That 3335-1-08(F) of the Bylaws of the Board of Trustees is hereby rescinded and that the non-smoking policy in the form as attached hereto as Appendix A, be adopted effective July 1, 1987 and the policy shall be published in the appropriate section of the Operating Manual; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That as a part of the general health promotion programs of the University, a voluntary smoking cessation program for faculty, staff, and students who smoke should be made available.
Upon motion of Mr. Teaford, seconded by Ms. Casto, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous voice vote.

APPENDIX A

THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY

SUBJECT: NON-SMOKING POLICY

APPLIES TO: UNIVERSITY FACULTY, STAFF, AND STUDENTS

POLICY

The University recognizes the need to create and maintain an environmental quality which sustains and enhances the general health and well-being of its faculty, staff, students, and visitors. As part of a continuing effort to meet its commitment in this area, the Board of Trustees at its May 8, 1987, meeting adopted a policy which establishes new University standards for the creation of a smoke-free environment. Consistent with the spirit and intent of this policy, should irreconcilable conflicts arise between individuals who choose to smoke and those who do not, the rights of non-smokers will prevail.

POLICY GUIDELINES

A. Smoking will not be permitted in any of the following interior areas and such areas will be designated as "No Smoking" areas:

1. Classrooms
2. Auditoriums/conference rooms
3. Laboratories
4. Elevators
5. Theaters
6. Word processing/computer areas
7. Copier rooms
8. Mailrooms
9. Reception areas
10. Open office areas
11. Libraries
12. University Hospitals
13. Areas in which fire and safety hazards exist
May 7 and 8, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

APPENDIX A (contd)

14. Any area not specifically designated "Smoking Permitted"

15. Other areas from time-to-time as may be designated

B. Areas which are designated as smoking areas will be clearly marked with "Smoking Permitted" signs. Smoking is also permitted in:

1. Individual offices which are enclosed by floor-to-ceiling walls and doors may be designated as smoking or non-smoking at the request of the individual assigned to the office. When requested by the occupant, the appropriate administrator may designate an individual office as a smoking area provided that there is no conflict with the interior non-smoking areas identified in Policy Guidelines A through A15.

2. Dining Halls may be designated smoking or non-smoking in whole or in part as determined by appropriate administrative officials. As a general principle, residence halls and University apartments are considered private living spaces where smoking decisions are made by the occupants.

C. Coordinative Responsibility

1. Vice presidents, deans, chairpersons, administrative officials and supervisors are generally responsible for the implementation and enforcement of the smoking policy. It is hoped, in light of the health issues involved, that most people will comply with this policy out of self-interest and concern for others. However, complaints or concerns regarding this policy or disputes regarding its implementation should be referred to the immediate administrator/supervisor for resolution.

2. College/department administrative officials should make every effort to assure that this policy is communicated to everyone within their jurisdiction and to all new members of the University community.

3. College/department administrative officials should also assure that appropriate signs are posted.

4. Requests for exception to this policy and/or complaints which cannot be resolved at the unit/department or college level should be referred to the Office of Personnel Services.

D. Sale of Cigarettes in University Buildings

The sale of cigarettes or other tobacco products in campus buildings/facilities shall be prohibited after three years from the date of adoption of this policy.

E. Smoking Cessation Program

The University will offer a smoking-cessation program for faculty and staff as well as students. A nominal charge will be assessed participants to help defray the cost of materials used. The University Faculty and Staff Assistance Program will serve as a resource for inquiries and provide information relative to smoking cessation programs.

F. Policy Review

It is recommended that this policy be reviewed carefully by University administration for several years to determine its effectiveness.

This policy relies on thoughtfulness, consideration and cooperation of smokers and non-smokers for its success. It is the responsibility of all members of the University community to observe this policy and these policy guidelines and to direct those who choose to smoke to designated "Smoking Permitted" areas.

President Jennings made the following statement:

Mr. Chairman, in keeping with the normal budget cycle for the University, it is my responsibility to report to you our budget plans for next year at this meeting, so that a resolution on budget guidelines can be brought before this Board in June for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1987. Because the General Assembly is still deliberating on the state budget for higher education, the institutional budget and tuition guidelines I am outlining here today must be considered tentative.

One thing of which we are certain, however, is that the budget actions to date regarding state support for higher education are less than adequate. The proposals we have seen thus far from the state will not allow us to continue to enhance excellence in the context of the important land-grant principle of accessibility.

Let me briefly place the current budget proposals in historical perspective. With the bi-partisan support of the Governor and the General Assembly, higher education has made substantial strides in the previous and the current biennia.

In particular, major progress has been made in reducing the average share of a student's educational costs paid for through tuition, from a high of 47 percent in 1982 to 36 percent today. There was, indeed, a consensus in state government that every effort should be made to achieve a student share at the national average of 33 percent in the future. Although we had not yet reached this goal, our progress has made quality higher education more affordable for Ohioans.

Now, unfortunately, the progress that we have made in recent years is being threatened by inadequate budgetary recommendations for higher education for the next biennium. The Executive Budget would increase the share of the cost of education paid by tuition from 36 percent to 42 percent, and would require average tuition increases of 31 percent for the next academic year.
Such an increase would place a heavy burden on students and their families. But just as importantly, it would begin to move public higher education away from the land-grant principle of accessibility. Broad access is critical to our mission at Ohio State. And it is a shared responsibility of this University and of all the citizens of Ohio.

Let me outline the problem in other terms. Under the Executive Budget, Ohio State was presented with a budget deficit -- which we are expected to make up through a 31 percent tuition increase -- of $61 million. I would point out that that $61 million is an extremely large shortfall. It is enormously difficult to recoup dollars on that scale internally without reductions in quality.

This University has continually recognized its obligations to reduce costs and accept fiscal responsibility for efficient and effective operations. This has been re-emphasized in our new institutional efforts on cost containment tied to the bonus program. With this activity, we had hoped to generate several million dollars in new internal funds to further enhance academic and support service programs at Ohio State. But now it appears that, in order to keep tuition as low as possible, the cost containment dollars must be used to make up shortages in the state budget.

I do want to note that the Ohio House of Representatives improved upon the Executive Budget recommendations for the instructional subsidy. We appreciate this effort in the House. The action enables us to further reduce our tuition increase.

With the $24 million we will generate internally through cost containment, and the $7.7 million enhancement to the instructional subsidy by the House, we are able to reduce Ohio State's tuition increase to less than half of the 31 percent assumed in the Executive Budget. If no further changes are made to the higher education budget by the Senate and the Conference Committee, I expect to reluctantly recommend tuition increases, effective Autumn Quarter for the 1987-88 academic year, that will average 14 percent.

This is, of course, still far too high an increase for a land-grant University committed to the principle of broad accessibility. The state budget currently is before the Ohio Senate, and I am very pleased to report that the Senate leadership has stated publicly that higher education will be its top priority in the next biennium -- just as it was in the current biennium. We are now looking to the Senate for further improvements in the higher education budget.

As we await their forthcoming recommendations, I want to reiterate the fundamental importance of the principle of accessibility at Ohio State. Therefore, I am today committing Ohio State to reduce our proposed tuition increase of 14 percent in proportion to the General Assembly's further additions to the instructional subsidy. Our target is to reduce the necessary tuition increases to no more than inflationary levels, some five percent per year. This could be achieved with an additional state appropriation of $143 million for higher education as a whole.

In line with our policy of considering all costs for students, it is my further intention that the increases in all other charges of the institution will average five percent next year. This includes residence and dining halls, parking, special event tickets, bookstore rates, Hospitals rates and all other fees assessed by the University.

In allocating funds within the institution, our first priority will be providing sufficient funding for student financial aid to ensure that we maintain the purchasing power of our grants to students with demonstrated need. We also will provide funds so that students newly eligible for aid due to the increase in tuition will receive the assistance they need.

In addition, I expect to recommend salary increases for all faculty and staff members -- except those covered under collective bargaining agreements -- of two percent across-the-board, with three percent provided to fund merit increases.

These salary recommendations, however, are less than is necessary to maintain our competitive position among other major research universities. As we continue to pursue the best available faculty and staff from around the nation and to maintain our leadership in higher education, I additionally will recommend a centrally available salary pool of $3 million to fund necessary equity and excellence adjustments where appropriate throughout the institution.

Within the colleges and administrative units, I anticipate recommending increases of three percent per year in equipment and supplies budgets.

There is one additional issue that needs to be addressed in the context of this University's budget expectations from the State of Ohio. We all recognize that the state faces a tight budget situation for the coming biennium. But I believe it is inappropriate to put such an enormous share of the burden of the state's revenue shortfall on our students and all of Ohio's institutions of higher education.

We have done more than our share in earlier times during true economic stringency, and we have had to cut our costs year after year at Ohio State. Our operating costs already are well below the average for universities across the nation. This has been achieved even as our quality continues to grow. But without a continued commitment from the state to our excellence, the prospects for maintaining our enviable record grow dimmer.

My role in the State of Ohio budget process is to articulate the needs of The Ohio State University, as part of the Ohio higher education community. When I express those needs -- such as the $143 million figure that I have mentioned today -- I also am often asked, and reasonably so, just where this additional funding from higher education might be found.

Clearly, the choices facing our elected state officials are not easy, as they seek ways to meet all of the State of Ohio's budgetary needs. But to maintain the progress on economic redevelopment that we have made in recent years, and to guarantee the citizens of Ohio excellence and accessibility in higher education, some difficult choices must be made.

It is indeed troubling that, in times of relative economic prosperity, Ohio is faced with serious revenue shortfalls. When we consider what a dwindling resource base could mean in even a minor recession in future years, the implications are clearly ominous. Yet the state is currently implementing further reductions in its resource base under the return of the federal tax reform "windfall."

If we are to maintain fiscal stability and renew the state's potential to generate economic growth over the long-term, and at the same time retain the current income tax rates -- which, I should point-out, are lower today than they were in 1982 -- this windfall return is clearly less than wise and, indeed, is simply not affordable for Ohio at the present time.

It is my hope that the Governor and the General Assembly will take the strong bi-partisan leadership position that the state needs to make provisions for Ohio's long-term needs. A fair share of an adequate state budget needs to be committed to excellence and accessibility in higher education -- the fundamental resource for Ohio's future prosperity.

Thank you, Mr. Chairman, that completes my agenda.

Robert L. Clodius

Robert L. Clodius has been president of the National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges since November 1978. The association represents 145 of the nation's major, comprehensive public universities that enroll approximately 30 percent of all college students in the nation and graduate almost two-thirds of all Ph.D. recipients.

Dr. Clodius served 28 years as a faculty member and administrator at the University of Wisconsin-Madison, where he was an associate dean of the graduate school, chairperson of the agricultural economics department, acting provost, academic vice president, executive vice president, and acting president. After his distinguished administrative service, the Regents created a special chair, Professor of the University, to which Clodius was named.

Born in Walla Walla, Washington, Dr. Clodius attended Whitman College, graduated from the University of California at Berkeley in 1942, and was elected to Phi Beta Kappa. During World War II, Dr. Clodius served in the United States Navy. After the war, he returned to the University of California, receiving his Ph.D. degree in agricultural economics in 1950. Whitman College honored him with an honorary Doctor of Laws degree in 1970.

Having traveled extensively in East and West Africa, South America, and Southeast Asia, Dr. Clodius had consulted with governments and agencies here and overseas, including the U.S. Department of State and Department of Agriculture, the Ford Foundation, the Rockefeller Foundation, the University of East Africa, and the Government of Sierra Leone. He has served on many boards in higher education and currently is an advisory commissioner to the Education Commission of the States and chairperson of the advisory committee for the National Center on Agricultural Policy at Resources for the Future.

As author and former editor of the Journal of Farm Economics, Dr. Clodius is widely recognized for his work in agricultural policy and economics and in higher education administration. We are delighted to welcome this distinguished member of the higher education community to our campus today to speak at the 300th Commencement of The Ohio State University.
Recipients of Honors

Pavle Ivić

Doctor of Humane Letters

Academician Pavle Ivić, Professor Emeritus from the University of Belgrade, is the most distinguished Yugoslav linguist and the world's foremost scholar in the study of Serbo-Croatian dialects. He is recognized as one of the world's leading authorities in Slavic linguistics and has been instrumental in the development of South Slavic studies in the United States.

A member of the Serbian Academy of Sciences and Arts, Professor Ivić was born in Belgrade, Yugoslavia, graduated from the University of Belgrade in 1949, and received his Ph.D. there in 1954. He has served as a visiting professor at a number of American universities, including Columbia University, the University of Michigan, and The Ohio State University. Ivić has lectured at over forty institutes, universities, and academies around the world.

President of the Linguistic Society of Europe, Professor Ivić also is a member of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, the Royal Norwegian Academy, the Permanent International Congress of Linguists, and an honorary member of the Linguistic Society of America.

As a renowned teacher, he is revered by his colleagues and students for his generosity and his intellectual honesty. Professor Ivić has played a significant role in training a whole generation of Yugoslav linguists not only through his teaching, but through the numerous articles and books he has written.

The Ohio State University is proud to recognize this distinguished scholar and teacher for his outstanding contributions to the study of Serbo-Croatian linguistics by conferring upon him the honorary degree, Doctor of Humane Letters.

Grads with Honors

Criteria for graduating with honors are as follows:

With Distinction requires successful completion of a Senior Honors Thesis, oral examination, and graduation in the top 25% of the class.

With Honors in the Liberal Arts requires successful completion of the Arts and Sciences Honors Contract and graduation in the top 25% of the class.

Cum Laude designates those graduating in the top 10% of the class.

Summa Cum Laude designates those graduating in the top 3% of the class.

ESTABLISHMENT OF A NEW RULE — RULES OF THE UNIVERSITY FACULTY

Resolution No. 87-132

Synopsis: Establishment of a new rule, 3335-7-231, of the Rules of the University Faculty is proposed.

WHEREAS the University has established a policy on the retention or disposal of materials submitted by students to meet course requirements; and

WHEREAS this policy was approved in 1978, by the Council on Academic Affairs with the concurrence of the Council on Student Affairs and the Committee on Academic Freedom and Responsibility; and

WHEREAS such a policy should be part of the Rules of the University Faculty; and

WHEREAS the proposed rule has been endorsed by the Council on Student Affairs and the Committee on Academic Freedom and Responsibility; and

WHEREAS the University Senate approved this action at their May 2, 1987 meeting, as follows:

NEW RULE

3335-7-231 Retention or disposal of materials submitted to meet course requirements.

(A) Materials submitted by a student to satisfy course requirements shall either be returned to the student or made available for the student's inspection, after they have been marked or otherwise evaluated, before the end of the quarter, semester, session, or term in which the work is performed or, in the case of final projects and final examinations, no later than the fourteenth day of instruction of the following quarter, semester, session, or term.

(B) Materials of this kind which have not been returned to the student shall be retained by the academic unit or the individual instructor until the last day on which a grade change may be initiated as provided for in rule 3335-7-23 (A) of the Administrative Code. An exception to this rule may be made in the case of materials that are impracticable to store if the need for such exception is clearly communicated in writing and distributed to the students at the beginning of the course.

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That the establishment of rule 3335-7-231, Retention or Disposal of Materials Submitted to Meet Course Requirements, is hereby approved.

Upon motion of Mr. Berry, seconded by Mr. Immke, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous voice vote.

AMENDMENTS TO THE RULES OF THE UNIVERSITY FACULTY

Resolution No. 87-133

Synopsis: Amendments to rules 3335-5-486, 3335-7-10, and 3335-7-33 are being proposed.

WHEREAS the University Senate pursuant to rule 3335-1-09 of the Administrative Code is authorized to recommend through the President to the Board of Trustees the adoption of amendments to the Rules of the University Faculty as approved by the University Senate; and

WHEREAS the proposed changes in the Rules of the University Faculty were approved by the University Senate on May 2, 1987, as follows:

AMENDED RULES

3335-5-486 Council on admission and registration.

(A) Unchanged.

(B) Duties and responsibilities.

Review current practices and policies, initiate recommendations for change, and review proposed changes in practices and policies concerning admission to the university, registration and scheduling, and student academic records. These would include, but not be limited to:

(1) Selection criteria, conditions, requirements, restrictions, fees, deadlines, and procedures for evaluation of transfer credit as these pertain to admission to the university.
June 4 and 5, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

AMENDMENTS TO THE RULES OF THE UNIVERSITY FACULTY (contd)

(2) Procedures and policies for registration and scheduling including scheduling priorities for students, restrictions on scheduling, and student schedule adjustments, as well as deadlines and fees associated with registration and scheduling.

(3) Content of student academic records, as well as their compilation, maintenance, dissemination, and use.

Recommendations on these matters should be made to the university administrators dealing with admission, registration and scheduling, and to the university senate as appropriate. The vice president for academic affairs and provost, the vice provost for student affairs, the office of the university senate, and the vice president for finance shall be notified of all actions of the council. Recommendations which in the opinion of the vice president for academic affairs and provost would affect academic policies shall be reviewed by the council on academic affairs.

3335-7-10 Academic publications.

All official bulletins of the university shall be published from the copy furnished by the council on academic affairs; but mere editorial changes, as defined by the council on academic affairs, may be made in such copy by the appropriate designated individual in the office of academic affairs after receiving the approval of the department or school concerned.

3335-7-33 Conditions for disenrollment from a course.

(A) After consultation with the instructor, the chairperson of the instructor's department (or other appropriate administrative official) may disenroll a student from a course if:

(1) After the third instructional day of the quarter, semester, session, or term, the first Friday of the quarter, or the student's second scheduled class session of the course, whichever occurs first, the student fails to attend the scheduled course without giving prior notification to the instructor. Under this paragraph, no student may be disenrolled from a course before that course has met. When the department elects to use this procedure, the chairperson (or other appropriate administrative official) shall notify the student's enrollment unit. The enrollment unit will notify the student and take appropriate action to remove the student from the course.

Since not all departments exercise the option to disenroll students in all courses, this rule does not relieve the student of the responsibility for dropping such a course the student is not attending.

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That the foregoing amendments to the Rules of the University Faculty be adopted as recommended by the University Senate.
June 4 and 5, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

AMENDMENTS TO THE RULES OF THE UNIVERSITY FACULTY (contd)

Upon motion of Mr. Immke, seconded by Ms. Casto, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous voice vote.

RESOLUTIONS IN MEMORIAM

Resolution No. 87-135

Synopsis: Resolutions honoring the service of two of the University's faculty members who have recently died are being proposed.

RESOLVED, That the Board adopt the following Resolutions in Memoriam and that the President be requested to convey a copy to the families of the deceased.

Zeph J. R. Hollenbeck

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on April 15, 1987, of Dr. Zeph J. R. Hollenbeck, Professor Emeritus in the Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology.

Zeph John Reed Hollenbeck was born in Madison, Indiana, the son of a veterinarian with the United States government. He grew up in several cities across the Midwest and ultimately came to Columbus to complete his baccalaureate degree at The Ohio State University in 1931, after which he went on to study medicine at OSU. He received the Doctor of Medicine degree Cum Laude in 1935. He did his residency training in surgery and Ob-Gyn at Henry Ford Hospital in Detroit, Michigan.

Dr. Hollenbeck was in the private practice of his specialty in this community for over four decades and he was an integral part of the teaching program in Obstetrics and Gynecology at The Ohio State University from 1940 until his retirement from the faculty in 1980. Upon his retirement he was named Professor Emeritus. In addition, he served for twenty years as Chief of Staff of St. Ann's Hospital. He was Attending Obstetrician/Gynecologist at University Hospitals and Riverside Methodist Hospital, and was a consultant in Obstetrics and Gynecology at Children's Hospital, Mt. Carmel Hospital, and to the Veterans Administration Hospital in Dayton.

Zeph, as he was known to a myriad of professional colleagues and friends, took an active and leading role in many medical organizations. He was a founding member of the Columbus Obstetric/Gynecological Society and served as its first president in 1944. He was a Fellow of the American College of Surgeons and a member of its Board of Governors. He was a member and president of the Central Association of Obstetricians and Gynecologists. He was a Fellow of the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists and he chaired the Ohio Section of that organization. He was a member and president of the Central Travel Club of Obstetricians and Gynecologists and he was a member of the Association of Professors of Gynecology and Obstetrics.

Dr. Hollenbeck held memberships in Sigma Chi, honorary scientific fraternity; Alpha Omega Alpha, honor medical society; and he was the recipient of an Alumni Achievement Award from the College of Medicine. He served his alma mater as president of The Ohio State University College of Medicine Alumni Association in 1974-75.

Dr. Hollenbeck's clinical and research activities centered around clinical management of Stages I and II carcinoma of the cervix, the treatment of urinary stress incontinence, and the development of surgical techniques which he passed on to his residents with vigor and enthusiasm. His role in his specialty was one of distinction both locally and nationally, bringing credit to his alma mater, to the institutions of which he was a part, and to the profession of medicine as well. His death on April 15, 1987, in many ways marked the end of an era.

On behalf of the university community, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family of Zeph J. R. Hollenbeck its deepest sympathy. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as an expression of the Board's heartfelt sympathy.

Clarence E. Jackson

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on May 2, 1987, of Clarence E. Jackson, Professor Emeritus in the Department of Welding Engineering.

Professor Jackson received his B.A. with honors from Carleton College in 1927. He began his career as a metallurgist with the National Bureau of Standards in 1930 and during World War II was with the Naval Research Laboratory, the start of his long association with welding research. His studies included the processes and metallurgy of welding, particularly regarding high strength steels and aluminum alloys. He entered the private sector in 1946, conducting welding research at Union Carbide. During this period some of his most well-known contributions were made involving welding arc physics and the chemistry of slag-metal reactions.

Professor Jackson's 13-year career at The Ohio State University began in 1964. While at OSU, he supervised research programs and introduced several new courses into the curriculum of the department. Upon his retirement in 1977, he was named Professor Emeritus. Following his retirement, he continued teaching his ever-popular "Fluxes and Slags" to new generations of welding engineering students. He served on numerous committees of the American Welding Society, and held many offices, including the Presidency in 1963–64. He was active in the International Institute of Welding as Delegate, Expert, and Chairman of several commissions. He published over 70 papers, held over 50 patents and advised over 40 graduate theses. His 1960 Adams Lecture, "The Science of Arc Welding," is considered a classic.

Professor Jackson received the Distinguished Civilian Service Award from the Navy and numerous awards from the American Welding Society, including the Samuel Wylie Miller Gold Medal; the National Meritorious Service Award; the Adams Memorial Membership; and the E. D. Thomas Memorial Medal. He was an Honorary Fellow of the British Institute of Welding and was recognized by Carleton College with an Alumni Achievement Award in 1981. He was notified in April that The Ohio State University College of Engineering had designated him as recipient of its "Meritorious Service Citation." It was presented posthumously to his son, William, in ceremonies at Ohio State University on May 15, 1987.

On behalf of the University community, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family of Professor Jackson its deepest sympathy. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as a sincere expression of the Board's realization of the loss that the family, the University and his many friends and associates have sustained.

Upon motion of Mrs. Bowser, seconded by Mr. Teaford, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous voice vote.

University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from the suppliers and franchise owners of Wendy’s International, Inc.

All gifts are to be invested in the University’s Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to support cancer research as approved by the Medical Director of the Cancer Research Institute and the Dean of the College of Medicine. If it is determined that funding for cancer research is so ample, then the income from this fund may be used for those purposes as deemed appropriate by the Medical Director of the Cancer Research Institute.

It is the desire of the donors that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity. If the need for this fund should cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then another use shall be designated by the Board of Trustees in order to carry out the desire of the donors.

The Steve R. and Sarah E. O'Donnell Computer and Information Science Fund

The Steve R. and Sarah E. O'Donnell Computer and Information Science Fund was established June 5, 1987, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with a gift to The Ohio State University Development Fund from Steve R. O'Donnell (B.E.E. '62, M.S. Electrical Engineering '63) and Sarah E. O'Donnell of Westerville, Ohio.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as may be deemed appropriate.

The annual income shall be used for those purposes which will aid the research, teaching and service programs/facilities within the Department of Computer and Information Science. The Chairperson of the Department of Computer and Information Science is authorized to withdraw no more than one-fourth of the principal amount of the endowment over a 12-month period if necessary. The Chairperson of the Department of Computer and Information Science will have sole authority to authorize expenditures from the Fund, as approved by the Dean of the College of Engineering.

It is the desire of the donors that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity. If the need for this fund should cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then another use shall be designated by the Board of Trustees in order to carry out the desire of the donors.

The Clara M. and Peter L. Scott Faculty Award for Excellence in Engineering Education

The Clara M. and Peter L. Scott Faculty Award for Excellence in Engineering Education was established June 5, 1987, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with a gift to The Ohio State University Development Fund from Clara M. and Peter L. Scott (B.E.E. '49).

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as may be deemed appropriate.

All income earned through the investment of specific fund monies, including all contributions thereto, will be accumulated and credited to the fund's principal until such time as one-half of the annual income of the fund will support an award of at least $3,000, plus associated expenses for an appropriate plaque or certificate to accompany the award. Upon such times as one-half of the annual income of the fund equals $3,000 or more (plus expenses), but no more often than annually, the award will be made of an amount equal to one-half of the annual income. The remaining half of the annual income will be accumulated and credited to the fund's principal. The award will be presented to the outstanding educator among the senior faculty members of the College of Engineering and will be based on excellence in teaching and the qualitative aspects of teaching, with emphasis on effective innovation. As a rule, the award will be made to an individual (except under unique circumstances in any year that suggests a team should receive the award).

Nominations for the award will be made by faculty members of the College of Engineering, and the final selection of the recipient will be made by a committee consisting of the Dean of the College of Engineering, one or more senior representatives from the faculty of the College of Engineering, a representative from the private sector whose business involves engineering, and one undergraduate member of the College of Engineering student body.

It is the desire of the donors that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity. If the need for this fund should cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then another use shall be designated by the Board of Trustees in order to carry out the desire of the donors.

Michael Del Bane Memorial Cancer Research Fund

The Michael Del Bane Memorial Cancer Research Fund was established June 5, 1987, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from Angeline C. Del Bane (B.S.Ed. '35), Hubbard, Ohio, in memory of her husband, Michael Del Bane.

Hazen and Anna Jane Hildebolt Preble County Scholarship Fund

The Hazen and Anna Jane Hildebolt Preble County Scholarship Fund was established June 5, 1987, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from William M. Hildebolt (B.S. Food Tech. '66; M.S. Horticulture '67; Ph.D. Horticulture '69) and his wife, Sandra, in honor of William's parents.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to provide one or more scholarships to students from Preble County who are interested in majoring in Agriculture or Home Economics. Criteria for selection shall include outstanding scholastic achievement and demonstrated leadership potential through extra-curricular activities. Preference will be given to those students with financial need. Preference will also be given to those students in their senior year of study at Eaton High School. In the event that there are no eligible candidates from Eaton High School, then the selection will be made from eligible high school seniors within Preble County. Selection will be made by the University Committee on Student Financial Aid in consultation with the Deans of the College of Agriculture and the College of Home Economics.

It is the desire of the donors that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity. If the need for this fund should cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then another use shall be designated by the Board of Trustees in order to carry out the desire of the donors.

The Hulda Ungericht Wells Scholarship Fund

The Hulda Ungericht Wells Scholarship Fund was established June 5, 1987, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund through a bequest from Hulda Ungericht Wells (B.S.H.E. '28) of Columbus, Ohio, and a gift from her sister, Helen C. Ungericht of Columbus, Ohio, in her honor.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to provide scholarships in the College of Home Economics not to exceed the sum of One Thousand Five Hundred Dollars ($1,500) to deserving students in the College of Home Economics. The recipients shall be selected at the discretion of the Dean of the College of Home Economics in consultation with the University Committee on Student Financial Aid. These scholarships may, at the Dean's discretion, be awarded to the same students in successive years.

It is the desire of the donors that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity. If the need for this fund should cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then another use shall be designated by the Board of Trustees in order to carry out the desire of the donors.

Richland County Ohio State University Alumni Club

The Ohio State University at Mansfield Scholarship Endowment Fund

The Richland County Ohio State University Alumni Club The Ohio State University at Mansfield Scholarship Endowment Fund was established June 5, 1987, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from the Richland County Ohio State University Alumni Club.

A minimum of 95% of the annual income shall be distributed to scholarship recipients qualified under the criteria established, with no scholarship recipient receiving less than 50% of the amount of the tuition, at the time of the award, for a full academic year.

The purpose of the Richland County Alumni Club Scholarship is to recognize academic ability and outstanding leadership in a student(s) who will begin his/her college experience at The Ohio State University at Mansfield. The guidelines to be used in determining the recipient of the award are as follows:

1. This award is to recognize ability, achievement, and leadership qualities without regard for financial need.

2. Selection preference will be given to a current year high school senior, residing in Richland county, who will attend Autumn Quarter at The Ohio State University at Mansfield.

3. The recipient will rank in the upper 25% of the graduating class (preferably the upper 10%); have above average ACT or SAT scores; and have demonstrated significant leadership qualities through school activities and/or community involvement.

4. The amount of this award shall equal one-half the amount of a full year -- three quarters -- full tuition budget. The award amount may be increased up to full tuition, as the growth of the endowment fund permits.

5. This three quarter scholarship will become renewable at that point when the growth of the fund can sustain renewable scholarships. The criteria for renewal shall be that the recipient:
   a. Maintains his/her enrollment at OSU Mansfield and
   b. Has a cumulative grade point average of 2.5 or better and has maintained satisfactory progress toward a degree.

6. If the student leaves OSU Mansfield within an academic year, the unused portion of the award will revert to the Richland County Alumni Scholarship Fund.

7. The appropriate authorities at The Ohio State University at Mansfield, in consultation with the University Committee on Student Financial Aid and the Richland County Alumni Club, will select the recipient of this award from a candidate pool identified by the Richland County OSU Alumni Club.

It is the desire of the donors that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity. If the need for this fund should cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then another use shall be designated by the Board of Trustees in order to carry out the desire of the donors.
Establishment of Named Funds (contd)

The Ichthyology Research Endowment Fund

The Ichthyology Research Endowment Fund was established June 5, 1987, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from supporters of the Ichthyology collection in the Museum of Zoology of the College of Biological Sciences.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used for research and publication on the collection of Fishes, recent and fossil, in The Ohio State University Museum of Zoology. Expenditures from the fund will be initiated by the Curator of Fishes as approved by the Chairperson of the Department of Zoology and the Dean of the College of Biological Sciences.

It is the desire of the donors that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity. If the need for this fund should cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then another use shall be designated by the Board of Trustees in order to carry out the desire of the donors.

Change of Name and Description of Named Funds

The Dr. Lewis R. Basch and Dr. Richard L. Basch Memorial Award

The Richard L. Basch Memorial Learning Resource Fund was established March 4, 1977, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund in memory of Richard L. Basch (D.D.S. '61) and Lewis R. Basch (D.D.S. '25) from family, friends, and former colleagues. The name and description were changed June 5, 1987.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to provide one or more scholarships to a junior dental student who has displayed superior clinical abilities and outstanding communication abilities working with patients humanistically and professionally. The scholarship recipient will be selected by the University Committee on Student Financial Aid in consultation with the Dean of the College of Dentistry.

It is the desire of the donors that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity. If the need for this fund should cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then another use shall be designated by the Board of Trustees in order to carry out the desire of the donors.

Intercollegiate Livestock and Meat Judging Teams Endowment Fund

The Intercollegiate Livestock Evaluation Team Endowment Fund was established April 3, 1981, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from alumni and friends. The name and description were changed June 5, 1987.

It was established under the name "Intercollegiate Livestock Evaluation Team Endowment Fund" which was intended to include: 1) Livestock Team; 2) Meat Team; and 3) AK-SAR-BEN Team.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income from this fund shall be used to provide support for The Ohio State University Undergraduate Livestock, Meat, and AK-SAR-BEN Judging Squads (Teams) in preparation for and/or in representing the University in regional and national intercollegiate contests and associated educational program. Funds will be distributed by the Chairperson of the Department of Animal Science.

It is the desire of the donors that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity. If the need for this fund should cease to exist or so diminish as to be designated by the Board of Trustees in order to carry out the desire of the donors.

The Lee D. Moody Civil Engineering Loan Fund

The Lee D. Moody Scholarship Fund was established June 8, 1978, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with a bequest to The Ohio State University Development Fund from Lee D. Moody (B.C.E. '32) of Springfield, Ohio. This Fund was amended at the request of the donor's family June 5, 1987.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to provide interest free loans to graduate and undergraduate students in the Department of Civil Engineering. The selection of the recipients is to be made by the Chairperson of Civil Engineering. Loan repayments will be made at the direction of the Department Chairperson with the administrative assistance of the Office of Student Financial Aid. All loan payments will be returned to the principal of the endowment. In addition, awards of not more than fifteen percent (15%) of the distributed annual income may be given to students as designated by the Chairperson of the Department of Civil Engineering. The annual income not spent at the end of the fiscal year, as either loan or award as described above, shall be reinvested in the principal of the endowment.

It is the desire of the donor that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity. If the need for this Fund should cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then another use shall be designated by the Board of Trustees in consultation with the administrative official in charge of the Department of Civil Engineering in order to carry out the desire of the donor.

Change in Description of Named Funds

The Henry and Blanche Abell Endowment Fund

The Henry and Blanche Abell Endowment Fund was established April 3, 1987, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from Mr. Carl T. Abell (B.S.Dairy Tech. '49) of Medina, Ohio, and his wife, Ruth D. Abell, as recognition for and in honor of his parents, Henry and Blanche Abell. The description was changed June 5, 1987.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be divided equally between the Department of Food Science and Nutrition in the College of Agriculture and the wrestling program in the Athletic Department. The use of said funds shall be at the discretion of the Chairperson of the Department of Food Science and Nutrition and the Coach and/or Director of the wrestling program.

Should the need for these funds cease to exist or so diminish in either of these programs or departments, then 100% of the annual income shall be distributed to the other department or program. Should the need for these funds cease to exist in both programs or departments, then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to the recommendations from the appropriate administrative officials of the University who are then directly responsible for the College of Agriculture and the Department of Athletics.

daughters, Mindy McKitrick Roberts and Mary McKitrick Reames, have each arranged for deferred gifts of $200,000. The description was changed June 5, 1987.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be divided into percentages and distributed as follows. Each of the following areas is to receive 10% of the annual interest income: College of Agriculture (Department of Dairy Science, Dairy Cattle Judging Team), College of Home Economics, 4-H Support fund, Mershon Auditorium, and WOSU. The Department of Athletics is to receive 50% of the annual interest income. The interest income is to be used by the head of each area in any way they see fit to maintain or improve their level of excellence.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to the recommendations from the appropriate administrative official of the University who is then directly responsible for the various areas mentioned above.

PURCHASE OF PROPERTY
1503 ACRES IN BATH, OHIO

Resolution No. 87-139

Synopsis: Authorization and ratification of acts to execute an agreement to purchase 1503 acres in the City of Bath, Summit and Medina Counties, Ohio, from the Raymond C. Firestone Trust U/A dated December 4, 1985.
June 4 and 5, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

PURCHASE OF PROPERTY
1503 ACRES IN BATH, OHIO (contd)

WHEREAS The Ohio State University has been presented by Raymond C. Firestone with an opportunity to acquire 1503 acres of land known as the Lauray Farm located in the City of Bath, Summit and Medina Counties, Ohio; and

WHEREAS this property has an appraised value of approximately $8,000,000.00 and Raymond C. Firestone through the Raymond C. Firestone Trust has offered to make a substantial gift to the University by offering to sell the property upon Mr. Firestone's death for $5,000,000.00; and

WHEREAS the appropriate University officers have determined that entering into the agreement to purchase this property and acceptance of the gift of Mr. Firestone is in the best interest of the University; and

WHEREAS the University is very appreciative of Mr. Firestone's generosity and the assistance provided by Mr. Daniel Galbreath in aiding in receiving this gift:

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That the President and/or Vice President for Business and Administration be authorized to take such action necessary to enter into an agreement to purchase, in the name of the Board of Trustees, upon Mr. Firestone's death, the 1503 acres from the Raymond C. Firestone Trust, which property is comprised of the tax parcels listed on Exhibit A attached hereto, for the sum of $5,000,000.00 and upon such terms and conditions as they consider to be in the best interest of the University; and to accept the gift of Mr. Firestone on behalf of the Board of Trustees; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That the Board hereby ratifies and confirms all actions taken by the President and/or the Vice President for Business and Administration to effectuate this transaction, including, but not limited to, the execution of a purchase agreement among The Ohio State University, the Raymond C. Firestone Trust, and the Raymond C. Firestone Co., dated May 22, 1987.

Upon motion of Mr. Immke, seconded by Mr. Barone, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous roll call vote.

PURCHASE OF REAL PROPERTY

239 WEST TENTH AVENUE AND 1574-76 NEIL AVENUE
COLUMBUS, OHIO

Resolution No. 87-140

Synopsis: Purchase of real property at 239 West Tenth Avenue and 1574-76 Neil Avenue in Columbus, Ohio, is proposed.

WHEREAS The Ohio State University has been presented with an opportunity to purchase two pieces of real property, one comprising 0.14 acres at 239 West Tenth Avenue and the other comprising 0.18 acres at 1574-76 Neil Avenue in Columbus, Ohio; and

WHEREAS these properties have a total appraised value of $195,000.00, and the owner, Mr. Richard Schuen of Grandview Heights, Ohio, has offered to sell the properties to the University at a price of $192,000.00; and

WHEREAS these properties are located within the south campus acquisition boundary of the University's Master Plan, and the appropriate University officers have determined that the purchase of these properties is in the best interest of the University; and

WHEREAS funds for the purchase of these properties will be provided from University funds resulting from the previous sale of south campus properties outside the acquisition boundary and from the sale of other properties:

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That the President and/or the Vice President for Business and Administration be authorized to purchase, in the name of the State of
June 4 and 5, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

PURCHASE OF REAL PROPERTY
239 WEST TENTH AVENUE AND 1574-76 NEIL AVENUE
COLUMBUS, OHIO (contd)

Ohio for the use of The Ohio State University, the real property located at 239 West Tenth Avenue and 1574-76 Neil Avenue at a price not to exceed $192,000.00, upon such terms and conditions as are deemed to be in the best interest of the University, subject to the University receiving the necessary approvals from the Ohio Board of Regents and the State Controlling Board.

Upon motion of Mr. Immke, seconded by Mr. Barone, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous roll call vote.

President Jennings made the following statement:

The uncertainties of action by the General Assembly preclude us bringing a budget for approval to the Trustees today, as would be our normal schedule. While I will not be able to bring a 1987-88 budget until our July 10 meeting, we do need to give our students some indication of what tuition rates will be for next Autumn Quarter.

As you may recall, the Executive Budget would have required a tuition increase of 31 percent. Today, as a result of additions by the House and Senate and our own cost containment efforts, that 31 percent increase for Ohio undergraduate students can be reduced to 7.9 percent provided the Conference Committee holds with what the Senate passed last week.

We very much appreciate the support of the Ohio House and the Senate. But I should remind you that more than half of this reduction from 31 percent to 7.9 percent is due to our own cost containment activities.

If the Senate dollar figures and budget language are retained by the Conference Committee, it is my intention to bring to this Board in July a balanced budget which contains a tuition increase of 7.9 percent for Ohio undergraduate resident students. However, the tuition increases for non-resident students will exceed that level, as we begin to bring various non-resident tuition levels more in line with established norms.

Non-resident student tuition is typically three times that of resident students. Over the past several years, relative levels of non-resident tuition for undergraduate, graduate, and law students have not kept pace. We are initiating a multi-year approach to returning them to the average three-to-one ratio. We will recommend that the total tuition increase for non-resident students be approximately 11.5 percent.

In addition, we will bring to the Board a budget that is in accordance with the other planning guidelines I presented at our May meeting.

However, the University requires appropriate spending authority the first day of the new fiscal year on July 1 until this Board meets again on July 10. I am therefore recommending that this Board consider and pass the enclosed resolution, which will provide spending authority for those days at a level not to exceed that of the level of state support provided by the Senate appropriations recommendation. At the July meeting, we will bring to you for your approval the complete University budget.
June 4 and 5, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

President Jennings: (contd)

EXPENDITURE AUTHORIZATION 1987-88
Resolution No. 87-141

Synopsis: Authorization to make interim expenditures in Fiscal Year 1987-88 is requested.

WHEREAS levels of State financial support for 1987-88 have not yet been established; and

WHEREAS this University must proceed with its budget planning for 1987-88 even with the current uncertainties in State revenues; and

WHEREAS it is necessary to authorize expenditures for 1987-88 to be effective July 1, 1987, including payment of faculty and staff, prior to the time that this Board adopts the Current Funds Budget for 1987-88:

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That the University be authorized to make expenditures consistent with the budget guidelines and the Provisional Current Funds Budget for Fiscal Year 1987-88, as described in the accompanying table, effective July 1, 1987; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That the President will present as soon as possible to the Board of Trustees the final version of the Current Funds Budget for 1987-88 with adjustments as may be necessary as a result of the final actions of the General Assembly and Governor of the State of Ohio.

Upon motion of Mr. Teaford, seconded by Ms. Casto, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous roll call vote.

683
EXPRESSION OF APPRECIATION TO JOHN E. ROGERS
Resolution No. 87-142

WHEREAS John E. Rogers has served as President of the Council of Graduate Students during the past year; and

WHEREAS he has carried out his assignments in a truly outstanding manner; and

WHEREAS John has worked diligently in order to bring matters and concerns of special interest to graduate students to the attention of this Board; and

WHEREAS his resolve, dedication, and support of this University has been evidenced in innumerable ways over the past year:

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That this Board expresses to John E. Rogers their thanks and appreciation for his dedicated leadership and service to The Ohio State University, and wishes him and his family happiness, good health, and success in the future.

Upon motion of Mr. Teaford, seconded by Mrs. Bowser, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous voice vote.

REPORT - UNIVERSITY'S INVESTMENT PORTFOLIO
Resolution No. 87-143

RESOLVED, That the report on the University's Investment Portfolio, dated May 15, 1987, as submitted to the Fiscal Affairs Committee of the Board of Trustees, be received and filed with the official records of the Board.

Thereupon the Board adjourned to meet Thursday, July 9, 1987, at The Ohio State University Fawcett Center for Tomorrow, Columbus, Ohio, at 6:30 p.m.

OFFICERS

Edmund C. Redman, Chairman
Leonard J. Immke, Vice Chairman
Madison H. Scott, Secretary
James L. Nichols, Treasurer
The Board of Trustees met at its regular monthly meeting on Thursday, July 9, and Friday, July 10, 1987, at The Ohio State University Fawcett Center for Tomorrow, Columbus, Ohio, pursuant to adjournment.

* * *

Minutes of the last meeting were approved.

* * *
July 9 and 10, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

The Vice Chairman, Mr. Immke, called the meeting of the Board of Trustees to order on July 9, 1987, at 6:35 p.m. He requested the Secretary to call the roll. The meeting recessed into Executive Session for the purpose of considering legal issues and personnel-related matters.

Mr. Redman reconvened the meeting on July 10, 1987, at 10:05 a.m.

At the outset of the Board meeting, Dr. William F. Palmer, Professor in the Department of Physics, gave a slide presentation on Ohio's bid for the Superconducting Super Collider.

INTRODUCTION OF NEW BOARD MEMBER

Mr. Redman introduced the new member of the Board of Trustees:

Now that we have officially begun our meeting, I want to formally introduce our newest Trustee, Milton A. Wolf. Ambassador Wolf joins this Board from his home in Cleveland, where he heads Milton A. Wolf Investors. It is our shared hope that Ambassador Wolf will find this experience to be as rewarding as it has been for all of us, and that he will enjoy helping to guide the University in ever-greater pursuits.

I am pleased to announce that Ambassador Wolf will be serving as a member of the Board's Student Affairs Committee and as our only representative on the Inter-University Council. Please join with me in welcoming Milton Wolf to the Board of Trustees at The Ohio State University.

AMENDMENTS TO THE RULES OF THE UNIVERSITY FACULTY
Resolution No. 88-4

Synopsis: Amendments to rules 3335-5-46, 3335-47-03, and 3335-47-09, and the creation of a new rule 3335-5-494 are being proposed.

WHEREAS the University Senate pursuant to rule 3335-1-09 of the Administrative Code is authorized to recommend through the President to the Board of Trustees the adoption of amendments to the Rules of the University Faculty as approved by the University Senate; and

WHEREAS the proposed changes in the Rules of the University Faculty were approved by the University Senate on June 6, 1987, as follows:

NEW RULE

3335-5-494 Faculty advisory committee to the chancellor of the Ohio board of regents (FAC).

(A) The university's representation to the FAC shall consist of two members of the university faculty who are principally engaged in the academic duties of teaching and research.
July 9 and 10, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

AMENDMENTS TO THE RULES OF THE UNIVERSITY FACULTY (contd)

(B) One member shall be elected each alternate year, for a term of four years, commencing autumn quarter. In the first and fourth years of the term the member shall be designated alternate representative to the FAC. In the second and third years of the term, the member shall be the designated representative to the FAC.

(C) The steering committee shall elect the FAC representatives, subject to confirmation by the senate. Presentation of the names of the representatives to the senate membership shall occur at least seven days prior to the confirmation vote.

(D) The president shall report the faculty representatives, as confirmed by the senate, to the chancellor of the Ohio board of regents.

(E) The faculty representative to the FAC shall report annually to the senate.

AMENDED RULES

3335-5-46 Senate committee operating procedures.

(A) Membership

(1) Unchanged.

(2) Unchanged.

(3) Committee vacancy.

(a) Unchanged.

(b) Unless otherwise specified, when an unexpired term becomes vacant, the vacancy shall be filled by the steering committee. These vacancies will be filled in a manner consonant with the original method of committee selection. A member selected to fill such a vacancy shall serve for the duration of the unexpired term.

3335-47-03 Probationary service, duration of appointments.

(A) and (B) unchanged.

(C) The appointment of a person to a nontenured regular faculty position is probationary in nature. Probationary appointments are for a one-year period, and faculty members on such appointments shall be reviewed annually. During this period persons have an opportunity to prove themselves to their peers; their record of accomplishments will be the basis for renewal or tenure decisions. Faculty members will be informed at the time of initial appointment and in a timely fashion each year thereafter when renewal or tenure decisions about them will be made and will be given the opportunity to submit materials they think are relevant to the making of these decisions. They shall also be provided all pertinent documents which set forth the relevant promotion and tenure policies, standards, and procedures (including but not limited to those that are required to be provided by rule 3335-3-35 of the Administrative Code) in a timely fashion.

(D) The university does not assume any continuing obligation to renew the appointment of a nontenured faculty member. Nonrenewal may be based upon such factors as an assessment of inadequate performance or insufficient development, or any one of a number of academic, financial, or policy reasons, but must be the result of formal annual review in accord with the review procedures established by the appropriate academic unit of the appointee in accord with paragraph (B)(3) of rule 3335-3-35 of the Administrative Code. The nonrenewal of an appointment in and of itself, however, should not carry with it the implication of either incompetence or misconduct on the part of the faculty member.

3335-47-09. Standards of notice.

(A) and (B) unchanged.

(C) In the event of a decision resulting in nonrenewal, the faculty member shall be notified in writing of that decision. Upon written request by the faculty member, reasons that contributed to the nonrenewal shall be supplied in writing to the faculty member. If the faculty member failed to meet the criteria for promotion and tenure set forth in rule 3335-47-02 of the Administrative Code, the statement of reasons shall indicate how the faculty member failed to meet these criteria. If nonrenewal is not based upon a failure to meet the criteria in rule 3335-47-02 of the Administrative Code, the notice shall so state, and shall also state the reasons for nonrenewal as outlined in paragraph (D) of rule 3335-47-03 of the Administrative Code.

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That the foregoing amendments to the Rules of the University Faculty be adopted as recommended by the University Senate.

Upon motion of Mr. Immke, seconded by Mr. Berry, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous voice vote.

(Balance unchanged)

3335-43-09 Elected officers of the medical staff of the Ohio state university hospitals.

(A) through (D) unchanged.

(E) Election of officers.

(1) All officers (other than at-large officers) will be elected by a majority of those voting by written ballot of the attending staff after the quarterly meeting of the medical staff in March.

(2) The nominating committee will be composed of five members. The chief of staff and the chief of staff-elect will serve on the committee and the chief of staff-elect will be its chairperson. The three other members of the committee will be nominated from the floor and elected, by a plurality upon written ballot, following the quarterly meeting of the medical staff in September.

(3) The committee's nominees will be submitted in writing to all voting members of the attending staff no later than March 1.

(4) Nominations for officers will be accepted from the floor at the March meeting.

(5) Candidates for the office of chief of staff-elect will be listed and each attending staff member may vote for one. Candidates for the at-large positions will be voted upon as a group. Each voting member of the attending staff may vote for three at-large candidates. The three candidates with the highest number of votes will be elected. A majority of the votes is not necessary.

(6) An officer may be removed from the elected position by a majority vote upon written ballot of the attending staff following a regularly scheduled quarterly meeting.

(Balance unchanged)

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That the foregoing amendments to the Bylaws of the Medical Staff of The Ohio State University Hospitals be adopted as recommended by the University Hospitals Board.

Upon motion of Mr. Kessler, seconded by Mr. Immke, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous voice vote.

RESOLUTIONS IN MEMORIAM

Resolution No. 88-8

Synopsis: Resolutions honoring the service of six of the University's faculty members who have recently died are being proposed.

RESOLVED, That the Board adopt the following Resolutions in Memoriam and that the President be requested to convey a copy to the families of the deceased.

Robert C. Grubbs

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on April 27, 1987, of Robert C. Grubbs, Professor Emeritus and former Acting Chairman in the Department of Physiology.
July 9 and 10, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

Robert C. Grubbs (contd)

Dr. Grubbs was born May 3, 1907, in Columbus, Ohio. He attended Columbus Public Schools and The Ohio State University, receiving a B.A. in Anatomy in 1930; M.S. in Physiology in 1933; and graduating with an M.D. degree from the College of Medicine in 1935. Following this he remained at Ohio State for a year of postdoctoral studies as a Rockefeller Research Associate in the Department of Physiology.

Dr. Grubbs served on the faculty of the George Washington University College of Medicine from 1937 until 1946 at which time he returned to The Ohio State University as an Assistant Professor in the Department of Physiology. He also served as an Assistant Clinical Professor in the Department of Medicine, was promoted to Professor in Physiology in 1957 and served as Acting Chairman of the latter Department from 1962 to 1964. Upon his retirement in 1976, he was named Professor Emeritus. Following his retirement from Ohio State in 1976 he joined the medical staff of the Veteran's Administration Clinic.

Dr. Grubbs held membership in a number of professional societies including the Society of Sigma Xi; American Physiological Society; American Medical Association; Columbus Academy of Medicine; Ohio State Medical Association; Alpha Omega Alpha Medical Society; and Institute of Nutrition and Food Technology. His research interests included metabolic effects of folic acid; effects of ionizing radiation, metabolism of nucleated erythrocytes and metabolic effects of oral hypoglycemic agents.

Activities involving the Republican Party, Masonic Lodge, and Shriners were important in the life of Dr. Grubbs. He was a member of the Republican Glee Club; a past worthy patron of the R.T. King Chapter No. 340 O.E.S.; a past president of the 17th District O.E.S.; a member of University Lodge No. 631 F. and A.M.; York Chapter No. 200; York Council No. 115; 33rd Degree Scottish Rite; Alladin Shrine; and Royal Order of Jesters Court No. 8.

On behalf of the University, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family its deep sympathy and sense of understanding in their loss. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as an expression of the Board's heartfelt sympathy.

Ethel M. Leazenbee

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on June 10, 1987, of Ethel M. Leazenbee, Associate Professor Emeritus in the College of Nursing.

Ethel Leazenbee was born January 12, 1896, in Franklin County, Ohio. She received her Bachelor of Science in Education degree in 1935 at The Ohio State University and Masters of Arts in Education in 1938, and in 1945 she received a certificate in Public Health Nursing.

Her eleven year association from January 1952 to her retirement and appointment as an Associate Professor Emeritus in Nursing on October 1, 1963, was preceded by an appointment to the School of Nursing under a special contract from 1935-47. Ethel was also brought back to the School for a three-month period to help out in a difficult time from April through June of 1965.

From 1936 through 1951 she was an instructor and lecturer in Columbus and at the University of Chicago and the University of Pittsburgh in the area of Public Health Nursing. In January of 1952 she returned to The Ohio State University as an Assistant Professor and was promoted to an Associate Professor in 1955. She was appointed by the Governor to serve on the State Nurses Board, 1954-59, and served as President for two years. She had served on national committees on Public Health Nursing Education and served on the Collegiate Board of Review of the National League for Nursing Accrediting Service. The Ohio Department of Health Nursing Service counted on her heavily for consultation.

A publication to her credit is Public Health Nursing in a General Nursing Program, Nursing Outlook, Vol. V, No. 3, (March 1957).

On behalf of the University community, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family of Ethel M. Leazenbee its deepest sympathy. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as an expression of the Board's heartfelt sympathy.

Mary B. Patton

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on May 15, 1987, of Mary Brown Patton, Professor Emeritus in the Department of Human Nutrition and Food Management.

Dr. Patton was born February 11, 1900, in Hebron, Ohio. She earned her B.S. (1925), M.S. (1929), and Ph.D. (1949) at The Ohio State University. Dr. Patton worked as an elementary and high school teacher prior to beginning her work in the College of Home Economics at The Ohio State University. Dr. Patton served as an assistant for the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station from 1926-1929. She then was an instructor from 1929-1946. Dr. Patton became an Assistant Professor in 1946, Associate Professor in 1949, and Professor in 1953. She retired in 1960, and was named Professor Emeritus.

Dr. Patton was the author of many research reports, papers, and bulletins for a wide range of nutrition studies. Many of these studies centered on the food habits of pre-school and school age children. Other work by Dr. Patton included studies of the eating practices of young children and their families in relation to such factors as economic status, employment of the mother outside the home, number of siblings, and food marketing practices. Dr. Patton also did important work on mineral metabolism of college-age women. In 1959, Dr. Patton was recipient of the American Home Economics Association Borden Award.

On behalf of the University, the Board of Trustees expresses its sympathy and understanding to the family of Professor Patton. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as an expression of the Board's heartfelt sympathy.

Rodney F. Plimpton, Jr.

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on May 16, 1987, of Rodney F. Plimpton, Jr., Professor in the Department of Animal Science.

Rodney Plimpton was born May 16, 1937, in Poughkeepsie, New York. He received the B.S. degree in Animal Husbandry from Rutgers University and entered graduate school at The Ohio State University in 1959. He studied in the Department of Animal Science specializing in meat science and earned the M.S. and Ph.D. degrees in 1961 and 1965, respectively. During this graduate study he served as an effective teaching and research assistant. This experience influenced him to accept an appointment as an instructor of meat science courses. In 1972 he was promoted to the rank of Professor.

Dr. Plimpton was an unusually exuberant, dynamic teacher of 11 different courses during his career and twice was the honored recipient of the University Alumni Distinguished Teaching Award. The American Meat Science Association Distinguished Teaching Award was bestowed upon him in 1978. The tremendous number of undergraduate students who sought him out as an academic advisor and counselor provides clear evidence of his extremely effective relationship with students. He was a productive researcher, major advisor to 26 graduate students, and highly respected on the national level as a speaker and prolific writer on meat science and teaching.

Rodney Plimpton served on the University Senate and vigorously contributed fresh ideas and wisdom to numerous committees and projects during his 28 loyal years of service to The Ohio State University. As additional contributions to The Ohio State University, he and his wife, "Peg," proudly observed two daughters complete Ph.D.s', a third complete an undergraduate accounting program, and a high school senior son set his sights on Ohio State.

On behalf of the University, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family its deep sympathy and sense of understanding in their loss. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as an expression of the Board's heartfelt sympathy.

David M. Scott

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on May 21, 1987, of David M. Scott, Professor of Physics at the Mansfield Campus of The Ohio State University.

Dr. Scott was born on February 20, 1933, in Evanston, Illinois. He received his B.S. in Mechanical Engineering from the Massachusetts

Institute of Technology in 1955 and spent eight years working for General Motors and Monsanto. He was awarded the Ph.D. in physics from The Ohio State University in 1969. He had taught at OSU-Mansfield since 1970, and became the first full-time teaching faculty member at a regional campus to earn the rank of full professor.

Dr. Scott was selected by his Mansfield faculty colleagues as the recipient of a special Faculty Leadership Award which acknowledged his extensive contributions to faculty governance, scholarship, and teaching. He served as the University Senator from Mansfield from 1983-86 and chaired the Senate Rules Committee in 1984-85. He was a member of the Ohio Board of Regents Chancellor's Academic Advisory Committee for Two-Year Campuses in 1983-84 and served on the Coordinating Committee for Review of the Agricultural Technical Institute in 1981-83. Dr. Scott chaired the committee that wrote the Mansfield Campus Faculty Assembly Constitution and served as faculty assembly president. He chaired all of the major Mansfield Campus committees at various times.

Dr. Scott was co-author of 17 scientific papers in high energy physics. His textbook, The Physics of Vibrations and Waves was published in 1986, for which he received the 1987 Mansfield Campus Scholarship Award.

On behalf of the University, the Board of Trustees expresses its sympathy and understanding to the family of Professor Scott. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as an expression of the Board's heartfelt sympathy.

Henry Peter "Bud" Sengelmann

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on May 30, 1987, of Henry Peter "Bud" Sengelmann M.D., Clinical Assistant Professor, Department of Pediatrics in the College of Medicine.

Dr. Sengelmann was born October 17, 1929. A native of New Jersey, he graduated from Colgate University in 1951 with his major areas of study being in Zoology and Pre-Med. His interests led him to the Albany Medical College where he was a research assistant in the Department of Physiology, and from there, he went on to pursue a medical degree at The Ohio State University College of Medicine, graduating in 1956.

Deciding on a career as a pediatrician, Dr. Sengelmann served his pediatric internship and residency at Columbus Children's Hospital and The Ohio State University from 1956-59. Upon completion of his training, he entered private practice here in Columbus, and subsequently was certified by the American Board of Pediatrics in 1962.

During his early years in Columbus as a member of the pediatric faculty, he took on the responsibility of the Newborn Nursery at Children's Hospital. During his 28 years in private practice, he taught medical students, graduate students, pediatric nurse practitioners and residents in his office, and was a member of the attending medical staffs of Children's Hospital, The Ohio State University Hospitals, Riverside Methodist Hospital, and Grant Hospital.

Active in numerous professional organizations, Dr. Sengelmann was a member of the American Academy of Pediatrics, The Ohio State Medical Association, the American Medical Association, the Academy of Medicine of Columbus and Franklin County, the Central Ohio Pediatric Society, and the Children's Practicing Pediatricians.

On behalf of the University community, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family of Henry Peter "Bud" Sengelmann its deepest sympathy. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees, and that a copy be tendered to the family as an expression of the Board's heartfelt sympathy.

Upon motion of Mrs. Bowser, seconded by Mr. Berry, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous voice vote.

REPORT OF RESEARCH CONTRACTS, GRANTS, AND GIFTS

Resolution No. 88-9

Synopsis: The reports on contracts, grants, and gifts and the summary for May 1987 are presented for Board acceptance.

WHEREAS monies are solicited and received on behalf of the University from governmental, industrial, other agencies, alumni, and various individuals in support of research, instructional activities, and service; and

WHEREAS such gifts and grants are received through The Ohio State University Research Foundation, the Engineering Experiment Station of The Ohio State University, and The Ohio State University Development Fund:

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That the research agreement between The Ohio State University and The Ohio State University Research Foundation for the contracts and grants reported herein, and the acceptance of the reports from the Engineering Experiment Station and The Ohio State University Development Fund during the month of May 1987 be approved.

Upon motion of Mr. Immke, seconded by Ms. Casto, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous voice vote.

Establishment of Named Funds

Ameritech Endowment Fund

The Ameritech Endowment Fund was established July 10, 1987, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from Ameritech Foundation, Chicago, Illinois.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used in support of faculty/research fellowships, graduate fellowships, visiting fellowships and prize grants in the Graduate School, all of which shall be within the parameters outlined by Ameritech as the goals and objectives of the Ameritech Fellowship Program.

The initial endowment shall be $15,000.00 set aside in the first year, with the total amount set aside from the grant to reach $100,000.00 by the end of the five-year period. The fund will be administered by the Dean of the Graduate School who shall be responsible for annually reporting to the Ameritech Foundation on how its grant has been used by the University.

It is the desire of the donor that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity. Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then another use shall be designated by the Board of Trustees in order to carry out the desire of the donor.

The Law Centennial Building Fund

The Law Centennial Building Fund was established July 10, 1987, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from alumni and friends of the College of Law in celebration of the Centennial Anniversary of the College.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be added to the principal until the University makes a final determination on the financing arrangements of the Law Building Addition and Renovation Project. The College of Law reserves the right to invade the principal to cover building-related costs and fees following the final determination of the financing arrangements.

It is the desire of the donor(s) that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity. Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then another use shall be designated by the Board of Trustees in order to carry out the desire of the donor(s).

Phi Kappa Phi OSU Chapter Scholarship for Graduate Students

The Phi Kappa Phi OSU Chapter Scholarship for Graduate Students was established July 10, 1987, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from The Ohio State University Chapter of Phi Kappa Phi.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to provide a scholarship to one or more graduate students at The Ohio State University. The scholarship is to be awarded to a student exhibiting academic excellence in any field of study. Neither financial need nor membership in Phi Kappa Phi is to be among criteria used for selection of the recipient(s). Selection of the recipient is to be made by the Graduate School and the Awards Committee of the Phi Kappa Phi Ohio State University chapter in coordination with the Office of Student Financial Aid.

It is the desire of the donor that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity. Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then another use shall be designated by the Board of Trustees in order to carry out the desire of the donor.

The David Louis Mitchell Civic Action Award

The David Louis Mitchell Civic Action Award was established July 10, 1987, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from Glen H. and Anna Belle Mitchell, in honor of their son, David Louis Mitchell.

The annual income shall be used to provide grants to individual student(s) and/or student organization(s). Those grants are to support creative action-oriented projects enabling interested students to ameliorate economic or social problems in the larger community or on campus. The projects will be under the jurisdiction of The Ohio State University Office of Student Life with assistance of a committee composed of the chairperson or their representatives from the Department(s) of (1) Family Resource Management, (2) Agricultural Economics and Rural Sociology, and (3) the Faculty of Marketing. Emphasis will be placed on those projects aimed at workable solutions employing the disciplines represented by the above committee.

A written report will be made annually to the Mitchells of the project(s) selected and their progress. At the end of every six (6) years, the Award policy and procedures will be reviewed by the committee and the donors.

It is the desire of the donors that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity. Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then another use shall be designated by the Board of Trustees in order to carry out the desire of the donors.

DOAN HALL 5 NORTH
LABORATORY/OFFICE AREAS

Project: Renovation of a portion of the fifth floor, north wing of Doan Hall from patient and nursery rooms into office areas and laboratories for the Chairperson of Surgery and the Chairperson of Obstetrics/Gynecology and their laboratory personnel.

Funding: University Hospitals Funds

Estimated Construction Cost: $351,811.00
Estimated Project Cost: $399,260.00

DOAN HALL - CAP KOLD SYSTEM

Project: Renovation of Rooms 075A and 175A of Doan Hall to accommodate the installation of a cook/chill food production system, including ice builder, mixing kettles, pump fill station and batch casing cooler. This type of production is a 'closed' system, food never is exposed to the atmosphere during preparation, thus, reducing exposure to possible contamination.

Funding: University Hospitals Funds

Estimated Construction Cost: $120,000.00
Estimated Project Cost: $159,660.00

DOAN HALL - CRI MATERIALS HANDLING STAGING AREA

Project: Renovation of an area on the ground floor of Doan Hall to provide clean and soiled holding areas to support the material handling system for the Cancer Research Institute.

Funding: University Hospitals Funds

Estimated Construction Cost: $ 97,000.00
Estimated Project Cost: $125,360.00

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That the President and/or Vice President for Business and Administration be authorized, in accordance with established University procedures, to request construction bids on these projects, and if

AMENDMENT TO THE CODE OF REGULATIONS OF
OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY AFFILIATES, INC.
Resolution No. 88-14

Synopsis: Amendment to the Code of Regulations of the Ohio State University Affiliates, Inc., is proposed.

WHEREAS the Board of Trustees authorized the execution of documents necessary to carry out the establishment of the Ohio State University Affiliates, Inc., on December 5, 1986; and

WHEREAS the Ohio State University Affiliates, Inc., pursuant to Section 5.01 of the Code of Regulations has proposed an amendment to the Code of Regulations of the Ohio State University Affiliates, Inc., specifically Article I, Section 1.04 B, regarding the term of the directors, as follows:
ARTICLE I

Trustees

Section 1.04. Provisions Relating to Directors.

B. Term. Each Director designated in the Articles of Incorporation shall be deemed to be elected as such as of the time of filing of the Articles of Incorporation to serve until their replacement by the permanent Board at the earlier of the commencement of full operations or June 30, 1987. Originally, three (3) Directors will be elected by the Chairman of the University Board of Trustees from its number: one shall be appointed for three years, one shall be appointed for two years, and one shall be appointed for one year. Thereafter, the three (3) Directors elected by the Chairman of the University Board of Trustees from its number shall serve for terms of three years each. Directors may be reelected. At the end of each term, a vacancy will be created until a successor is elected and qualified.

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That the aforementioned amendment to the Code of Regulations of the Ohio State University Affiliates, Inc., be approved.

Upon motion of Mr. Kessler, seconded by Ms. Casto, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous voice vote.

President Jennings made the following statement:

Thank you, Mr. Chairman. The budget being presented for your approval today reflects the adjustments required by lower than expected support for higher education in the final State budget. When I presented a provisional budget to this Board one month ago, we had hoped that the final budget would support the commitment to student accessibility that was reflected in the actions of the Senate and the House to keep tuition levels as low as possible.

We are grateful to the General Assembly for its actions in reducing the student share of college costs paid by tuition from the original Executive Budget recommendations. Nonetheless, the unfortunate result of this final State budget is that Ohio's progress of prior years has been reversed. The average student share of college costs, which had been brought down to 36 percent through legislative action, will now return to more than 40 percent, compared to a national average that is still approximately one third.

Ohio State has done its share on keeping tuition as low as possible. We emphasized our commitment to accessibility by imposing no tuition increase last year. However, we are this year faced with funding levels for the Instructional Subsidy that are far too low to continue to enhance academic excellence without a significant tuition increase. Indeed, the State budget that was passed last week assumes an increase in Ohio college and university tuition levels that would cost Ohio State students about $125 per quarter.

It is unfortunate to see the State of Ohio turn back the progress of the past biennium. But we cannot allow this University's outstanding achievements and opportunities for future progress to be reversed by this setback.

Broad access to higher education opportunities, supported by low tuition, is an invaluable asset for Ohio. We must continue to look to the Governor and the General Assembly for the adequate levels of support that are needed by its state-assisted colleges and universities to enable us to continue the pursuit of academic excellence while also ensuring broad accessibility for all qualified Ohioans.

Today, however, we must adopt a budget based on current levels of support from the State of Ohio. I am recommending that Ohio State's tuition increase be set at $62 per quarter for Ohio undergraduates, an amount that is less than half of the increase assumed in the State budget. I also am recommending that higher levels be imposed for out-of-state students.

While these recommendations are higher than we had hoped, I do want to point out Ohio State's fine record on keeping tuition as low as possible. Our two-year average increase is still well below increases at our sister universities around the State. Even at $630 per quarter, Ohio State's tuition is still among the lowest in Ohio. Our ranking of tenth among Ohio's thirteen state-assisted four-year institutions is, indeed, appropriate to our land-grant mission of maintaining broad accessibility to the State's major, comprehensive university.

This is a credit to the University-wide efforts of our staff and faculty members to minimize the on-going costs of current activities. Cost containment continues to assist our efforts to keep student tuition down while maintaining our capacity to respond to new opportunities for enhancing academic excellence.

I now want to call upon Vice President Ihrig to present the details of the budget being recommended for your approval today.

Mr. Ihrig:

Thank you. The Current Funds Budget for 1987-88 which we are presenting for your consideration totals $938,450,000 in revenues to support planned commitments of $934,180,000. This represents an increase of 4.7 percent over total revenues for the fiscal year just ended, 1986-87.

Included in this budget are General Funds totaling $417.6 million, or 44.5 percent of total resources. These funds are used to fund the basic instructional, administrative and related support activities of this University. Earnings Operations revenues total $308.3 million, or 32.8 percent of budgeted resources, which include everything from University Hospitals and student dormitories, to copying services and conferences in support of the academic mission of Ohio State. Earnings Operations not only earn the revenues they spend, they also pay their fair share of University overhead and facilities costs associated with their activities. Finally, restricted revenues which total $212.5 million, 22.6 percent of total revenues, are received and expended for specific purposes specified by external entities such as Federal and private sponsored research.

The largest components of General Fund revenues are State appropriations and student tuitions. Both of these revenue sources are directly impacted by student enrollments, which is why the long and short-term enrollment planning we do is so important for all the campuses. The budget is based upon the student enrollment targets for the Autumn Quarter, 1987, which have been reviewed previously with this Board and included in the budget materials. These targets show continued growth on the Regional Campuses, but bringing the Columbus Campus closer to the 40,000 FTE enrollment limit. Our projections indicated a Columbus Campus non-exempt FTE of 40,362 for the Autumn Quarter, 1987, which would reduce the over-enrollment by one-half from the 40,749 FTE of Autumn 1986.

The instructional subsidies from State appropriations on the Columbus Campus increase by only 4.1 percent over 1986-87, while those on the Regional Campuses increase by 17 percent. The basic reasons for this wide differential include emphasis by the State in funding the student enrollment increases which were not fully funded last biennium due to lack of funds and enhancements to the two-year subsidy models, which both benefited our Regional Campuses. While scheduled to receive these funds, assuming their enrollment increases are maintained, these campuses did have to support part of last year’s enrollment increases without full State support.

The Columbus Campus share of the State instructional subsidy pool continues to decrease, a consistent trend over the past decade. For example, the current State budget has Ohio State Columbus receiving 22.1 percent of the total instructional subsidy versus 22.36 percent last year. And this share is scheduled to drop another tenth of a point next year.

The State support continues for the various excellence programs. Of special importance are the $2.47 million for Academic Challenge, and the $4.98 million for the Research Challenge for 1987-88, which is $2.5 million under last year’s $7.48 million. The increases for Cooperative Extension and OARDC are only 2 percent for 1987-88, while no increased funding was provided for the Clinical Teaching subsidies in the hospitals as well as the Dental and Veterinary Medicine Clinics.

However, the State has provided $3.0 million in 1987-88 for the Ohio Supercomputer Center with another $4.5 million allocated for next year, 1988-89.
July 9 and 10, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

This budget reluctantly includes tuition recommendations which increase tuitions to $630 for Ohio students attending the Columbus Campus, to $604 for Ohio students attending a Regional Campus and to $1660 for the non-resident undergraduate students. With Ohio State's zero increase in tuitions last year, the rate of increase over the period 1985-86 to present remains the lowest of Ohio's colleges and universities. This will keep us as the 10th lowest in Ohio. Even so, this change in our demonstrated trend to bring students tuition costs down has been disrupted due to the level of State support for this year.

Even with these relatively high tuition increases, the market basket cost increases for Ohio State students totals 7.1 percent when considering the impact of price changes in dormitory, bookstore, parking and health insurance as well as athletic event tickets charges. The University-wide average rate increases total 4.3 percent, especially since University Hospitals will not increase their rates for 1987-88.

A significant component of this 1987-88 budget is the $12.0 million targeted from reduced costs of operations as a result of the new cost containment program begun in 1987. This program of achieving targeted cost reductions without reducing the quality of services and recognizing the faculty and staff through a bonus program is new in higher education. As in any new venture, a learning curve exists; however, the support and efforts to-date throughout the University have been excellent. While the final results won't be known until late in this calendar year, we are anticipating that the results of this cost containment program will exceed our expectations.

The budgeted expenditures in the 1987-88 Budget are in accordance with the budget planning guidelines presented to this Board by President Jennings at your May 1987 meeting.

We are presenting this balanced 1987-88 Current Funds Budget totaling $938,450,000 for your consideration and recommend its approval.

I would be happy to respond to any questions. Thank you.

Mr. Barone:

I think the important thing is that rather than having a percentage like most of the universities that start with 14, then go down to 12 percent, then to single digit. I know the University and the State are in a single digit tuition, but I think putting it in the dollar sense is very advantageous. It's $630, which is a lot less than most of the universities, especially those universities located in the northern part of Ohio. Any questions?

Mr. Redman:

I want to make a comment, if I may. I think two important things, one is the size of the budget -- it always scares me. You did mention $938 million, but I see by your statement it's $934 million. We will not argue about the $4 million.
Mr. Redman: (contd)

Mr. Ihrig:

The $938 million are the projected revenues.

Mr. Redman:

The other thing is that the budget is balanced between income and expense, so, assuming that your projection is correct, we come out even.

Mr. Ihrig:

Yes.

Mr. Redman:

That is all I had to say.

Mr. Barone:

Any other questions?

Synopsis: The budget for 1987-88 is being submitted for adoption.

WHEREAS the levels of State support have been established with the enactment of budget legislation for the 1987-89 biennium; and

WHEREAS appropriate planning and consultation within the University has been accomplished; and

WHEREAS this Board approved a provisional budget for 1987-88 at its June meeting; and

WHEREAS the President is now prepared to present the final 1987-88 budget:

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That the University Current Funds Budget for Fiscal Year 1987-88, as described in the accompanying text and tables, be approved, with authorization for the President to make expenditures within the projected income levels; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That student fees be increased for all Ohio residents beginning Autumn Quarter 1987, as specified in the Schedule of Student Fees incorporated in this resolution effective Autumn Quarter 1987; and
July 9 and 10, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

1987-88 CURRENT FUNDS BUDGET

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That the Secretary be instructed to incorporate all supporting documents into the minutes of this meeting, including faculty tenure approvals, salaryrolls with promotions, and fees and charges for the Fiscal Year 1987-88, and to file these materials with the official records of this University.

Mr. Redman made the following statement:

The Personnel Committee of this Board met on July 9, 1987, and this report is a result of that meeting.

As in the past, the President's performance at this institution is evaluated throughout the year by many people, but it is formally evaluated once a year by the Board of Trustees. On this occasion it is noted that President Jennings will begin his seventh year with Ohio State on September 1, having developed a consistently constructive record over the past six years. We appreciate President Jennings's vision and leadership effort on behalf of the University. It should also be noted that the shared spirit of cooperation between this Board and the President is not only pleasant but it also is indeed essential to the continuing vitality of The Ohio State University.

With these things in mind, the Board has determined to raise President Jennings's salary to $129,000 for the 1987-88 academic year. This increase was calculated keeping in mind the context of salaries of other comparable educational institutions, in addition to the performance appraisal mentioned earlier. The Secretary of the Board is directed to develop the relevant documents to effectuate this change.

May I now have a motion to approve the President's budget report and recommendation, as well as the Board Personnel Committee's proposal relative to President Jennings's salary for the coming year.

Upon motion of Mr. Kessler, seconded by Ms. Casto, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous roll call vote.

1987-88 CURRENT FUNDS BUDGET
THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY

I. INTRODUCTION

In June 1987, this Board approved a Provisional Budget to enable the University to initiate operations for the 1987-88 Fiscal Year. The Provisional Budget was developed in accordance with the budget planning guidelines reviewed with the members of this Board at its May 1987 meeting. Now that the Ohio General Assembly has passed budget legislation for the 1987-89 Biennium and the Governor has signed this legislation, the University 1987-88 Current Funds Budget can now be recommended to the Board of Trustees.

Last fiscal year, Ohio State's budget included a zero increase in student tuition, which was made possible by State funding levels that reduced the state-wide student share for undergraduates from 40 to 36 percent over the 1985-87 Biennium. This year, however, that improvement has been reversed. The state-wide student share is now set to increase from its current 36 percent to 41 percent over the 1987-89 Biennium.

While the level of State support for higher education is not adequate to maintain the positive initiatives begun during the past biennium, the actions of the Ohio General Assembly did do much to reduce the student tuition recommendations from the 31 percent increase included in the Executive Budget Proposal. But it is through internal cost savings that Ohio State has been able to provide the majority of the resources needed to bring the tuition increases for Ohio residents down to 10.9 percent. While a double-digit increase in tuition is extremely undesirable with the current economic situation, the final level of State instructional subsidies precluded Ohio State from achieving our previously stated goal of 7.9 percent.

As a part of its continuing efforts to reduce costs, the University initiated an internal cost containment program in 1987 with the target of reducing annual costs University-wide by $12 million. These monies were then to be targeted to support new programs and fund priority needs throughout the University. Now, however, these savings will be utilized to maintain tuition increases for Ohio residents at the 10.9 percent budget recommendation.

The faculty and staff members throughout the University work to enable Ohio State to maintain student accessibility by continuing to provide quality instruction, research and support services at lower costs. To recognize the efforts, the University's cost containment program incorporates direct cash incentives to each qualified regular faculty and staff member. The bonus amount will be determined by the success of their respective units and the University in achieving cost containment targets. In addition to reducing costs, Ohio State's faculty and staff are providing a margin of excellence to this University by contributing more than $12 million to the University's capital fund raising campaign. These actions by members of the faculty and staff clearly demonstrate their commitment to excellence and student accessibility.

II. SOURCES OF FUNDS

The Current Funds Budget proposed for 1987-88 totals $938,450,000 from several funding sources, as detailed in the Sources of Income schedule. This amount includes State support totaling $304,170,000 which represents 32.4 percent of the total resources budgeted. Of the total sources of funds, general funds represent 44.5 percent, earnings operations provide 32.9 percent, and restricted funds total 22.6 percent.

As a result of the level of State support and allowing for the University's efforts at reducing costs, student tuition at The Ohio State University is being increased by 10.9 percent for Ohio residents attending the Columbus campus and 9.6 percent for Ohio residents attending Lima, Mansfield, Marion, Newark, or the Agricultural Technical Institute campuses. This lower rate of increase at the regional campuses results from enhanced instructional subsidies provided for the lower division undergraduate and technical categories.
The tuition charged non-resident students is typically three times that of residents. After a review of non-resident tuitions, it was determined that those amounts for undergraduate, graduate, and law students had fallen behind this ratio. Therefore, selective increases of up to 14 percent are being recommended for the non-resident surcharge.

The recommended tuition rates for residents and non-residents are shown in the Student Fee Schedule. The rate of tuition increases for 1987-88 reverses the trend of the past two years of keeping these increases below inflation, and sets back our progress in reducing the students' share of the cost of their education. While Ohio State continues to keep tuition below the Board of Regents projections, significant improvements in State support will be needed in future biennia if Ohio is to return the students' share of their cost of higher education to the 33 percent level.

A major funding source for the University continues to be revenues from the sales of the earnings units. Continuing efforts to control increases in all fees and charges of the University, the average University-wide increase in all University charges will be approximately 4.3 percent. University Hospitals continue to emphasize containment of health care costs by holding hospital rate increases to zero for 1987-88. The Residence and Dining Halls will do their part to assist student accessibility by keeping their average rate increases to only 5.0 percent.

The 1987-88 budget includes new State funding of $3.0 million that is being provided to support the Ohio Supercomputer Center which is now being placed into operation. In addition, Ohio State is committing direct support of $2.0 million and the Center will be working to add private funding to further support the supercomputer activity.

Of special note are the increases in State support for the regional campuses and the Agricultural Technical Institute. These increases, which average just under 12 percent, result from changes in the institutional subsidy model plus State resources added to fully fund actual and expected growth in enrollments.

The other income components of the 1987-88 Current Funds Budget are in line with expected growth from 1986-87 revenues. The projected revenues for 1987-88 show an increase of $42,550,000, which is some 4.7 percent above the estimated revenues for 1986-87. This is the result of normal expected increases in nearly all categories of revenue except State appropriations and student tuition.

III. USES OF FUNDS

As detailed in the Schedule of Budgeted Uses for Fiscal Year 1987-88, and the supporting documents, this University's recommended Current Funds expenditures total $934,180,000. These planned expenditures will support the following budget planning guidelines.

* Increase faculty, administrative/professional, and classified staff salaries by two percent and provide three percent in salary funds for merit increases plus $3,000,000 for equity and excellence adjustments.
July 9 and 10, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

1987-88 CURRENT FUNDS BUDGET
THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY (contd)

* Fund salary increases for negotiated wage settlements.

* Provide funding to maintain the purchasing power of University-funded student financial aid, plus $5,500,000 to address critical needs that include providing adequate instructional staffs, supporting continued efforts to enhance excellence and quality, and assisting implementation of program changes. In addition, the State has provided $2.47 million in Academic Challenge funds to be distributed to further enhance nationally recognized academic programs at Ohio State, and $4.98 million in Research Challenge resources.

* Provide resources to meet mandatory General Fund cost increases, such as utilities and employee benefits.

One-time funds totaling $4.5 million will be provided for equipment, facilities renovation, and the acquisition of library materials to continue to improve the quality of these fundamental support resources.

This balanced budget for 1987-88 is being presented for Board of Trustees approval.

APPENDIX I

Degrees Conferred at

THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY
COMMENCEMENT CONVOCATION

September 3, 1987
Commencement Speaker

Marilyn Robinson Waldman

Marilyn Robinson Waldman is a professor of history and director of the Center for Comparative Studies in the Humanities. A nationally known expert in Islamic and Middle East history, she earned her bachelor's degree in 1963 from Radcliffe, where she was inducted into Phi Beta Kappa. She received both her graduate degrees in Islamic history from the University of Chicago: a master's degree with honors in 1966 and a doctoral degree with distinction in 1974.

She began her career at Ohio State in 1971 as an instructor in history. In 1974 she was promoted to assistant professor and in 1978 to associate professor. Her tenure at Ohio State also includes three years as director of the Near and Middle East Studies Program and three years as chairperson of the Division of Comparative Studies in the Humanities.

Her contributions to Ohio State and to her field of study have been immense. Within the University she has served on more than 40 committees, including the Phi Beta Kappa standards committee, the Colleges of the Arts and Sciences Personalized Study Program Review Committee, and the University-Industry Relations Committee. She was also instrumental in the design and establishment of the Religious Studies Program, which she has headed since its inception in January 1983. Also in 1983, she co-chaired the Third Annual Symposium in the Humanities, which dealt with religion in the modern world.

Among her 45 published works are four books and 24 scholarly articles, and she has produced several translations and textbooks. Since arriving at Ohio State, she has made more than 250 public presentations in eight states to a variety of organizations. She is on the executive board of the American Society for the Study of Religion and is the recipient of numerous honors and awards, including election to the American Society for the Study of Religion and awards that funded her post-doctoral study in Iran.
Distinguished Service Awards

John F. Havens

After graduating from Ohio State with a Bachelor of Science degree in 1949, John F. Havens went on to build an enviable career as a banker, real estate developer, and broker. His rise in financial circles culminated in his being named chairman of the board and chief executive officer of Banc One Corporation, a position he held from 1980 to 1986. Numerous civic citations complement several professional awards, and he serves on the boards of a variety of institutions, among them the W.W. Williams Company, Advanced Drainage Systems Inc., and Cardinal Distributions Inc., all of the Columbus area.

Havens' involvement with Ohio State did not end with his commencement in 1949; since that time, he has continued to support the University and provide leadership in many arenas. He recently completed a nine-year term on Ohio State's Board of Trustees, serving as chairman during 1985-86; is a past chairman of the Board of Directors of the Development Fund; and is currently a member of the National Campaign Committee of The Ohio State University Campaign.

He was instrumental in Bank One of Columbus' decision to commit $1 million for the Bank One Chair of Excellence at Ohio State. Recently, Havens made a substantial gift of real estate that will benefit the College of Agriculture. Ohio State is proud to present him with the Distinguished Service Award as an expression of the University's sincere appreciation.

William Poland

At the time of his death in March 1987, William Poland was professor emeritus of music and had served for many years as associate dean of the Graduate School. He came to Ohio State in 1949 as an instructor and was, subsequently, the first student to earn a doctoral degree in music from the University and one of the founders of the Columbus Symphony Orchestra.

As a scholar in music theory, he made significant contributions in the areas of musical behavior and analysis, and two of his books have become classics in the field. Keenly interested in experimental activities in the arts, he founded what was called the Center for Experimental Research in the Arts from 1965 to 1986. Current scholars consider him a pioneer in integrating musical theory into today's high-technology computer era. He was honored in 1971 with Ohio State's prestigious Alumni Award for Distinguished Teaching.

In 1975, when he took on additional responsibilities as associate dean, he created a program review system for the University that has become a national model for other institutions. His lasting contributions to the University also include his acquisition of the Cazden Collection—an archive of papers, compositions and other materials of Norman Cazden, an important music theorist, composer, and performer.
Distinguished Service Awards

Maybelle L. Ruppert

For nearly a quarter of a century, Maybelle Ruppert has served as executive secretary to the president of The Ohio State University. Former President Novice G. Fawcett recruited her to the University in 1964 from her position as executive secretary to the governor of West Virginia; since then, her career at Ohio State has spanned the tenure of three presidents.

She is known throughout the university for her uncommon competence and for her loyalty to and love of Ohio State. Her 23 years of service have crossed over both good and bad times in higher education, but, as noted by the three presidents whom she has served, her commitment has been unwavering.

Her position has been one of low visibility in a high-visibility office. While she herself has not been in the spotlight, her talent has contributed a great deal to the overall strength of the Office of the President.

She has earned the respect of the faculty, the administration, and the sector of the business community with which the University deals. She has adeptly handled the public relations component of her position. As the president's secretary, she dealt with individuals at all levels, and was unfailingly courteous to all guests, ranging from students to foreign dignitaries. The University proudly confers this award to her for her long-standing devotion and superior service.

Seward D. Schooler

Seward Schooler is a former director of Banc One Corporation and serves as chairman of the executive committee and honorary director of Bank One of Coshocton. Throughout his banking career he also has served as director of the Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland, as president of the Ohio Bankers Association, and as president of the National Bank Division of the American Bankers Association. He is also a trustee of several educational institutions and president of the Coshocton County Industrial Development Corporation.

For more than 20 years, he has been a generous supporter of Ohio State. Among his major contributions is his co-sponsorship of the Schooler-Reese Lecture Series, through which two former presidents of the United States and other distinguished world leaders have visited the University to give public lectures and meet informally with students and faculty.

He has promoted the University's academic excellence by supporting the National Merit Scholar Program, the Reese Chair in Banking, and several projects in the College of Medicine.

A member of The Presidents Club and The Presidents Council, he served on the Executive Committee of The Presidents Club for six years and is at present a member of the National Campaign Committee for The Ohio State University Campaign. The University is proud to recognize him with this award.
Distinguished Service Awards

Faye S. Smith

Since graduating in 1939 with a bachelor's degree in business education from Ohio State, Faye S. Smith has pursued excellence in education in many arenas. A high school teacher for 14 years, she returned to the University for her master's degree. In 1953 she accepted a position as assistant professor at Otterbein College. She returned to Ohio State again in 1960—this time in an administrative role as assistant to the secretary of the Board of Trustees, a position from which she retired in 1984.

For 24 years, she was the key administrative official in the Office of the Board of Trustees. She coordinated and prepared agenda materials for board meetings, recorded official proceedings of those meetings, updated and published appropriate bylaws and rules, and conducted other day-to-day activities for the board.

During her tenure at Ohio State, Smith served three board secretaries under the administration of three University presidents. She had a thorough knowledge of Ohio State's history and could lend important perspective to a variety of problems. Her involvement with the University did not stop at the office door: as a member of The Presidents Club and the Alumni Association, she was and continues to be involved personally as well. The University is pleased to present her with this award for her professional and personal contributions.

Marion L. Smith

Marion L. Smith, former associate dean of the College of Engineering, has participated in an unusually broad range of activities throughout his 37 years at The Ohio State University. He began his teaching career at the University in 1947 as a graduate student. For 11 years he was a leading faculty member in the mechanical engineering department. During this period in his career, he compiled an impressive record in teaching and in scholarship.

He subsequently spent 26 years as associate dean. Among his greatest contributions has been his achievement in developing solid relationships between students and faculty and in enhancing morale throughout the college. A by-product of this relationship has been the firm ties between the college and its alumni long after commencement day. His special abilities have also been recognized by other universities: he has received invitations to candidacy for chairmanships and deanships from a dozen recognized universities. He has, however, chosen to stay at Ohio State out of love for and loyalty to his alma mater.

As associate dean, he has assumed a leadership role in promoting the college—as well as the University—in academic circles nationwide. The link between the College of Engineering and industry has also been strengthened as a result of his efforts. He was instrumental in establishing the Society of Women Engineers as a support organization at a time when few females ventured into the engineering curriculum. His lengthy list of professional awards indicate the scope of his achievement and are a testament to his talent as a scholar, professor, and administrator. Ohio State welcomes the opportunity to honor him for his distinguished and productive career.

The Board of Trustees met at its regular monthly meeting on Thursday, September 3, and Friday, September 4, 1987, at The Ohio State University Fawcett Center for Tomorrow, Columbus, Ohio, pursuant to adjournment.

Minutes of the last meeting were approved.

September 3 and 4, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

The Vice Chairman, Mr. Immke, called the meeting of the Board of Trustees to order on September 3, 1987, at 6:30 p.m. He requested the Secretary to call the roll. The meeting recessed into Executive Session for the purpose of considering legal issues and personnel-related matters.

---0---

Mr. Immke reconvened the meeting on September 4, 1987, at 9:35 a.m.

---0---

Mr. Immke:

We will go immediately to Mr. Frey, Vice President and General Manager of WTVN Radio, Perry —

Mr. Perry Frey:

My name is Perry Frey, and as Mr. Immke said, I am Vice President and General Manager of WTVN Radio. I have been with Taft in Columbus for fourteen years and eight of those years with WTVN. Dr. Jennings, I would like to thank you for permitting us to come before the Board today; Madison Scott, I would like to thank you for helping us arrange this.

With me today is Carl Wagner. Carl is President of Taft Radio and Cable Group; Carl is from our corporate offices in Cincinnati. Also present is John Potter — John is our Sales Manager at WTVN Radio, he is our past Program Director and he has been Director and Producer of Ohio State football and basketball for fourteen years. Today we are also represented by counsel, Dave Johnson. Dave is with the law firm of Taft, Stettinius & Hollister.

I trust you have all received the documents we prepared for you. Enclosed in your packages is my letter to each of you outlining the points we want to make today, along with copies of the two competing bid packages, also, our letter to President Jennings dated May 8, 1987, which outlines errors in the implementation of the bid process, and a letter dated July 21, 1987, from Gordon Young, former Executive Vice President of Proctor and Gamble, now an independent media consultant and advertising expert.

That brings us to why we're here today. Nine months ago we were excited to learn that the University was going to award radio broadcast rights to Buckeye football and basketball games for the next five seasons on the basis of competitive bidding. That meant to us the highest and best bidder would be awarded the rights. We at WTVN Radio worked diligently to prepare the best bid package we could. A package which addressed all ten selection criteria, as set forth in the University's bid specifications. A package which was financially attractive to the University, a package which responded directly to all the written detailed bid specifications, a package which responded directly to the instructions that we received at a pre-bid meeting called by the University, and a package that was supported by facts, including an independent market study which clearly established our superior position in this market.

As it turned out, we submitted the only bid that met the bid specifications addressing the University's intent to establish its own network. And, we were the only vendor that submitted alternate proposals as requested on page 1 of the Radio Broadcast Proposal Specifications. As it turned out, we submitted the highest bid -- that is, the bid promising the most total compensation to the University, the most important of the ten selection criteria specifications. And here is where it gets interesting. John, will you show the exhibit.

I was told by Rick Bay, our bid was higher. I will show you an exhibit that clearly demonstrates that someone in this University or its Athletic Department grossly distorted the compensation portion of our bid and presented what you see on top of this exhibit to the Evaluation Committee. Just ignore the bottom for a moment, please. Somehow what got before the Evaluation Committee was that WTVN's bid was $341,000, WBNS's was $951,000. I don't know how that happened. The actual compensation is what you see on the bottom. Can everyone see that? Our figure of $1.8 million is a very conservative figure. We have deducted $250,000 from that figure for satellite fees. WBNS's is $1.1 million, an 86% difference. Our $1.8 million is a very conservative figure. There is cash of $976,000 in that, there are affiliate fees of $287,000 in that, and that is also included in WBNS's, there is in-kind compensation of $887,000 -- that would really total $2,150,000. We deducted the $250,000 in satellite fees and rounded it down to have a very conservative figure -- it came in at $1,863,100.

As you can see from the bottom of the exhibit the real value comparison on the two bids is quite different, but the Evaluation Committee did not see that. That is quite a difference. Why would the University ever walk away from this. I can't understand -- but let me go on, it gets more interesting.

For the second highest rated evaluation criteria we submitted the only bid that included plans to promote the University as an institution in all its academic and sports programs and not merely our own broadcasts. I won't take time to mention every one of them, but every one of WTVN's promises in this section promoted the University. Our competitor's bid offers not a single plan to promote the University, not one. It merely speaks of stadium novelty items and advertising and promotional materials aimed at promoting its own broadcasts, not this institution. Yet, the Evaluation Committee members rated our bids equal in this area. That is unbelievable nonsense, but let's go on.
Mr. Frey (contd):

We submitted the only bid that provides the University dynamic reach, not just football Saturdays, but all week. We have another exhibit. During the week we have an audience of 266,000 people, compared to WBNS's 79,000. If you were to leave here and go triple the size of your stadium, we fill that every day of the week, Monday through Friday; WBNS can hardly fill it one time. And, of course, this translates into advertising dollars. When the University, or we, sell time -- but make it specific to the University, when the University sells network sponsors advertising time, the University will generate higher revenues with WTVN as its flagship station. This is what takes place every day on the streets of Columbus. We have an average rate of $90.00, against an average rate of $25.00. Furthermore, we submitted the only bid that offered this University close association with a dominant station in this market and a sports network of unbeatable reach that included WKRC in Cincinnati, a dominant-rated station, the second largest radio market in this State and advertisers pay for that.

In conclusion, we submitted the highest and best bid and we lost. That's why we are here, to tell you about it and to see if it doesn't trouble someone other than us. That the University set ground rules for competitive bidding, rules designed to maximize revenues and opportunities for the University, then, unfairly and without notice, with a hidden agenda at which we can only guess, the University or its Athletic Department decided to change, ignore, or work around their own rules in order to select the losing bidder -- WBNS. This decision utterly fails to maximize revenues and opportunities for the University. It makes no economic or marketing sense whatsoever.

What should this Board do? This Board should do what's right, and that is, require that the University honor its own competitive bidding process and award the contract rights to the highest and best bidder — that is clearly WTVN Radio. This will insure that a valuable public asset, the broadcast rights to the University's two major sports programs, is sold and marketed prudently and properly in a business-like fashion, in a way that most benefits the University today and for years to come.

You may be sitting there imagining the practical, and perhaps the political problems of taking this action. Therefore, you might want to consider for the upcoming season only, that WTVN be permitted to carry the football and basketball games along with WBNS. To insure that no loss of revenue occurs to the University, WTVN will pay its fair share of compensation to the University for these nonexclusive rights. Following this football and basketball season there are many solutions to this problem, and we will be happy to work with you on them. You are our last resort in the University. We admit that what we are asking you might be a hard thing for you to do, but as Trustees of this University, it is the right thing to do.

Again, I want to thank you, on behalf of all of us, for your time and cooperation in coming before this meeting. If anyone has questions, I'd be glad to try and answer them.
September 3 and 4, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

Mr. Immke:

Anyone have any questions? Thank you, Mr. Frey.

Mr. Frey:

Thank you, Mr. Immke, thank you, President Jennings.

Mr. Immke:

Call on Dr. Jennings --

President Jennings:

Thank you, Mr. Chairman. Thank you, Perry. As you know, the concerns that you have expressed today were brought to our attention by you and your counsel last May. And due to the nature of those allegations that were made, the University retained the services of Mr. Roderick Daane of Ann Arbor, Michigan, as an independent consultant to thoroughly investigate the process by which radio broadcasting rights to The Ohio State University football and basketball games were awarded.

After reviewing the documents, discussing the matter with members of the Selection Committee, Mr. Daane concluded that the process for the award of radio broadcasting rights was appropriate. The decision was made in a careful and deliberate manner. And I should also point out that the University established a competitive process for the purpose of achieving a fair decision, despite the fact that we were not required by law to bid this contract. Mr. Chairman, in my view, there is no reason to revise this decision or to further consider any other proposals.

Mr. Immke:

Thank you, Mr. President. Thank you, Mr. Frey.

Mr. Frey:

Thank you. Can we make one comment please?

Mr. Immke:

Sure.

Mr. Frey:

Dave Johnson, please --

Mr. Johnson:

Excuse me, Mr. Chairman, will the Board be considering an appropriate action -- we have heard from Mr. Frey, and President Jennings has made his statement. Is the Board going to consider this in some sort of Executive Session, or when will the decision on any action or nonaction be made?
September 3 and 4, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

Mr. Teaford:

We wouldn't be allowed to consider it an Executive Session.

Mr. Immke:

We wouldn't be able to do that. We have all received all the documentation on all of the reports and I believe you have had your reply.

Mr. Johnson:

President Jennings's reply is the reply of the Board of Trustees?

President Jennings:

It is my recommendation to the Board.

Mr. Johnson:

Your recommendation to the Board. Our question simply is when will the Board act on your recommendation?

President Jennings:

I think they acted by not overturning my recommendation.

Mr. Johnson:

So, the administrative action of this Board of Trustees has now been completed on our request?

President Jennings:

I would think so.

Mr. Johnson:

Thank you.

Mr. Frey:

Are we free to go?

President Jennings:

Yes, you're free to go.

---0---

Mr. Immke:

Mrs. Bowser, I would like to call on you to give your report.

Mrs. Bowser:

As you know, I am one of the two members of the Board of Trustees on the University Hospitals Board. Mr. Immke is my co-member and since he is serving in capacity as Chairman today, I would like to report on The Ohio State University Hospitals Board.

I am going to talk about three issues, one is the Strategic Planning Process. You may remember when Charles Lazarus was Chairman of the Hospitals Board and Jack Havens was our Chairman, there was some discussion about a need for a strategic plan that would include the College of Medicine, the Medical Staff and the University Hospitals. That had sort of a slow start, but it has picked up steam and I'd like to report on that particular process.

The Hospitals Board is also going through a self-evaluation process right now. The Chairman of the Board, Mr. Vorys, had appointed Pete Klisares as Chairman, and I serve on that committee, too, and I want to give you a preliminary report on the self-evaluation. And finally, I will have some comments to make on the Financial Summary ending June 30, 1987.

Strategic Planning Process

The strategic planning consulting firm of Hamilton/Kurt Salmon and Associates is presently conducting five strategic issues discussion sessions with faculty members of The Ohio State University College of Medicine in order to solicit feedback from our medical faculty on potential future directions for the medical center relative to these four issues: 1) educational mission; 2) organization and role; 3) competitive position; and 4) modes of delivery.

During the month of September and early October, University Hospitals Administration and the University Hospitals Board will also be given the opportunity to participate in a similar process of providing their respective insights into future options.

Following the completion of this phase in the planning process, the Strategic Planning Task Force, appointed by President Jennings last year, will reconvene to begin indepth evaluation of the final draft of the plan. And that will be presented to the University Hospitals Board and finally, to the University Board of Trustees for consideration and support later this fall.

Up to this point in time, the Hospitals' consultants have conducted extensive environmental analyses of the Central Ohio marketplace and indepth internal assessments of both the College of Medicine and University Hospitals in terms of historical operations and the strengths and weaknesses of each component of the medical center. The level of analysis lead to the development of a set of major strategic issues facing the organization demanding future resolution. Two strategic planning retreats have been held to begin discussion around these issues and options for the future. In attendance have been University Hospitals Board members, College of Medicine Clinical Chairpersons and Division Chiefs, University Hospitals Administration, basic sciences faculty directors, and College of Medicine Administration. Current or upcoming meetings are intended to delve into greater depth and discussion around future alternatives for the medical center.

Just as a thought in passing, there have been some very good discussions and some good things have come out. Nothing is finalized at this point, but I think this is a plan that once it is developed, it will certainly be one that we can use and plan from.

Board Self-Evaluation

Over the past four months the Hospitals Board has undertaken a major review of its own performance in the last year. It further established a task force to recommend changes in the Hospitals' committee structure as well as format and kinds of information to be reviewed at future meetings.

The intent of such changes will be to help the Board focus not only on the day-to-day issues, but on strategic planning issues revolving around the Hospitals' teaching and research mission. It is anticipated that the task force recommendations will be considered by the full Board in September for initial implementation beginning October of this year, pending review by the President and the Board of Trustees. It will be brought to you sometime this fall.

Financial Summary Ending June 30, 1987

University Hospitals ended the year with admissions equal to budget (28,664 admissions) and patient days exceeding budget by 1.4%. The average daily census for the year was 653 patients versus 643 patients for the prior year. For the year Clinic visits exceeded budget by 6.9% and emergency visits exceeded budget by 4.6%. The Hospitals' net income was $1,338,000 versus $1,643,000 for the prior year.

Days in patient accounts receivable at June 30, 1987, were 100 days versus 105 days the prior year (the majority was due to delays in payment by Medicare and the State Medicaid program). Accounts receivable have decreased approximately 5 million dollars the last three months resulting in a cash balance of $8,898,000 at June 30, 1987.

The Board has recently had the opportunity to review the first draft of financial projections for the Cancer Hospital and Research Institute and a three year financial projection for all the Hospitals. Additional review will be given to these items in the months ahead by the Finance Committee of the Hospitals Board.

This Board is a really hard working Board, lots of meetings and lots of time has been spent, this year particularly I think, with the Cancer Hospital coming on board in the near future. If there are any questions, either Mr. Immke or Mr. Covert, who is in the audience, or I would be happy to answer them if we can.

Mr. Immke:

Any questions? Any questions of Mr. Covert?
September 3 and 4, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

Mrs. Bowser:

Was it the intention that we submit this report?

Mr. Scott:

Yes, Shirley, that will be in the minutes.

President Jennings:

That is an outstanding report, Mrs. Bowser. I am particularly pleased with the planning that has gone on by the Board, by Mike’s staff. As we all know, operations of hospitals, particularly university hospitals, are changing dramatically and this hospital, adding on top of that, is increasing its research activity in the magnitude of 20% a year. This is a hospital that is becoming a very different institution than it has been in times gone by. The planning that is going on now, I think, is extraordinarily important. The planning is being done well, because it is being done so flexibly. Recognizing that none of us can predict the future in any of this and recognizing that the changes that we have seen in the last several years probably are going to be small compared to the changes that we will see in the next several years -- not just with reimbursement, but the characteristics of care, the outpatient activity, and the very high-level tertiary care that is being delivered at that hospital. I think now with 19 heart transplants, we have one of the, if not the, best record in the nation in terms of survival rate. The bone marrow transplant, the MRI activity, and with the new heads in Surgery and OB-GYN, and Internal Medicine, those very large departments are transforming the characteristics of this hospital. I would urge all of to look at this very carefully, because it is a serious issue and these planning activities are going to be done very professionally and very well.

Mrs. Bowser:

Well, I think that once the strategic plan is formulated every member of the Board of Trustees will receive a copy of that, won't they Mike? I think it would be well worth your time to look through it. It's been painful and it's taken some time to really confront these issues and talk about them and do the best, as the President has said, to do the best we can to solve them for the future.

President Jennings:

One of the things that I think I like best and recognize best is that whenever we get talking about the Hospitals, the Hospitals Board is the first to remind us that this is first and foremost an academic institution and that our academic objectives have to be paramount on our minds. And that does make it very different and the fundamental recognition of that is extraordinarily important, because we are changing faster than other hospitals are because of the academic mission.
September 3 and 4, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

Mr. Kessler:

I think the Hospitals is certainly a big asset for the University, and for Columbus, and the region around us. I don't have any idea how to relate how it is doing comparably. Do we have a peer group? When we talk about things, we do have peer groups, we compare ourselves with colleges in the Big 10. I think it would be helpful, for me anyway, to see how we would compare to "our peer group in University Hospitals" in different areas.

Mrs. Bowser:

That is interesting, because the Hospitals Board has been talking about similar kinds of comparisons. It is hard, because you can't compare yourself to a Riverside, or Mount Carmel or Saint Anthony, because it is not the same mission. I am sure that we are going to be getting into that a little bit more don't you think, Mike, as we go along?

Mr. Covert:

Shirley, there is a group of hospitals and data that we have been using, at least administratively, over the last 2 - 2 1/2 years since I've been here, which is a peer group of what I'll refer to as comparable kinds of institutions, but they may not be exact. Included in that would be a number of the other Big 10 hospitals, Duke University Hospital, University of North Carolina, Vanderbilt, Barnes Hospital in St. Louis associated with Washington University, Stanford. There is a group of those that we can compare to in terms of not just financial kinds of data, but other kinds of data and we have been approaching them. As a matter of fact, even in the last week we have been meeting with both people from the University of Cincinnati and Cleveland Clinic as ways for us to compare that data so that it is useful for us, particularly in Ohio to give us a reference point.

President Jennings:

I think it is instructive when Mike goes through that and yes some of the Big 10, but in many ways our hospital is more comparable to a hospital facility at a private university, because so many of the Big 10 institutions are anywhere from 40% - 70% funded by their state. Whereas our hospital has, other than facilities, no state funding associated with it at all. The hospital where I came from, the University of Iowa, roughly 70% of their costs were picked up by the State of Iowa.

Mrs. Bowser:

And it's the one tertiary care center for the whole state and that isn't true here. So the competition, the whole --

Mr. Kessler:

Well, I think a peer group is one that you aspire to be --
September 3 and 4, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

President Jennings:

But it is more inclined towards the private school and I mention that because I sometimes am accused of railing against the private schools, but in this context we are typically more similar to a Vanderbilt or a Stanford or a Northwestern —

Mr. Kessler:

Well, I think it would be helpful.

President Jennings:

Good, that is an important part.

Mr. Immke:

Thank you, Shirley, for your outstanding report. Thank you, Michael, for being here and available. You have one more comment, Shirley?

Mrs. Bowser:

Yes, as Chairman of the Standing Committee on Agricultural Affairs, I would like to ballyhoo the Farm Science Review, which will occur before we have another meeting. That's the fourth week in September, I think it is the 22, 23, and 24. Vice President Hutchinson is in Vienna, serving on a different committee, so he is not here to tell you about it, but it is the 25th Anniversary of the Farm Science Review. And because of the downturn in economic factors in the agricultural world, there was some thought that maybe they wouldn't have as many exhibitors this year, but they have as many, if not more than they ever had. So they are expecting a really fine Farm Science Review. I think we haven't had any rain south of Interstate 70 and it will probably rain every day that week, but barring the weather — and that won't bother the farmers, they'll just put on their boots. It might bother the rest of you.

President Jennings:

Are we going to do some combining of beans?

Mrs. Bowser:

Yes, we are going do some combining of beans there.

Mr. Kessler:

Why did you look at Mr. Berry, when you said that?

Mrs. Bowser:

He is a farmer, he's coming.

Mr. Berry:

I'm a farmer.
September 3 and 4, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

Mr. Teaford:

He's the other farmer.

Mrs. Bowser:

Sure, and we're going to show some combining of beans, as the President said. But anyway, if you are available that day, I am sure you will be contacted and invited personally, and it is a very nice opportunity to see agriculture, a real showcase of agriculture. I just wanted to make that comment.

Mr. Teaford:

And as a total city boy, I would like to indicate that I have been there a couple of times, and it is well worth the visit. It is very interesting and a lot of fun.

Mrs. Bowser:

And agriculture is Ohio's number one industry.

Mr. Barone:

And if I may add, according to the Today program this morning, they talked about the agriculture industry this year. I think it was second in the number of billions that agriculture brings into this country in export. They ended up by saying, "who can say that agriculture is a small business and that the prices are not exorbitant." I thought you --

Mrs. Bowser:

Thank you, John, I appreciate all these good comments.

President Jennings:

In all seriousness, Fred will say that agriculture and food production is 22% of the gross state product of the State of Ohio. Food production, as well, and food distribution, but food as an industry in Ohio is 22% of our gross state product, which is --

Mrs. Bowser:

No mean thing.

Mr. Immke:

We have a lot of big users! Thank you, Shirley. Dr. Jennings, will you present your agenda.

CHANGE "THE DR. MARS G. FONTANA ENDOWMENT FUND" TO "THE DR. MARS G. FONTANA PROFESSORSHIP IN METALLURGICAL ENGINEERING"
Resolution No. 88-17

Synopsis: Changing "The Dr. Mars G. Fontana Endowment Fund" to "The Dr. Mars G. Fontana Professorship in Metallurgical Engineering" is proposed.

WHEREAS in accordance with the guidelines previously established by this Board, "The Dr. Mars G. Fontana Endowment Fund" was established on May 1, 1981; and

WHEREAS all gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates; and

WHEREAS at the time of the establishment of the endowed fund it was agreed that the fund be redesignated The Dr. Mars G. Fontana Professorship in Metallurgical Engineering when the level of funding reaches $250,000; and

WHEREAS the level of funding has now reached the level required through unexpended earnings on the original investment:

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That The Dr. Mars G. Fontana Endowment Fund be changed to The Dr. Mars G. Fontana Professorship in Metallurgical Engineering. In keeping with the provisions of the original endowed fund, 80% of the income is to be used for the professorship; the recipient shall at no time be a department chairperson, dean or person in a comparable administrative position, past or present; the remaining 20% of the annual income is to be added to the endowment fund principal; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide insufficient funds to continue the endowed professorship, then the income is to be used as determined by the Board of Trustees to provide scholarships primarily for qualified and needy students in the Department of Metallurgical Engineering. Recipients are to be determined by the appropriate administrative official directly responsible for the College of Engineering and the Department of Metallurgical Engineering.

Upon motion of Mr. Barone, seconded by Mr. Teaford, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous voice vote.

RESOLUTIONS IN MEMORIAM

Resolution No. 88-19

Synopsis: Resolutions honoring the service of seven of the University's faculty members who have recently died are being proposed.

RESOLVED, That the Board adopt the following Resolutions in Memoriam and that the President be requested to convey a copy to the families of the deceased.
September 3 and 4, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

RESOLUTIONS IN MEMORIAM (contd)

Luther M. Keith, Jr.

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on June 19, 1987, of Luther M. Keith, Jr., Professor in the Department of Surgery.

Dr. Keith was born November 3, 1919, in Ralls, Texas. He graduated from Texas Technical College in Lubbock, and received his M.D. degree from the University of Tennessee. He served in the United States Navy from 1945-46 and 1950-52.

Dr. Keith was appointed Instructor in the Department of Surgery in 1950 and remained on the faculty until his death. He was Vice Chairperson of the Department of Surgery from 1972 until 1987 and Acting Chairperson in 1974-75.

In addition to his role in the Department of Surgery, he was Team Physician in the Department of Athletics.

Throughout his career, Dr. Keith was a dedicated teacher and role model for students and residents. His calm demeanor and expectation of excellence were important attributes in guiding his students.

On behalf of the University, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family its deep sympathy. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as an expression of the Board's heartfelt sympathy.

Gertrude C. Kuehefuhs

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on July 21, 1987, of Gertrude C. Kuehefuhs, Professor Emeritus and former Chairman of the Division of Music Theory and Composition in the School of Music.

Professor Kuehefuhs was born September 17, 1916, in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. As a child she demonstrated an exceptional talent for music and had the good fortune to study with leading Philadelphia teachers, including Leopold Sayre and Vincent Jones. She attended Temple University, receiving a B.S. in Education in 1938 and an Ed.M. in Music in 1939. Subsequently, she studied at the Pius X School of Liturgical Music in New York and attended summer sessions of the Eastman School of Music, Tanglewood.

Following four years of teaching music in the Philadelphia Public Schools, Professor Kuehefuhs joined the faculty of The Ohio State University in 1943. Her forty-three years of service to the School of Music profoundly influenced the development of the curriculum. From 1962 to 1968, she served as a division chairman, and in 1964 she was promoted to the rank of Professor of Music. Professor Kuehefuhs was the first woman in the history of the School of Music to achieve either of these distinctions. Upon her retirement in 1985, she was named Professor Emeritus.
RESOLUTIONS IN MEMORIAM (contd)

Professor Kuehefuhs was a member of a number of professional societies and served as president of the Ohio Theory-Composition Teachers Association and of The Ohio State University Chapter of the Pi Kappa Lambda Music Honorary Society.

Throughout her tenure, Professor Kuehefuhs enlivened her teaching by maintaining an active performing career. She was harpist for the Columbus Philharmonic Orchestra from 1943 until its demise in 1945 and principal keyboard specialist for the Columbus Symphony Orchestra from its inception in 1951 until her retirement. As a respected chamber musician and accompanist, she participated in over 300 major recitals. Also active as a church musician, she was organist in many Columbus Catholic Churches and director of the Newman Center Choir for several decades.

In recent years she extended her contribution to the community as reader for the Central Ohio Radio Reading Service.

On behalf of the University, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family its deep sympathy and sense of understanding in their loss. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as an expression of the Board's heartfelt sympathy.

Hollie W. Shupe

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on July 20, 1987, of Hollie W. Shupe, University Architect Emeritus in the Office of the University Architect.

Hollie Shupe was born on October 9, 1915, in Columbia Center, Ohio. He received his Bachelor of Architecture degree from The Ohio State University in 1936. A member of Phi Eta Sigma, Tau Beta Pi, and Alpha Rho Chi, he was awarded the American Institute of Architects' School Medal for outstanding academic achievement in his senior year.

Professor Shupe was a registered architect and a registered professional engineer in the State of Ohio. His early professional experience included research in early American architecture. During the Second World War, he served in the Americal Division, U. S. Army, in the Asiatic-Pacific theater and attained the rank of Lieutenant Colonel. He received a Bronze Star, an Air Medal, Presidential Unit Citation, Distinguished Unit Citation, and several battle stars.

In 1939, he joined the faculty of the College of Engineering and in 1948 was named Professor of Engineering Drawing. Professor Shupe's academic accomplishments included co-authoring four text books and work books on engineering graphics. He was named University Architect in 1965, having previously worked in the Office of the University Architect on such buildings as Canfield Hall, Vivian Hall, and the north wing of the University Hospital. As University Architect, he administered the design and construction of nearly $200,000,000 in new buildings, including essentially the entire development of all regional campuses, the West Campus, and numerous other buildings on the Columbus Campus. Following his retirement in 1973, Professor Shupe assisted the City of Marietta in the restoration of that city's business center.

On behalf of the University Community, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family of Hollie W. Shupe its deepest sympathy. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as an expression of the Board's heartfelt sympathy.

George R. Staten

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on August 10, 1987, of George R. Staten, Professor Emeritus in the School of Health, Physical Education and Recreation, and long time director of football ticket sales.

Born in 1901, George Staten attended high school in Portsmouth, Ohio. He served as Assistant Football Coach at The Ohio State University in 1933-34 after leaving a position at Ohio Wesleyan University where he was Assistant Director of Athletics from 1924-33. He served as Director of Athletics at the John Burroughs School in St. Louis, Missouri, from 1934-50. While there his coaching in baseball, basketball, and football brought many league championships to the school. In 1950, he returned to Ohio State as freshman baseball and basketball coach as well as assistant football coach. In 1953, he was appointed as Director of Ticket Sales. Under his leadership Ohio State ranked first in total attendance at home games for sixteen out of seventeen, between 1953 and 1969. He was granted tenure in 1954. He retired from his position in 1970 and was named Professor Emeritus.

The strong leadership and managerial excellence displayed by George Staten contributed to bringing the Ohio State Football program into the national prominence it holds today.

On behalf of the University, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family its deep sympathy and sense of understanding in their loss. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as an expression of the Board's heartfelt sympathy.

Genevieve W. Tucker

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on July 2, 1987, of Genevieve Winans Tucker, Instructor Emeritus in the Department of English.

Mrs. Tucker graduated from the Columbus School for Girls in 1929; from Wellesley College in 1933 with a B.A.; and from The Ohio State University in 1939 with a M.A. in English. Her 16-year career at Ohio State began in 1960 as an Assistant Instructor. She was promoted to Instructor in 1965. Mrs. Tucker taught primarily Technical Writing, American Literature, and Advanced Composition. She was also a research assistant for the Centennial Edition of Emerson's Essays. Upon her retirement in 1976, she was named Instructor Emeritus.

On behalf of the University community, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family of Mrs. Tucker its deepest sympathy. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as a sincere expression of the Board's realization of the loss that the family, the University and her many friends and associates have sustained.

Morris Emett Wilson

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on May 23, 1987, of M. Emett Wilson, Professor Emeritus in the School of Music.

Dr. Wilson was born June 10, 1894, in Oshkosh, Wisconsin. His early musical training included study with distinguished teachers, such as Arne Oldberg and Leo Sowerby. His academic training was broadly based. He earned a B.A. in Philosophy at the University of Minnesota (1921); an A.M. in Education at the University of Chicago (1927); and a Ph.D. in Psychology at The Ohio State University (1930). In addition, he earned the degree Associate of the Guild of American Organists (1925).

Prior to coming to Ohio State, Dr. Wilson enjoyed a varied musical career in Chicago. Notable posts were Organist and Choirmaster at the Episcopal Cathedral and at the Grace Church, Organist at the Adams Theater, and Director of the University of Chicago Band (1922-27), during the time when the University was still affiliated with the Big Ten Conference.

In 1927, Dr. Wilson was appointed Associate Professor of Instrumental Music at The Ohio State University and in 1935 he was promoted to the rank of Professor of Music. During his distinguished tenure he had the honor of serving as Visiting Professor at the Carnegie Institute of Technology (1937) and as Exchange Professor to the University of London (1952-53). Upon his retirement in 1960, he was named Professor Emeritus.

Dr. Wilson was a member of many professional societies, including the College Music Society, the Music Educators National Conference, and the American Society of Aesthetics. He served as Dean of the Central Ohio Chapter of the American Guild of Organists. His books, Music History at a Glance and How to Play by Ear, were widely read, and his music history broadcasts on WOSU radio (1942-59) gained a devoted listening audience.

The death of M. Emett Wilson marks a milestone in the history of the School of Music; he was the last of the original five member of the music faculty.

On behalf of the University, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family its deep sympathy and sense of understanding in their loss. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as an expression of the Board's heartfelt sympathy.

RESOLUTIONS IN MEMORIAM (contd)

Alden R. Winter

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on August 20, 1987, of Alden R. Winter, Professor Emeritus in the Department of Poultry Science.

Dr. Winter was born on September 23, 1897. A native of West Virginia, he received a B.A. degree from the University of West Virginia, and M.S. and Ph.D. degrees from The Ohio State University. He was on the nutrition staff of the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center at Wooster from 1920–26, and from then until retirement in 1968 he served on the faculty of The Ohio State University Department of Poultry Science at Columbus. He served as Chairperson of the Department for 10 years.

Dr. Winter taught bacteriology at the University, and on special leaves he did consulting work for the United States Department of Agriculture and for commercial feed companies. He also did food research for the U.S. Army Quartermaster Corps at Iowa State University during WWII, and served on the U.S.A.I.D. Program in India (1964–67). Active in numerous professional, social and fraternal organizations, Dr. Winter was listed in the American Men and Women of Science. He was also named a Fellow of the Poultry Science Association and a member of the Poultry Hall of Fame. He was a veteran of WWI, a member of the King Avenue United Methodist Church, University Post of the American Legion, the Faculty Club, and The Ohio State University President's Club.

On behalf of the University community, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family of Alden R. Winter its deepest sympathy. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees, and that a copy be tendered to the family as an expression of the Board's heartfelt sympathy.

Upon motion of Ms. Casto, seconded by Mr. Berry, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous voice vote.

REPORT OF RESEARCH CONTRACTS, GRANTS, AND GIFTS
Resolution No. 88-20

Synopsis: The reports on contracts, grants, and gifts and the summary for June and July 1987 are presented for Board acceptance.

WHEREAS monies are solicited and received on behalf of the University from governmental, industrial, other agencies, alumni, and various individuals in support of research, instructional activities, and service; and

WHEREAS such gifts and grants are received through The Ohio State University Research Foundation, the Engineering Experiment Station of The Ohio State University, The Ohio State University Development Fund, and The Ohio State University Foundation:

NOW THEREFORE
September 3 and 4, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

REPORT OF RESEARCH CONTRACTS, GRANTS, AND GIFTS (contd)

BE IT RESOLVED, That the research agreement between The Ohio State University and The Ohio State University Research Foundation for the contracts and grants reported herein, and the acceptance of the reports from the Engineering Experiment Station, The Ohio State University Development Fund, and The Ohio State University Foundation during the month of June and July 1987 be approved.

Upon motion of Mr. Teaford, seconded by Ms. Casto, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous voice vote.

THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY DEVELOPMENT FUND

Establishment of Named Fund

The Huntington National Bank Fellows in International Business and Foreign Language Study

The Huntington National Bank Fellows in International Business and Foreign Language Study was established September 4, 1987, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gift(s) to The Ohio State University Development Fund from The Huntington National Bank of Columbus, Ohio.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to permit students majoring in the humanities with interest and supporting work in international business and trade to spend an academic year abroad to strengthen their fluency in a foreign language, knowledge of a foreign culture, and understanding of the workings and environment of international commerce.

At the time of application, students must: 1) be sophomores or juniors at The Ohio State University; 2) have completed a minimum of the first two years (six quarters or four semesters) of OSU foreign language study or its equivalent; and 3) have been admitted to, and be participants in good standing in the OSU "Capstone" program.
September 3 and 4, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

REPORT OF RESEARCH CONTRACTS, GRANTS, AND GIFTS (contd)

THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY DEVELOPMENT FUND (contd)

Establishment of Named Fund (contd)

The Huntington National Bank Fellows in International Business and Foreign Language Study (contd)

The program will be coordinated through the OSU Foreign Language Center. Working with the home department, the appropriate foreign language department, the OSU Office of International Programs, and advisers from the community and the OSU College of Business, the Foreign Language Center and student applicants will identify programs in the country of choice that will provide both linguistic and academic advancement as well as work or internship-type experiences in the formal commercial business environment.

The first Huntington National Bank Fellows in International Business and Foreign Language Study Award will be made during the second year of the endowment. Awards of up to $8,000 will be made every year thereafter. These awards will cover travel, tuition, and living costs, and will be made annually.

It is the desire of the donors that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity. If the need for this fund should cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then another use shall be designated by the Board of Trustees in order to carry out the desire of the donors.

Change of Name and Description of Named Fund

Ralph and Estel Wenrick Scholarship Fund

The Ralph and Estelle Wenrick Scholarship Fund was established September 6, 1985, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from Marilyn P. Wenrick, B.S.Bus.Adm. '56, in memory of her parents, Ralph and Estel Wenrick. The name and description were changed September 4, 1987.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's permanent endowment fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used for scholarship awards to students attending The Ohio State University who have demonstrated (1) financial need, or (2) high degree of academic potential, or (3) scholastic ability, with priority of said three criteria to be in order as numerically indicated, who graduated from Tecumseh High School located in Clark County, Ohio. Selection of the award recipients shall be made by the University Committee on Student Financial Aid in consultation with the donor. Should the income from this fund not be awarded in any given year, then the income is to be added to the fund's principal.

Should Tecumseh High School cease to exist, then the award recipients shall be selected from students who have graduated from high school and who are from the same geographical district where students lived and attended Tecumseh High School. If no students apply for scholarship awards from the fund for a period of ten (10) consecutive years, then the income from this fund may be used for purposes consistent with the express wishes of the donor until such time as said students do apply.

Should the need for these scholarships cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to recommendations from the appropriate administrative official of the University who is then directly responsible for student financial aids.

Change in Description of Named Funds

The Joseph B. Collinson Scholarship Fund

The Joseph B. Collinson Scholarship Fund was established June 11, 1981, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with a gift to The Ohio State University from Textron Corporation of Providence, Rhode Island. The description was changed September 4, 1987.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's permanent endowment fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to provide a scholarship for an accounting student completing the junior year who has indicated an intent to go on with graduate studies in accounting; achieved outstanding academic rank and provided concrete evidence of leadership. The selection of the recipient is to be made upon the recommendation of the selection committee, consisting of the Chairperson of the Academic Faculty of Accounting, a member of the Accounting Faculty teaching in the Honors Program, and the Adviser of the Student Accounting Association. The recipient is not required to take his or her graduate studies at The Ohio State University.

Should the need for these scholarships cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to recommendations from the appropriate administrative official of the University who is then directly responsible for accounting education.

Change in Description of Named Funds (contd)

Mary C. and Ezra Place Scholarship (contd)

through the Development Fund from Mr. and Mrs. Ezra C. Place, late of Lima, Ohio. The description was changed September 4, 1987.

The annual income shall be used to award four scholarships of $1,500.00 each to qualified students at the Lima Campus, or its successor, to be selected by the Trustees. Selection shall be made on the basis of merit, with preference being given to graduates of Lima Senior High School, Lima, Ohio; Shawnee High School, Lima, Ohio; Elida High School, Elida, Ohio; Bath High School, Lima, Ohio; and Perry High School, Lima, Ohio. Said scholarships may be granted to those graduates of the above mentioned schools who desire to attend any college or department of the University or any technical or trade school which may be a part of, or operated by or in connection therewith.

Payments shall be made from income, but the University may, in the discretion of the Trustees, invade the corpus to accomplish the purpose expressed herein.

$77,615.00 - Department of Health and Human Services, Public Health Service, National Institutes of Health, Bethesda, Maryland, Aberrant Papovavirus Replication After Genotoxic Damage, Department of Radiology (R. M. Snapka), 1 July 1987 through 31 May 1988. (Project 766206 - New)

$72,886.00 - Department of Health and Human Services, Public Health Service, National Institutes of Health, Bethesda, Maryland, The Chemistry of Biologically Relevant Quinone Imines, Department of Chemistry (J. S. Sventon), 1 August 1987 through 31 July 1988. (Project 765570 - Continuation)

$72,000.00 - National Science Foundation, Washington, D.C., Productive Versus Non-Productive Binding Kinases, Department of Chemistry (M. D. Tsai), 1 September 1987 through 28 February 1989. (Project 765630 - Continuation)

$69,677.00 - Department of Health and Human Services, Public Health Service, National Institutes of Health, Bethesda, Maryland, Regulation of Human Decidual Prolactin, Department of Internal Medicine (R. D. Jackson), 1 July 1987 through 30 June 1988. (Project 766234 - New)

$61,000.00 - National Science Foundation, Washington, D.C., Statistical Studies of the Genetic Effects Caused by Population Bottlenecks, Department of Molecular Genetics (P. A. Fuerst), 1 November 1987 through 31 October 1988. (Project 766234 - New)

$60,792.00 - Department of Health and Human Services, Public Health Service, National Institutes of Health, Bethesda, Maryland, Calcium and Calmodulin in Smooth Muscle Contraction, Department of Physiological Chemistry (J. D. Johnson), 1 July 1987 through 30 June 1988. (Project 764737 - Continuation)

$60,609.00 - Department of Health and Human Services, Public Health Service, National Institutes of Health, Bethesda, Maryland, Specific Analysis of Cardiac Glycosides in Patient Serum, College of Pharmacy (R. H. Reuning), 1 July 1987 through 30 June 1988. (Project 765511 - Continuation)

$59,883.00 - National Aeronautics and Space Administration, Langley Research Center, Hampton, Virginia, Space Station Antenna Design Studies, Department of Electrical Engineering, ElectroScience Laboratory (E. H. Newman), 1 June 1987 through 31 May 1988. (Project 761012 - Continuation)

$56,489.00 - Department of Health and Human Services, Public Health Service, National Institutes of Health, Bethesda, Maryland, Collaborative Ocular Melanoma Study -- Clinical Center, Department of Ophthalmology (F. H. Daviddorf), 1 August 1987 through 31 July 1988. (Project 765050 - Continuation)
September 3 and 4, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY RESEARCH FOUNDATION (contd)

Federal Research Contracts/Grants (contd)

$52,553.00 - National Science Foundation, Washington, D.C., Turbidity and Open-Water Planktivores: Their Influence on Size-Structured Interactions Among Centrarchid Fishes, Department of Zoology (R. A. Stein), 1 August 1987 through 31 July 1989. (Project 766271 - New)

$52,490.00 - National Aeronautics and Space Administration, Goddard Space Flight Center, Greenbelt, Maryland, Improvement of the Earth's Gravity Field from Terrestrial and Satellite Data, Department of Geodetic Science and Surveying (R. H. Rapp), 1 August 1987 through 31 July 1988. (Project 760056 - Continuation)

$50,000.00 - National Aeronautics and Space Administration, Lewis Research Center, Cleveland, Ohio, Adaptive Arrays for Satellite Communication, Department of Electrical Engineering, ElectroScience Laboratory (I. J. Gupta), 20 July 1987 through 20 December 1987. (Project 764040 - Continuation)

$50,000.00 - Department of the Navy, Office of Naval Research, Arlington, Virginia, Problems in Unsteady Boundary Layer Theory and Scattering Theory, Department of Mathematics (G. Majda), 1 September 1986 through 31 August 1987. (Project 765969 - New)

$49,610.00 - National Aeronautics and Space Administration, Langley Research Center, Hampton, Virginia, Research on Analysis of Large Aperture Reflector Antennas, Department of Electrical Engineering, ElectroScience Laboratory, (R. Rudduck), 28 May 1987 through 31 August 1988. (Project 763724 - Continuation)

$48,811.00 - Department of Health and Human Services, Public Health Service, National Institutes of Health, Bethesda, Maryland, Isokinetic Analysis of Inspiratory Muscle Function, Department of Internal Medicine (T. L. Clanton), 1 July 1987 through 30 June 1988. (Project 764819 - Continuation)

$46,286.00 - Department of Energy, Argonne, Illinois, Molecular Orbital Studies of the Bonding in Heavy Element Organometallics, Department of Chemistry (B. Bursten), 1 July 1987 through 30 June 1988. (Project 765484 - Continuation)

$34,900.00 - National Science Foundation, Washington, D.C., Research in Algebraic and Differential Topology, Department of Mathematics (R. M. Charney and M. W. Davis), 1 July 1987 through 31 December 1988. (Project 765576 - Continuation)
Federal Research Contracts/Grants (contd)

$33,902.00 - Department of Health and Human Services, Public Health Service, National Institutes of Health, Bethesda, Maryland, Escherichia coli Verotoxins and HEp-2 Adhesion, Department of Veterinary Preventive Medicine (C. R. Dorn), 1 September 1987 through 31 August 1988. (Project 766222 - New)

$31,250.00 - National Science Foundation, Washington, D.C., Research Experiences of Undergraduates: Site at The Ohio State University, Department of Chemistry (R. M. Mayer), 1 July 1987 through 31 December 1988. (Project 766230 - New)

$30,000.00 - National Science Foundation, Washington, D.C., Bulk Metal Particle -- Superconducting Ceramic Composite, Department of Physics (J. C. Garland), 15 July 1987 through 31 December 1988. (Project 766246 - New)

$29,740.00 - National Science Foundation, Washington, D.C., Paleobotany in Antarctica and Its Relationship to Reconstructions of Gondwanaland, Byrd Polar Research Center (T. N. Taylor and E. L. Taylor) and Department of Botany (T. N. Taylor), 1 August 1987 through 31 July 1988. (Project 766268 - New)

$25,000.00 - Department of the Army, Army Research Office, Research Triangle Park, North Carolina, The Chemistry of Hexaazotriphenylene Hexanitride, A Polyfunctional Heterocycle with Potential Utility in the Formulation of Thermostable Polymers, Department of Chemistry (A. W. Czarnik), 1 August 1987 through 30 November 1987. (Project 764885 - Continuation)

$25,000.00 - National Science Foundation, Washington, D.C., Presidential Young Investigator Award, Department of Civil Engineering (M. R. McCord), 15 July 1987 through 31 December 1988. (Project 766242 - New)

$24,500.00 - National Aeronautics and Space Administration, Goddard Space Flight Center, Greenbelt, Maryland, Emission-Line Region Variability: Optical and Ultraviolet Emission-Line Variability in the Seyfert I Galaxy, Department of Astronomy (B. M. Peterson and G. J. Ferland), 1 August 1987 through 31 July 1988. (Project 765542 - Continuation)

$19,681.00 - National Science Foundation, Washington, D.C., Purchase of an Electron Paramagnetic Resonance Spectrometer, Department of Physiological Chemistry, (C. R. Hille), 1 July 1987 through 31 December 1989. (Project 766221 - New)

$19,583.00 - National Science Foundation, Washington, D.C., Contributions to the Study of the Non-Commutative Chern Character, Department of...
Federal Research Contracts/Grants (contd)

$17,500.00 - Department of the Air Force, Air Force Systems Command, Bolling Air Force Base, D.C., Theory System Reliability Demonstration and Burn-in Design, Department of Statistics (S. Blumenthal), 1 August 1987 through 31 October 1987. (Project 766252 - New)

$10,022.00 - Department of Health and Human Services, Public Health Service, National Institutes of Health, Bethesda, Maryland, Platelet Ionized Calcium Aggregometer, Model 660 and PC-Based Molecular Modeling System, College of Pharmacy (D. S. Pathak), 1 July 1987 through 30 June 1988. (Project 766203 - New)

$9,997.00 - Department of the Army, Army Corps of Engineers, Fort Belvoir, Virginia, Investigation of Alternate Methods of Collecting Global Positioning Survey Data, Department of Geodetic Science and Surveying (C. C. Goad), 13 July 1987 through 12 September 1987. (Project 766243 - New)

$5,000.00 - Department of Health and Human Services, Public Health Service, National Institutes of Health, Bethesda, Maryland, Small Instrumentation Program, College of Optometry (F. W. Hebbard), 1 August 1987 through 31 July 1988. (Project 766263 - New)

$4,500.00 - National Aeronautics and Space Administration, Lewis Research Center, Cleveland, Ohio, Nuclear Irradiation, Engineering Experiment Station (J. W. Talnagi), 1 December 1986 through 30 November 1987. (Project 766179 - New)

$4,000.00 - National Science Foundation, Washington, D.C., Relativistic Optical Model at Intermediate Energies, Department of Physics (B. C. Clark), 1 July 1987 through 31 December 1988. (Project 765350 - Continuation)

$4,000.00 - National Science Foundation, Washington, D.C., Structure, Dynamic Behavior, and Synthesis of Selected Solvated Carbanionic Substances, Department of Chemistry (G. A. Fraenkel), 1 June 1987 through 31 May 1988. (Project 765472 - Continuation)

$4,000.00 - National Science Foundation, Washington, D.C., A Cooperative Paleoclimatic Study of the Dunde Ice Cap and Its Relationship to Global Climatic Variability, Byrd Polar Research Center (L. G. Thompson and E. Mosley-Thompson), 1 May 1987 through 30 April 1988. (Project 765310 - Continuation)

$2,600.00 - National Science Foundation, Washington, D.C., Synthetic Catalysts Based on Reversible Covalent Bond Formation, Department of Chemistry (A. W. Czarnik), 1 June 1987 through 31 August 1988. (Project 765171 - Continuation)

THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY DEVELOPMENT FUND

Establishment of Named Funds

The Denver Collins, Jr., Scholarship Fund

The Denver Collins, Jr., Scholarship Fund was established September 4, 1987, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts from the Collins family in honor of their father, Denver Collins, Jr. (B.C.E. '56).

All gifts are to be invested in the University's permanent endowment fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

Ninety percent of the annual income shall be used to provide one or more scholarships to Ohio residents who are Civil Engineering juniors or seniors majoring in the area of construction management. Selection will be based upon leadership qualities and scholastic excellence. Seniors selected will be able to apply their awards toward their graduate engineering education at The Ohio State University, but the awards will not exceed the then current full tuition fees for undergraduates. Ten percent of the annual income and any other unused income will be reinvested in the fund's principal. Selection of the Denver Collins, Jr., Scholar will be made by the Chairperson of the Department of Civil Engineering upon recommendation of the construction engineering faculty in consultation with the University Committee on Student Financial Aid. The Civil Engineering faculty annually will notify the benefactors of The

It is the desire of the donors that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity. If the need for this fund should cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then another use shall be designated by the Board of Trustees in order to carry out the desire of the donors.

Horse Production and Management Educational Fund

The Horse Production and Management Educational Fund was established September 4, 1987, by the Board of Trustees with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from alumni and friends of the Agricultural Technical Institute, Wooster, Ohio.

Horse Production and Management Technology is one of seventeen technical programs offered by the Agricultural Technical Institute and has, since its inception in 1972, provided hundreds of two-year Associate Degree graduates to employers in Ohio and throughout the United States. Students in the ATI Horse Production and Management Technology gain hands-on experience in working with all sectors of the horse industry. They utilize Standardbreds, Thoroughbreds, Quarter Horses, Arabians, Morgans, and Paints, as well as Belgians and Percherons in their studies. Students receive technical, as well as general education with emphasis on genetics and breeding, nutrition and feeding, anatomy, physiology of reproduction, breaking, training, riding, driving, stabling, grooming, and the general care of stallions, mares, and foals. Income from this Endowment will be utilized to enhance the scope and effectiveness of the ATI Horse Production and Management Program.

The annual income shall be used to enhance the Agricultural Technical Institute's Horse Production and Management Program and to improve the drawing power of that Program, as well as the drawing power of all areas of study at the Agricultural Technical Institute. Decisions as to use of the annual income from this fund shall be vested in the Director, Agricultural Technical Institute, following consultation with the faculty and staff of the Horse Production and Management Program.

It is the desire of the donors that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity. If the need for this fund should cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then another use shall be designated by the Board of Trustees in order to carry out the desire of the donors.

The William Poland Lectures in Music Theory

The William Poland Lectures in Music Theory was established September 4, 1987, by The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from the family of William Poland (Ph.D. 1960), Professor Emeritus in the School of Music.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's permanent endowment fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to provide an honorarium and expenses to one or more eminent scholars from any discipline who will lecture on a topic of critical importance to scholarship in the theory of music. The recipient(s) will be determined by the music theorists in the Division of Music Theory and Composition, in consultation with the division chairperson and the chairperson of the Cazden/Poland Collection advisory committee.

It is the desire of the donors that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity. If the need for this fund should cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then another use shall be designated by the Board of Trustees in order to carry out the desire of the donors.

The Hermann Meyer Veterinary Anatomy Award

The Hermann Meyer Veterinary Anatomy Award was established September 4, 1987, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from Marti Gantenbein Meyer and Hermann Meyer.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's permanent endowment fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to provide funds for annual awards to one or more freshman veterinary students selected by the faculty members in the Department of Veterinary Anatomy and approved by the Dean of the College of Veterinary Medicine. The chosen student or students should be seriously dedicated to obtaining a thorough, sound, biomorphological background for their veterinary medical education, and have shown a genuine interest in excellent performance in veterinary anatomy during their first year at the College of Veterinary Medicine.

It is the desire of the donors that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity. If the need for this fund should cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then another use shall be designated by the Board of Trustees in order to carry out the desire of the donors.

PURCHASE OF REAL PROPERTY

1.5 ACRES ADJACENT TO THE MANSFIELD REGIONAL CAMPUS
RICHLAND COUNTY, OHIO

Resolution No. 88-24

Synopsis: Purchase of 1.5 acres adjacent to the Mansfield Regional Campus is proposed.

WHEREAS The Ohio State University has been provided with an opportunity to purchase 1.5 acres of land on the south side of State Route 39 in Richland County, Ohio, and situated northwest of, and adjacent to, the main entrance of the University's Mansfield Regional Campus; and

WHEREAS this property has an appraised value of $2,500.00, and the owners, Charles A. and Alberta I. Parsons of Galion, Ohio, have offered to sell the property to the University at that price; and

WHEREAS funds for the purchase of this property will be provided through a gift from the John and Pearl Conard Foundation; and

WHEREAS the appropriate University officers have determined that the purchase of this property is in the best interest of the University:

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That the funds for this purchase be accepted as a gift to the University through The Ohio State University Campaign from the John and Pearl Conard Foundation; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That the President and/or Vice President for Business and Administration be authorized to purchase, in the name of the Board of Trustees, this 1.5 acres of land at a price not to exceed $2,500.00 and upon such terms and conditions as are deemed to be in the best interest of the University, subject to the University receiving the necessary approvals from the Ohio Board of Regents and the State Controlling Board.

Upon motion of Mr. Wolf, seconded by Mr. Barone, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous roll call vote.

Upon motion of Mr. Barone, seconded by Mr. Berry, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous roll call vote.

President Jennings made the following statement:

Mr. Chairman, that completes my agenda. I think a couple things should be noticed, I think the Alumni Association is giving us a little hint -- if you'll notice over by the fireplace, it looks to me like there are a couple dozen roses. We appreciate your interest and we will try, no doubt, to live up to that. I think it is also appropriate to note that the University over the next two weeks will undergo a severe test of its capability and the President's capability, in view of the fact that both Mr. Scott and Mr. Jackson will be out of town and out of the country and --

October 1 and 2, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

The Chairman, Mr. Redman, called the meeting of the Board of Trustees to order on October 1, 1987, at 6:35 p.m. He requested the Secretary to call the roll. The meeting recessed into Executive Session for the purpose of considering legal issues and personnel-related matters.

---

Mr. Redman reconvened the meeting on October 2, 1987, at 10:20 a.m.

---

Mr. Redman:

Mrs. Bowser, would you like to talk about the Hospitals Board Committee?

Mrs. Bowser:

Well, I think Mr. Immke has already reported here on that subject.

Mr. Redman:

I was going to ask, Mrs. Bowser, in light of this and since we just received the written report this morning, if you could give us a recap on the important items in it.

Mrs. Bowser:

Well, this is the first time I have seen it, too. However, I have participated in these major activities. I think it's self-explanatory. Mr. Covert is here, Dr. Tzagournis is here --

Mr. Scott:

Mike, would you like to comment on this?

Mr. Covert:

Sure, let me take a minute or two. We had anticipated Mr. Immke would be here to give a brief report. I'll highlight several of the key items for you, and then if you have questions, I'd be pleased to answer them or discuss them with you.

The Hospitals Board, as indicated, did meet on September 27, and all of its appropriate subcommittees met. There were a number of items reviewed: the medical staff appointments, as well as an amendment to the Bylaws of the Medical Staff that dealt with, what we will refer to as physician extenders, physician assistants, and how they are appropriately credentialled in the Hospital setting. We heard several reports of quality assurance related activities from both the Otolaryngology, as well as our Ophthalmology Departments; and a report from Dr. Joseph Drago, head of the Division of Urology, talking about some of the latest developments in using lasers to crush kidney stones. I believe I saw a report in the Dispatch this morning also outlining some of that activity.
October 1 and 2, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

I would highlight three or four items for you. In the month of July the Hospitals exceeded their budgeted admissions by 3%, and clinic visits exceeded budget by 6%. We think this is a trend that will continue. Revenues exceeded expenses by approximately $168,000.

The four or five items that I would bring up to you, Mr. Chairman, Members of the Board, are items of discussion on our MedOhio facilities, a report of accreditation of our rehabilitation center, as well as a brief review of the Boards' Self-Evaluation Task Force recommendations, and a brief note on the Cancer committee activities.

We reviewed a financial statement, as well as information on the first 3 1/2 months of operation. It has been our intent to establish an estimate. There are two budgets on the MedOhio, the first through June 30, and then the budget year, tied to our fiscal year, of July 1 through June 30. During that particular period of time, our budgeted visits to those facilities on a per day basis were somewhat down. Those are directly related to our use of the Reynoldsburg facility, as we had several physicians who were practicing there who left the Reynoldsburg facility just prior to our taking that over. That's a result of some concerns on their part in working with Humana and they decided to go out into private practice. So our numbers were somewhat down; you can see that in the report. We are ahead of schedule, however, in terms of our budget financially during that period of time. Budgeted losses were, in an initial three-month period, some $56,000. After our initial takeover, our actual losses were only approximately $24,000. I would tell you that in the actual months of July and August they have begun to turn a specific profit of approximately $10,000-$15,000. Overall, we think that will continue and I will continue to report on that.

Mr. Redman:

This is an area that Mr. Kessler and I are both interested in. I'm happy to hear you report that our loss wasn't as great as our budgeted loss, although this is only through June 30. Is that correct?

Mr. Covert:

That is correct. We believe that if our admissions would have actually held to what we had anticipated, if we had not seen the change in the movement of those physicians in the Reynoldsburg facility, that we would have been profitable all those particular months. Now, I will tell you that those items have been corrected and we do have stable medical staff out there at this point. That is why you have begun to see the change in July and August. But there is no question that did have an impact on us for that period of time.
October 1 and 2, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

Mr. Teaford:

Am I right that profit does not include capital costs?

Mr. Covert:

That's right.

Mr. Redman:

And it doesn't include interest on the investment?

Mr. Covert:

That is what we were referring to, as it is part of the endowment at this point. If that should transfer, obviously those activities would have to be accounted for and that is what we would use those surplus monies for.

Mr. Redman:

In that computation, Mr. Covert, you take no credit for any teaching service that may be rendered and we get the benefit from Humana, is that correct?

Mr. Covert:

We have not taken any teaching credits. We have not taken into account major changes and significant accounts receivable that we had also collected on Humana's behalf during that time, that is correct.

Mr. Redman:

Well, I think we should see both sides of the coin.

Mr. Covert:

I think, Mr. Chairman, we were just trying to take it in pure dollars and cents. You had a look at it from a pure viewpoint, but I will do that in the future.

If there are no other questions on that -- the other key item is that we did receive accreditation on our Rehabilitation Facility at Dodd Hall through the Commission on Accreditation of Rehabilitation Facilities. C.A.R.F. is similar to the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals, and they only look at rehab hospitals. We received a full three-year accreditation with no significant deviations. I think we are really proud of that and what the staff has been able to achieve. It makes us one of several major accredited centers in the United States at this point, and we are really pleased with that.

A couple of other items that I bring to you are that the Self-Evaluation Task Force, that was chaired by Mr. Klisares, brought a presentation together on potential reorganization of a number of the Board committees and how information is presented to them. There was an active and lively discussion in that regard as to how we might wish to do that in the future. It is not only a requirement from the part of the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals that we do that, but I think it was a very good exercise on our behalf as we take a look on how we operate and how we continue to function on behalf of the Board of Trustees. I think it was also an extensive discussion on the expectations of staff and myself, in terms of information being presented. I believe that there will be more discussion on that and we'll defer that piece to Mrs. Bowser as I complete the activity discussion here.

The Ad Hoc Cancer Committee of the Hospitals Board has met three times over the last month to begin to review and gear up, if you will, for the official operation of the Cancer Hospital. At that time, Dr. Tzagournis and Dr. James had an opportunity to review continuing activities in the search for the director, ongoing construction activities, financing of the operation, and analysis of support requirements. For those who are not familiar with the Committee, it is made up of Messrs. Immke, Havens, Lazarus, Duncan, and Vorys, and they will continue to meet to review all of our gearing up for operation.

Mr. Redman:

Where are we on the selection of a head for the cancer hospital?

Mr. Covert:

I believe there are ongoing discussions in that regard with one or two candidates. I don't believe that they have been finalized at this point, and I would defer to Dr. Tzagournis.

Mr. Redman:

Have you narrowed it down to one or two?

Dr. Tzagournis:

Yes.

Mr. Redman:

When will that determination be made known?

Dr. Tzagournis:

We hope this month, at the end of October.

Mr. Redman:

Really, we can't get off the ground until we get that fellow, can we? Is that a correct statement, or not? We're just brick and mortar now.

Dr. Tzagournis:

Well, we have -- Dr. James is the Medical Director, he is really
October 1 and 2, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

Dr. Tzagournis: (contd)

performing those functions, he is trying to get the equipment ready.

Mr. Covert:

In some of the operational areas, as you have also directed and the Hospitals Board has directed, we have been meeting to gear up operation in support of the facilities specifically. And those activities are activities that need to go on either way at this point so that we are ready to open up on day one.

The last item that was brought to the attention of the Hospitals Board was an issue on accounts receivable and some significant late payments on the part of Medicaid service in the State. We were in arrears some $3.3 million that had been owed to us for over a year. We did ask for help from the Attorney General's Office to solicit and get the attention of the Medicaid Office to help us with that. At this point in time, less than $1 million of that $3.3 million is still owed to us and will be paid shortly. So, we've been pleased with that support and have received those funds.

Those are the major items of report that I would --

Mr. Redman:

Did you expand on the Humana possibility of collecting a portion of those receivables? Did you mention that?

Mr. Covert:

Yes.

Mr. Redman:

So that we expect to pick up a net of about $300,000, is that correct?

Mr. Covert:

Potentially, I think we were looking at probably a quarter of a million for the accounts receivables on their behalf. I think they are pleased that we were willing to do that, and we have been successful.

Mr. Redman:

So to convert that to Mr. Kessler's and my concern -- our cash price was $6.5 million?

Mr. Covert:

That is correct.
October 1 and 2, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

Mr. Redman:

If we applied that credit against that, we would end up with somewhere around $6.2 million.

Mr. Covert:

That is correct. With the forgiving of loans that they have made previously to physician groups involved with that as they first got started, in terms of the actual costs to the institution and to the potential costs and to our related groups, we would be looking in the neighborhood of that purchase being $6 million.

Mr. Redman:

Their asking price in the beginning was $8.5 million.

Mr. Covert:

Initially, $8.5 million, and as you recall from the discussions with Mt. Carmel and -- I think that was public knowledge -- they were looking at Mt. Carmel with $7,750,000.00.

Mr. Redman:

Are you through with the report?

Mr. Covert:

I would defer to any questions you may have.

Mr. Redman:

I would like to ask, I'm doing all the asking here, but where are we on the helicopter?

Mr. Covert:

On the helicopter consortium -- at this point they are operational in terms of their activities.

Mr. Redman:

Who is they?

Mr. Covert:

Mt. Carmel, ourselves, St. Anthony, and Mercy are the combined participants in that group. The helicopter has just been leased, the staff put together, and it will officially begin its operation, tentatively, the first of November. I would make a comment to you that we are still in active negotiations with Grant Hospital, I think I have indicated that publicly on several occasions. We will continue to negotiate to see if we can pull ourselves together so that there is only one active service in the community. There was an opportunity through the Coalition of Cost Effectiveness group for Board Members, as well as representatives of the Hospitals and the President was invited to participate, to continue that ongoing activity. I think we have publicly professed, and will continue to do so, that it is our desire to pull those efforts together. If we can do so, it would be our hope to be able to achieve that in the next 30-45 days at the latest.

Mr. Redman:

So I understand then that you have finalized your contractual relations with Mt. Carmel and White Cross? No?

Mr. Govert:

St. Anthony. Yes, that has been ongoing. It is truly a consortium and if you are asking me whether or not they have come up with the cash and they have paid it, yes, they have.

Mr. Redman:

They have. Have you purchased a helicopter?

Mr. Govert:

This is not a purchase, this is a lease agreement that is from year-to-year and gives us options to continue to do that. However, the actual costs associated with that are fixed for a several-year period of time.

Mr. Redman:

But, that service would then begin, in your judgement, about November 1. Irrespective of Grant's participation or not?

Mr. Govert:

That is correct. Now, if there are opportunities for us to work together and to merge those after that, we will continue to do so.

Mr. Teaford:

Mr. Chairman, I wanted to raise one thing as a consumer of the Hospitals' services this past summer. During my stay I thought that the nursing care and doctors' care was superb and I couldn't even conceive of having any complaints about it, but the billing system still drives you up a tree. I can't even tell you how many bills that I have received because I went there. I don't know what they relate to and I don't know whether they get paid or not. We have simply got to come up with a system, so that if I go to that hospital, I get ONE bill. It is not fair to the person who is using the hospital to get the stuff you get. I have a secretary who works on trying to figure out whether I've paid, what I've paid, and so forth. She and I can't do it.
October 1 and 2, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

Mrs. Bowser:

The Hospitals Board has discussed this --

Mr. Redman:

I want to advise Mr. Covert that I didn't put you up to that. This was volunteered on your own.

Mr. Teaford:

No, no, nobody put me up to this. This is absolutely my own comment. But, I think we really have to move on that.

Mrs. Bowser:

We really have been working on this.

Dr. Tzagournis:

Mr. Redman just asked me to invite him to the next committee meeting on central billing which I plan to attend. We can attend it together. That committee is pretty much on schedule, you remember this Board gave them a phase-in time. They do have a consultant's report and we plan to bring this to the Hospitals Board's next meeting for a report. Then, I think, Mr. Redman will bring it to your Board next time. We'll give you a good progress report.

Mr. Redman:

It might not be amiss, Dr. Tzagournis, to send Mr. Teaford and the other members of the Board of Trustees the consultant's report so they will have the benefit of that before the next meeting.

Dr. Tzagournis:

I'd be happy to.

President Jennings:

It could represent a major breakthrough in hospital activity as it this is not unique to Ohio State. If we get this one solved, we've worked a minor miracle. I would also suggest perhaps we ought to include members of the Trustees in the University's PPO where there is no paperwork.

Mr. Teaford:

I'd love that.

Mr. Kessler:

Why is it so complicated?
October 1 and 2, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

Mrs. Bowser:

How much time do you have?

President Jennings:

It's federal rules, state rules, Blue Cross rules --

Mr. Redman:

However, it needs a solution. I am satisfied from an accounting standpoint that it can be solved, but I want to make this statement for the public record that we cannot be unfair with the doctors. If we don't have doctors on our staff, we wouldn't have any hospital. And they are there for a lot of reasons, one of which is to make money. We can't make the billing system so they can't get paid. That is one of the concerns that some of the doctors have mentioned to me directly. And I have solicited their comment, asking, "What are you afraid of?" We've got the consumer problem as Mr. Teaford has outlined, and I think we need to do something about it. But by the same token we need to assure the physicians on the staff that we are not going to make it so that they can't exist and get their money within a reasonable time -- that's all.

Mr. Teaford:

My sense is that the current billing system contributes to their getting their money slower. Because if I had had all of those on one bill, they would have simply been paid, but I had to check each one because I didn't know what they were. And there is no question that I paid those doctors slower than I would have paid had we had a uniformed billing system.

Mr. Redman:

When you get through with those, Mr. Teaford, I'll be getting a few and I'll send them down to your secretary.

Mr. Teaford:

Oh, please don't, she will kill me!

Mrs. Bowser:

I just want to reemphasize the point that Dr. Tzagournis and Mr. Covert have been working on this problem. It is not that it has been shelved, it has not. And I think Mr. Havens had a comment or two at the last meeting that he had a suggestion which Dr. Tzagournis is going to take under advisement. So, it is not something that has been put on the shelf, they are on the same time-frame that we gave these gentlemen.

Mr. Redman:

Well, we don't want to be slow like the seven-year itch. We don't want Mr. Teaford's wife to pass away before we can get his bill straightened out.
October 1 and 2, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

Mr. Teaford:

Even worse, she doesn't want me to pass away before the bills are paid.

Mr. Redman:

Having had outside consultants now, and pragmatic review of the problem, I think we would all benefit by having that. Is there anything else? We'll have the Foundation Board report -- do you have anything to report?

Mr. Teaford:

Yes, I do, Mr. Chairman. First of all, Mr. Chairman, I have not said this publicly, and I want to make sure I do, that I think this is an important innovation that you have added this year to have these reports, and I am particularly pleased that you have done it.

You have already heard the principle things that the Foundation Board has done in Vice President Tobin's report at this morning's committee meeting. As you know, we are at some 64% of the goal already. I have a list of the members of the Foundation Board and I think it would be useful to pass it around so that we are aware of the persons who are devoting so much time to make this a reality.

As you know, the principle criteria for being on this Board is the ability to raise or, in fact, donate $1 million to the University; other than those who are on there because they are members of the Board of Trustees, lest anyone think I am capable of such generosity. But as important as the gifts -- and as you know, our Chairman of that Board, Les Wexner, has announced an increase in his gift from $10 million to $25 million -- there is a great deal of time and energy being spent by the members of the Board that are a great help to this institution. A few examples are -- and I am happy to point out that a number of those examples sit on this Board -- Len Immke has been involved in the Campaign on behalf of the Cancer Hospital and Research Institute and has served as a host for a number of local and regional development events; Jack Kessler, Bernie Gerlach, Dan Galbreath, and Mel Schottenstein have all been active in the Columbus Regional Campaign; and Richard Leet is active in the Chicago Regional Campaign. Also, David Sharrock, who is on the Board, has been involved in the Cincinnati Campaign. Jack, Bernie, and Mel, along with Alex Schoenbaum, have also worked to build the athletic portion of the Campaign. Fred Ruffner, who is on the Board, but is also the Chair of the National Campaign Steering Committee, has hosted numerous Development events. He maintains an ongoing open line of communication with the University and is a strong advocate on its behalf. Richard Denman serves as co-chair of the Medical Center portion of the Campaign and Ralph Kent is the Chair of the College of Business Campaign activities. It think it is important to note that not only are these persons sharing with us their resources, but indeed, perhaps even more valuable, their time and energy. And I think this Board should know that. I, personally, am very appreciative of the kinds of efforts that we are seeing. Thank you.
October 1 and 2, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

Mr. Teaford: (contd)

Mr. Redman:

Thank you, Mr. Teaford, for your report. This schedule of the terms of office doesn't indicate that Wexner is the Chairman, but you say that he is.

Mr. Teaford:

He is indeed.

Mr. Redman:

I think that is fine. He certainly has been generous to the University and we all appreciate it.

President Jennings:

I think, mentioning people -- and I will second that -- there is an enormous amount time that is spent by all of those people that you mentioned. It is a major reason for the success of this Campaign, to date. I am sure you would also want to mention Jim Chaplan on the Cleveland Campaign, who I might add is recovering well from major surgery and will be back bugging the Cleveland people to get involved with Ohio State, very shortly.

Mr. Kessler:

I might mention, tagging on to Joel's comment, that the Columbus part of the Campaign has contributed, in the two years since the Campaign started, $110 million in 2 1/2 years, which is 80% of the Columbus goal. Columbus benefits a lot from what goes on at Ohio State, but it is amazing that this community has been that generous to this University. I think it is just incredible.

Mr. Redman:

Are there any other comments? I would like to have the report from Mr. Barone on the Research Foundation.

Mr. Barone:

Mr. Chairman, on The Ohio State University Research Foundation I wish to state, at this time, that I am also very happy that you have created these reports, because what I knew about the Foundation before serving on the Board was absolutely zero. It was all together different from what I surmised it was.

We had a meeting on June 19, and the officers were elected at that time: President - Dr. Hollander; Vice President - Roy Koenigschnect; Secretary - Herb Toennisson; and Assistant Secretary - Mr. DeStazio. What with the election of officers and getting acquainted at the June meeting, we had an additional meeting on September 18, where we got into the functions of the University Research Foundation. Everything that the Foundation is awarded is approved by the Board of Trustees, and consequently, that is why I feel that this Board should have a more general knowledge of what the function of the Foundation is. I certainly did not have it.

The awards given to this University do not come easily. I am happy to report, for example, in 1978 the University received $31 million in awards. In June 1987, we have $82 million. Of course, with the 1987-88 awards given and the money coming in, it will easily reach $100 million. So there is $100 million worth of work being done in this University, which amazed me and I don't know if the rest of the Trustees knew about it or even that these functions are going on. One hundred million dollars in awards and $100 million being granted to this University, I think it is tremendous. I think Dr. Hollander is doing a tremendous job as the President of the Foundation.

For example, for the period 7/1/86 - 5/31/87 we have received almost $93 million in awards and the expense account on that is 3%. I think that is fantastic -- a $21,468 expense account, with an income of $93 million. Myles attended this meeting and of course, Myles knows this much better than I do. I've been leaning on him to find out the functions and how the Board operates. I'd like to read, for example, the report of Federal awards and then the percentages: National Aeronautical and Space Administration has given 36 awards; National Science Foundation has given 127 awards; Department of Defense has awarded us 61 grants; Department of Energy - 19 awards; Department of Education - 35 awards; Department of Health and Human Services, and I think Dr. Tzagournis is very active in that, they have given us 201 awards; and numerous other agencies have awarded us 57 grants.

Mr. Redman:

Who rides herd on these? Once we get the money, who gets the money —

Mr. Barone:

Well, different departments apply for these awards, and that is why I say that I was amazed that we were able to do this with very little lobbying. I think if more of the University knew about these awards and the amount of money involved, I feel -- and I told Dr. Hollander and Myles -- we are not assured we are going to get these awards when we present them. Most of them are Federal and if we could get a little lobbying in there, I think it would be very helpful.

Mr. Redman:

Who instigates the requests?
October 1 and 2, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

Mr. Scott:

Myles?

Dr. Brand:

Let me speak to this for just a moment, Mr. Chairman. These are all peer group awards from the Federal Government. Resident scientists and researchers on Campus submit awards to peer groups and they are judged by panels and committees. They are not political process awards, but rather on the merits of the proposals.

Mr. Redman:

In other words, the Federal Government and those folks decide that they are going to give an award for something or other and then the universities all over the country bid on them.

Dr. Brand:

Then they are chosen on the basis of quality by a panel of experts.

Mr. Redman:

If we get the bid, if we are the successful bidder like a contractor, then we get the money.

Mrs. Bowser:

It's on quality, not on --

President Jennings:

It's not on dollars.

Dr. Brand:

It's is not on dollars. The dollar amount is set by the Federal Government and then they choose the university research team on the basis of the quality of the faculty involved.

Mr. Redman:

Having been granted that, we get the money, right?

Dr. Brand:

Yes, Sir.

Mr. Scott:

To do the work. As an example, today we received a major grant for AIDS research -- that is the kind of thing that Myles is describing. But the ideas are generated by our research faculty, research scientists, and then those are submitted to the various federal agencies to be peer reviewed. That is the difference between this and pork barrel.
October 1 and 2, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

Dr. Brand:

I might note, Mr. Chairman, that having passed the $100 million mark per year is a significant achievement for this University. I might note that, to follow up on Mr. Barone, the National Institute of Health grants, which are very competitive grants and a significant mark of achievement in the quality of our programs, is significantly up due to research at the Medical School.

Mr. Redman:

Very good.

President Jennings:

I think, as we noted, the very encouraging aspect of all of this is that these have been, over the last several of years, growing at an annual rate compounded at 12% a year, when much of the research activity has been flat. You mentioned the College of Medicine -- they have been growing at roughly 22% a year over the last several years, reflecting the enormous work and success of bringing in new, young faculty who are very competitive in these areas. This is a major measure of the quality of an institution. Around the country we ranked 23rd in the nation, and we expect that rank to improve substantially over time.

Mr. Teaford:

Mr. President, I think we shouldn't lose sight of the fact that the biggest single reason that we have so many successful grants is that our faculty is active in seeking them. Because without the proposals from the faculty, that simply could not happen. I think later today we are going to hear from one of the stars in that regard, Dr. Twarog.

Mr. Barone:

We have increased our awards of the last three years by 49%. And that is because of the faculty and because of the excellent work the faculty has done in the past. So you can see from $31 million to $100 million is a tremendous increase, and we should be very proud of what the group is doing on that.

I'd also like to report to the Board of Trustees -- by coincidence on the Super Collider, one of the chief, or I should say the main person who is working on the Super Collider for the Government, is a brain-child from Toledo, Ohio, called Mike Weatheral. I play golf with his father quite a bit. So I've heard the basic report that he has given President Reagan. He feels that after the research he has made -- and his report will go to President Reagan -- that he would like to point it towards Ohio. However, President Reagan at the present time hasn't had as much publicity as a good actor should, and he feels that when the report is in, that Illinois, which has probably the best facility -- physical facility, the University, the airport and everything else, probably it should go that way. But it is his opinion, when it is all said and done, that President Reagan has the choice of where to put it and it will probably, as his last curtain call, will take it right into California. However, what happened yesterday in California may completely force him to change his ideas of placing it there with the earthquake. But there is a strong feeling in Congress, he tells me, that the Super Collider is a $6 billion expense that should be payment put on our national debt. And in all probability, if something is not done with our national debt area, the Super Collider will be put aside for the future and the money expended on the national debt. Now that is very, very unofficial, I'm just giving you what members of that committee are thinking.
October 1 and 2, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

Mr. President, I can see your facial expression, you may expound on that.

President Jennings:

Let me talk about the process very briefly. I think it is very important to recognize -- and we were talking about these research grants -- that the first action that will be taken will not have any political activity at all associated with it. Peers will select anywhere from 2-3, to 6-7 undetermined sites that are all acceptable, scientifically. And obviously Fermi Lab at the University of Illinois will be competitive with that because they already have a lab there. But they, like other proposals, have some major disadvantages associated with Fermi Lab that, I think, make our proposal competitive with theirs. Two major issues associated with Fermi Lab is their bedrock is much deeper than ours is and the cost would be higher. Then secondly, if the current facility at Fermi Lab is used as part of this new Super Collider, then the Fermi research would have to be shutdown during the construction phase, which would be up to three years, which would be a major setback for science. Because even with this new facility, the Fermi Lab will still be a major scientific instrument. And then third, if the Fermi Lab is used, the scientific community is worried that we will be using equipment that was developed in the '50's to put in with the more modern Super Collider. So, I think, that the assumption that the University of Illinois has a competitive edge is not totally appropriate. Obviously, they already have a facility there.

The other thing that I think we should recognize, too, in terms of President Reagan, is that in order for President Reagan to make a decision on this, this process is going to have to go much more rapidly than the scientific process would typically take. That January 20, 1989 date is upon us, and I think that the scientific community feels that it is most likely that the next President of the United States will make this decision, because of the time required to develop this project.

Mr. Redman:

We can have Bush do that. Are you through?

President Jennings:

Everett Dierkson did not have anything to do with Fermi Lab.
October 1 and 2, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

Mr. Redman:

I wanted to ask one question of general information. Is it true that all requests for research grants must go through the Board, the Research Board? Is that a correct statement, or not?

Mr. Barone:

Yes. I thought I said that. Everything that the Board of Directors does, or submits, or recommends must be submitted eventually to the Board of Trustees for approval.

Mr. Redman:

I didn't mean that, John -- I meant that let's assume that a member of the faculty wants to make an application for a grant, does he have to go through the Research Board?

Mr. Barone:

Yes.

Mrs. Bowser:

It would be nice to know who is on the Research Board like we know who is on the Foundation Board, maybe next time.

Mr. Scott:

We'll provide you with that.

Mr. Redman:

Any other questions? Thank you, Mr. Barone. We would like to have the report on the Development Fund from Mr. Kessler.

Mr. Kessler:

There have been no meetings of the Development Board since a lot of the activity of the fundraising has been picked up by the Foundation Board. The Development Board is still active and still in existence, but most of the major fundraising has been assumed by the Foundation.

Mr. Tobin:

Let me add a comment to that. Actually, the Development Fund Board will have its next meeting next week. We will send you a copy of the minutes of that meeting. The Foundation, as Jack indicates, is concentrating its activities on major gifts and so on and so forth as part of the Campaign. The Development Fund Board is concentrating on what we call "base building," working on the total number of donors contributing to the institution. They will be looking at a number of major recommendations from our staff next week and my thought was to send you a copy of the minutes of that session which will also include some new people who have been added to that Board.
October 1 and 2, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

Mr. Redman:

Thank you, Mr. Tobin, Mr. Kessler.

Mr. Redman called upon Dr. Brand to introduce Professor Twarog, Father Matejic, and Predrag Matejic, to give a presentation on the Hilandar Library.

Dr. Brand:

Thank you, Mr. Chairman. I would like to take this opportunity to introduce you to Professor Leon Twarog, who is a Professor Emeritus. He came to Ohio State in 1960, as a full Professor to help fill the University's Slavic studies program. And, indeed, he was Chairperson of the Department of Slavic and East European Languages and Literatures from its beginning in 1962 until 1972, and then again served in that capacity from 1978 until 1984.

Amongst his achievements is having founded and directed the Center for Slavic and East European Studies from its creation in 1965, until his retirement. It's significant that this Center is a Title VI funded federal Center; one, I believe, of only 11 in the country. And it is an achievement to have done this over this long period of time. I could spend a very long time listing Professor Twarog's accomplishments, though let me name just one, and that is that he was instrumental in bringing about the individualized instruction program for foreign languages in which instruction is delivered through the telephone and includes written tests. These are for languages such as Czech, Polish and Russian, and they are taught in this way across the entire country.

Professor Twarog will introduce his colleagues and they will talk about the Hilandar Research Project and the Hilandar Research Library which relate to the Slavic language program. As you recall earlier, we discussed the new Master's program in this area. Professor Twarog —

Professor Twarog:

Thanks very much for a very gracious introduction. Members of the Board, today I just want to say that we are all very grateful that we have the opportunity to speak about one of the more exciting research projects that we have here on Campus, and this is the Hilandar Research Project. It is generally referred to by that name, but now it has been divided into two segments — along functional lines, one is the Hilandar Research Library, which is directly under the jurisdiction of the Library, and the second is the Resource Center for Medieval Slavic Studies, which is housed in the College of Humanities.

The Resource Center for Medieval Slavic Studies is under the jurisdiction and direction of Professor Mateja Matejic, who is right here and he will be speaking next. The Hilandar Research Library is directed by a curator, Dr. Predrag Matejic, who is now an Assistant Professor in the Library and he will be managing the projector here in just a moment and speaking later on. So both of them will speak about their specific charges.
October 1 and 2, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

One thing I do want to emphasize is that this is a project that any university in this country, including the leading ivy league universities — my own alma mater, Harvard — would be happy to have at any time. It already comprises one of those peaks of excellence that President Jennings has been talking about constantly and many scholars abroad know about Ohio State only through this particular project.

Now, all of this has beginnings back in 1969, when Professor Matejic came to me and said that a childhood friend of his, who was then the librarian at Hilandar Monastery on Mt. Athos, Greece, had written and said that he was very much concerned about the safety of the library. All kinds of fires had been breaking out in monasteries. Why libraries — nobody knows, but they did happen and so I suggested that we might see what we could do about microfilming. I happen to know that monastery, in particular, because of my previous work in Slavic studies and studying Serbian. I knew that library was equivalent to a university library, from a point of view of medieval times. And so we had a positive answer from the monks, and in the middle of winter -- I didn't have any pity for Father Matejic, I must say, two weeks after he left the hospital for a gallbladder operation in the middle of winter we sent him to Mt. Athos on an exploratory trip. He went there, came back with some samples and with an agreement with the monks. In the summer of 1970, he and Professor Walt Craig, from our Department of Photography and Cinema, went to Mt. Athos and they photographed 119 manuscripts. The following summer, Professor Matejic went with his son, Predrag, and they photographed the remaining 710 manuscripts. This photography was done working 12-14 hours a day, photographing in sunlight, with a standard 35mm camera and a 36-exposure cassette. This is the only way this thing could be done.

At first, all of these films were housed in a janitor's broomcloset in the Slavic Department and all we had was a portable microfilm reader. By 1981, we got a toehold in the Library and we were given a small room on the third floor, and this was the first Hilandar Room. We soon outgrew that space and by 1984, the Library, itself, suggested that we move to more spacious quarters. These quarters needed renovations, needed furniture, and I must say that the Office of Academic Affairs came through, here, and the Provost gave us something like $50,000 to furnish the room and to make sure that it was properly air conditioned and anything else that was needed.

Over the years, Professor Matejic and I have worked as a team. It was my job to get space, to find operating funds; it was his job to take care of acquisitions and the scholarly aspects of this particular program. And I know that I am prejudiced, but at the same time I think I am pretty close to the truth, if not completely true, when I say that this particular collection in the Hilandar Research Library is the most valuable collection in our Library of over 4 million volumes. The Professors Matejic will have more to say about that in just a moment. What we want to do now is present to you the last five minutes of an eleven minute slide show for which the commentary is now translated into 12 languages — if you want to hear them all, but you will have to go to the Hilandar Research Library to hear that. I hope that you will find five minutes interesting enough so that you will what to see want you missed in the first six minutes. We would be honored to have all of you visit the Hilandar Research Library and get a much fuller explanation. And now we will turn to the slides.

Professor Twarog: (contd)

Slide Presentation:

Of the twenty existing monasteries, three are historically related to the world of Slavics and are populated primarily with monks of Slavic descent. St. Panteleiman is Russian; Zograf is Bulgarian; and Hilandar is a Serbian monastery. Hilandar was built in 1198 by St. Simeon Stefan Nemanja, a former ruler of Serbia, and his two sons, St. Sava and Stefan, the First-Crowned. Although it is on Greek territory, Hilandar has played the decisive role in shaping the religious and national awareness of Serbs.

The monasteries together and each of them separately, have represented and still represent important monastic, religious, and cultural centers. Precious manuscripts were kept and written in various languages, primarily Greek. Notwithstanding the fact that a large number of manuscripts have been destroyed or taken away, it is believed that there are still some 17,000 codices there, not counting fragments, edicts, letters, and various other documents. Various objects of art needed for liturgical and religious practice were also produced there. Each monastery still owns numerous carved crosses, icons, frescoes, embroidered curtains, etc.

Manuscripts, as well as icons, curtains, and other objects of religious art used to be sent as presents from various countries. Such was the case with this curtain which was sent to Hilandar by the wife of Ivan the Terrible. She, herself, embroidered that curtain. Also treasured in Hilandar is the famous Diptych of Jefimija (14th-15th Century A.D.). On the back side of that two-panel icon is engraved the prayer of Jefimija, mentioning the death of her only son Ugljesha. The text of this poem is considered to be the first poem in Serbian literature written by a female author.

In Hilandar, as well as in other monasteries on the Holy Mount, a large number of rare and precious printed books are preserved in libraries. In view of the fact that the library of the Hilandar Monastery contains a large number of Slavic manuscripts which represent a heritage of cultural interest for the entire world, the Department of Slavic Languages and Literatures at The Ohio State University considered it desirable and necessary to obtain permission to microfilm all of these manuscripts treasured in Hilandar. The Department hoped thereby to make this material accessible to scholars, students, and all individuals interested in it. At the same time, in case of some disaster on the Holy Mount, this invaluable material would be preserved on film, even if the originals were destroyed. With the permission of the Greek civil authorities, as well as the monastic government and the Brotherhood of the Hilandar Monastery, in the period 1970-1975, all Slavic codices in Hilandar, as well as numerous edicts, icons, frescoes, carved crosses, and many other objects of religious art at Hilandar were photographed. This task was accomplished by Professor Mateja Matejic, Professor Walt Craig, and Dr. Predrag Matejic.

This task was accomplished by Professor Mateja Matejic, Professor Walt Craig, and Dr. Predrag Matejic.

Microfilms of Slavic manuscripts from the Hilandar Monastery are available in the Hilandar Room in the Main Library of The Ohio State University. This collection also contains microfilms of some 117 Greek codices from the Hilandar Monastery as well as microfilms of a number of Slavic codices from other monasteries and European libraries which have granted their permission to photograph the material they have. All these microfilms are available to anyone interested in looking at them or studying them. The Serb National Federation in the U.S.A. and individuals of Serbian descent in the U.S.A. and Canada contributed the financial means needed to purchase furniture and microfilm readers for the Hilandar room. Photography of the manuscripts was financed by The Ohio State University, the National Endowment for the Humanities, and the American Council of Learned Societies.

Even today, monks of the Holy Mount continue the Orthodox monastic traditions instituted in the 4th century in Egypt and in the 6th century on the Holy Mount. Here in Columbus, in the Hilandar Room, fruits of that culture which has been in existence for over a millennium are stored on our microfilms. Thus, the Hilandar Room represents a bridge between the Holy Mount and the United States of America, a bridge between the past and the present. In essence, this is the importance of the Hilandar Room and the Hilandar Research Project.

Father Matejic:

With your permission, I would just like to outline the significance of the Hilandar Research Project, which is presently known as the Resource Center for Medieval Slavic Studies and, also, the Hilandar Research Library. I divided it into local and national under number 1 and international significance under number 2. We handed out this paper so you may later check some of the things.

Ours is the largest, in fact the only Resource Center for Medieval Slavic Studies and the largest repository of microforms of Medieval Slavic manuscripts in the Western Hemisphere. Microform holdings in the Hilandar Research Library represent invaluable and in some cases unique research material related to the Slavic culture in the Middle Ages. A large portion of this material is normally inaccessible to female scholars and/or students and their only opportunity to study it is in our Hilandar Research Library. Our research material is used for research by scholars and students locally, nationally, and internationally. Several Ph.D. dissertations, M.A. theses, monographs, and studies have been written and published on the basis of our material. Some students have enrolled at The Ohio State University in order to have access to this research material. Outside funding has been received from the National Endowment for the Humanities, the American Council of Learned Societies, the U.S. Information Agency, the Serb National Federation, and individuals of Serbian origin in the United States and Canada. Two International Hilandar Conferences have taken place, one at Ohio State, the other in Rila Monastery, Bulgaria. The third, which had been scheduled for Nijmegen, The Netherlands, has now been rescheduled for Belgrade, Yugoslavia, for the end of 1988. Interest of the general public in our Resource Center and Hilandar Research Library has been evidenced by hundreds of domestic and foreign visitors coming to see the Center and the Library.

Individual scholars and academic institutions often send us requests for information and assistance in their research. Just to mention a few, we received a photocopy of a Vatican Slavic Manuscript #8, written in a secret alphabet which they sent to us of all the places to decipher. And we did send them an alphabet, with instructions on how to read the rest of the manuscript. Another thing is that Professor Cornelia Gutz in Romania, worked about twenty years on a manuscript, not knowing that the missing first leaf was at another library and available through us. Bulgarians are very grateful to us because we discovered the exact date of the death of Paisii, one of their great heroes, comparable to George Washington. Just imagine someone in Bulgaria discovering the exact date of George Washington's birth or death, 200 years after it happened. A number of European Academies of Science and Arts, universities, national libraries, and other academic institutions have been sending us books and periodicals free of charge, which is a savings of thousands of dollars.

Both the Resource Center and Hilandar Research Library are well known and highly respected in the academic world of all European countries, both in Western and Eastern Europe. I regret to say that they value the Hilandar Research Project more than it is valued on our own campus.

We have frequent contacts and continuous academic cooperation with Academies of Sciences and Arts, universities, monastic and national libraries involving conferences, exchange of information, exchange of specialists, exchange or acquisition of microforms from the following countries: Canada, Greece, Cyprus, Italy, Sweden, France, Belgium, The Netherlands, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria, Hungary, Romania, the Soviet Union, and Yugoslavia. Dr. Predrag Matejic and I have just returned this Monday from Yugoslavia, where we concluded a number of important discussions and agreements which will lead to extensive cooperation and provide exciting opportunities for the further development of our Center and the Hilandar Research Library. Thank you.
October 1 and 2, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

Professor Predrag Matejic:

The Hilandar Research Library is one of six special collection libraries of The Ohio State University Libraries. To honor its initiative and concern, Hilandar Monastery's name -- that was the first place we went -- is preserved in the name of the Hilandar Research Library. It is the goal of this library to gather in microform or print as many Slavic manuscripts and related material as possible in one location here at The Ohio State University, and to make these materials accessible to all scholars. Through acquisition, exchange, or direct microfilming, we are constantly striving to increase our holdings. Through cataloging and description, information regarding this largely unresearched material becomes available. Through our own research, and the research support we give others, scholarly contributions are made worldwide.

We now have microforms of approximately 2,200 manuscripts, primarily Slavic. It is the second largest such collection in the world, and will likely be the largest within five years.

Composed of materials from 17 different countries and 38 private, monastic and public libraries, the Hilandar Research Library offers scholars a unique opportunity to investigate the thousand-year written cultural heritage of the Eastern Orthodox Slavs. The Hilandar Research Library is equipped with microfilm and microfiche readers, with the best available reader-printer, and with several computers. This equipment and the possibilities for comparative research have led scholars throughout the world to seek a means by which to come to Ohio State. As one scholar recently stated, "she was able to do in three months at Ohio State what she couldn't have done in three years anywhere else."

In the United States librarians and scholars have privately admitted that the Hilandar Research Library and Ohio State now hold the foremost place in medieval Slavic resources in the United States. Both of the major Slavic professional organizations in this country have now recommended to their members that all such privately held material in microform be sent to us to be copied and made available. Recently, The Ohio State University Libraries were the recipient of a $158,000 Title II-c Grant under the Higher Education Act to preserve the collection and to catalog it on OCLC and LCS. Thus, information regarding this material and its availability at Ohio State will now be available to over 10,000 libraries. Furthermore, we will have an opportunity to establish the standards by which such material is cataloged in this country.

Our future plans include not only the acquisition of additional materials on microform and the further development of what is already considered an excellent reference collection, but the application of new technology, especially computers, to the organization and study of medieval Slavic materials. These databases, both bibliographic and descriptive, will provide researchers worldwide with the best possible and easiest access to this material which is traditionally only available to them at great cost of time and expense.

Professor Matejic: (contd)

Many people and scholars in the world have only heard of The Ohio State University because the Hilandar Research Library exists and offers hope to them that we can gather on microform the scattered past of the Eastern Orthodox Slavs, 90% of whose manuscripts have been lost forever. They support our dream and goal to gather together as much of that which is remaining as is possible, for they know that once it is in our hands, it is also accessible to them.

Thank you for this opportunity to share with you information on one of the thirty-nine libraries and reading rooms at Ohio State. Thank you.

Mr. Redman:

Dr. Brand —

Dr. Brand:

As you can see, the University is involved in medical research, hi-tech research, and also preserving our past. It is important that the institution have a diversity of research efforts and we are part of the international community in this regard. We are proud to have the Hilandar Library as part of The Ohio State University.

Mr. Redman:

Thank you.

NEW DEGREE PROGRAM

Resolution No. 88-29

Synopsis: The establishment of a Master of Arts degree program in Slavic and East European Studies is proposed.

WHEREAS the Council on Research and Graduate Studies and the Council on Academic Affairs have approved the establishment of a Master of Arts degree program in Slavic and East European Studies; and

WHEREAS currently no comparable degree program in Slavic and East European Studies exists in Ohio, the proposed Master of Arts program would fulfill a state-wide need; and

WHEREAS sufficient resources and student demand exist to support the proposed Master of Arts degree program in Slavic and East European Studies; and

WHEREAS the University Senate has approved this action at its September 26, 1987 meeting:

NOW THEREFORE
NEW DEGREE PROGRAM (contd)

BE IT RESOLVED, That the establishment of the Master of Arts degree program in Slavic and East European Studies is hereby approved.

Upon motion of Mr. Teaford, seconded by Mrs. Bowser, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous voice vote.

REORGANIZATION OF THE COLLEGE OF EDUCATION
Resolution No. 88-30

Synopsis: A proposal to reorganize the College of Education into five units is proposed.

WHEREAS the Faculty Senate of the College of Education approved the reorganization of the College from four units (Department of Human Services Education; Department of Educational Policy and Leadership; Department of Educational Theory and Practice; and School of Health, Physical Education, and Recreation) to five units (Department of Educational Services and Research; Department of Educational Policy and Leadership; Department of Educational Theory and Practice; the Department of Educational Studies: Humanities, Science, Technological and Vocational; and the School of Health, Physical Education, and Recreation). The School of Health, Physical Education, and Recreation is not effected; and

WHEREAS the current organization of the College of Education is composed of departments of unequal size and diversity of programs; and

WHEREAS the proposed reorganization will group together individuals with similar interests and programs of similar academic functions thereby making it easier for the College to manage programmatic needs; and

WHEREAS the proposed reorganization has been approved by the University Senate at its September 26, 1987 meeting:

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That the proposal to reorganize the College of Education is hereby approved.

Upon motion of Mr. Barone, seconded by Mr. Kessler, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous voice vote.

AMENDMENTS TO THE RULES OF THE UNIVERSITY FACULTY
Resolution No. 88-31

Synopsis: Amendments to rules 3335-3-35 and 3335-5-483 is being proposed.

WHEREAS the University Senate pursuant to rule 3335-1-09 of the Administrative Code is authorized to recommend through the President to
October 1 and 2, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

AMENDMENTS TO THE RULES OF THE UNIVERSITY FACULTY (contd)

the Board of Trustees the adoption of amendments to the Rules of the University Faculty as approved by the University Senate; and

WHEREAS the proposed changes in the Rules of the University Faculty were approved by the University Senate on September 26, 1987, as follows:

AMENDED RULES

3335-3-35 Chairpersons of departments, directors of schools.

(A) unchanged.

(B) The duties of the chairperson of a department or the director of a school shall be as follows:

(1) To have general administrative responsibility for its program, subject to the approval of the dean of the college.

(2) To develop in consultation with the faculty a pattern of administration. This pattern of administration shall be made available to all present and prospective members of the faculty of the department or school, and a copy shall be deposited in the office of the dean of the college and in the office of the vice president for academic affairs and provost.

For purposes of defining minimum content, the following shall be included in the pattern of administration:

(a) A statement requiring the chair to provide a schedule of all regular faculty meetings (see rule 3335-5-18 of the Administrative Code) to all faculty members before the start of each quarter, semester, or session.

(b) A statement requiring the chair to maintain minutes of all faculty meetings and to maintain records of all other actions covered by the pattern of administration.

(c) A statement that the chair will consult with the faculty as a whole on all policy matters, and that such consideration will, whenever practicable, be undertaken at a meeting of the faculty as a whole.

(d) A statement recognizing in principle the presumption favoring majority faculty rule on all matters covered by the pattern of administration. This statement shall further provide that whenever majority faculty rule is not followed, the department or faculty chairperson, or school director, or dean and director of a regional campus, whichever is the case, shall explain the reasons for the departure to enhance communication and to facilitate understanding within the department. Where possible, this statement of reasons shall be provided before the departure occurs. This explanation shall outline the decision of the majority of the faculty, the decision of the department or faculty chairperson, or school director, or dean and director of the regional campus, whichever is the case, and the reasons the decisions differ. The explanation shall be communicated to the faculty in writing, where possible, or at a faculty meeting, with an opportunity provided for faculty to comment.

(e) A statement affirming that the faculty shall be consulted in the initiation and in the review and selection of new faculty members for appointment.

Balance unchanged.

3335-5-483 Committee on university bookstores.

(A) Membership.

The committee on university bookstores shall consist of eleven members.

(1) Five regular faculty one of whom is a member of the university libraries, elected by the faculty council. The term of service is three years.

(2) Four students. The term of service is one year.

(a) One graduate student.

(b) One professional student.

(c) Two undergraduate students.

(3) Two administration members, non-voting.

(a) Vice president for business and administration, or designee.

(b) Director, the Ohio state university bookstores.

(B) Duties and responsibilities.

(1) Review short- and long-term plans and objectives recommended by the management of the Ohio state university bookstores and, in cooperation with that management develop, revise, and recommend basic policies, programs, and objectives. These would include, but not be limited to:

(a) Reviewing proposals to open or close branches.

(b) Monitoring and reporting to the senate periodically on the financial status of the bookstores.

(c) Recommending actions that promote the scholarly nature of the bookstores.

(d) Developing policies that enhance the timely availability of both new and used textbooks.
AMENDMENTS TO THE RULES OF THE UNIVERSITY FACULTY (contd)

(e) Recommending changes to maintain adequate educational materials, services, and organization.

(2) Make recommendations on these matters to the director of the Ohio state university bookstores, and to the university senate as appropriate. The vice president for business and administration, the vice president for finance, and the office of the university senate shall be notified of these recommendations.

Upon motion of Mr. Barone, seconded by Mrs. Bowser, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous voice vote.

NAMING OF BUILDING

Resolution No. 88-32

Synopsis: The naming of the building under construction on the Columbus campus at 10th and Neil Avenues, now described as The Ohio State University Ganeer Hospital and Research Institute, is proposed.

WHEREAS the Board of Trustees, pursuant to rule 3335-1-08 (G) of the Administrative Code, has the authority to name all buildings and structures at The Ohio State University;

WHEREAS the building being constructed on the Columbus campus at 10th and Neil Avenues is currently described as The Ohio State University Ganeer Hospital and Research Institute;

WHEREAS the Ganeer Hospital and Research Institute symbolizes the lifelong commitment of Dr. Arthur G. James to medicine and the improvement of the quality of life for all people;

WHEREAS Arthur G. James envisioned and planned for the building of a cancer hospital at The Ohio State University since the mid-1950s;

WHEREAS he has worked tirelessly in recruiting world-class doctors and researchers and in raising funds for the research and the laboratories;

WHEREAS the President recommended, with the concurrence of the President's staff, that the aforementioned building at 10th and Neil Avenues be named in honor of Arthur G. James:

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That hereafter the building at 10th and Neil Avenues shall bear the name, "Arthur G. James Hall" of The Ohio State University Cancer Hospital and Research Institute.
NAMING OF BUILDING (contd)

Upon motion of Mrs. Bowser, seconded by Mr. Barone, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous voice vote.

Mr. Redman:

I might add, in connection with that, Len Immke who is not here, asked that his vote be recorded in favor of this, Mr. Secretary.

RESOLUTIONS IN MEMORIAM

Resolution No. 88-35

Synopsis: Resolutions honoring the service of two of the University's faculty members who have recently died are being proposed.

RESOLVED, That the Board adopt the following Resolutions in Memoriam and that the President be requested to convey a copy to the families of the deceased.

Ralph Currier Davis

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on November 21, 1986, of Ralph Currier Davis, Professor Emeritus in the College of Business – Administration.

Professor Davis was born on December 24, 1894. He was a graduate of Cornell University with a degree in Mechanical Engineering. He received his Master of Arts from The Ohio State University and an honorary Doctor of Science from Wayne State University. He joined the faculty at Ohio State as an Assistant Professor in 1923. Upon his retirement in 1965, he was named Professor Emeritus.

Professor Davis earned a world-wide reputation for his pioneering work in the development of theories of organization and general administrative management. The teaching and practice of management for many years reflected the "R. C. Davis approach" to delineation of structures and concepts. Graduate students in management sought out Ohio State University for the privilege of taking work under him. Many of his students became outstanding contributors to the field of management in their own right.

His stature in his field was recognized through numerous awards and distinctions. In 1959, he was the recipient of the Taylor Key from the Society for the Advancement of Management, and he served as Distinguished Visiting Professor at New York University in 1960.

Professor Davis's teaching was best adapted for graduate students, because of his emphasis on theoretical concepts. Students emerged from his seminars with an integrated view of the entire management process. He excelled in the teaching of principles of top management to business executives in executive development programs.

Professor Davis was co-founder, Fellow and past President of the Academy of Management. He was a Director and Officer of the Society for the Advancement of Management, and served as a consultant and speaker in the field of management for many years. He was the author of many important books, articles and papers on the science and practice of management. His widely-recognized The Fundamentals of Top Management, the culmination of a life-long effort devoted to the development of a comprehensive management philosophy, was heralded by business, government and military leaders the world over as one of the outstanding contributions to the field of management thought.

On behalf of the University community, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family of Ralph Currier Davis its deepest sympathy. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as an expression of the Board's heartfelt sympathy.

John William Hibbs

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on August 19, 1987, of John William Hibbs, Professor Emeritus in the Department of Dairy Science.

Dr. Hibbs was born in 1917 in Cleveland, son of Edwin G. and Stella Thompson Hibbs. Upon graduation from Greensburg High School, he enrolled at Kent State University. Later, he transferred to The Ohio State University where he was awarded the Bachelor of Science degree in Animal Husbandry in 1940. While completing his graduate studies, he served as a research assistant in dairy industry at the OARDC. The Doctorate was presented to him in 1947; he specialized in animal nutrition and physiology.

From that time on, he worked for OARDC and The Ohio State University, becoming Associate Chairman in 1971. Upon his retirement in 1983, after 43 years of service, he was named Professor Emeritus. From November

1969, until November 1971, he served in India as an adviser in animal nutrition and physiology under an OSU/U.S. Agency for International Development contract. Returning to India in 1975, he consulted for three months in the Department of Nutrition and Physiology at the National Dairy Research Center in Karnal.

Among his awards, most notable was the Borden Award in Dairy Production in 1952, followed by the American Feed Manufacturer's Award in 1962. During his career, he wrote or co-authored 441 publications and articles. He was a Fellow in the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

On behalf of the University community, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family of John William Hibbs its deepest sympathy. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees, and that a copy be tendered to the family as an expression of the Board's heartfelt sympathy.

Upon motion of Mr. Teaford, seconded by Mr. Barone, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous voice vote.

REPORT OF RESEARCH CONTRACTS, GRANTS, AND GIFTS (contd)

THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY RESEARCH FOUNDATION

Report - August 1987

Federal Research Contracts/Grants

$1,626,677.00 - National Science Foundation, Washington, D.C., Engineering Research Center for Net Shape Manufacturing, Engineering Experiment Station (T. Altan), 1 May 1987 through 30 April 1988. (Project 765393 - Continuation)

$871,500.00 - Department of Health and Human Services, Public Health Service, National Institutes of Health, Bethesda, Maryland, Spinal Cord Injury Research Center, Department of Surgery (W. E. Hunt) and Department of Physiology (B. T. Stokes), 1 September 1987 through 31 August 1988. (Project 763358 - Continuation)

$672,904.00 - Department of Education, Office of Special Education and Rehabilitation Services, Washington, D.C., Services for Deaf-Blind Children and Youth, College of Education - Administration (T. M. Stephens), 1 October 1987 through 30 September 1988. (Project 766294 - Continuation)

$321,802.00 - Department of Health and Human Services, Public Health Service, National Institutes of Health, Bethesda, Maryland, Department of Pathology (D. L. Fry), 1 September 1987 through 31 August 1988. (Project 763184 - Continuation)

$257,784.00 - Department of Health and Human Services, Public Health Service, National Institutes of Health, Bethesda, Maryland, Biogenesis of Mitochondria in Neurospora, Department of Molecular Genetics (A. M. Lambowitz), 1 September 1987 through 31 August 1988. (Project 765538 - Continuation)

$194,803.00 - Department of Health and Human Services, Public Health Service, National Institutes of Health, Bethesda, Maryland, Population and Evolutionary Genetics of Organelles, Department of Molecular Genetics (C. W. Birky, Jr.), 1 September 1987 through 31 August 1988. (Project 764994 - Continuation)

$175,113.00 - Department of Health and Human Services, Public Health Service, National Institutes of Health, Bethesda, Maryland, Fragment Crystallizable Receptor Structure and Function, Department of Internal Medicine (C. L. Anderson), 1 September 1987 through 31 August 1988. (Project 765701 - Continuation)

$174,849.00 - Department of Health and Human Services, Public Health Service, Alcohol, Drug Abuse, and Mental Health Administration, Rockville, Maryland, Personality, Psychological Stress, and Immuno-competence, Department of Medical Microbiology and Immunology (M. R. Glaser) and Department of Psychiatry (J. Kiecolt-Glaser), 1 September 1987 through 31 August 1988. (Project 764961 - Continuation)

$169,000.00 - Department of Agriculture, Science and Education, Washington, D.C., Anaerobic Metabolism in Echinochloa crusgalli (barnyard grass) Seed, Department of Horticulture-OARDG and Department of

THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY DEVELOPMENT FUND

Establishment of Named Funds

The Antoinette Lowry Barr Scholarship Fund

The Antoinette Lowry Barr Scholarship Fund was established October 2, 1987, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University through a bequest to The Ohio State University Development Fund from Antoinette Lowry Barr (M.A. Education '51).

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to provide one or more scholarships to graduate students in education. The selection is to be made by the College of Education scholarship/fellowship committee in consultation with the University Committee on Student Financial Aid.

It is the desire of the donors that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity. If the need for this fund should cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then another use shall be designated by the Board of Trustees in consultation with the person then responsible for study of education in order to carry out the desire of the donors.
Establishment of Named Funds (contd)

The Antoinette Lowry Barr Scholarship Fund (contd)

The Landscape Architecture Lecture Fund

The Landscape Architecture Lecture Fund was established October 2, 1987, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from alumni, friends, and faculty of the Department of Landscape Architecture.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to fund lectures on landscape architecture and to disseminate information about the lectures and publications thereof. Expenditures will be made under the direction of the Chairperson of the Department of Landscape Architecture or an assigned committee.

It is the desire of the donors that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity. If the need for this fund should cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then another use shall be designated by the Board of Trustees, in consultation with the appropriate department chairperson or program administrative officer responsible for landscape architecture education, in order to carry out the desire of the donors.

The Rodney F. Plimpton, Jr., Memorial Scholarship Fund in Animal/Meat Science

The Rodney F. Plimpton, Jr., Memorial Scholarship Fund in Animal/Meat Science was established October 2, 1987, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from the family and friends of the late Dr. Rodney F. Plimpton (M.S. Meat Science '61, Ph.D. Meat Science '65), who died on May 16, 1987, his fiftieth birthday. He spent his entire career at Ohio State, devoting his time and tremendous energy to enabling his students to become the best that they could be. Students responded to his enthusiasm by nominating him for the Alumni Distinguished Teaching Award every year. He was the first Ohio State professor to be named an Alumni Distinguished Teacher twice, in 1968 and 1976. He was also named Distinguished Meats Teacher by the American Meat Science Association in 1978. Dr. Plimpton developed and taught Animal Science 100, an introductory course, which served to whet the curiosity of freshman students and inspired many of those students to declare a major in Animal/Meat Science.
Establishment of Named Funds (contd)

The Rodney F. Plimpton, Jr., Memorial Scholarship Fund in Animal/Meat Science (contd)

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to provide scholarships for students with intended careers in the Meat Science area of study within the College of Agriculture. Other selection criteria shall include:

* evidence of above average scholarship.
* participation in student activities with leadership potential.
* completion of Animal Science 100 and/or Animal Science 200, or such appropriate courses as may be successor to those presently available courses.

A committee to select the recipient(s) each year shall consist of the following persons:

* The chairman of the appropriate scholarship committee designated to select Meat Science Scholarship recipients, who shall serve as chairman of the selection committee.
* Instructor(s) of Animal Science 100, 200, and 452/453, or such courses as may supplant those courses.
* A Meat Science graduate teaching associate.
* The preceding year's Plimpton Scholarship recipient(s).
* A member of the Plimpton family, insofar as family members desire to be involved.

It is the desire of the donors that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity. If the need for this fund should cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then another use shall be designated by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to the funding of Honors research projects by undergraduate students in Animal Science/Meat Science or closely related food/nutrition areas of study, in order to carry out the desire of the donors.

The Florence Levy Miller and I. George Miller Memorial Scholarship Fund

The Florence Levy Miller and I. George Miller Memorial Scholarship Fund was established October 2, 1987, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from the family and friends of Florence Levy Miller and I. George Miller.

REPORT OF RESEARCH CONTRACTS, GRANTS, AND GIFTS (contd)

THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY DEVELOPMENT FUND (contd)

Change in Description of Named Funds (contd)

The Nicholas D. and Evangeline Jonson Memorial Scholarship Fund (contd)

University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from various persons making memorial gifts at the death of Evangeline Jonson, along with a major gift from George N. Jonson of Hamilton, Ohio. The description was changed October 2, 1987.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to fund scholarship(s) in the amount of $500.00 for a graduating senior(s) from Hamilton High School in Hamilton, Ohio, who has expressed an interest in studying the humanities at The Ohio State University, Columbus, Ohio. If the income is sufficient, additional scholarship(s) in the amount of $500.00 may be awarded to second, third, or fourth year students who have an interest in or are studying the humanities at The Ohio State University and have maintained a grade point average of 3.0 or higher. Selection of the recipient(s) shall be made by the University Committee on Student Financial Aid upon the recommendation of a committee from Hamilton High School, appointed by the principal of said high school, in consultation with George N. Jonson of Hamilton, Ohio, or in the event of his demise or inability to serve, by a person chosen by him or his heirs. Should a recipient(s) decide not to attend The Ohio State University, then the amount awarded to the scholarship recipient will be returned to the fund's principal.

The criteria to be considered in selecting the recipient(s) shall be as follows: The recipient(s) shall (1) have a 3 point average or higher; (2) have demonstrated an interest in the humanities; (3) have demonstrated good citizenship and leadership at Hamilton High School; (4) must be enrolled or plan to enroll at The Ohio State University for the entire school year. An additional consideration shall be the activities engaged in at Hamilton High School. Eligibility shall not be limited to financial need.

The scholarship(s) shall be for one year until the scholarship fund has grown to the level that the recipient(s) can continue on the scholarship past the first year. Recipient(s) may apply for renewal of the scholarship through the office of Student Financial Aid at The Ohio State University.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to recommendations meeting the educational goals of the College of Humanities at The Ohio State University.

REPORT OF RESEARCH CONTRACTS, GRANTS, AND GIFTS (contd)

THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY DEVELOPMENT FUND (contd)

Change in Description of Named Funds (contd)

Kappa Phi Kappa Fund

The Kappa Phi Kappa Fund was established September 11, 1969, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from the Alpha Eta Association. The description was changed October 2, 1987.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be placed in a Project Account and used to promote the effective education of teachers under the direction of the Dean of the College of Education. This is to be accomplished through Kappa Phi Kappa scholarships and providing operational funds to the Alpha Eta Association. Funds may be used for other activities in support of teacher education, if in the Dean's judgment the cause of teacher education would be better served by the diversion of funds from the scholarship program. Priority is to be given to projects in support of undergraduate teacher education.

Unless the Dean each year otherwise decides and instructs the University, the University shall at the end of each fiscal year of the University transfer to and incorporate into the Fund any excess in the Project Account over and above one times the share for the full fiscal year then ending.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, this income may be used for any purpose whatsoever within the guidelines as contained in the June 10, 1987, Agreement between the Alpha Eta Association and the University, which supersedes the agreements of July 1, 1969, and June 11, 1985.

EASEMENT
CITY OF COLUMBUS

Resolution No. 88-39

Synopsis: Authorization to grant an easement to the city of Columbus for installation of a storm sewer is requested.

WHEREAS the City of Columbus has requested a 15-year easement consisting of a strip of land approximately 50 feet in width and 1400 feet in length for a temporary construction easement and a strip of land 50 feet in width and 1400 feet in length for a permanent easement in an area northeast of the Lab Animal Center; and

WHEREAS Arshot Investment Company will install the storm sewer and agrees to compensate the University with a lump sum fee of $20,651.00 based on fair market value of the land; and
WHEREAS the storm sewer will serve private properties near the University; and

WHEREAS the appropriate University offices have recommended that this easement be granted:

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That the President and/or Vice President for Business and Administration, be authorized to request the Deputy Director of Public Works of the Department of Administrative Services, pursuant to his statutory duties, to act on behalf of the University in developing the necessary legal instrument to provide for this easement.

Upon motion of Mr. Kessler, seconded by Mr. Teaford, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous roll call vote.

President Jennings made the following statement:

Mr. Chairman, there has been an awful lot of talk about the potential of The Ohio State University joining with the State of Ohio to construct a computer center on our property close to North Star Road. Could you let us know, Dick, where we stand on that particular issue?

Mr. Jackson:

Thank you, Mr. President and Members of the Board, I would be glad to make a few short comments about that project. The State came to us some time ago and talked about the possibility of building a State computer center with approximately 450,000 square feet of space in it. There has been a State budget provided for this in the area of about $50 million. We believe that it is a proper component to place in our Research Park and have suggested an area which is just south of Lane Avenue and to the east of North Star. But our recommendation is that we would have access to that facility off of Lane Avenue onto Carmack and then access from the east. We think that that is one of the major concerns expressed by the Upper Arlington community.

There was a meeting held on September 16, in which two representatives of the University attended, as well as Carol Olishovksy, who is the State Architect and who is responsible for this project, and responsible for the communication and interaction for the State. Subsequent to that meeting, the City Manager of Upper Arlington had written to the University and has suggested that a group of five residents serve as a committee that would interact with the State of Ohio, as well as the University in discussing this project. We think that is a very reasonable, logical step to take, and we look forward to working with the State, as well as with the Upper Arlington residence in trying to communicate what this project is about and to answer the questions and address the issues which are presented. We think this is a logical way to go, and we are very optimistic about the resolution of the issues at hand. We will get back to the Board, hopefully before too long to talk about a negotiated lease.

President Jennings:

Talking about a negotiated lease of land, which would be the only direct Board action that would be necessary, am I right on that?

Mr. Jackson:

That is correct. We would certainly be involved in that lease regarding the requirements that we think are important in terms of architectural review -- the design of the building, the exterior maintenance, the things that are important to them, not only the University, but we think that are important to the community.

President Jennings:

Thank you.

REPORT - UNIVERSITY'S INVESTMENT PORTFOLIO

Resolution No. 88-40

RESOLVED, That the report on the University's Investment Portfolio, dated September 18, 1987, as submitted to the Fiscal Affairs Committee of the Board of Trustees, be received and filed with the official records of the Board.

Thereupon the Board adjourned to meet Thursday, November 5, 1987, at The Ohio State University Fawcett Center for Tomorrow, Columbus, Ohio, at 6:30 p.m.

Attest:

Madison H. Scott    Edmund C. Redman
Secretary            Chairman
THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY

OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS OF THE

ONE THOUSAND TWO HUNDRED AND THIRTY-FIFTH MEETING

OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES

Columbus, Ohio, November 5 and 6, 1987

The Board of Trustees met at its regular monthly meeting on Thursday, November 5, and Friday, November 6, 1987, at The Ohio State University Fawcett Center for Tomorrow, Columbus, Ohio, pursuant to adjournment.

* * * * * * * * * * * * *
Minutes of the last meeting were approved.

* * * * * * * * * * * * *
November 5 and 6, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

The Chairman, Mr. Redman, called the meeting of the Board of Trustees to order on November 5, 1987, at 6:30 p.m. He requested the Secretary to call the roll. The meeting recessed into Executive Session for the purpose of considering legal issues and personnel-related matters.

Mr. Redman reconvened the meeting on November 6, 1987, at 10:25 a.m.

Mr. Redman:

I'd like to have the committee reports, beginning with the Development Fund Board of Directors. Mr. Kessler isn't here so we'll skip to the -- let's note that Mr. Barone was to report on the Research Foundation, but I understand that they have had no meetings, thus there would be no report even if he were here.

President Jennings:

Dr. Hollander is here, he could add something to the Research Foundation.

Mr. Redman:

Very good.

Dr. Hollander:

I think it is Tab 5 of your notebook that contains the list of grants and contracts from the Research Foundation for the month of September. In that list there are 95 awards which will provide a gross income to the University of $9.6 million. Let me just remark that for the first three months of this fiscal year, July 1 to September 30, we have had 348 awards with a gross income of $32.9 million. This can be compared with the first three months of last fiscal year in which we had 279 awards for a gross income of $19.1 million. In this period there is represented a 72% increase in funding for the three month period. Of course, while that income increase is welcome, much of it has to be discounted as being attributed to the timing of several large awards and to the slowness of processing awards by several agencies during the last fiscal year. So these two factors have artificially increased the apparent performance for the first part of this fiscal year and we don't expect that such a large percentage increase in funding will carry through the year, although we do hope to maintain the substantial increase this year, as last year.
November 5 and 6, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

Mr. Teaford:

We see the difference in the academic approach as opposed to the fundraising approach. Our fundraiser plays up or tells us the reasons it went down and he tells us it's too high.

Dr. Hollander:

I would like to say our expectations for the entire year shows that there will be a 72% increase over last year -- as much as that would be welcome. A few highlights of the awards are: $1.8 million award from the National Association of Regulatory Utility Commissioners to Professor Douglas Jones and his associates for the continuation of the National Regulatory Research Institute; a $582,000 award from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration to Professor John Bossler of the Center of Mapping and his associates in a number of colleges, as a continuation grant for the NASA Center for the commercial development of space.

Mr. Redman:

Jack, if I could interrupt you a moment -- backing up one item. Could you explain, just a trifle, about what they would propose to do in this research of utility regulations?

Dr. Hollander:

The NRRI, National Regulatory Research Institute, conducts research on all aspects of utility issues -- the regulations, power generation, a whole spectrum of activities and it is a long standing institute with the University. It is a very respected group. In fact, the only institute of its kind in the country. They are very prolific in their publication of studies of problems of all kinds --

Mr. Redman:

Do they deal with rates?

Dr. Hollander:

They deal with rates, regulations, power wheeling and --

Mr. Redman:

Return on investments?

Dr. Hollander:

All those kinds of problems. They have both technical and economic sides to their activities.

Mr. Redman:

Do they still go into the question on utilities -- one of the things that brought on some of the utilities problems, as I recall, would be their stepping up of the rate base every time they would set up a new utility and they would sell it from corporation A to corporation B. Corporation A would buy it for $10 million and sell it to corporation B for $20 million and step up the rate base to $20 million, then they would charge the utility customers on that basis, and then they would move it up to $50 million and charge on that basis. They finally put a stop to that. Are they still into those kinds of problems?
Mr. Redman: (contd)

Dr. Hollander:

I'm sure they are. I'm sure if you look through the activities of the Institute you'd find reports on that kind of problem, as well as many others.

Mr. Redman:

The reason I was interested in it is that I have been on the other end of some of those trying to step up the rate base and I want to know if they are still looking over my shoulder!

President Jennings:

They sure are.

Mr. Redman:

Thank you, Dr. Hollander, I will be aware of that.

Dr. Hollander:

Finally, let me just mention a --

President Jennings:

I might just add, Jack, this Research Institute is also funded with funds provided by each State Regulatory Commission in proportion to their size.

Mr. Redman:

Like our Public Utilities Commission.

President Jennings:

Our PUCO sponsors this, but every state sponsors this. This is essentially voluntary, it is not required that the PUCO sponsor this, but they all have chosen to and that is the result of the academic respect that Doug Jones has.

Dr. Hollander:

Just one other highlight -- a major $594,000 award from the Health Resources and Services Administration to Professors Lawrence Gabel and Michael Para of the College of Medicine to establish a center for the training of health professionals in dealing with the various aspects of the AIDS problem. It is a very important issue. We are one of a small number of institutions that they funded generously to participate in the training of professionals in this important area.

Well these are just a few of the large number of awards, but as you can see from your list there are a large number of smaller awards, each of which is a result of individual initiative by members of our faculty. Thank you.

Mr. Redman:

Is there anything else? Mrs. Bowser, the University Hospitals Board.

Mrs. Bowser:

Yes, sir. As you may remember, the Executive Committee meets on alternate months, so the Executive Committee met on Thursday, October 29, with all the appropriate persons there. Mr. Covert presented, and we approved, a new Hospital policy addressing the use within the institution of Physician Extenders and/or Allied Health Professionals who may not be Hospital employees. The intent of this policy is to ensure that all such individuals are properly credentialed and supervised, and that the patient care they provide meets the University, Hospitals, medical staff, and legal standards.

The year-to-date Hospitals admissions are 1.5% above budget. Clinical visits, emergency visits, and outpatient surgical patients are all exceeding budget for this year. September's net income was $152,000; year-to-date net income is $449,000.

We have already discussed the helicopter and it is in service. We played a big part in getting that started and as a Board member from outside the City of Columbus, it is tremendously important to the surrounding counties and areas to have an alternative means of getting here.

The strategic planning is continuing. The consulting firm has submitted a progress report regarding the development of the Strategic Plan for the medical complex. Members of the Hospitals Board plan to meet at Mr. Vorys's office in mid-November for a day retreat to review the consultants' recommendations and feedback provided by the Hospital's medical and administrative staffs. With input from the Hospitals Board, the final draft of the Strategic Plan will be reviewed by the Strategic Planning Task Force, appointed last year by President Jennings, and will ultimately be brought to you for consideration and support.

We are anticipating, in November, an accreditation team from the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals, which is known as JCAH. They will be conducting a site survey. The last survey occurred in November of 1984, and at that time we received a full three-year accreditation. We are reviewing with staff how those surveys and interviews will be held and mock surveys are being done at the Hospitals at this time. That completes my report.

Mr. Redman:

I think it would be appropriate at this time, Mrs. Bowser, with your permission, to deal with several items at the Hospital which we have discussed from time to time. I would like to report to the Board, particularly with regard to the billing situation.

We discussed it at the last Board Meeting and you'll recall that Dr. Tzagournis invited me to attend the meeting of the committee dealing with the change in the billing systems, and I did that. I might add that in order to bring myself up-to-date prior to that meeting, I had a meeting that I called of people on the staff to advise me concerning their opinions, without regard to outside consultants or doctors who are involved, but for people that are going to do the billing -- that's the problem. We had that meeting and it was a good meeting. Dr. Senhauser attended that and he is the chairman of the committee on this subject. Then, I met with their committee, Dr. Senhauser, and the other doctors. During the course of that meeting we had a candid discussion of the concerns of the physicians, in which we must all be concerned. After all, without any physicians, we don't have any hospital. We want to be fair to them, as I explained -- I'm sure the Board feels the same way -- the Board has decided that this is the way to go, we adopted this resolution in June 1985, and that we didn't seem to be making much progress.

I made several suggestions: one, that I was dissatisfied with the report that the committee received from their outside consultants. And I won't bore you all with that, but I spent considerable time on that subject. I suggested that since it was an accounting problem, they should consult with a member or several, or all, of the Big 8 firms who have specialists in this area. I suggested that for a couple of reasons: one, it is a billing problem, it's not a medical problem. The consultants who advised the committee indicated that they wanted $60,000 to tell us what we should write in the specifications before we hired anybody or they did any work. I thought that was out of reason and so expressed myself. In any event, Dr. Senhauser said that after that meeting he had consulted with the Arthur Anderson Company, who had done the work for Vanderbilt University. Evidently Dr. Senhauser knew someone at Vanderbilt, and in talking with him they had Arthur Anderson install their system out of their Atlanta office with some experts in this field. They were well-pleased, he said. And I suggested then that they move forward, the committee, and get other Big 8 firms involved, and particularly the firms that are doing our audit. I am mindful of the costs that are associated with this changeover. There is no use for us to educate someone and pay them to find out what we are already doing. We have auditors that have been through this and are in it. I suggested that they be brought in and review, make recommendations, bid on it, and to put a time limit on it. If a Big 8 firm had a contract to install a system, they have the manpower — instead of putting two people on it they could put twenty. If they had a time to meet, and time now seems to me to be the essence of the thing — we could debate this from now until next year at this time and not get anything done. I tried to make it clear to the committee, in my view, that the time for that sort of thing is past.
November 5 and 6, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

We have agreed on a tentative solution to some of their concerns. For example, what happens to those doctors who have spent a lot of money on billing systems in their own offices and that if we installed another system, this would override theirs and they would all be out this money. I'm saying that I think if a doctor is injured by our insistence upon this change and he can demonstrate that he was, in fact, injured, then the University should pick up the tab. Well, that seemed to satisfy those folks. But I'm saying, and I said it to Dr. Tzagournis, you are going to have to show that you are, in fact, injured. Because a lot of times on IBM equipment you can program it one way and take it out and program it another way and you haven't lost any money. But if they were injured, then I think we are obligated to pick up that tab. That is the sort of thing we went through. We've agreed and they have agreed that they would have an outside billing firm, similar to a Visa card or any of those, who would do the billing for the doctors, collect the money, and distribute it. That leaves us out of that hassle. The problem that the doctors had involved confidentiality. I think they were concerned that we would find out what they were making, at least their gross income, and I assured them that we had no interest in that at this point. That was now taken care of under the Practice Plan and it was working and we didn't want to disturb that. We weren't making any effort to refine that plan, to get anything more, to do them harm, we just want them to get the bills straightened out. I first thought we should have one bill. If you are a patient in the hospital, you should get one bill covering everything. After this discussion, I was convinced that two bills would do the job. I wouldn't have any difficulty in paying two bills if I were a patient. One would cover the physician and all of the doctors involved; pathologists, radiologists, the orthopedic surgeon, the whatever, that would go through the third party. The hospital bill and all the associated costs of that would come with another bill. So we would have two bills. Now we've agreed on that, between me and the committee, but Dr. Senhauser said, "I'm just the chairman of the committee, I still have to talk to my committee." And I said, "not only that, but I still have to talk to the Board of Trustees. I'm not at all sure that their going to agree with what Redman's saying, but I think they will." So I'm reporting that is our progress to date. I propose now -- Dr. Senhauser has been out of the country, I guess, or at least out of the city, and I had hoped to make some further report on progress at this meeting. But what I'm going to suggest is that I meet with Dr. Senhauser and the committee again and have a report to you at the next meeting on what is a reasonable time for them to implement this further. I don't mean install it, but I'm saying let's hire the people. And my suggestion is going to be ninety days that we give them in which to get other people in to review the problem, to make a proposal, and to move on. So, that is my report on the billing thing. If anybody has any questions--
November 5 and 6, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

Mr. Redman: (contd)

Mrs. Bowser:

I think you're to be commended for the amount of time and interest that you have shown in this; it is certainly your area of expertise.

Mr. Redman:

Well, I would like to have Mr. Teaford expound, just a bit, on this.

Mr. Teaford:

Well, I will begin by saying "Amen." I amused you all last night with three bills or three mailings that I got in one day. One check refunding some of the money I had paid; another one, a bill for $2.00 from the same people who were refunding the money; and still another bill for $25.00, for which they said I hadn't paid. I still believe if I pay it, I'll get a check for $25.00 back, eventually. But it all demonstrates that I think this system is for the benefit of the doctors, because everyone of those three things I got cost the doctors a lot of money and they didn't get any. I don't think anyone should think we are trying to shove something at the doctors which is injurious, I think quite the opposite. I think this is a program which the doctors will benefit from.

President Jennings:

Ed, I think you did extraordinarily well. It is, in medicine today, a general problem and it's wrapped up in anywhere from tradition to Medicaid rules and regulations. Ed, I think you did extraordinarily well, because it is appropriate to -- if there is a loss of investment in billing equipment associate with this, we should make that good. But we should make it good in the context of a fully depreciated item that is there. I think that is altogether appropriate and would be totally consistent with what we do. I think it is also appropriate to point out that this has absolutely nothing to do with the Practice Plan. We established a Practice Plan two years ago, as has been reported, that is up and working in terms of institutional knowledge of physician income. That Practice Plan provides that information to the chair of the department, to the dean, and to the president of the University. This has nothing to do with that. It is important to say that because the request for a central billing system came at the same time that we established a Practice Plan, and there was some thought that was the reason for it. But in fact, the reason is this is a generic problem across the United States and we need to try and deal with it. It is extraordinarily complex. I think we do need a Big 8 firm. For those members of the Board and in the audience, we are talking about the Big 8 accounting firms, not the universities out west. I think, also, that Mike Covert, Dr. Tzagournis, and Dr. Senhauser should be complimented on this. This is slower than we would all like, but it is complicated and I think it is going to get done. Joel's experience is all of ours. Although, I might add, that if you were to join the University's PPO, you would get--
November 5 and 6, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

President Jennings: (contd)

Mrs. Bowser:

I don't think we can, but I'd be happy to.

Mr. Teaford:

I told you before, Mr. President, if you make that available to the Trustees, I'd be joining it.

President Jennings:

We might have to talk about cutting your salary associated with this Board if you join.

Mr. Teaford:

Well, I'll take it.

Mr. Redman:

Well, if we have completed that subject, I'd like to ask Mr. Ihrig to tell us about Humana or MedOhio, formerly Humana. And that we ask him to do what we asked when we made the deal, which is to give us a monthly report on how much money we've lost--

Mr. Kessler:

Or made.

Mr. Redman

Well, I think all of the projections, Mr. Kessler, show that at least in the first year we were going to lose money. So they didn't withhold that information from us, but my only question is how much.

Mr. Ihrig:

Mr. Chairman, we summarized each of the quarters and we provided a monthly review of this, the Hospitals is reviewing it on a monthly basis. Since the first of April, when that operation initiated, there was a projected budget of net revenues of just over $2 million, the net revenues have actually been at $1.7 million. Expenses were projected at just over $2.1 million, expenses have actually been at $1.8 million. So, while the revenues have been down under projections, so have the expenses appropriately. The net income was budgeted to be a loss during that period of just over $101,000, the actual loss in that period is $105,004. So, while the operations are close to budget, they still are on the negative side and that was during the start up period. I know, Mr. Covert and the Hospitals people are working to keep this more in line with budget, and hopefully do whatever possible to actually improve over budget. This is the budget that we had set up jointly with the review by the Price Waterhouse people, the consulting firm that we had in this. We are just about on target during the period.

Mr. Redman:

The only difference is the failure to include the costs of the interest which you have on your report here of $105,000, during this period.

Mr. Ihrig:

That's correct.

Mr. Redman:

If you took that into consideration, we would have lost $290,000 in three months?

Mr. Ihrig:

No, that would have been since April, seven months.

Mr. Redman:

I don't recall in the original discussion whether or not we put interest factor into that projection, but in any event, that is what it is.

Mr. Ihrig:

Yes, that is included in the total Hospitals operation.

Mr. Redman:

That is not an actual outlay, it is a computed figure.

Mr. Ihrig:

Correct.

Mr. Redman:

And because, as I understand it, we transferred money from the Hospitals reserve to make that $6 million deal.

Mr. Ihrig:

The Hospitals is covering the capitalization costs of this as part of their total operations, that is correct.
November 5 and 6, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

Mr. Redman:

So, we are not interdepartmentalized in charging interest against this operation from the Hospitals cost?

Mr. Ihrig:

No, that is correct.

Mr. Redman:

All right. Any questions, Mr. Kessler, you-

Mr. Kessler:

No, I was listening intently.

Mr. Redman:

I knew you had an interest in this. I suppose Mr. Govert would like to tell us what he has in mind to change the operation in order to cut down our loss.

Mr. Govert:

The second six months of our activity has been predicated on a reorganization of our physician contractual relationships. That is one item that there will be a difference financially. The other is a very specific, what I will refer to as marketing efforts in order to attract additional funds and activities in respect to that. I will be happy to come back to the Board with more specifics on how we will handle that over the next six months. I'd like to say we have been meeting on an every other week basis as it relates to the management of that activity.

There are a couple other activities we will look at -- the actual bids for support services, lab, and some of those services that will also reduce those activities as well, as we have an opportunity to expand with our in-house capability of doing this presently.

Mr. Redman:

So you really haven't swept it under the rug, you are paying some attention to it and hopefully reducing the loss?

Mr. Covert:

Mr. Chairman, I'm paying a great deal of attention to it.

Mr. Redman:

Thank you.

Mr. Teaford:

It sounds to me, too, Mr. Chairman, like this thing is doing
November 5 and 6, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

Mr. Teaford: (contd)

quite well. As you know, I was one of the people who pushed hard on that score, but I am pleased with this report.

President Jennings:

And lest we focus too much on the dollars associated with this, we should keep in mind that it is a location for medical students and residents to deal with primary care issues, that as a tertiary care hospital we are poorly equipped to deal with. While I am sure Mike will deal with this issue well financially, we have to keep in mind the fundamental reason we are in this activity is for educational purposes, so that our students and residents can experience a primary medical situation that we find difficult to provide at the hospital.

Mr. Redman:

If there is any other report from the Hospitals Board we would be glad to receive it, otherwise, we will move on to the Development Fund. Mr. Kessler--

Mr. Kessler:

Thank you, Mr. Chairman. I would like to make a brief report on the Development Fund Board meeting held on October 9. The audit committee reported that the accounting firm of Touche Ross, which conducted the audits for 1985-86 and 1986-87, gave the Development Fund a clean bill of health.

Vice President Tobin updated the Board on the progress of the Capital Campaign; Vice President Ihrig gave an analysis of the cost effectiveness of the Campaign; and the Development Fund Board members also discussed suggestions for greater Board involvement with University Development staff. The next meeting of the Development Fund will be Friday, March 11, 1988, at the Fawcett Center.

Mr. Redman:

Thank you, Mr. Kessler. Are there any questions? We will move on then to Mr. Teaford for the University Foundation Board of Directors.

Mr. Teaford:

The Foundation Board, as you know, meets only twice a year. At our last meeting I did report on our meeting for the fall. The next meeting will be in April; basically, I will not have a report until then.

--0--

Mr. Redman:

I call on Mr. Ihrig to give us a report on the enrollment for Autumn Quarter.
November 5 and 6, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

Mr. Ihrig:

Thank you, Mr. Chairman. Members of the Board, you have previously been sent copies of a summary report by the Registrar of the enrollment statistics. I have included handouts of those reports before you. What I would like to do is make general overall comments about the trends and directions and where we came out and those reports are separate -- they are outside the books.

Table I, in that document, shows that the overall enrollment for the University was 58,397 students, which is 441 students less than last year. The Regional Campuses were generally up, with Newark leading the pack. They were up 17%, to 1,317 students. Marion, Mansfield, and Lima are up from a range of 2 to 7.7% students, and the Agricultural Technical Institute at Wooster was down 16 students from autumn to autumn. On the Columbus Campus we had a total of 53,115 students, which represents a decline from the previous year of 765 students.

When we look at our enrollment limitation, as we talked before 40,000 FTE, our latest numbers are and we are ready to report this -- 598 students FTE's over the 40,000 limit this year. That will bring us down from 749 that we were over last year to 598. So, we are going again in the right direction on this and it is coming down.

The mix of students has changed and not quite as we projected it. Last year in December when we made our projections, we were looking at a total headcount of over 54,000, with the growth that had happened the last couple of years and we have actually come out at 53,115. This makes us almost comparable to Autumn Quarter 1985 in grand totals, but with an interesting switch. There is an increase in graduate students and a light decrease in undergraduate students when you look at that period of time -- just about 450 fewer undergraduate students overall, and an increase of about 450 graduate students.

That mix change has happened with larger numbers, new admissions, and applicants to the graduate programs. At the same time, we have gone into selective admissions, and we always use the freshmen class as the place where we make the adjustments to come into the 40,000 FTE. This year was a real uncertainty in terms of our traditional enrollment trends, because going from application to admission under selective admission for the first year throughout all the prior data about yields on the number of students -- so we came out with a total of 6,314 new first quarter freshmen. We had projected, initially, around 6,500, with a range of 6,300 to 6,500. It came out at the lower end of that range, because of yield rates dropping from admissions to acceptance of admissions. There seems to be around the nation -- this is a national phenomena, not just Ohio State -- an increase in multiple applications by entering freshmen. People are shopping more, the application rates are up, and there was an increase in applications throughout the universities in Ohio. So, we found that our traditional 3% loss dropped to 5%.
November 5 and 6, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

Mr. Ihrig: (contd)

We also found -- the other side we used some exception spaces for students who are outstanding scholars, who have outstanding performance capabilities in the arts, and also for athletic teams and nontraditional students. We didn't have to use as many of those nontraditional spaces this year as in the past. I think that is primarily due to the increased publicity regarding selective admissions, the increased awareness of students understanding that we are more in line with other universities admissions policies, rather than on a first come, first serve basis for the Autumn Quarter. All this tends to have worked to reduce the need for exception spaces and these students getting in under the normal process.

The dormitories, along the same line, are full again this year with about 9,600 undergraduates, 900 graduate students, and 400 in married student housing. The other interesting aspect that the housing people are very pleased with this year is the intensity and level of study in the dormitories and the lack of extraneous incidents. The study activity has really increased during the week in the dormitories and the extraneous incidents has really dropped off. It is a completely different environment in the dormitory system, and we think it is a direct impact of the selective admissions in those activities.

Overall we have had a decline in the part-time student and with the population in the Central Ohio area growing, I am hard pressed to understand that. There is a heavy decrease in the graduate level part-time, we have more full-time graduate students, but we've had a decline in the number of part-time graduate students. Now the Graduate School is extremely happy with this because of the full-time graduate students coming in. They see a significant increase -- from 6,832 to 6,934, a 1 1/2% increase. We think this decrease in part-time students is the result of a couple courses in the College of Education. There was a change in the State certification requirements that went into effect the first of July, that allowed college equivalent units for ongoing certification of teachers in addition to graduate credit. So the teachers in the State of Ohio have a broader degree of choices on how to keep their certification active than they have had in the past. The College of Education had lowered the number of off-campus courses they taught this year. So we have had some adjustment in the part-time, we think it is directly related to the change of certification within Ohio.

The application rate also among the graduate students, was up on the domestic students and down by 12% on foreign students applying to the Graduate School. Again, this goes back to University policies, as you remember, the toughening up and strengthening of the pretesting for graduate students having English as a second language, being able to be fluent in the classroom and being able to read English. We think the word has gotten out on this and those foreign students who aren't able to pass those tests and come in and be quality performers in the classrooms have gotten the word and have acted accordingly.
The professional school enrollments are down slightly and that is due to the ongoing adjustments in the entering classes of the professional schools. They had those peak years and they have been making slight downward adjustments to accommodate the appropriate levels that they consider for their colleges. When we look at the college shifts within, there is a heavy influx of more and more students selecting the arts and science colleges as their curriculum and enrollment emphasis. With enrollment management within the University, there is a continued decrease in engineering and that is a planned decrease. The real heavy increase has been in the arts and sciences and there seems to be fewer students in those colleges in an undecided mode.

Mr. Teaford:

There is a big increase in journalism, too, which is distressing.

Mrs. Bowser:

Now, Joel.

President Jennings:

Actually, there is a huge increase in journalism. Most of that increase is the advertising curriculum --

Mr. Teaford:

Good. That's OK.

Mrs. Bowser:

And public relations. We need public relations.

President Jennings:

The Journalism faculty is having a tough time adjusting to the great leaps, but that will level out.

Mr. Scott:

You might be interested in knowing, Mr. Teaford, that we have half of a journalism class here today.

Mr. Teaford:

I know that.

Mr. Ihrig:

The credit hour loads by the students remain essentially the same in most categories. The graduate student credit hour loads increased slightly and again that is part of the adjustment on the part-time to full-time students that we are experiencing.
When we look at the sources of enrollments of the students basically there was very little change. The students from Ohio represent 86.8% of the total student body enrollment versus 87.4%, a 6/10 of a percent decline this year. That was made up of students from other U.S. states and territories which went up from 7.5% to 8.1%. The foreign students still remain at 4.7%, or 2,757 students, out of the entire student body.

The final bit of information I have on the enrollment relates to the minority students. The overall minorities did have a slight increase this year over the previous year, total minorities went up from 4,046 to 4,127. However, black enrollments totally went from, on the Columbus Campus, 2,313 down to 2,357; while at the same time the black students had an increase from 361 to 383 in the entering freshman class. That represents 6.1% of the entering freshman class on the Columbus Campus. Looking at some of the numbers, also, it was interesting to note that during the last academic year there were 400 black students who received their degrees from Ohio State from all areas. That was up from 379 black students who received their degree the previous year, and 320 the year before. So I think the good news is the increasing number of black students that are receiving their degrees, and at the same time we are bringing increasing numbers into the freshman class. I think that is the trend in the right direction which we are looking toward in the long-term on the action plan the Provost talked about previously.

Mr. Teaford:

Are those American black students?

Mr. Ihrig:

Yes, and we separate those out from the foreign. I would be glad to try to respond to any questions that you may have.

Mr. Redman:

Mr. Ihrig, two questions -- in your judgement, has the increase in the enrollment fee caused any problems, other than to the students, to Ohio State?

Mr. Ihrig:

Yes. That is an interesting phenomena, because a year ago we did not increase tuitions at all, the previous fiscal year, and the enrollment trends held up and then we had the increase this year. I'm not going to say that there would not be any impact, because there will be some students that might have to take an extra quarter off to work to have the money to go on. However, we did increase the financial aid activity enough to accommodate the students. The most important part of that, is that the two-year increase was below the State averages overall during that period. So the unfortunate part is that it was beneficial to those students in the year we didn't increase it, and then it hit harder in the second year. So, some of the students may have gotten caught on that.
November 5 and 6, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

Mr. Ihrig: (contd)

Mr. Redman:

But we did that because of the uncertainty on the State budget, we didn't know what we were going to get.

President Jennings:

No, let's recognize that the original recommendation on the State budget was for all institutions of higher education in the State of Ohio to increase tuition by 33%. As that went through the various processes, the budget passed initially by the House was a recommendation to increase tuition by 27%. As the budget was finally passed by the House and Senate and signed by the Governor, the increase recommended was a 22% tuition increase. And as we have been doing for the past several years, we have attempted to do roughly half of what the State recommends in their budget processes, and we ended up with an 11% recommendation. Part of the uncertainty is that we set these tuitions tentatively in May, when there was no bill, at a somewhat lower rate with an expectation that the final bill passed would allow us to increase tuition by only 8%, which would have been again roughly half. In conference committee those monies were removed from the budget. I think it is also important to recognize that as we look around, as Weldon said, the scholarship fund not only was it's purchasing power maintained, but it was also increased to accommodate those students who then became eligible for aid or more aid because of the tuition increase.

I might also add that if some units in the State were setting their budgets on a basis of a 3% or 4% tuition increase, they must not have been listening very much over the entire spring operation when these 1/3 increases were being recommended.

Mr. Teaford:

I think we also might want to point out, Mr. President, in light of our discussion earlier about library hours and cost containment, one of the options which was chosen by the University was not to increase tuition by the recommended percentages and that resulted in the cost containment. We deal in a lot of rough choices, and that is just one more of them.

Mr. Redman:

The other question I have is -- and this is an interest to Mrs. Bowser, I think -- our enrollment in the Agricultural College, as I read it, dropped from 1,290 to 1,268, is that correct?

Mr. Ihrig:

Yes, that is correct. That decline though in the number of agricultural students is slowing down --
Mrs. Bowser:

I was going to say, that is a lesser drop than it has been.

Mr. Ihrig:

Yes, that is right. When we take the credit hours involved we actually had a slight increase in the total FTE's enrollments.

Mr. Redman:

Well, we hope we get it around to where it will go up, instead of thinking we're doing great if it only goes down 10% instead of 50%.

President Jennings:

Well, remember that 1,200 is roughly half of what the enrollment in the College of Agriculture was in 1976. Over that period of time it has dropped by roughly by 50%.

Mr. Redman:

I hope it is not a continuing trend. I was certainly impressed when we had the meeting at Wooster and some of the things that those folks are doing and the people we got from Texas to implement these new agricultural experiments, and so on. Hopefully this will attract additional students in the College of Agriculture.

President Jennings:

It is also a national trend, let's recognize that --

Mrs. Bowser:

Well, there are reasons for it.

President Jennings:

The career opportunities are easily perceived as being somewhat less than they were.

Mr. Teaford:

Part of the reason though is that the College of Agriculture has split into two colleges.

President Jennings:

Yes, Home Economics is separate now. When I talk about the half, I am talking about just the current College of Agriculture. The Home Economics has been removed from that, but even if you remove the Home Economics, it is still a 50% decline.

Mr. Redman:

Thank you, Mr. Ihrig.
Mr. Ihrig:

Thank you.

President Jennings:

Mr. Chairman, let me just make one comment about that enrollment report. It is very good considering all that we have been through on the enrollment activities. The uncertainty that Weldon and his people are having to deal with on the enrollment, I'm very confident, will continue, not only in the yield figures as we move toward selective admissions throughout the institution, but our retention rates will continue to improve as the years go on. But how much they will improve will be very difficult to project, and we should still have uncertainty. Also, I want to be sure to emphasize that any declines we have overall is not policy. The policy basically is to keep the enrollment where it is right now, declines or increases are simply because statistically we missed the numbers by a small amount. And when you miss by 400 out of 60,000, it ain't too bad, Mr. Accountant.

AMENDMENT TO THE BYLAWS OF THE MEDICAL STAFF OF THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY HOSPITALS

Resolution No. 88-41

Synopsis: Amendment to the Bylaws of the Medical Staff of The Ohio State University Hospitals is proposed.

WHEREAS The Ohio State University Hospitals Board pursuant to Bylaw 3335-101-04 of the Hospitals Board Bylaws is authorized to recommend to the Board of Trustees the adoption of amendments to the Bylaws of the Medical Staff of The Ohio State University Hospitals; and

WHEREAS the proposed amendment to Bylaw 3335-43-07 was approved at the University Hospitals Board meeting on September 24, 1987, as follows:

AMENDED BYLAW

3335-43-07 Divisions of the medical staff.

(A) through (D) unchanged.

(E) Clinical privileges.

(1) Restrictions:

(a) Every person practicing at university hospitals by virtue of medical staff membership or otherwise shall, in connection with such practice, be entitled to exercise those clinical privileges specifically granted to him by the clinical department of which he is a member. The process of delineating privileges shall be the responsibility of the clinical division chief with the approval of the chief of the clinical department if there is no clinical division and shall be on file with the medical director. A medical staff member may contest the specific privileges granted to him under rule 3335-43-04 of the Administrative Code.

(b) The evaluation of every initial application for clinical privileges shall be based upon the applicant's education, training, experience, demonstrated competence, references and other relevant information, including an appraisal by the clinical division chief of the division in which such privileges are sought. The applicant shall have the burden of establishing his qualifications and competence in the clinical privileges and the recommendation for increase or reduction of same shall be the responsibility of each clinical division chief or clinical department chief.

(2) Special privileges:

Under special circumstances privileges at the university hospitals may be granted to a doctor of medicine, osteopathic medicine, dental surgery, and to a practitioner of podiatry by the clinical department chief or his designee in concurrence with the medical director. The extent of privileges will be governed by the applicant's training and experience and will be in keeping with clinical department guidelines.

(3) Podiatric privileges:

(a) All patients admitted for podiatric care shall receive the same medical appraisal as all other hospitalized patients. A member of the medical staff who is a doctor of medicine or osteopathic medicine shall admit the patient and be responsible for the history and physical and medical care that may be required at the time of admission or that may arise during hospitalization, and shall determine the need of any proposed procedure on the total health status of the patient. The podiatrist will be responsible for the podiatric care of the patient including the podiatric history and physical examination and all appropriate elements of the patient's record. Any proposed procedures by the podiatrist must be approved by,
and be under the direct supervision of, an active member of the medical staff who is a doctor of medicine or osteopathic medicine.

(b) The podiatrist will be responsible to the chairperson of the department of surgery.

(4) Associates to the medical staff privileges:

Other health care professionals who are duly licensed in the state of Ohio and who are members of the faculty of the Ohio state university college of medicine may be granted clinical privileges to provide specified patient care services under the supervision or direction of a physician member of the medical staff. Such professionals must apply for privileges in the same manner as provided in rule 3335-43-04 of the Administrative Code and this rule for medical staff membership and clinical privileges. Each person granted privileges must be assigned to a clinical department appropriate to his professional training and will be responsible to the chief of the clinical department for his activities. The medical staff administrative committee may establish particular qualifications required of members of a specific health care profession, provided that such qualifications are not founded on arbitrary or discriminatory basis and are in conformance with applicable law. No other section of the medical staff bylaws, including the appeals mechanism, applies to these individuals.

AMENDMENT TO THE BYLAWS OF THE MEDICAL STAFF OF THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY HOSPITALS (contd)

(5) A physician may employ or utilize the services of a professional assistant in the administration of patient care if this assistant has a defined job description, has received credentials review and approval by the appropriate hospital reviewing body, and is operating within existing hospital standards, policies, and procedures. The physician will be responsible for all patient care activities performed on his/her behalf.

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That the foregoing amendments to the Bylaws of the Medical Staff of The Ohio State University Hospitals be adopted as recommended by the University Hospitals Board.

Upon motion of Mrs. Bowser, seconded by Mr. Teaford, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous voice vote.

RESOLUTIONS IN MEMORIAM

Resolution No. 88-46

Synopsis: Resolutions honoring the service of four of the University's faculty members who have recently died are being proposed.

RESOLVED, That the Board adopt the following Resolutions in Memoriam and that the President be requested to convey a copy to the families of the deceased.

George B. Ganyard

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on May 25, 1987, of George B. Ganyard, Instructor Emeritus in the Cooperative Extension Service.

Mr. Ganyard was born on October 29, 1898, in Stow, Ohio. He received his B.S. in Agriculture from The Ohio State University in 1921; then spent thirteen years operating a dairy farm in Medina County.

Mr. Ganyard began his Extension experience when he joined the faculty at The Ohio State University in 1934 as a County Agricultural Agent in Richland County. In 1948, he became the County Agricultural Agent in Franklin County and continued in this position until his retirement in 1965, when he was named Instructor Emeritus. Mr. Ganyard was respected by his peers and associates throughout the State as he worked to provide excellent Extension educational programs for the citizens in his county.

On behalf of the University community, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family of George B. Ganyard its deepest sympathy. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as an expression of the Board's heartfelt sympathy.

Malcolm L. Gardner

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on August 30, 1987, of Dr. Malcolm Gardner, Associate Professor Emeritus in the Department of Psychiatry.

Professor Gardner received his undergraduate degree from the College of Charleston in 1947 and his Ph.D. degree from the University of Illinois in 1955. He began his 24-year career at The Ohio State University in 1956, when he became the Coordinator of Psychological Training for the Columbus Psychiatric Institute and Hospital. When the Institute became part of The Ohio State University Hospitals, Dr. Gardner was the first Director of Psychological Services, an appointment he held from 1959 to 1966. From 1966 until his health-related retirement in 1980, Mac served as Chief Psychologist in the Adult Psychiatry Clinic of University Hospitals. During this period he was instrumental in developing Group Psychotherapy and Human Sexuality programs within the Department of Psychiatry; he also made significant contributions to the teaching and training of medical students, psychiatric residents, and psychology interns. Upon his retirement in 1980, he was named Associate Professor Emeritus.

In 1976, Dr. Gardner was awarded the Distinguished Service Award by the Ohio Psychological Association in recognition of his numerous contributions to the discipline of Psychology throughout the State of Ohio. Two years later, Dr. Gardner served as President of the Ohio Psychological Association.

On behalf of the entire University Community, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family of Dr. Malcolm L. Gardner its deepest sympathy. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to his wife and family as an expression of the Board's heartfelt sympathy.

Jack N. Taylor

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on September 7, 1987, of Jack N. Taylor, M.D., Associate Professor Emeritus in the Department of Surgery.

Dr. Taylor was born in Jacksonville, Florida, on August 15, 1918. He received his B.A. degree from The Ohio State University and his M.D. degree from Harvard Medical School. He did his internship at Boston City Hospital and his residency in Surgery at The Ohio State University. He completed his Urology residency at the University of Michigan.

After completing military service as captain, he became an Assistant Professor in the Division of Urology, Department of Surgery, and
November 5 and 6, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

Jack N. Taylor (contd)

Associate Professor in 1960. Upon his retirement in 1985, he was named Associate Professor Emeritus. Dr. Taylor was active in many professional societies, including the American Urological Association and the American College of Surgeons. He was a past president of the North Central Section of the American Urological Association, a member of the American Medical Association, and was past president of the Rotary Club of Columbus.

On behalf of the University community, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family of Jack N. Taylor, M.D., its deepest sympathy. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as an expression of the Board's heartfelt sympathy.

Benjamin Roland Wiltberger

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on June 3, 1987, of Benjamin Roland Wiltberger, Clinical Professor Emeritus in the Department of Surgery.

Dr. Wiltberger graduated from The Ohio State University with a Bachelor's degree in 1936 and, in 1940, received his Doctor of Medicine degree. He served an internship and later completed his residency in orthopaedic surgery in 1947 at the Henry Ford Hospital in Detroit, Michigan. Dr. Wiltberger's post-graduate training was interrupted by his service in the United States Army Medical Corp in Europe and Africa from August 1942 through April 1946, at which time he was discharged as a captain with two bronze star decorations.

Dr. Wiltberger was appointed Clinical Instructor at The Ohio State University College of Medicine in 1952 and received promotions through July 1969, at which time he was appointed Clinical Professor. Upon his retirement in 1984, he was named Clinical Professor Emeritus.

Dr. Wiltberger was a pioneer in the treatment of ruptured intervertebral disc disease by the use of intervertebral dowel fusion, both in the lumbar and cervical spine. This technique is now performed throughout the world and was first described by Dr. Wiltberger. His bibliography includes twenty-three publications relative to orthopaedic surgery, as well as numerous presentations at national and international meetings.

Dr. Wiltberger's achievements include membership in the society of Sigma Xi, as well as election to the Alpha Omega Alpha Medical Honor Society while in medical school. He was a member of the American Academy of Orthopaedic Surgeons, The American Board of Orthopaedic Surgery and The American College of Surgeons. In addition to this, he was a member of eleven other medical and surgical societies. Dr. Wiltberger was elected to membership in The Ohio State University's President's Council in 1979, and received the Alumni Achievement Award in 1980. He received the order of Hippocrates from The Ohio State University College of Medicine Medical Alumni Society in April 1983.

RESOLUTIONS IN MEMORIAM (contd)

Benjamin Roland Wiltberger (contd)

In addition to his academic career, Dr. Wiltberger was involved in the private practice of orthopaedic surgery at The Ohio State University Hospitals, Riverside Methodist Hospital and St. Anthony Hospital, where he served as chief of staff. Throughout his career, Dr. Wiltberger was a loyal, generous, innovative, enthusiastic teacher and supporter of the Division of Orthopaedic Surgery of The Ohio State University College of Medicine. His contributions to orthopaedic surgery and to education have been appreciated by his many residents and medical students. His absence is strongly felt by The Ohio State University College of Medicine and the community of Columbus, Ohio.

On behalf of the University community, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family of Benjamin Roland Wiltberger its deepest sympathy. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as an expression of the Board's heartfelt sympathy.

Upon motion of Ms. Casto, seconded by Mr. Wolf, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous voice vote.

THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY DEVELOPMENT FUND

Establishment of Named Funds

The Steve & Sarah O'Donnell Fund for University Systems

The Steve & Sarah O'Donnell Fund for University Systems was established November 6, 1987, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from Steve O'Donnell (B.E.E. '62, M.S. Electrical Engineering '63) and Sarah E. O'Donnell of Westerville, Ohio.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to provide awards to University Systems employees who have shown excellence in some phase of our data processing activities; to acquire computing facilities for innovative tasks or inquiries; and/or provide specialized education opportunities for emerging or state-of-the-art computing techniques. Expenditures from the fund will be authorized by the Assistant Vice President, University Systems.

It is the desire of the donor that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity. If the need for this fund should cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then another use shall be designated by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to the recommendations from the appropriate administrative official of the University who is then directly responsible for administrative data processing.
November 5 and 6, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY DEVELOPMENT FUND (contd)

Establishment of Named Funds (contd)

The M.D./Ph.D Endowment in the College of Medicine

The M.D./Ph.D. Endowment in the College of Medicine was established November 6, 1987, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from the estate of Marguerite Kakalecik, Mt. Vernon, Ohio, in memory of her uncles, Albert and William Wilmette.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to provide research scholarships for students enrolled in the College of Medicine at The Ohio State University. Scholarship recipients will be chosen by the University Committee on Student Financial Aid in consultation with the Dean of the College of Medicine.

It is the desire of the donor that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity. If the need for this fund should cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then another use shall be designated by the Board of Trustees, in consultation with the appropriate administrative official of the College of Medicine, in order to carry out the desire of the donor.

The Elmer S. Bowers Scholarship Fund

The Elmer S. Bowers Scholarship Fund was established November 6, 1987, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from the estate of Elmer S. Bowers (B.A. '25, M.A. Psychology '25).

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to provide scholarship assistance to incoming freshmen or enrolled students who rank academically in the top twenty percent of their class. Selection of the award recipients shall be made by the University Committee on Student Financial Aid.

It is the desire of the donor that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity. If the need for this fund should cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then another use shall be designated by the Board of Trustees, in consultation with the appropriate administrative official responsible for student financial aid.
Establishment of Named Funds (contd)

Helen C. Clabaugh Scholarship Fund

The Helen C. Clabaugh Scholarship Fund was established November 6, 1987, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts from Helen C. Clabaugh (B.S.H.E. '24).

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to establish one or more scholarships for students in the College of Home Economics for the study of medical and therapeutic dietetics. The recipients shall be selected on the basis of academic achievement. Selection shall be made each year by an appointee of the Dean of the College of Home Economics in consultation with the University Committee on Student Financial Aid and the Department of Human Nutrition and Food Management.

It is the desire of the donor that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity. If the need for this fund should cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then another use shall be designated by the Board of Trustees, in consultation with the appropriate administrative officials of the University who are then directly responsible for instruction in Human Nutrition, in order to carry out the desire of the donor.

The Simon H. Leister Engineering Scholarship and Grant-in-Aid Fund

The Simon H. Leister Engineering Scholarship and Grant-in-Aid Fund was established November 6, 1987, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with a bequest to The Ohio State University from Mildred M. McGormley of Toledo, Ohio.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to provide scholarships and/or grants-in-aid to deserving engineering students. The Dean of the College of Engineering will have sole authority to authorize expenditures from the income. Moreover, said Dean will be authorized to invade the fund's principal whenever necessary to assure maximum benefit for deserving engineering students.

It is the desire of the donor that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity. If the need for this fund should cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then another use shall be designated by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to the recommendations from the appropriate administrative official of the University who is then directly responsible for engineering education.

Luther M. Keith Lectureship in Surgery

The Luther M. Keith Lectureship in Surgery was established November 6, 1987, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts from family, friends and colleagues of Dr. Luther M. Keith.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to underwrite the cost of an annual lecturer in the College of Medicine on a subject related to surgery. The selection of the lecturer is to be made upon the recommendation of the Chairperson of the Department of Surgery, in cooperation with the Dean of the College of Medicine.

It is the desire of the donors that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity. If the need for this fund should cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then another use shall be designated by the Board of Trustees, in consultation with the appropriate administrative official of the College of Medicine, in order to carry out the desire of the donors.

Edna and R. George Jaap Scholarship Fund

The Edna and R. George Jaap Scholarship Fund was established November 6, 1987, by the Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from R. George and Edna Jaap, Columbus, Ohio, and friends of the University.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to fund one or more scholarships for students in the College of Agriculture with preference being given to those students enrolled in the Department of Poultry Science. Criteria for the scholarships shall include academic achievement, leadership in extracurricular activities and financial need. Scholarship recipients shall be selected by a committee consisting of the Assistant Dean for Student Affairs in the College of Agriculture and appropriate faculty representation from Poultry Science, in consultation with the University Committee on Student Financial Aid.

It is the desire of the donors that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity. If the need for this fund should cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then another use shall be designated by the Board of Trustees, in consultation with the appropriate administrative official of the College of Agriculture, in order to carry out the desire of the donors.

Lois E. Dickey and Esther A. Meacham Endowment

The Lois E. Dickey Endowment was established July 12, 1985, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University Development Fund with gifts from the friends, colleagues, students and family of Lois E. Dickey and was merged November 6, 1987, with gifts from friends, colleagues, students and family of Esther A. Meacham.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income is to be used to fund one or more awards in support of graduate student research in the Department of Textiles and Clothing in the College of Home Economics. Selection of the recipient of the award will be made by the graduate faculty of the Department of Textiles and Clothing with preference given to applicants who are international students. The award will be made by the Dean of the College of Home Economics based upon the recommendation of the Graduate Faculty of the Department of Textiles and Clothing.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to recommendations from the Chair of the Department of Textiles and Clothing and the Dean of the College of Home Economics.

AMENDMENTS TO THE CODE OF REGULATIONS OF OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY AFFILIATES, INC.
Resolution No. 88-56

Synopsis: Amendments to the Code of Regulations of Ohio State University Affiliates, Inc., are proposed.

WHEREAS the Board of Directors of Ohio State University Affiliates, Inc., has proposed recommended changes to Sections 1.01, 1.02, 1.04(B), and 1.04 (D), of its Code of Regulations; and
November 5 and 6, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

AMENDMENTS TO THE CODE OF REGULATIONS OF OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY AFFILIATES, INC. (contd)

WHEREAS the Code of Regulations of Ohio State University Affiliates, Inc., requires approval of The Ohio State University Board of Trustees to any amendments to the Code of Regulations or Articles of Incorporation; and

WHEREAS The Ohio State University Board of Trustees finds the amendments to the Code of Regulations of Ohio State University Affiliates, Inc., to be appropriate, as follows:

ARTICLE I

Directors

Section 1.01. Power and Authority of Directors. Except as otherwise provided by law, the Articles of Incorporation of the Corporation or these Regulations, all of the authority of the Corporation shall be exercised by the Board of Directors. The Directors serving hereunder shall have the power, authority and responsibilities of, and perform the functions provided for under the Ohio Non-profit Corporation law.

Section 1.02. Classes and Number of Voting Directors. Except with respect to the initial Board of Directors described below, the voting members of the Board of Directors shall consist of three (3) individuals elected by the Chairman of The Ohio State University (the "University") Board of Trustees, from its number.

Prior to the commencement of full operations of the Corporation, the Board of Directors shall consist of the three (3) persons named in the Articles of Incorporation. As soon as full operations are commenced and, in any event prior to November 30, 1987, the initial Board shall be replaced by the full Board of Directors.

Section 1.04 Provisions Relating to Directors.

B. Term. Each Director designated in the Articles of Incorporation shall be deemed to be elected as such as of the time of filing of the Articles of Incorporation to serve until their replacement by the permanent Board at the earlier of the commencement of full operations of November 30, 1987. Thereafter, the three (3) Directors elected by the Chairman of the University Board of Trustees from its number shall serve for terms of one year each. Directors may be reelected. At the end of each term, a vacancy will be created until a successor is elected and qualified.

D. Resignation. Any Director, by notice in writing to both the Board of Directors and to the person that elected such Director, may resign at any time.

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That the amendments to the Code of Regulations of Ohio State University Affiliates, Inc., are approved.

Upon motion of Mr. Teaford, seconded by Mr. Wolf, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous roll call vote.

President Jennings made the following statement:

Mr. Chairman, one more item -- I would like Dick Jackson to update us on an issue that is on the air right now. It is a serious issue and some of the discussion on the air is making fun of it. I think it is a much more serious issue than the people on the radio are making of it, and I would like Dick Jackson to update us on the issue.

Mr. Jackson:

Thank you, Mr. President, Members of the Board. As you know, last night there was a report on Channel 4 about the fifth floor of the Main Library and the presence there of semen, urine, tobacco juice, and other staining in the area. We have, this morning, contracted with a custodial firm to clean those areas up. This has been an ongoing problem at the University in a number of areas. It is a problem today, as evidenced by the public discussion that is going on, and will continue to be a problem over the years to come. So we are in the process of contracting to have it cleaned up and we will go through the entire library to make sure that there are no other areas, and if there are, they will be cleaned also. We will be using proper cleaning procedures as are dictated by the appropriate authorities. We will also have a spokesman for the University, because there is some interest by the press at this point. We think we can straighten this issue up, but I would suggest to you all that it is not something that we will resolve today, because it will be an ongoing problem.

Mrs. Bowser:

I assume that area will be closed until such a time that --

Mr. Jackson:

It is not closed at this point and I don't think it is necessary in order to accomplish the work, nor is it a hazard to anyone.

Mrs. Bowser:

Okay.

President Jennings:

But I can assure this Board that Mr. Jackson and the entire University takes this issue very seriously. This is not a trivial issue and should not be taken lightly by anybody. This is something that any organization has to deal with; it is unfortunate, but it is not a light issue. That completes my agenda, Mr. Chairman.

Commencement Speaker

Henry Ponder

Henry Ponder, president of Fisk University in Nashville, graduated from Ohio State in 1963 with a doctoral degree in agricultural economics. He also holds a master's degree from Oklahoma State University and a bachelor's degree from Langston University.

Before assuming the presidency at Fisk, he was president of Benedict College in Columbia, South Carolina. His other academic positions include vice president for academic affairs and dean of the college, Alabama A & M University; chairperson, Department of Business and Economics, Fort Valley State College, Georgia; and chairperson, Department of Agribusiness, Virginia State College, Virginia.

Ponder has served as an economic consultant to the Irving Trust Company of New York City. His business experience also includes work with the Federal Reserve Bank of New York's Department of Banking Studies, the Philadelphia National Bank, the Omaha National Bank, the U.S. Department of Treasury, and the Chase Manhattan Bank.

He is involved with numerous civic organizations, among them the Better Business Bureau, the Nashville Chamber of Commerce, the Tennessee Repertory Theatre, the YMCA, the Nashville Institute for the Arts, the United Way of Middle Tennessee, the Martin Luther King Jr. Health Science Magnet School, and the Bishop Desmond Tutu Southern African Refugee Scholarship Fund.

He has been listed in several directories of prominent individuals such as Who's Who Among Black Americans, Community Leaders of America, Men of Achievement, Directory of Distinguished Americans, International Who's Who of Intellectuals, and The Book of Honor. Among his many awards are three Distinguished Alumnus Awards—one from each of the colleges that awarded him degrees. In 1986 he was named as one of the 100 most effective college presidents in the United States, according to a Bowling Green research survey. In June of this year, Ponder was a recipient of the President's 300th Commencement Award from Ohio State. We congratulate him for his accomplishment, and we welcome him back as speaker for the University's 302nd commencement.
Josephine Sitterle Failer
Doctor of Humanities

Since graduating from Ohio State in 1939 with a bachelor's degree in pharmacy, Josephine Sitterle Failer has been a dedicated supporter of the University. Deeply interested in Ohio State students, she has served in a variety of leadership capacities and has given countless hours of volunteer time to numerous projects throughout the last half century.

Within the College of Pharmacy, she established a student loan fund for pharmacy students, organized many college events, provided leadership for fund-raising efforts, and has held several volunteer leadership positions. Failer has also been very involved in Ohio State's Alumni Association and has been a member of the organization's board of directors and reunion committees.

She has been very active in other University organizations such as Friends of the Library of The Ohio State University, Friends of WOSU, and Program 60, through which people 60 years and older enroll in University classes.

A donor every year since the founding of The Ohio State University Development Fund in 1939, Failer has shared both her time and resources with the University; she became a member of The Presidents Club in 1965, has been a member of the club's executive committee, and has been a leader in numerous other fund-raising projects as well.

Her previous awards from the University include a Distinguished Service Award, the Alumni Centennial Award, the Centennial Service Award, the Ralph D. Mershon Alumni Award, and the Everett D. Reese Medal. The University is pleased to honor this dedicated and distinguished alumna.

Ann Hutchinson Guest
Doctor of Humanities

Ann Hutchinson Guest is regarded internationally as the senior expert in the field of Labanotation, a system of dance notation that uses symbols to indicate very specific movement. Labanotation allows entire dance works to be recorded on paper in a manner that is, according to Guest, somewhat comparable to music notation.

Guest has been a proponent of the idea that dance should have libraries of written works which, like music scores, would accurately preserve great works of art for future study and performance. She has resurrected historical dances that previously existed only in period writings, and it is largely through her efforts that Labanotation has gained acceptance throughout the world. As a dance scholar and historian, she has studied 24 old and contemporary systems of dance notation—she is fluent in five methods of notation. She is, in addition, the author of the standard text of the Laban system of notation.

Guest was born in New York City, and her education includes work at Cambridge University in England and the Juilliard Dance School, where she studied modern dance and Labanotation. Subsequently, she danced professionally for eight years in modern dance concerts and Broadway shows.

She was one of the founding faculty members of the High School of Performing Arts in New York City and the Department of Dance at the Juilliard School, where she taught for 10 years. She was among the notation experts who set up the Dance Notation Bureau in New York in 1940, and in 1962, she founded the Language of Dance Centre in London, which she heads today. She was also instrumental in establishing the Labanotation Institute at the University of Surrey in 1985. Her original research continues to be the major influence affecting the development of the notation of human movement, and her writings form the basis for the study of this discipline in higher education. The University proudly confers this award on her for her lifetime of accomplishment and distinguished contributions to the world of dance.
Recipients of Honors

Janet Taylor Spence
Doctor of Science

Janet Taylor Spence is a distinguished scholar who has made important contributions to the body of primary research literature in psychology. The impact of her doctoral dissertation has been monumental in its effect on research in personality theory, motivation, learning, and psychopathology. Her dissertation was, for many years, one of the most widely cited articles in psychological literature. Much of her later work has focused on achievement and motivation and on gender roles.

Spence holds a bachelor’s degree from Oberlin College and master’s and doctoral degrees from the State University of Iowa. She has worked at several institutions, including Harvard, Yale, Northwestern, Iowa, and the University of Texas, where she has served as department chairperson and is currently a member of the faculty.

She is among the most productive scholars in her field; she has written or co-written more than 100 articles and over 20 books and book chapters. She has also been very involved with professional organizations—she has been elected president of the American Psychological Association and has served in several leadership capacities in other organizations, including the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the Psychonomic Society, the Southwestern Psychological Association, and the Society of Experimental Social Psychology.

Her professional activities also include service as trustee, the James McKeen Cattell Foundation; as chair, visiting committee to the Harvard University Department of Psychology and Social Relations; as a member on the editorial committee of the Annual Review of Psychology; as a member on the board of governors, Center for Creative Leadership; and as a member on the advisory committee, Hogg Foundation for Mental Health. Ohio State is proud to honor her for her valuable contributions to her profession and to society.

Paolo Emilio Taviani
Doctor of Humane Letters

Paolo Emilio Taviani, a leader of the Italian Resistance during World War II, has been a major intellectual presence in Italian academic and political life for over 40 years. Currently a senator in the Italian government, Taviani is one of a few living parliamentarians who has held an elected seat in Italy without interruption from 1945 to the present.

Born in Genoa, he holds doctoral degrees in jurisprudence, in social sciences, and in letters and philosophy. After college he began a teaching career in law and political science and later taught economics and history. He is a prolific and renowned scholar—he has published more than 20 books and dozens of reviews and articles on subjects related to the social sciences. He produced two exhaustive studies of Christopher Columbus’ life and voyages, which have brought him international recognition as the greatest living authority on Columbus.

In addition to his distinguished academic career, Taviani has been a central participant in much of the social and economic history of Italy and western Europe. In 1943, during the German occupation of Italy, he helped form the National Committee for the Liberation of Liguria and served clandestinely as a partisan commander in the Resistance—actions for which he was much decorated. Also in 1943, he helped create the Christian Democrat Party. He was among the founders of the Italian Republic and a deputy to the Constitutional Committee.

After the war, he resumed his academic work and also began a career in the Italian political arena. He has served in numerous governmental capacities, including national vice secretary and national secretary of the Christian Democrat Party, representative to Parliament, senator of the Republic, chairman of the Senate foreign affairs committee, and he has held several cabinet positions. Ohio State is proud to honor him for his achievement, his leadership, and his contributions to twentieth-century civilization.
C. K. Tseng
Doctor of Science

C. K. Tseng is a distinguished international professor, scholar, and humanitarian, as well as a pioneer and leader in both basic and applied aspects of the aquatic sciences in the People's Republic of China. An expert in the study of algae, he received his doctorate from the University of Michigan in 1942 and is director emeritus of the Institute of Oceanology, Tsingtao, China.

Tseng's advanced professional training in the midwestern United States and subsequently at Scripps Institute of Oceanography has been a prelude to a life of leadership, service, and innovation within his country. His influence and activities have extended well beyond the boundaries of China and have been instrumental in re-establishing east-west relations; his work has fostered extensive international exchanges between scientific communities in both hemispheres.

During his career he has chaired the departments of Botany and Fisheries at Shandong University, China, and co-founded the Institute of Oceanology. He developed techniques for the successful cultivation of two economically important seaweeds, making China a leading world producer of these plants. He and his students are responsible for some of the earliest work in applying modern biotechnology to the study of marine organisms and to the genetic improvement of commercial seaweed stocks.

Since the end of the Cultural Revolution, Tseng has orchestrated events that have brought researchers and scholars together from all over the world. He has been the key figure in the successful development of relationships between aquatic scientists of China and the western world and a model for scientists in other fields to follow. The University congratulates him for his immense contributions to the world of science.

OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS OF THE

ONE THOUSAND TWO HUNDRED AND THIRTY-SIXTH MEETING

OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES

Columbus, Ohio, December 3 and 4, 1987

The Board of Trustees met at its regular monthly meeting on Thursday, December 3, and Friday, December 4, 1987, at The Ohio State University Fawcett Center for Tomorrow, Columbus, Ohio, pursuant to adjournment.

Minutes of the last meeting were approved.

December 3 and 4, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

The Chairman, Mr. Redman, called the meeting of the Board of Trustees to order on December 3, 1987, at 6:30 p.m. He requested the Secretary to call the roll. The meeting recessed into Executive Session for the purpose of considering legal issues and personnel-related matters.

Mr. Redman reconvened the meeting on December 4, 1987, at 10:15 a.m.

Mr. Redman:

Let's proceed, then, to the Committee reports. Mr. Wolf, in Mr. Kessler's absence, would you give us some report on the Development Fund?

Mr. Wolf:

I don't have any information because Mr. Kessler was expected here and unfortunately no documents or information was passed on to me.

Mr. Redman:

Perhaps we could have the report at the next meeting.

Mr. Wolf:

Certainly.

Mr. Redman:

The Research Foundation Board of Directors --

Mr. Barone:

Mr. Chairman, on the Research Foundation I wish to report that for the month of October, as shown in the agenda book, there are ninety-four (94) awards listed that will provide a gross income of $7.3 million.

For the first four months of the fiscal year (July 1 to October 31) we received 442 awards with a gross income of $40.2 million. This can be compared to the first four months of the last fiscal year in which we had 373 awards with a gross income of $29.4 million. This represents a 36.89% increase in funding for the four month period. As reported last month, much of the large increase we experienced in the first quarter of the fiscal year was due to the timing of several large awards and to the slowness in processing awards by several agencies during the past fiscal year. These factors are now beginning to "wash out" and some areas of solid growth may be seen including the Department of Health and Human Services, the State of Ohio, and the Industrial sector.

Some of the highlights of the awards for October are as follows:

* a $1.3 million award from the Department of Health and Human Services, National Institutes of Health, to Professor Robert J. Fass of the Department of Internal Medicine to support a clinical study group on the AIDS problem.

* a $639,000 award from the Department of Health and Human Services, National Institutes of Health, to Professor John H. Rinehart of the Department of Internal Medicine to conduct clinical trials in the area of immunotherapy.

* a $223,000 award from the Department of Education to Professor Joseph J. Quaranta of the Department of Educational Theory and Practice to conduct an inservice training program for elementary and secondary school/university staff aimed at developing programs for alcohol and drug free schools.

These, of course, are only a few of the awards received by University faculty. Anyone may consult the full listing provided in our agenda books or you may get one from Mr. Tom Sweeney.

That concludes my report, Mr. Chairman.

Mr. Redman:

Thank you, Mr. Barone. It is indeed impressive.

Mr. Barone:

I might add that the AIDS program has created a tremendous amount of publicity in the medical field. We feel that this award to Ohio State is most beneficial and has given us national attention. Under the guidance of our good friend, Dr. Tzagournis, these things, I know, will be very productive and are in able hands.

Mr. Redman:

Thank you, Mr. Barone. I would like to have a report now on the University Hospitals Board. Mr. Immke or Mrs. Bowser —

Mr. Immke:

I don't have any information to report to you at this time.
December 3 and 4, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

Mrs. Bowser:

No, there wasn't a meeting last month.

Mr. Redman:

Well, I would like to make a report, if I may — one in which I take great interest and only because I have paid some personal attention to some particular problems. I did want to report to the Board that I met with the Committee on revising our billing procedure yesterday, with Dr. Senhauser, the members of his Committee, and Dr. Tzagournis. I think it was an excellent meeting in that the physicians seemed to accept the Board's approach that this was beneficial to all parties, including the physicians themselves. At the request of former Trustee, Mr. Jack Havens, we had a consultant from Cleveland report to the Committee and discuss in detail answers to questions which were of concern to the physicians. I was impressed with this gentleman and I think the Committee was impressed, as well.

One of the comments which he made was that if he was engaged to undertake this, which is a simplified billing procedure — to take care of Mr. Teaford's requirements -- that it could be done and be implemented within 90 to 120 days. This would, indeed, be expeditious. He claims that he may be able to do this based upon the fact that they have sophisticated computer hardware in their office in Cleveland, on which they have already spent $3 million and they intend to expand that. He is confident that what we have here is an accounting problem and that they have the solution. Presumably we will move forward and get that underway.

I don't know whether Mr. Covert is here or not -- is Mike Covert here?

Dr. Tzagournis:

I'm here, Mr. Chairman. If there is anything I can answer, I would be happy to.

Mr. Redman:

Well, I was impressed with Mr. Covert's statement on the helicopter. Would you want to address that?

Dr. Tzagournis:

The helicopter is quite busy. The last figure I heard was that in the first month of its operation it made 41 runs, more than one run a day. It has taken patients to Children's Hospital, Mt. Carmel, St. Anthony, and University Hospitals.

Mr. Redman:

So, we are off and running?

Dr. Tzagournis:

Yes.
December 3 and 4, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

Mr. Teaford:

I think, too, as I understand it, that the vast majority of patients came to University Hospitals.

President Jennings:

I think the number was 26.

Mrs. Bowser:

Twenty-six out of 41 — and they can fly in certain inclement weather. I live outside of Franklin County and that helicopter is important to those of us who live in surrounding areas. It is very important that you have a helicopter that can service those areas in bad weather conditions. I don't know much about airplanes, but as I understand it, helicopters are well equipped to do that.

Mr. Redman:

How many pilots, Dr. Tzagournis, do we have?

Dr. Tzagournis:

Two.

Mrs. Bowser:

Two. Two mechanics and a stand-by engine.

Mr. Redman:

That is about all I have to report on. Can we have a report on the University Foundation?

Mr. Teaford:

Once again, Mr. Chairman, the Foundation meets only in September and April. I told you about September, and I will tell you about April.

Mr. Redman:

Thank you, Mr. Teaford. That then completes the Committee reports.

--0--

Mr. Redman:

I would like to call on Dr. Russell Spillman to introduce Patrick Haney, a senior in Political Science, and Parul Kapadia, a sophomore in Psychology/Pre-Medicine, to talk about the Honors Program.

Dr. Spillman:

Mr. Chairman, Members of the Board, and President Jennings, I am very pleased to present these two members of our Honors Program, Parul Kapadia and Patrick Haney, who I think will have a fine presentation on our Honors Program.
Dr. Spillman: (contd)

Mr. Patrick Haney:

Dr. Jennings and Members of the Board, it is an honor to speak to you here this morning about the kinds of things that are going on in the Honors Program. I would like to take just a few minutes to share with you the kinds of opportunities that are available to students at The Ohio State University and Honors, from my own perspective as I look back on the last three and half years here at Ohio State.

The first thing that I would like to talk to you about is the Honors courses as an example of a way to shrink the University and promote both breadth and intensity. In my own experience I have taken Honors courses in my major field of study, political science, that have enabled me to work with just a few students and a faculty member intensely on an area of interest. I have also taken Honors courses in social sciences and the liberal arts that have enabled me to take classes in classics, comparative studies, English, and so forth with a small number of students and a faculty member. It also enables us to interact more -- students interact with faculty, and in my experience it has produced a quarter full of work that I am much more proud of and much more excited by than any other courses that I have taken at the University. Incidentally, just last night our English class met at my professor's house and had our last class and then watched movies of some of the books that we had been reading. We watched "The Picture of Dorian Gray" last night, which with the weather and everything made for quite a depressing evening.

Another opportunity in Honors is the Honors House. The old Presidents' house on Twelfth Avenue was recently renovated and is now the home of the University's Honors Center. The Honors House is an area for students to come and study, to lounge, and also an area for student organizations to have meetings. I know that a couple of you have been by the house -- Mr. Teaford, I enjoyed having lunch with you; and Mrs. Bowser, I understand that you've been there, and I would like to invite all of you to come by Honors House, as well.

Other opportunities for students in Honors, and also at the University at-large that I've experienced, has been a trip to West Point for a National Security Conference. The Student Council on U.S. Affairs is at West Point every November, and I had the opportunity to go to this Conference -- it was less than two weeks ago. I sat at the arms control round table. There were 165 students from 115 schools and about 50 cadets at West Point taking part in the Conference. Our round table focused on issues of arms control, especially as arms control now goes into a new phase seeking reductions in both the strategic forces and theatre forces, and also the SDI debate.

I am also working on a senior honors thesis. The senior thesis, as I see it, will be a culmination of my work here at the University. My thesis deals with the farewell address of President Eisenhower. The address in which he warned the American people about the trends of the military industrial complex and the scientific technological elite. My focus and my thesis is on why did a General give such an address. In this way I hope to find out both the historical context and, more importantly, the physical writing of the address -- how it was drafted, what changes took place. In an effort to do this I will be traveling to the Eisenhower Library in Abilene, Kansas, the second weekend in January to do research on the President's papers and on other peoples' papers. I've been in contact with the speech writer's family and I will be working with his papers at the University of Minnesota. I will also be going to Johns Hopkins where there are some other papers that the President wrote, as well. My hope at the end of this project is to put together a piece of archival primary research on why this address was given. I hope it will illuminate the question of the types of forces that take place in a political economy. And for us to look at -- perhaps the President wanted to look at politics in a new way, a way that enlarged a pluralistic vision of our society, to say that there are more forces at hand here than simple democratic forces or simple elitist forces.

In and out of the classroom my experience in Honors has been one that has helped me strive towards a high level of achievement. As I enter the crunch of finals week, I now start to get my application materials together for graduate school. It is both a hectic time and one that I wish would be over, but one that I think once I am in graduate school, I will look back on fondly and remember the times at this University and the opportunities that I have had: I had lunch with Mr. Teaford, and spoke with the President and the Provost earlier in the week, and to be with you today. These times have helped me to grow and will enable me to represent the University and myself with a very high standard in graduate school and in my profession. Thank you.

Mr. Redman:

Thank you, Mr. Haney. And now, Parul Kapadia.

Ms. Parul Kapadia:

Mr. President, Dr. Jennings, and Members of the Board, I will be providing a slightly different perspective on Honors, maybe a younger perspective, focusing more on the first year and beginning in the Honors Program.

When I think about a word that I could use to characterize my experience in the Honors Program thus far, the word opportunity is the one that comes to mind. When I first came to Ohio State, many people warned me or cautioned me about how I would feel like just a drop in the bucket, I'd feel like just one of a crowd and be kind of lost. I am happy to say that I can't think of one time since I've been here that I've ever had that feeling of being lost or just being known by my social security number (which took me a while to memorize). But I think one of the reasons I've never felt this way is because of the Honors Program at Ohio State. My first quarter here I was enrolled in the Honors calculus series. I had an excellent professor, who will probably turn out to be one of the best that I will have at Ohio State. It was a small class, and he created an atmosphere in the class that made us very comfortable. We felt free to ask questions, to question him, to suggest different approaches, and also to just raise our hands and say, "Wait, we are completely lost, can you back up?" I think that is something that is very important in a class and it was very similar to a high school class in that way. Also, because it was a small class, the students really got to know each other. And I think we almost created a support system amongst ourselves, as it was our first quarter at Ohio State. I made a lot of friends in that class, many of whom are good friends of mine now.

Something else that has helped me was living in the Honors dorm, Taylor Tower. While -- this eludes to the opportunity I spoke of earlier -- the academics and the Honors courses provided a challenge academically, Taylor Tower gave me the opportunity to become involved in different activities in student life, in terms of Honors. When I first came to Taylor Tower, I went through orientation and I got involved and signed up for an organization called the Honors Community Association, of which Pat is President this year. This year I am heading up a program which I am very excited about. It is a pilot program this year, but I feel that if we can make it big, it can eventually become somewhat of a recruitment tool for the Ohio State Honors Program. It involves pairing incoming freshman Honors students with upper classman. It is a big brother/big sister type of support program which might give students advice on their major, help them with scheduling, and all sorts of little things that are new to them when they first come to college.

I am very excited about this program. It provided me with yet another opportunity this past October when I had a chance to travel to Dallas for the National Collegiate Honors Council Annual Convention. We went there to present this particular program as a beginning program at Ohio State and also to present the Honors Community Association. We gave that presentation and it went very well. I feel that I got a lot of ideas back from that Conference on how I can expand the program next year, how we can work to make it bigger and better, and I think we were also able to give some ideas to other schools. The Conference was a unique experience for me because I was exposed to Honors students from all over the country — that was very fascinating. I also had never been to Dallas, so that was a nice trip.
December 3 and 4, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

Ms. Kapadia: (contd)

My academic course work has also led to other opportunities. It allowed me to be eligible for the Alpha Lambda Delta and Phi Eta Sigma Honorary Societies, the two organizations of which I am President this year. When I look in terms of future opportunities, I am a pre-med student thinking of majoring in psychology, and the vast resources of Ohio State's health sciences -- the medical school, the optometry school, all of the various health sciences schools, I am hoping I can take advantage of those opportunities and the benefits of having such vast resources right here at Ohio State. I'm hoping to become involved in some research over the summer, or possibly next year, in some of the laboratories, or possibly the neurology laboratory. I hope to get some lab experience and make sure that medicine is the field that I want to go into.

That pretty much summarizes how Honors has gone for me so far, I just hope everything continues to go as well as it did this past year.

Mr. Baney:

I think that if anyone of you had any questions about the Honors Program or about the Honors Societies, Parul mentioned that she is President of the Alpha Lambda Delta and Phi Eta Sigma, and I'm President of Mortar Board --- Dr. Jennings is an honorary member of Mortar Board, the National Seniority Society. Mrs. Bowser, are you a member of Mortar Board?

Mrs. Bowser:

Yes, and Alpha Lambda Delta.

Mr. Baney:

So if you have any questions about the Honors Program or about what is going on in the Societies, we would be happy to respond to those.

Mr. Berry:

May I ask a question? How many students are involved in the Honors Program?

Mr. Baney:

Currently the people designated as Honors Students at the University is somewhere between 2,000-3,000 students. A new University Honors Society was started last year. The Society began with this incoming freshman class, so now there will be an even more structured recognition and program for new Honor students. Right now it is between 2,000 and 3,000 students designated as Honors Students.

Mr. Teaford:

Mr. Chairman, as you know, it was at my suggestion that we have these representatives of the Honors Program here as a result of having met with some of them. I find it a particularly good occasion for them to be here and I wish all those cameras were aimed there, because what we are hearing here is what Ohio State is about and what this administration is doing to make it the great university it is. It is not the reason why the members of the press came, but I hope that the Ladies and Gentlemen of the press will include a report on this when they report about the doings at Ohio State University.
December 3 and 4, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

Mr. Teaford: (contd)

Mrs. Bowser:

I would like to concur with this and I'm not sure whether it's the old President's house, or the President's old house, but it's certainly a tribute to the administration and to this University — the renewal of belief in the really scholastically prepared students. That is a remarkable facility that Dr. Al Kuhn heads up. I urge all of you Board Members to just take some time and go over there, because it just sort of renews your whole faith in what we are doing here. It is a marvelous tribute.

Mr. Redman:

Thank you, Mrs. Bowser.

Mr. Scott:

I would like to make a comment about Pat Haney. I have followed his career for a long time. He is a St. Charles graduate. Pat was a truly outstanding student at St. Charles and I think that most observers would have predicted, at that time, that he was a youngster that we should watch. I know a little bit more about Pat than most of you, because my son, David, was a classmate of Pat's. I had anticipated and hoped that David would have had the wisdom to attend Ohio State, we didn't get David, but, Pat, we are very glad that we got you.

Mr. Haney:

Thank you, Mr. Scott. We did try our best to get David, as well.

Mr. Redman:

Is there any other comment? If not, thank you folks.

NAMING OF BUILDING

Resolution No. 88-61

Synopsis: A name is proposed for the building on the Columbus campus at 2490 Fyffe Road, now described as the Multi-Sport Indoor Practice and Training Center.
WHEREAS this Board has authority in naming of all buildings and structures at The Ohio State University, as set forth in paragraph (G) of rule 3335-1-08 of the Administrative Code; and

WHEREAS the building on the Columbus campus at 2490 Fyffe Road is currently described as the Multi-Sport Indoor Practice and Training Center; and

WHEREAS the multi-sport training facility symbolizes the University's continuing commitment to excellence; and

WHEREAS Wayne W. "Woody" Hayes was a part of Ohio State's tradition of academic and athletic greatness since 1951; and

WHEREAS his dedication to a broad and continuing education was an inspiration to students, faculty, staff, and the community; and

WHEREAS Woody Hayes's accomplishments as a teacher, an educator, and a great humanitarian were well known; and

WHEREAS the President recommended, with the concurrence of the President's staff, that the aforementioned building at 2490 Fyffe Road be named in honor of Woody Hayes:

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That hereafter the building at 2490 Fyffe Road shall bear the name "The Woody Hayes Athletic Center."

Upon motion of Mr. Berry, seconded by Mr. Teaford, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous voice vote.

RESOLVED, That the personnel actions as recorded in the Personnel Budget Records of the University since the November 6, 1987 meeting of the Board, including the following Promotion, Relief from Assignment, Professional Improvement Leave, Professional Improvement Leave—Change of Dates as detailed in the University Budget be approved, and the Medical Staff Appointments/Reappointments approved October 29, 1987, by the Hospitals Board be ratified

Promotion

Name: JAMES L. JONES
Title: Athletic Director
Department: Athletics
Effective: November 16, 1987
Salary: $85,080.00
Present Position: Senior Associate Director, Department of Athletics
December 3 and 4, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

PERSONNEL ACTIONS (contd)

Relief from Assignment

EARLE D. BRUCE relieved as Head Football Coach in accordance with paragraph (5) of the agreement between The Ohio State University and Earle D. Bruce signed June 5, 1986.

Professional Improvement Leave

STEPHEN S. PINSKY, Professor, Department of Physics, effective Winter Quarter and Spring Quarter 1988.

Professional Improvement Leave—Change of Dates

JAMES E. HARF, Professor, Department of Political Science, change leave from Winter Quarter, Spring Quarter and Autumn Quarter 1988, to Spring Quarter, Autumn Quarter 1988 and Winter Quarter 1989.

Mr. Redman made the following statement:

Before I ask for a vote on the President's recommendation, I would like to read the following statement.

I think it is important for everyone to put the events of the past several weeks into their proper perspective. First and foremost is the recognition of the University's commitment to excellence in pursuing its mission of teaching, research and service. This is an educational enterprise dedicated to the common good. Institutional decisions are reached by critical evaluation over time with special attention being given to a multitude of possible concerns. Such was indeed the case recently with respect to the University's Men's Varsity Football Program.

The Board appreciates President Jennings's leadership in dealing with these matters and with the opinions expressed in reaction thereto. It is indeed difficult for many to have an institutional perspective regarding recent events. But it is the institutional perspective that must prevail -- the University's overall mission. Individuals must have a high regard for the institutional process at work. Indeed this vibrant educational institution is bursting with meritorious activities that are newsworthy and that far surpass any individual personnel changes. Much activity is occurring around us that benefits staff, the State and society in general. One need not look far across our topography to see building activity -- the new Cancer Research Institute, our new Supercomputer, the Wexner Center for Visual Arts, our state-of-the-art Chemistry Building, and many other renovations which support our mission. One could also see building, learning and shaping of minds going on all about us. Academic excellence in our graduate and undergraduate programs is what attracts young talented minds to study at this great university.

As our reach expands and our academic achievement multiplies, it is hoped that the media will continue to demonstrate the same quest for enlightenment that it has provided in covering the events of the past several days.
December 3 and 4, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

PERSONNEL ACTIONS (contd)

In any event, the institution moves forward, daily business is conducted and students continue to seek knowledge. Our University sustains its ongoing focus on excellence, maintains and supports its diversity and stands ready to meet the challenge and commitments inherent within our major research institution. These organizational values and traditions take precedence over the actions of individuals.

We cannot forget our fundamental mission which is to provide our students with the basic skills and competencies which they need to have in order to be productive members of society. That must be accomplished while also enhancing our research possibilities and our service mission. Accomplishing these goals and ambitions requires a shared sense of purpose and loyalty to the ideals which make The Ohio State University one of the great public universities in this nation.

Finally, we are very pleased today to confirm the selection of Jim Jones as the University's new Athletic Director. We are pleased to do this, in part, because of Mr. Jones's longstanding commitment to and understanding of The Ohio State University. He has earned the trust of his co-workers, the students, the administration and the community. It is hoped that with his leadership we can continue the traditions that have made the University great -- excellence in teaching, research and service.

Upon motion of Mr. Teaford, seconded by Mr. Wolf, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous roll call vote.

RESOLUTIONS IN MEMORIAM
Resolution No. 88-63

Synopsis: Resolutions honoring the service of four of the University's faculty members who have recently died are being proposed.

RESOLVED, That the Board adopt the following Resolutions in Memoriam and that the President be requested to convey a copy to the families of the deceased.

N. Paul Hudson

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on April 13, 1987, of Dr. N. Paul Hudson, Professor Emeritus in the Department of Microbiology.
RESOLUTIONS IN MEMORIAM (contd)

N. Paul Hudson (contd)

N. Paul Hudson was born in Lincoln, Illinois, on January 9, 1895. He held the degrees A.B., James Millikan University, 1917; Ph.D., University of Chicago, 1923; and M.D., Harvard Medical School, 1925. He also held the honorary degree Sc.D., James Millikan University, 1951. Dr. Hudson's distinguished university career included service as an Instructor and later Professor of Bacteriology at the University of Chicago; and as Professor and Chairman of Bacteriology, Dean of the Graduate School, Research Professor of Bacteriology and Assistant Dean of the College of Medicine at The Ohio State University.

Dr. Hudson served from 1927 to 1929 as one of the leaders of the West African Yellow Fever Commission of the Rockefeller Foundation, leading to effective control of this disease. From 1940 to 1941, he was Rockefeller Foundation representative in London for the War Health Program, and from 1943 to 1945, he was on leave to serve as a consultant to the War Department. For his distinguished service as a research scientist, teacher, academic administrator and public servant, Dr. Hudson was recommended for the honorary degree Doctor of Science. Upon his retirement in 1961, he was named Professor Emeritus.

On behalf of the University community, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family its deepest sympathy. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed in the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as an expression of the Board's heartfelt sympathy.

Jack L. Landes

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on November 4, 1987, of Jack L. Landes, Assistant Director Emeritus in the Office of Campus Planning and Space Utilization.

Dr. Landes was born January 28, 1914, in Oak Grove, Missouri. He entered Central Missouri State College in 1929, and in 1933 and 1934 received three baccalaureate degrees, in education, music and physics. During the ensuing 15 years, he served in public schools as a teacher and administrator, and completed requirements for and was awarded masters degrees by the University of Missouri and the University of Illinois, in 1943 and 1950, respectively.

Dr. Landes joined the Office of Field Services at the University of Illinois in 1949 and, while serving in an administrative capacity there for seven years, received the EdD in 1953, his 6th degree in higher education.

Dr. Landes came to The Ohio State University in 1957, after experience with the Cincinnati public school system helping to plan facilities to meet burgeoning school populations there. He became the Assistant Director of the Office of University Plant Studies -- later renamed the Office of Campus Planning and Space Utilization -- and had a major role in providing for increasing space needs during a period of substantial University growth. During his 22-year tenure, he was directly responsible for project planning for nearly 150 construction projects on the several campuses of The Ohio State University, representing almost half of the 11 million gross square feet of space added to the campus during that time.

Dr. Landes was a member of a number of professional societies and held a faculty appointment in the College of Education with the rank of Associate Professor of Educational Administration. He retired and was named Assistant Director Emeritus.

In addition to his lifelong interests in education, music and planning, Dr. Landes was an avid and respected gardener who received much acclaim for the development of the property at his Columbus home. He was an enthusiastic participant in musical programs in his church as a tenor in the church choir, and was responsible for organizing the chorus at the Barber Roselea Senior Citizens Center in Columbus.

On behalf of the University, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family its deep sympathy and sense of understanding in their loss. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as an expression of the Board's heartfelt sympathy.

Francis Willard McCoy

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on October 15, 1987, of Francis Willard McCoy, Professor Emeritus in the Department of Internal Medicine and former Director of the Division of Rheumatology.

Dr. McCoy was born on January 24, 1914, in Barberton, Ohio, where he spent the early years of his life. He attended The Ohio State University and was awarded a premedical Bachelor of Arts degree in 1936 and a Master of Science degree in 1938. Dr. McCoy attended medical school at The Ohio State University and was awarded the Doctor of Medicine in 1942.

Following medical school, Dr. McCoy completed internship and residency training at The Ohio State University, and received subspecialty training at Watkins Memorial Hospital in Kansas, as well as the Hospital for Special Surgery in New York City. He completed a research fellowship at the latter institution in 1955.

Dr. McCoy served in the U. S. Air Corps from 1943 until 1946.

Dr. McCoy began teaching in 1937 in the Department of Anatomy at The Ohio State University and later held a faculty appointment in the Department of Medicine. In 1970, he was appointed Director of the Division of Rheumatology, and he served in this capacity until 1978. In the early 1970's, Dr. McCoy was promoted to full professor. In 1981, after an illustrious career as Director of Rheumatology, Dr. McCoy retired from the faculty and was awarded the title Professor Emeritus.

Dr. McCoy was active in many local and state institutions and participated in a number of national organizations. He served as consultant to the Veterans Administration, as well as the U. S. Air Force. Later in his career, he served as Acting Chief of Medicine at the Veterans Administration Clinic in Columbus, Ohio.

Throughout his life, Dr. McCoy maintained an active role in teaching medical students and other trainees. He is remembered for his constant readiness to help with clinical problems and to be of service to his colleagues at the University. He will be remembered for his gentle manner in dealing with patients and staff alike.

On behalf of the University, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family its deep sympathy and sense of understanding in their loss. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as an expression of the Board's heartfelt sympathy.

Waldron Devol Sheets

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on October 31, 1987, of Waldron D. "Deve" Sheets, Professor Emeritus in the Department of Chemical Engineering.

Professor Sheets was born September 9, 1903, in Willow, West Virginia. He was a graduate of the Department of Chemical Engineering at The Ohio State University where he earned the professional degree of Chemical Engineer in 1940. He was a Major in the U.S. Army Sanitation Corps during World War II and retired from military service in 1946.

Professor Sheets was appointed as a Research Engineer in the Engineering Experiment Station in 1947, and as an Assistant Professor of Chemical Engineering in 1950. Upon his retirement in 1971, he was named Professor Emeritus.

Professor Sheets worked in the Water Resources Center Building in the 1930's, while a student, and continued there as Research Engineer during most of his career at Ohio State. He was instrumental in establishing the Water Resources Center in 1964, and the W. D. Sheets Sanitary Engineering Laboratory in the Center was dedicated in his honor at his retirement. His research was in the treatment of municipal and industrial wastewaters.

In 1948, he began a program of short courses at the University to train operators of water and wastewater treatment plants. By 1964, the demand for this training was so great that the Operator Training Committee of Ohio, Inc., was established off campus under his leadership. Last year over 2,000 operators throughout Ohio took these training courses. Professor Sheets received the Wendell La Due Citation from the Ohio Section of the American Water Works Association in October 1968, for his role in developing the "Manual for Water and Waste Water Plant Operators," a publication which became a model for the nation.

Just prior to his death he was elected to the Water Management Association of Ohio Hall of Fame, honoring those who have "given years of distinguished service in behalf of bettering water management in the State of Ohio." Professor Sheets's first graduate student presented this award.

On behalf of the University, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family its deep sympathy. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as an expression of the Board's heartfelt sympathy.

Upon motion of Mr. Wolf, seconded by Mr. Barone, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous voice vote.

REPORT OF RESEARCH CONTRACTS, GRANTS, AND GIFTS

Resolution No. 88-64

Synopsis: The reports on contracts, grants, and gifts and the summary for October 1987 are presented for Board acceptance.

WHEREAS monies are solicited and received on behalf of the University from governmental, industrial, other agencies, alumni, and various individuals in support of research, instructional activities, and service; and

WHEREAS such gifts and grants are received through The Ohio State University Research Foundation, the Engineering Experiment Station of The Ohio State University, and The Ohio State University Development Fund:

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That the research agreement between The Ohio State University and The Ohio State University Research Foundation for the contracts and grants reported herein, and the acceptance of the reports from the Engineering Experiment Station and The Ohio State University Development Fund during the month of October 1987 be approved.

Upon motion of Mr. Berry, seconded by Mr. Immke, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous voice vote.

Guthrie Scholarship Award was established December 4, 1987, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from Mrs. Cecile Guthrie, George P. Guthrie, Jr., and a matching gift from Rockwell International Corporation Trust.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to present The Gerry D. Guthrie Scholarship Award to the undergraduate or graduate student majoring in United States history who writes the best paper on the Civil War. Students in their freshman year are eligible to receive the award. A student may not receive the award more than two consecutive years. Selection of the student will be made by the Student Awards Committee of the Department of History, in consultation with the University Committee on Student Financial Aid. If the Student Awards Committee deems that no student paper qualifies for the award in a particular year, the award does not have to be made, and the income will be awarded the following year.

It is the desire of the donors that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity. If the need for this fund should cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then another use shall be designated by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to the recommendations from the appropriate administrative official of the University who is then directly responsible for the College of Humanities, in order to carry out the desire of the donors.

Alumni Scholarship Fund

The College of Social Work

The Alumni Scholarship Fund - The College of Social Work was established September 6, 1985, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from The Ohio State University College of Social Work Alumni Association. The description was changed December 4, 1987.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income is to be used to provide one or more scholarships for approved candidates for a doctorate, a master's, or a bachelor's degree in social work. The scholarship will be awarded based on financial need with consideration of academic ability. The selection of the recipient(s) is to be made upon the recommendation of the College of Social Work's Financial Aid Committee in consultation with the Dean of the College of Social Work and an alumni representative appointed by the College of Social Work Alumni Association Executive Committee.

Should the need for these scholarships cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any purpose.

LEASE OF LAND TO THE OHIO BUILDING AUTHORITY Resolution No. 88-72

Synopsis: Lease of approximately 15 acres of University land south of Lane Avenue between North Star and Carmack Roads, Columbus, Ohio, to the Ohio Building Authority for the financing and construction of a State data center is proposed.

WHEREAS the State of Ohio Department of Administrative Services, Division of Computer and Information System Services (DAS), proposes to construct a new facility to house the State's administrative computing and communications operations and is interested in locating this facility on the campus of The Ohio State University; and

WHEREAS the University has approximately 15 acres of undeveloped land between North Star and Carmack Roads, south of Lane Avenue, in Columbus, Ohio, which land could be made available for this purpose; and

WHEREAS the Ohio Building Authority proposes to finance the construction of the facilities and improvements; and

WHEREAS location of this State data center on the University's campus could be mutually beneficial to the University and DAS and the appropriate University offices have determined that the lease of this land to the Ohio Building Authority for this purpose is in the best interest of the University:

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That the President and/or Vice President for Business and Administration be authorized, on behalf of the Board, to negotiate, and enter into, a lease of approximately 15 acres south of Lane Avenue between North Star and Carmack Roads to the Ohio Building Authority for the purpose of providing a site for a new State data center, at an appropriate market rental rate, with University approval of the facility's site and design plans and upon such other terms and conditions as are deemed to be in the best interest of the University and to develop and execute the necessary legal instruments for this lease.
Mr. Jackson:

I think there are two people who would like to address the Board regarding this lease. Mr. Richard King, who is the City Manager of Upper Arlington, has asked to say a word or two. Richard, if you would like to come forward to the table and microphone, we would appreciate it.

Mr. Richard King:

Chairman Redman, Ladies and Gentlemen of the Board, and President Jennings, since August 1987, I and many members of my staff have been involved with University officials, State officials, and City residents in the College View subdivision of Upper Arlington, to determine and then assess the impact of the State Data Center proposed for OSU land on the east side of North Star Road, just south of Lane Avenue. In the beginning of this effort, because good information for any of the parties was unavailable or incomplete, the perceived enormity of the project, fueled by significant rumors and what I will call intrigue, was viewed as a potentially serious encroachment on the quality of the residential environment to the west. Despite the attempts by OSU representatives to ease concerns through public discussions of draft development standards, Upper Arlington residents were justifiably frightened and prone to believe the worst. The issue was further complicated in these early stages as the two parties, The Ohio State University and the City of Upper Arlington — two parties that had really never worked together at the highest levels of their respective organizations on such a major problem — needed to reconcile broader topics of style, philosophy, and approach. These early rough waters were successfully negotiated and established a basis for where we are today, which is an area of information sharing, joint problem solving and increasing levels of acceptance. Today, I tell you that the City administration is comfortable with the terms of the proposed lease as they relate to site access, building set back, and building height. We view them as an acceptable package forming the basis for minimal impact on the residential neighborhood; however, that basis we're confident will be enhanced by completion of the site development parameters generally referenced in the lease documents that you have, a process to which the City has been invited to make a contribution. We are grateful for that opportunity and will respond with our best efforts. We are confident about our contributing to the content of the site development parameters and we will do so cognizant they have a strong draft effort now already responsive to elements of neighborhood concerns.

In summary, the City is pleased with the evolution of the relationship with the University, with the substance of standards produced by that relationship, and with the opportunity for further input. I appreciate this opportunity to speak to you this morning and will be glad to respond to any questions or inquiries that you have.
December 3 and 4, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

LEASE OF LAND
TO THE OHIO BUILDING AUTHORITY (contd)

Mr. Barone:

Are there any questions?

Mr. Redman:

I just want to say to, Mr. King, that I am an old resident of that area. I built a house at the corner of Berkshire and Beaumont in 1941. I lived there ten years and know lots of folks in that area. I received perhaps fifteen to twenty letters from residents presently there and I appreciated their concerns. I responded to all the letters that I received, assuring the residents that Ohio State was interested in being a good neighbor. I think that most of the folks were properly concerned about what was going to be built next to their houses and I assured them that we would give every consideration to that, short of denying the University the right to use its own land. Most folks agreed that that was appropriate and I think it is a good solution, that Mr. Jackson has outlined, to the entire problem. However, I must say that I agree with you about a continuing dialogue between the University and the City of Upper Arlington and in any other matters that may come between us. So, I just wanted to give you that assurance, Mr. King.

Mr. King:

Thank you.

Mr. Teaford:

I think, too, Mr. Chairman, the Board appreciates your coming and reporting to us when something happens favorably, as well. I think that is very comforting.

Mr. King:

I know that feeling, as well.

Mr. Barone:

We want to thank you, Mr. King, for your presentation and especially since you completed the presentation smiling.

Mr. Jackson:

Thank you, Richard.

Mr. Barone:

At this time, we also have Dr. Medard Lutmerding —

Dr. Medard Lutmerding:

Mr. Redman, Ladies and Gentlemen of the Board of Trustees, and President Jennings, The Ohio State University shares three of its borders with the City of Columbus and one with Upper Arlington. I represent the neighbors living along the Upper Arlington border. As neighbors, we were very concerned about the plan to lease part of the farmland on North Star Road to the State of Ohio for a State Computer Center.

Naturally, we hate to see the loss of open space along the North Star corridor, with its unobstructed panoramic view of the Olentangy River Valley and the City.

For several months, despite our efforts, The Ohio State University did not welcome our efforts to affect the development nor understand our concerns. Only recently has The Ohio State University administration been working closely with the City Manager of Upper Arlington, and through him, the Citizens Committee.

What is on your agenda today gives us modest hope that the development, when it comes, will not destroy the character and quality of our neighborhood which we think is an enormous asset to the University. We feel that the University has a unique opportunity to develop a showcase research park. Any new development should have a campus environment equal at least to the Oval. It should also reflect a design quality that recognizes the scale and residential character of the neighborhood. Please remember that the City of Upper Arlington is the western gateway to The Ohio State University. This quality residential neighborhood on the immediate border of the future research park will make it more attractive to future tenants and more valuable to Ohio State.

We are aware that the lease document contains three standards concerning development:

1. No access from North Star Road
2. A building height limitation of 50 feet
3. A setback of not less than 150 feet

We are also told that Ohio State University administrators will subsequently execute a document clarifying and embellishing these standards. These clarifications and embellishments will be of utmost importance to our acceptance of the development. If these additional promises are fulfilled, we feel that we can accept the development with regret, but with some comfort.

There are still certain reservations, including:

1. Noise levels
2. Lighting intensity
3. Landscaping
4. Development quality
December 3 and 4, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

LEASE OF LAND

Dr. Lutmerding: (contd)

Additionally, we still intend to explore the possibility of increasing the current setback if possible, by working directly with the State Architect's Office. We view the 150 foot dimension as minimally acceptable.

We feel that we have set an example of responsible restraint. We fully realize that this property does not belong to those of us living along its edge.

We do hope that the recent display of cooperation with the City of Upper Arlington will continue. Much can be accomplished for both sides with meaningful dialogue and an open exchange of ideas.

The community, as a whole, is looking at this project as a precedent to how future development of the corridor will progress. If this project is done properly, the University can count on the support and cooperation of the citizens of Upper Arlington. Thank you.

Mr. Barone:

Thank you, Dr. Lutmerding. Does any one want to ask Dr. Lutmerding any questions?

Mr. Teaford:

I would just like to add that I certainly agree that the neighborhood committee has indeed acted very responsibly on this and I think that has had much to do with getting a successful resolution. We do appreciate it.

Mr. Barone:

Mr. Jackson, will you confirm Dr. Lutmerding's statement in his report?

Mr. Jackson:

Yes. I appreciate your comments and I think in the early days of communication there wasn't anything to communicate. I know some people are not quite sure they believe that, but there wasn't very much to communicate. I think that the communication has improved and we look forward to continuing to work with you. I guess I would like to point out that in light of your one comment about the land utilization, as we see this project at this point, and we don't know any more about it than you do really, but it looks like the land utilization is somewhere in the neighborhood of about 35%. Which for a fifteen acre sight is relatively small, but that doesn't mean anything if it isn't done right. And we would agree with you on that. So, we are looking forward to the development of this project and we will continue to work through Richard, to you, and appreciate your comments and your coming here today. Thank you. Mr. Chairman, we would ask for your approval of this resolution.

Mr. Redman:

I would like to make one comment, Mr. Jackson. In the resolution itself, I don't see any reference to the $1,800,000, that you mentioned we are to receive.

Mr. Jackson:

Mr. Chairman, I think, back under Tab 6 you will find, under the additional information, it talks about the $1,800,000.

Mr. Redman:

So, am I to understand that that now has been determined?

Mr. Jackson:

Yes, that is correct.

Mr. Redman:

Then you are satisfied that we are going to receive that. Thank you.

Upon motion of Mr. Immke, seconded by Mr. Berry, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous roll call vote.

--0--

Mr. Barone:

Mr. Chairman, at this time I would like to call on Mr. Ihrig to speak on the Cost Containment Program.

Mr. Ihrig:

Thank you, Mr. Barone. The 1987-88 budget approved in July included $12 million in targeted annual savings to be generated by the University's inaugural cost containment program. Today we are able to report to you that the efforts of the University Faculty and Staff resulted in cost reductions that will generate annual savings totalling $12,541,166, which is 5% over goal, as shown in the chart under Tab 7. For these efforts, eligible faculty and staff at Ohio State are being recommended to receive one-time bonuses which range from $439 to $575 as shown on the second chart under Tab 7. Based upon the recommendation of the Faculty Compensation and Benefits Committee, the individual faculty bonuses will be returned to their departments for use as discretionary enrichment funds. Deans and members of the President's Staff are excluded from receiving bonuses.
December 3 and 4, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

Mr. Ihrig: (contd)

The process, created last winter, began with the setting of targets and providing the call for cost containment proposals from all colleges and offices, including earnings units. The only areas excluded were restricted operations in which external agencies defined the use of the funds, such as sponsored research projects as well as gift and endowment income accounts. Also, employees under collective bargaining agreements were not included since the program was not a part of their agreement.

We began the program with a great deal of communication throughout the University that included: a brochure; On Campus articles; articles in the Lantern; group meetings throughout the University with slide presentations; meetings with the various Senate Committees including the Fiscal Committee, Senate Steering Committee, the Faculty Compensation and Benefits Committee; as well as the Staff Advisory Committee.

Many colleges and offices have established their own internal cost containment committees; used their own publication activities to promote the program and to solicit suggestions; and held many meetings throughout the University. In August we received 540 individual proposals from the colleges and offices which totalled over $13 million. At that time four-person review teams were created from volunteer faculty, staff and students of the University and 136 individuals participated in these review teams. The teams were to review each of the cost containment proposals in areas other than their own and to look at the criteria for judging the cost containment proposals: true annual cost savings to the University, in that the cost savings would continue on a regular basis; that they were not passing costs on to other parts of the University, in other words the costs were a net reduction to the entire University; and quality must be maintained or enhanced.

In the final review of results of these activities and these proposals that were done throughout October and November -- while about a half a million dollars worth of proposals did not pass the scrutiny, the net amount of the $12.5 million did pass and have been approved. And they are in the process now of making the internal budget adjustments between the various units and developing the cash balances.

It is important to note that the purpose of Cost Containment is not only to create internally generated resources by reducing annual operating costs while enhancing quality, it is also directed at opening the decision-making processes throughout the University to involve all faculty and staff. Prior reallocation programs are top-down driven, with the few hundred managers making the decisions where to cut. The intent of Cost Containment is to involve the thousands of faculty and staff to question not only whether we are doing things right, but more importantly, are we doing the right things. Thousands of intelligent people motivated to become more involved in finding ways to improve instruction, research and support services, while cutting costs, are much more effective than a few hundred directing the efforts.
December 3 and 4, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

This is not to say that our faculty and staff haven't been working to maintain a cost-effective University -- Ohio State's faculty and staff have always been extremely cost conscious. This program is to challenge each of us to extend our efforts to do even more by going beyond making operations efficient, to finding better, more cost effective ways to enhance teaching, research and support services.

The first year results have been more than successful in generating the targeted annual savings; however, we have been less than successful in effectively communicating with our associates throughout the University the intent and purpose of this new Program. Therefore, we are now talking with department chairs and members of various committees to receive their ideas for improving the 1988 cost containment programs. The feedback is spirited and healthy -- and is providing us with good insights regarding areas for improvement. When the bonus checks, along with letters, are distributed explaining the program to eligible faculty and staff in mid-December we hope to gain even more interest on the part of all the faculty and staff in how to improve this program as we look forward to establishing this for the next year. I would be glad to respond to any questions about the program and we are recommending it for your approval.

Mr. Teaford:

Mr. Chairman, too, I think that everyone should realize that the administration does understand that more communication on this subject is still necessary. And I think the other thing that everybody needs to know is that contrary to what Secretary Bennett says, this University is remarkably good at not wasting money. This is just one more effort to improve on an already good situation.

Mr. Berry:

Other than that how much -- assuming the goals are met and everything, what dollars are we talking about in bonuses?

Mr. Ihrig:

The bonus amount will be just over $5.3 million. The final exact number is still being worked on, but it is between $5.3 and $5.4 million.

Mr. Berry:

So what you are saying is, we achieved $12.5 million and we pay back $5.3 million.

Mr. Ihrig:

That is correct.
December 3 and 4, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

Mr. Berry:

So we saved a net of $7 million.

Mr. Ihrig:

For this year. But the $12.5 million is recurring continuing savings, where the bonus is a one-time savings this year.

Mr. Berry:

All right.

Mr. Teaford:

Also, it is important to notice that the professional staff is not taking the bonuses. The faculty are having those bonuses go to their departments.

President Jennings:

Yes. The faculty — that was on the recommendation of the Faculty Compensation and Benefits Committee. They felt it would be more appropriate to return the equivalent bonus money to the department for the betterment of the individual department, rather than to the individual faculty member.

Mrs. Bowser:

Mr. Ihrig, did I hear you say that next year's program is in the process of being discussed.

Mr. Ihrig:

That is correct. Through all of these open discussions we have had letters from individuals which we are responding to, and we have a lot of good ideas which we are evaluating at this time to make a full set of recommendations for next year.

Mrs. Bowser:

So you are taking all of the communication efforts that you can in order to —

Mr. Ihrig:

Yes. This is a learning process for all of us. It has not been done in higher education and it has very seldom been done even in many service industries. So we are plowing new ground and our associates from around the country are watching us very carefully, especially the private schools, they are very interested in what we are doing.

Mr. Barone:

Do you have additional pamphlets on this program? Can anyone
December 3 and 4, 1987 meeting, Board of Trustees

Mr. Barone: (contd)

have them? I think they are self-explanatory and very helpful. If anyone desires one, they can obtain one from you?

Mr. Ihrig:

Yes, that's correct.

Mr. Barone:

Any further discussion? Thank you, Mr. Ihrig.

COST CONTAINMENT PROGRAM

Resolution No. 88-73

Synopsis: Ratification of the University's 1987 "Cost Containment" program and bonus is proposed.

WHEREAS the President has proposed and implemented a Cost Containment program for 1987 which sought to reduce annual operating costs by $12 million; and

WHEREAS this new program was designed to enhance the University's continuing efforts to more efficiently utilize institutional resources in the face of stabilized revenue sources; and

WHEREAS a one time faculty and staff incentive was built into the first year cost savings in the form of a bonus for employees if departmental/unit and University goals are met for those eligible faculty and staff on the University's payroll on or before January 1, 1987 and through October 25, 1987 for those individuals paid bi-weekly, or through October 31, 1987 for those individuals paid monthly; and

WHEREAS the 1987 Cost Containment review has been completed which establishes this year's savings as $12,541,166, a figure in excess of the target; and

WHEREAS the University is now prepared to pay faculty and staff bonuses in amounts calculated according to the formula established in the 1987 Cost Containment program:

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That the University, having met its institutional goal of 1987 cost savings, pay to all eligible employees, consistent with the plan set forth in the 1987 Cost Containment program, a one time bonus in recognition of their efforts in achieving effective annual operating savings for the University; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That, as recommended by the Faculty Compensation and Benefits Committee, faculty bonus shares be returned to the individual's department, school or division as discretionary enrichment funds.

President Jennings:

Mr. Chairman, I would like to call on Mr. Thompson to make a final recommendation of the Committee.

Mr. Thompson:

Yes, it was recommended this morning that there be ratification of the settlement agreement and execution of this settlement between Earle D. Bruce and The Ohio State University and President Edward H. Jennings. That is recommended for your approval.

SETTLEMENT OF LAWSUIT Resolution No. 88-74

WHEREAS upon November 20, 1987, a suit was filed in Franklin County Common Pleas Court by Earle D. Bruce against The Ohio State University and Edward H. Jennings, President, known as case number 87CV-11-7430; and

WHEREAS a settlement agreement was entered into and executed on November 27, 1987, between Earle D. Bruce and The Ohio State University and Edward H. Jennings, President; and

WHEREAS the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University are in agreement that settlement of this lawsuit is in the best interest of the University:

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University hereby affirm and ratify the settlement agreement between Earle D. Bruce and The Ohio State University and Edward H. Jennings, President, and the execution of that agreement.

Upon motion of Mr. Teaford, seconded by Mr. Berry, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous roll call vote.

PERSONNEL ACTION

Resolution No. 88-76

Synopsis: Ratification of an employment contract is proposed for John Cooper as Head Football Coach for the Men's Varsity Football Team.

WHEREAS the University has undertaken efforts to identify candidates for the vacant position of Men's Varsity Football Head Coach; and

WHEREAS these efforts have resulted in the interviewing of several highly qualified individuals and the selection of one; and

WHEREAS John Cooper has been chosen by the University administration as the best qualified candidate for this position; and

WHEREAS John Cooper and the University have entered into an agreement which establishes the employment relationship between the parties; and

WHEREAS the Board of Trustees has reviewed the selection of John Cooper and the agreement:

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That John Cooper be appointed as Head Coach of the Men's Varsity Football Team, effective January 4, 1988, in accordance with the terms of the December 31, 1987 agreement between John Cooper and The Ohio State University, and that this action be recorded in the Personnel Budget Records of the University.

Mr. Redman made the following statement:

As I mentioned in my statement at the end of last year, the Board of Trustees and the University are very pleased with the selection of John Cooper as Head Coach for the Men's Varsity Football Team. With today's action by this Board, John Cooper has now been officially appointed as our new Head Coach. Parenthetically, I would like to note here that all Members of the Board concur in this action, including those not present for today's meeting.

Coach Cooper is a welcome addition to the football team, the Department of Athletics, the institution and, most importantly, the University community. We are indeed pleased to have the Cooper family -- John, Helen, John Jr., and Cindy join us in Columbus. Coach Cooper has distinguished himself as an individual of great leadership, human insight and integrity. We

February 4 and 5, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

The Chairman, Mr. Redman, called the meeting of the Board of Trustees to order on February 4, 1988, at 6:43 p.m. He requested the Secretary to call the roll. The meeting recessed into Executive Session for the purpose of considering legal issues and personnel-related matters.

The Vice Chairman, Mr. Immke, reconvened the meeting on February 5, 1988, at 10:35 a.m.

Mr. Immke:

I call upon Dr. Lena Bailey to give her report.

Dr. Lena Bailey

I'm Lena Bailey, Dean of the College of Home Economics, and we are delighted to be invited to share with you information about our hospitality program. This program is one of our newest undergraduate programs -- it has been in place about 3 1/2 years as it is currently implemented. It is one of about 19 or 20 undergraduate options in our College. It is quickly coming to the forefront as one of the most popular undergraduate programs in the College.

I have with me today the Chair of the Department where this program is housed, Dr. Wayne Johnson, on my right, and on my left is Mr. Frank Pauze, who is Director of the Hospitality Management Program. Along with our comments today, we have a few slides we want to share with you and those slides will expand a bit upon the information that was provided to you earlier that dealt with the curriculum and its history, as well as some of our hopes regarding the program for the future. I would like for Wayne to comment a moment or two before Frank shares with you the information we've planned.

Dr. Wayne Johnson:

Thank you, Dr. Bailey. I would just like to make a few comments about the Department of Human Nutrition and Food Management. We have had a very long history and a long tradition of excellence in academic programming in the Department. Particularly in those various fields of dietetics and human nutrition, both at the undergraduate and graduate level. The restaurant management program, as you will hear later, was initiated back in 1946, but in the early '80's a move was made to broaden the restaurant management program and to add a degree in hotel administration.

When I came here in 1983, one of the real challenges that I saw

Dr. Johnson: (contd)

was the opportunity to be able to step in and help to direct the beginnings of the new program. Of course, we wanted to get one of the very best people we could find who had the experience, the educational background, the drive and energy to be able to come in and help us put this program together. We anticipate and we are working toward making it one of the very top in the country. We were fortunate in 1984, to be able to hire Frank Pauze. In my way of thinking, he has done a job for us that very few other people could have done. So, Frank will be telling you the specifics of the program, where we were, where we are now, and where we hope to be in the future. Frank --

Mr. Pauze:

Well, again, that you very much for letting us come here today. We're happy to be in a University that is committed to excellence, that is dedicated to the pursuit of quality. There is no doubt about that -- otherwise I wouldn't be here.

(Start of Slide Presentation)

In terms of where we are housed, we are happy to be housed in the College of Home Economics, another quality oriented part of this University. In terms of ratings, we are proud to say that through Dean Bailey's administration, the College has gone from eighth place in the country, to approximately fifth in 1983. In terms of the hospitality education programs, whether they are called hotel/restaurant programs or hotel/restaurant institution programs, etc., the most recent poll shows Cornell and Michigan State the leaders. They have been the leaders and they have been in the business for about fifty years. We have a way to go to catch up. OSU, quite frankly, was not even on the list back in 1984-85. Another poll will be coming out this year and I hope we make that. You can see that the other land-grant institutions are the ones that are leading the pack.

In terms of the tri-state area, our competition in Ohio rests with Bowling Green and their active and creative program up there; Purdue, that you have probably heard about; and Michigan State. Those are the three programs that are in the tri-state area that really rival us in terms of competition.

As Wayne mentioned, the program was founded in 1945 by a gentleman by the name of Herb Gill, who was a student at the time, along with three of his roommates. They decided that they wanted to get into the restaurant industry, went to the Provost at the time and said let's start a program. In 1982, Dean Bailey headed a task force that looked at the restaurant degree program and redesigned the curriculum and it is the basis of the curriculum that we have today. In 1984-85, this curriculum was implemented with approximately 50 students. We are proud to say that over the three years we have grown quite significantly, we have more than 270 students in the program right now.

The degree is a tagged degree. The piece of paper actually says a Bachelor of Science in Hospitality Management. Some of the students are proud of that because it does not say Home Economics, it doesn't make a difference to us. The majors that they are enrolled in are hotel administration or restaurant management, one of those two options.

We are proud that we have this kind of broad curriculum strength — by the way, we do know how to spell business, that is not a slander against the College of Business by any means. We have a broad liberal arts base, in the BER area and the undergraduate curriculum, and we support Provost Brand's efforts to broaden that and strengthen that liberal arts base. About 25-30% of our curriculum is in the College of Business, laying the foundation for some of our course work back in Home Economics later on. We have a definite human resource emphasis in the program and one of the corner stones, which we will tell you about in a minute, is the internship program. The bottom line to all of this, though, is that we are really human resource oriented. If you know anything about the hotel and restaurant field, it is a people business. You must meet the numbers, but you also have to be very willing and able to deal with people. And we also, throughout the curriculum, structure analysis and critical thinking skills throughout every single course so that our students are pressed to form analyses and form opinions. We really push them on thinking. So this is not a vocational program by any stretch of the imagination, it is a management program.

Most programs in the country are either housed in what we call a focused area, in a culinary side, focusing on food service or whatever. Other programs, particularly the leaders, are broad based, management oriented, and that is where we tend to envision ourselves — on the management side.

The enrollment patterns over the last couple of years are a double-edged sword. We are getting increased enrollment with very little advertising, in fact no advertising, word of mouth is spreading. Last quarter we graduated eight students and brought in fifty-three. We have that kind of pattern continuing. Regression analysis on that line, the solid line, would show us capping out at our target of 450 to 500 students in two years. Naturally, with an immature program like this that is growing rapidly, the lag period between faculty resources and the enrollment stats is significant. So what we intend to do is somehow over the next couple of years slow down that enrollment a little bit, so that our lag time between faculty resources and student enrollment can catch up. We would envision that our target enrollment for undergraduates would be 450-500. At that point we would want the full-time equivalency of 12 faculty members and three staff support people.

We are proud to say that over the last couple of years while the enrollment has been doubling and quadrupling, our grade-point average overall has gone up from a 2.2 to a 2.6. So while we are bringing in the students, we are bringing in good quality top-notch students. Four years ago we had one student on the dean's list of 73. Last autumn quarter the dean's list had 69 names on it, 16 of which were hospitality management majors.

The real cornerstone of this program lies in what we call progressive management development. Other schools call it internships, work experience, co-ops, practicums, whatever. We do not want to give credits just for going out in the industry and working. Eighty-five percent of our students work 20-30 hours per week in the field while going to school full-time. We don't want to give credits for that. We have developed a three-level internship sequence, a management development sequence, that goes from 5 credits, to 10 credits, to 15 credits. It goes from an hourly position, to a supervisory position in the junior year, to an assistant manager, and then to an entry level career position in their senior years.

The entire internship sequence is based on competency, not hours. When I went to school at the University of New Hampshire in hotel administration, we were asked to put in 1200 hours -- we could have been a waiter for 1200 hours, come back with a letter from your employer, check it off, and get a transcript. We have a competency-based system here where there are certain check lists, certain analyses that have to be done by the students. They meet with a faculty member one-on-one for a half-hour each week for a debriefing as they go through this rotation, and we have check lists and appraisals back from the industry as they go through. We push the critical analysis, the thinking skills throughout the program.

The internship sites when we started in 1984-85, we worked with 4 charter sites in Columbus. And I must say that we have also had requests from different properties in Columbus which we have turned down, based on management teams at the properties. We are not after bricks and mortar. The Hyatt's got a neat lobby, but I can promise you that if the Hyatt's management team wasn't up to par, we would not be working with the Hyatt. This year in 1987-88, we have approximately 250 majors. When this slide was made up, we were working with 12 sites; we now have 14 and we are putting out 47 students each quarter. As we get to 450 majors, we are going to require 90 students per quarter for approximately 24 sites. The industry saturation point at this time, although we have enough properties, we can target about 16 or 17 properties that we would want to work with. As a result, we have a deficit of about 28 students per quarter. If we had a facility that we could house ourselves in, we would be able to handle those 28-30 students in-house. So we are approaching a crunch demand.

The job scene still looks good for grads. Almost every program in the country can tell you that they have 100% placement. That is very easy, because all the programs in the country combined only turn out about 10% of the industry need every single year. The recent poll by Central Michigan said students weren't interested in food service. And before the Board gets upset, if you notice the bottom one is Oklahoma State University, not OSU. In our program, about 70% of the students are in hotel administration, about 30% are in restaurant. In the lodging industry you have rooms only and you have full-service food and beverage properties. Approximately 80% of our grads go into those full-service food and beverage hotels. And 90% of our restaurant grads go into the multi-unit, full-service restaurants. So the headline about students not being interested in the food service is clearly not indicative of our program.
February 4 and 5, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

In terms of the industry, I don't know if very many people know this, but the hospitality industry is 10% of the gross national product. Forty-five billion meals per year, almost 3 million room nights, seventy billion pounds of food, fifty-three million pieces of equipment; every single year. The industry employs approximately 6% of the entire population of the United States. So it is a wealth of industry.

We are lucky because Ohio is a hot bed for the hospitality industry. Columbus, as you know, has these corporate headquarters. We are developing a partnership with the industry and as a result we have a middle-management advisory board and a CEO advisory board. Once every six months President Jennings, Dean Bailey, Dr. Johnson, and myself, meet with these five people: Dan Evans from Bob Evans, Pat Ross from Rax, Bill Ingram from White Castle, Bill Denk - CEO of Red Roof, and Jim Pickett. So we are developing that partnership around the industry in terms of our advisory board. Columbus is also the regional headquarters for these kinds of companies and we have a high profile there. When we go to Ohio, there are 57 corporate headquarters from this industry in Ohio -- Dayton has NCR Corporation, the world leader in point of sale computer equipment in the hospitality industry. If we go to Troy, we have Hobart Corporation, again world leader in food service equipment. We go to Stouffers up in Cleveland, L. J. Minor, the list is endless. Proctor and Gamble is the major supplier of amenities packages for the hotels in this field.

In terms of research within this industry these are some of the things we have proposed and ongoing: right now we are developing a robotics food service automation program for some of the fast food companies; Dr. Marion Kramer is working on flexible pouch food storage so that we have a 100% vacuum proof container to store meats at room temperature for a six-month shelf life -- that will help out in terms of food service supply; we have a CEO leadership study going on with McDonalds; and Rax we have a program of looking at consumer dietary studies in the areas of fast foods. What are people eating after they have lunch at McDonalds? Can they counterbalance the Big Mac?

I would like to say that you will probably recognize the slogan for the campaign of "A Distinguished Past -- a Dynamic Future." Our part of the campaign calls for a chair for $1.5 million. I am glad to say that this morning there is a company that has on its agenda at their board meeting this morning, as top priority, the funding of that chair. So we are very optimistic about the funding of that chair. We have a proposal out for $50,000 for computer hardware; we already have a guarantee of software packages for about $40,000, once we get the hardware. We have added $6,000 a year to our scholarship for hospitality majors, of which 2 of those scholarships are targeted for minorities. Four thousand dollars a year comes in and is added to general support. This particular year we also had approved at the University-level a position for an intern coordinator. It was not funded until 1988-89, so Dr. Johnson went out and got $7,000 from his internal funding; I hit the bricks and got about $10,000 from some local companies to carry us through.
February 4 and 5, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

So, in general, with the wealth of industry, geography, the work ethic of the students, I guess our slogan is "Carpe diem" -- seize the day, seize the opportunity, move forward with quality and excellence. Thank you.

Dr. Bailey:

That concludes our presentation, however we are willing to entertain any questions from you and give it our best.

Mr. Immke:

Any questions?

Mrs. Bowser:

When I came on the Board, Home Economics was a School. Now it is a full College with some very creative programs. I know Dean Bailey had a lot to do with that. I told the participants earlier, I think this is the kind of thing about Ohio State that makes me very proud. We have come a long way in this area, it is an area that there is a demand for, and it is well organized. I appreciated having the materials before the Board Meeting, which doesn't always happen as far as the presenters are concerned. I think it is a fabulous program.

Mr. Immke:

I do, too.

Mr. Teaford:

Mr. Chairman, as you know this is a College which has become near and dear to my heart, since my wife is a graduate student in the College. But I think it is interesting to note, too, that this has historically had a reputation of being a woman's college. We have some evidence here and on our agenda is the appointment of Dr. Davis as the Chair in the department that my wife is in, in Family Relations and Human Development. I think that is also significant in that we will finally realize that this is a department that has a broad-base of interest and in the areas they cover.

---0---
February 4 and 5, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

Mr. Immke:

Dr. Spillman --

Dr. Russell Spillman:

President and Members of the Board, I am pleased this morning to present you with another one of our very important student organizations. We have with us this morning representatives of the Residence Halls Advisory Council -- Todd Dailey who is the President and Gary Breakfield who is the Vice President. Todd is from Chillicothe, and he is a senior major in business information systems; Gary is from Sabina, a senior also, majoring in mathematics. They would like to tell you a bit about what is going on in residence halls. Todd, I will turn it over to you.

Mr. Todd Dailey:

Mr. Teaford, President Jennings, and Members of the Board, I would like to thank you today for giving us an opportunity to speak with you. I guess, first of all, Residence Halls Advisory Council is, for the amount of work that we do, a fairly little-known organization on campus. So, first of all, we would like to go through and let the members know just exactly what we are. Residence Halls Advisory Council was formed in 1981 as a subcommittee of the Council on Student Affairs. At that time, our purpose was to review and make recommendations to the Office of Residence and Dining Halls and to advise them on policies from a student perspective. Since then, we have gone on to become an independent student organization of our own and have kept our goal of representing the students' voice on campus. The Office of Residence and Dining Halls has been very supportive of that and they also recognize that our recommendations to them on residence halls policy are very important to them and they are very supportive of us in that respect.

Our voting members consist of the hall presidents of each independent residence hall student government. Also we have liaison officers which represent us to each office of residence and dining halls separate offices: the business office; the administration office; the residence life office; the food service office; and we also have a representative of their security committee. As such, we try best as we can to represent all the interests of residence hall students. This year our goals for 1987-88 school year, we set five goals at the beginning of the year: 1) to promote human awareness on campus; 2) to provide leadership training opportunities for hall council executives on campus; 3) to involve residence halls advisory council with other campus organizations; 4) to strengthen the relationship between residence halls advisory council and the area in hall governments on campus; and 5) to make a commitment to provide alternative programming as a result of the change in the legal drinking age on campus and the whole State. Certainly, these are fairly broad goals, but we think to an extent we can achieve all of these goals or at least make some good progress with these goals. And I believe that our group has done well this year, and I am very proud of all of our members with the amount of work that we have seen put in by them.
February 4 and 5, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

So with that I would like to turn over the floor to Mr. Breakfield and he is going to go over some of the specific accomplishments we have achieved this year.

Mr. Gary Breakfield:

Thus far this year we have made some progress toward these goals that Todd mentioned. I would like to go over just a few of the specific things on our agenda that we have accomplished this year.

First of all in the fall, during Alcohol Awareness Week, we sent a contract to each resident in our halls asking them for a commitment, to sign a contract which stated that they would not drink for the extent of Alcohol Awareness Week. I believe we made it about a five-day period. We hoped that students that did have a drinking problem that it might actually click with them when they attempted to stop for 4 or 5 days and found that they had some problems with it. Hopefully, they may actually go out and seek some help. That was our goal for the program.

We have also funded some different awareness type programs. One in particularly, the Karen Thompson Program, was held the beginning of last November and concerned civil rights. Presently we are involved, as anybody that reads the Lantern would know, with the issue of condom sales in the residence halls and AIDS awareness education to the residence halls students. We are in the process of conducting a survey with the polymetrics lab to determine how the residents feel about the situation. We are also in an ongoing process of educating the students through different programming as to the different aspects of sexually transmitted diseases. We are in the process of trying to obtain a company to come on The Ohio State University Campus and rent lofts to students for the residence halls. We are trying to avoid the problem that evolve when students making their own. Sometimes they don't exactly follow the loft construction guidelines, and they can be unsafe and fire hazards. We have companies that are willing to come in with fire safe lofts and we are in the process right now of seeing if we can find a suitable arrangement with one of those companies.

We are working with the security policy with the residence and dining halls as to the security of the doors at night, the access in and out, and the traffic of the residence halls during different hours of the day. We are trying to make it as convenient as possible for the residents, as well as making the residence halls as secure as possible.

We are representing Ohio State -- over Halloween weekend we went to Syracuse and represented Ohio State residence halls at the North Atlantic Association of College University Residence Halls Convention. And I believe in April we will be going to the
February 4 and 5, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

Mr. Breakfield: (contd)

University of Wisconsin-La Crosse for the national convention and representing Ohio State there.

We have not fulfilled all of the goals that we have set for ourselves thus far this year. Still on our agenda, we are going to attempt as much as possible to involve minority support groups in the Residence Halls Advisory Council. Groups such as the Black Association of North Campus Students, the Olentangy Association of Black Students -- I'm not sure of the name of the south area group for a black support, the Asian Support Group -- we are trying to involve them as much as we can and get them involved in RHAC so we can help them and they can help us in trying to work out what some call a racism problem here at Ohio State.

We also intend to restructure our constitution to better facilitate our goals. Our constitution was written in 1981 and with the evolution of our group it has been somewhat outdated. We are going to try and restructure it so that the constitution facilitates our needs and will allow us to direct our group toward the eventual goals that we have for the group. We are going to attempt to incorporate graduate residence halls and graduate living environments into the Residence Halls Advisory Council, such as Jones Tower and Morrison Tower, and now we have a new situation in Park Hall, where we have graduates and undergraduates living in the same building. We want to set down long-range goals for our group, not just until the end of Spring Quarter, but possibly goals that can be attained over the next 3-4 years. What could be done here on campus such as the -- there are endless possibilities of what could be done for the residence halls students through our organization.

That, right now, is where our group stands as far as the actual implementation of programming and procedures.

Mr. Immke:

Thank you. Any questions of either Todd or Gary?

President Jennings:

I think it might be enlightening for all of us if you would explain what a loft is.

Mr. Breakfield:

I'm the Chairperson of the Loft Committee. What it is, essentially, in some of the rooms -- right now the most feasible place to put them is in the south campus in the Olentangy doubles. The beds are on the floor, and what a loft would do is add a structure to place the bed on so it goes approximately 4 1/2 to 5 feet in the air and you can put a desk or a couch underneath there. As many can tell you, the residence hall rooms can be cramped at times. It is a way to allow more and better utilization of the space and make the residence hall rooms seem much larger and much more spacious.
February 4 and 5, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

Mrs. Bowser:

You can actually build those in the rooms? I hate to walk in St. John's under the scoreboard, I would be --

President Jennings:

That is what their committee is all about, to perhaps put some regulations into the construction of these because they can get a little --

Mr. Breakfield:

The University has very strict guidelines as to exactly what materials need to be used in building lofts. That shuts off to most students the possibility of actually putting one in. So what we have done, is we have contacted some outside companies which would build them to specifications and rent them to students.

Mrs. Bowser:

I am surprised that some enterprising student hasn't gone into the loft construction business.

President Jennings:

Sure. Well that is probably what is going to happen is somebody when they go for bids to rent these. But it is basically a high bunk bed --

Mr. Immke:

Thank you both. Thank you, Dr. Spillman.

Mr. Immke:

I would like to call on John Barone now for a Research Foundation Committee report.

Mr. Barone:

Mr. Chairman, on the Research Foundation I am happy to report that the Research Foundation grants and contracts for the months of November and December 1987 are shown in the Board agenda book. There are 160 awards listed which provide a gross income of $13.7 million.

For the first six months of the fiscal year (July 1 to December 31) we received 602 awards with a gross income of $54.1 million. This compares to the first six months of the last fiscal year, in which we had 512 awards with a gross income of $45.6 million. This represents an 18.45% increase in funding for the six month period.
Mr. Barone: (contd)

Approximately 70% of the funds received in December came from the federal government. These awards were spread among all of the usual federal agencies except for the Departments of Energy and Education. In the case of the Department of Education, we failed to receive the renewal award of more than $5 million for the National Center for Research in Vocational Education. In spite of this loss, overall federal funding remains up by 5.05% for the first six months of this fiscal year. Increases were received in all other funding sectors for the month of December, however the rate of growth was less than that experienced in previous months.

Some highlights of awards for November and December are:

* $4.5 million award from the Department of Labor, Bureau of Labor Statistics, to Professor Randall J. Olsen of the Center for Human Resource Research to support a continuation of the National Longitudinal Surveys of Labor Market Experience. That is a little different from our President, when he said how much money was given for research in cranberry juice.

* $527,000 grant from the government of Indonesia to Professor James J. Buffer of the Department of Education Administration to provide professional development teacher education programs for the faculty of the Institutes for Teacher Training and Education in Indonesia.

* $500,000 award from the National Science Foundation to Professor P. E. Kolattukudy of the Biotechnology Programs to provide equipment for an integrated plant propagation facility.

* $365,653 award from the National Institutes of Health to Dean Manuel Tzagournis of Medicine Administration and Professor William B. Malarkey of the Department of Internal Medicine to support continuation of the General Clinical Research Center. (This is a partial funding; approximately $1.0 million more is expected this fiscal year.)

* $252,424 contract from the National Institutes of Health to Professors Lawrence E. Mathes, Richard G. Olsen, and Melinda J. Tarr of the Department of Veterinary Pathobiology for continuation of work to develop animal models infected with retroviruses for testing of antiviral agents.

These, of course, are only a few of the awards received by University faculty members these past two months. I would strongly suggest that each of you consult the full listing provided for additional information which I have placed in the hands of Madison Scott. I would like to bring out along with that a little background information that was made. For example: $4,498,900 was given to the National Longitudinal Surveys of the Labor Market. This work is performed and involves all the tasks necessary to complete the tenth round of the National Longitudinal Survey of Labor Market Experience for the youth cohort. They will be preparing the data tape from the 1987 and 1988 surveys of young women and developing questionnaires for the 1989 survey for the mature women. Data tapes will also be prepared for the 1987 survey of the mature woman.

Along with that, I would like to bring out one other factor and that is along with the slides what we saw today, there has been a $500,000 grant for the integrated plant propagation facilities in the Biotechnological Programs with Dr. P. E. Kolattukudy. The Ohio State University Biotechnological Center has chosen to build a center of excellence in plants, microbes and their interactions. A group of scientists involved in the molecular biology of plants and their interaction with microbes are being housed in a well-equipped, newly modeled laboratory. And a new group of about 10 faculty members will join this intercollegiate program.

Dr. Tzagournis and Dr. Malarkey are working at The Ohio State University Clinic Research Center to provide a controlled environment for clinical investigations that is not found under the general medical ward. Also to ensure that research studies progress as smoothly and efficiently as possible by providing a staff of skilled professionals to help investigate and conduct their research. This research unit affords OSU scientists, both basic and clinical, the opportunity to seek pathological and psychological insights into the diseases and mechanisms, develop new diagnostic tests, and pursue new treatments and methodologies. It is the only arena for testing new developments from the laboratory and exploring the relevance to man. I suggest to Dr. Tzagournis and Dr. Malarkey that this should be a very interesting and successful program that the University Medical School can be very proud of. Jack, do you have anything you want to add on to this?

Dr. Jack Hollander:

No.

Mr. Barone:

I think that Jack is doing a tremendous job. I don't know what we would do in the research program without him. And the longer I get to know him, he amazes me with what he is doing on behalf of research at OSU. I think that we all owe Jack a tremendous amount, because he is doing a tremendous work and I hope he lives forever and stays here forever. That is the end of my report.

Mr. Immke:

Thank you, John. Mrs. Bowser, will you give the Hospitals Board report?
February 4 and 5, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

Mrs. Bowser:

With your permission, Mr. Immke, I am going to highlight some of these items rather than read the full minutes. The Hospitals Board's Executive Committee met both December 17 and January 28. We have had two meetings since we last met. We have recommended to the Board of Trustees the Medical Staff appointments which appear before you.

The Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals has completed its survey and they met with key people both from the Medical Staff and from the Hospitals Board, and we have had conferences about that. There were very few deficiencies, but that preliminary report will be presented within the next 60 days.

The Hospitals Board is beginning to implement a reorganization of the Board. We have brought this to you before. There will be three committees: 1) the Strategic Planning Committee; 2) the Administration/Operations Committee; and 3) the Professional Affairs/Research Committee. We hope that this will modernize, so to speak, our responsibilities in these different areas. We will keep you posted as to how that is coming along.

I know that there has been some interest on the Board about the Comparative Analysis not only of hospitals locally, but hospitals in the Big 10 and mid-west. We are beginning to gather some data on that. I think it was surprising that the findings did not show as much as we had anticipated they would. But we will be bringing some of those reports to you as they occur.

Dr. Mekhjian brought to our attention at the last Board meeting the good cooperation we have with the VA, which is located to the west of our campus, and he hoped that would continue. There are some negotiations going on, but they are being handled well.

Dr. David Schuller is heading a committee for Ambulatory Surgery which is taking a look at what we are doing and seeing if we need to upgrade or make any changes, whether we should upgrade our present facilities or move to a different location. Those were very interesting findings and that will be continued to looked at.

And, lastly, Mr. Jackson reported that the Cancer Hospital is having a few difficulties, but he is on top of it and it looks like it is progressing as fast as humanly possible. He is taking every step possible to see that we get in there eventually -- seeing that we have level floors, and the right color bricks, and all the things that are important.

I would be happy to discuss any of this or answer any questions, but it is before you.

Mr. Immke:

If not level floors, at least all the slants going in the same direction — parallel floors. Any questions? That concludes our committee reports.

AMENDMENTS TO THE RULES OF THE UNIVERSITY FACULTY
Resolution No. 88-77

WHEREAS the University Senate pursuant to rule 3335-1-09 of the Administrative Code is authorized to recommend through the President to the Board of Trustees the adoption of amendments to the Rules of the University Faculty as approved by the University Senate; and

WHEREAS the proposed changes in the Rules of the University Faculty were approved by the University Senate on December 5, 1987, as follows:

AMENDED RULES

3335-5-46 Senate committee operating procedures.

The university senate shall have committees designated as organizing, standing, or special.

(A) Membership.

(1) Unless otherwise designated by rule, the president shall appoint all committees of the university faculty and the senate (see paragraph (D) of rule 3335-3-03 of the Administrative Code).

(2) When a rule provides for the option of selecting a designee to a committee, the designee shall be appointed by the person being replaced.

(3) Committee vacancy.

(a) The chairperson will report vacancies to the appropriate nominating source through the office of the university senate. For the purpose of this rule, a vacancy exists when an elected member is unable to meet the participation requirements defined by the committee.

(b) When an unexpired term becomes vacant, the vacancy shall be filled in a manner consonant with the original method of committee selection. A member selected to fill such a vacancy shall serve for the duration of the unexpired term.

(4) The membership of each committee shall be made known through the report of the secretary of the university senate.
February 4 and 5, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

AMENDMENTS TO THE RULES OF THE UNIVERSITY FACULTY (contd)

(5) Terms of service.

Unless otherwise specified by the rules, terms of service of senate committee members shall begin and end on the first day of autumn quarter.

Balance unchanged.

3335-5-47 Organizing committees of the senate.

(A) unchanged.

(B) Membership.

(1) The president shall appoint members of the administration; the council of graduate students, the inter-professional council, and the undergraduate student assembly shall select members of their own constituency using procedures adopted by their respective bodies. Members of the faculty council serving the following year shall elect members of the faculty from a ballot prepared by the executive committee of the faculty council. The ballot shall be based on nominations solicited in writing from the faculty. The executive committee of the faculty council shall provide the steering committee with the opportunity to make suggestions for additions to or deletions from the ballot before it is distributed to the faculty for voting. The ballot shall include at least one more name than there are positions to be filled and shall provide space for write-in votes for each committee.

(2) Only members of the senate may serve on organizing committees.

(3) Terms of service.

(a) Faculty members shall serve two-year terms and shall not be eligible for immediate reelection until one full year has elapsed unless they have served less than two-thirds of a full term.

(b) Student members shall serve one-year terms and shall be eligible for reappointment.

(c) Appointed administration members shall serve two-year terms and shall not be eligible for immediate reappointment until one full year has elapsed unless they have served less than two-thirds of a full term.

(d) Multiyear terms shall be staggered so that approximately equal proportions of the number of members retire each year.

Balance unchanged.

3335-5-471 Steering committee.

(A) Membership.
The steering committee shall consist of fourteen members.

1. Six regular faculty all of whom are members of the senate, elected by faculty council. The term of service is two years.

2. Four students.
   a. The president of the council of graduate students.
   b. The president of the inter-professional council.
   c. The president of the undergraduate student government.
   d. One appointed by the undergraduate student government from the undergraduate student membership of the senate. The term of service is one year.

3. Four administrators.
   a. The vice president for academic affairs and provost.
   b. The vice president for finance.
   c. The secretary of the university senate (non-voting).
   d. A dean who is a member of the senate, appointed by the president. The term of service is two years.

B. Duties and responsibilities.

1. Be the senate's committee on committees: the steering committee shall have the power to call, by vote of nine of its members, a special meeting of the senate, and shall have such power and duties as the senate may delegate to it during periods when the senate is not in session. It may create subcommittees and may delegate to them any of its powers, functions, and duties.

2. Review the structure, operation, and effectiveness of the senate and its committees. It shall receive suggestions, review proposed rule changes, and initiate recommendations for change in the structure and operation of the senate, including structure, duties, and responsibilities of senate committees, without, however, in any way restricting the senate's authority to alter its operations by other means. The steering committee may also review other proposed rule changes prior to presentation to the senate.

3. Serve as a channel of communication between the senate and the president and the board of trustees. Members shall be an advisory group available to both the president and the board of trustees for advice and counsel on any matter relating to the operation and development of the university. After consulting with the president, the members of the steering committee may request and obtain a meeting with the board of trustees.
AMENDMENTS TO THE RULES OF THE UNIVERSITY FACULTY (contd)

(4) Meet at least once every year with the chairperson of each standing committee.

(C) Organization.

(1) For the period of time beginning with the selection of its members in spring quarter and ending with the start of the autumn quarter, the steering committee shall consist of the newly selected and continuing members. During this period, the outgoing members shall serve as alternates.

(2) The committee shall annually elect a chairperson from its regular faculty membership.

(3) As an organizing committee of the senate, this committee is also governed by the provisions of rules 3335-5-46 and 3335-5-47 of the Administrative Code.

3335-5-472 Program Committee.

(A) Membership.

The program committee shall consist of nine members.

(1) Four regular faculty all of whom are members of the senate, elected by faculty council. The term of service is two years.

(2) Three students all of whom are members of the senate.

(a) One graduate student selected by the council of graduate students. The term of service is one year.

(b) One professional student selected by the inter-professional council. The term of service is one year.

(c) One undergraduate student selected by the undergraduate student assembly. The term of service is one year.

(3) Two administrators.

(a) unchanged.

(b) A dean who is a member of the senate, appointed by the president. The term of service is two years.

Balance unchanged.

3335-5-473 Rules committee.

(A) Membership.

The rules committee shall consist of ten members.

(1) Six regular faculty all of whom are members of the senate, elected by faculty council. The term of service is two years.
AMENDMENTS TO THE RULES OF THE UNIVERSITY FACULTY (contd)

(2) Three students all of whom are members of the senate.
   (a) One graduate student selected by the council of graduate students. The term of service is one year.
   (b) One professional student selected by the inter-professional council. The term of service is one year.
   (c) One undergraduate student selected by the undergraduate student assembly. The term of service is one year.

(3) One administrator. The secretary of the university senate.

Balance unchanged.

3335-5-474 Elections Committee.

(A) Membership.

The elections committee shall consist of nine members.

(1) Four regular faculty all of whom are members of the senate, elected by the faculty council. The term of service is two years.

(2) Four students all of whom are members of the senate.
   (a) One graduate student selected by the council of graduate students. The term of service is one year.
   (b) One professional student selected by the inter-professional council. The term of service is one year.
   (c) Two undergraduate students selected by the undergraduate student assembly. The term of service is one year.

(3) One dean who is a member of the senate, appointed by the president. The term of service is two years.

Balance unchanged.

3335-5-48 Standing and special committees of the senate.

(A) unchanged.

(B) Membership.

(1) All standing and special committees of the senate shall include at least one regular faculty member of the senate.

(2) Unless otherwise specified by the rules, or by the senate, the president shall appoint members of the administration; the council of graduate students, the inter-professional council, and the undergraduate student government shall select members of their own constituency using procedures adopted by their respective bodies. Professor Boris Mityagin:

Can I speak about one candidate?

President Jennings:

Excuse me?
February 4 and 5, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

PERSONNEL ACTIONS (contd)

Professor Mityagin:

Can I speak about one candidate?

President Jennings:

Well, you ordinarily should have requested that ahead of time and gotten it on the schedule, but perhaps one minute --

Professor Mityagin:

Okay. I could not make this request two weeks before this session, according to regulations, because the case was not and could not be in the agenda at that time. The person agreed to be a candidate only two days ago. How that case could be in that agenda two weeks ago? I am talking about Greg Baker, the candidate for Ohio Eminent Scholar. He agreed to be appointed only two days ago. How could I act two weeks ago --

President Jennings:

You're being allowed to speak now. What is the point?

Professor Mityagin:

I could not speak because I am not prepared to speak. I am strongly against this appointment and I would like to present all the objections to the Board of Trustees. I would do that during the next session and I would ask two weeks in advance to talk about this issue. I would prepare all the objections, I would consult lawyers on this matter. I could not speak today, and I don't understand why this issue is in the agenda if Greg Baker agreed to be appointed only two days ago.

President Jennings:

Thank you. This is a recommendation that has been before a faculty committee of the Department of Mathematics, is recommended by that faculty committee. There was a complete opportunity for the faculty to debate this recommendation fully. It has been recommended by the Department Chairman and by the Dean of the College, and recommended now by the Provost. I would recommend it for your approval.

Upon motion of Mr. Barone, seconded by Mrs. Bowser, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous roll call vote.

RESOLUTIONS IN MEMORIAM

Resolution No. 88-79

Synopsis: Resolutions honoring the service of five of the University's faculty members who have recently died are being proposed.
RESOLUTIONS IN MEMORIAM (contd)

RESOLVED, That the Board adopt the following Resolutions in Memoriam and that the President be requested to convey a copy to the families of the deceased.

John W. Black

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on December 5, 1987, of John W. Black, Professor Emeritus in the Department of Communication.

Dr. Black was born on February 9, 1906, in Veedersburg, Indiana. He graduated from Wabash College with an A.B. degree with honors and received the M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Iowa. Prior to assuming his appointment at The Ohio State University, he was Professor of Speech, Adrian College in Adrian, Michigan, and Professor of Speech at Kenyon College in Gambier, Ohio. He was appointed Professor of Speech and Director of the Speech and Hearing Science Area at The Ohio State University in 1949, and was later named Regents Professor of Communication. Upon his retirement in 1976, he was named Professor Emeritus.

Dr. Black received many honors during his career to include a Presidential Citation during World War II, a Fulbright Scholarship, election to Phi Beta Kappa, Fellowship in the American Speech-Language-Hearing Association, Fellowship in the Japanese Society for the Promotion of Science, and Honors of The American Speech-Language-Hearing Association. Three honorary doctoral degrees were conferred upon him: an Sc.D. from Bowling Green State University; an L.H.D. from Wabash College; and an L.H.D. from The Ohio State University.

He authored or co-authored nine books, 18 chapters in books, and 145 journal articles.

Dr. Black carried out research in experimental phonetics in Zagreb, Yugoslavia, Milan and Rome, Italy, and Chiba, Japan. He was consultant to many organizations and agencies to include the U.S. Navy, The Veterans' Administration, Danish Institute for the Deaf in Copenhagen, the Practicing Law Institute of Dallas, Texas, and the Linguistic Circle of Rome, Italy. He was distinguished for his research in experimental phonetics and was highly successful in transmitting his enthusiasm and excitement for research to his students. His rigor, excellence, and genuine concern for his students contributed significantly to their development, the academic unit he served, and thus to the quality of the University.

On behalf of the University, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family its deep sympathy. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as an expression of the Board's heartfelt sympathy.
February 4 and 5, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

RESOLUTIONS IN MEMORIAM (contd)

Sydney Nettleton Fisher

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on December 10, 1987, of Dr. Sydney N. Fisher, Professor Emeritus in the Department of History.

Born on August 8, 1906, in Warsaw, New York, Dr. Fisher received his undergraduate education on a four-year scholarship at Oberlin College which awarded him an A.B. degree in 1928 and an M.A. degree in 1932. He continued his graduate studies, specializing in Middle East history, at the University of Illinois where he received his Ph.D. degree in 1935. At Princeton University and the University of Brussels, Dr. Fisher pursued post-doctoral studies under grants from the American Council of Learned Societies. Because of his exceptional academic record, he was elected to Phi Beta Kappa and Phi Kappa Phi.

Dr. Fisher's long and distinguished teaching career began at Robert College in Istanbul, Turkey, immediately after his undergraduate days at Oberlin. With the exception of one year at Denison and brief terms at several other universities, Dr. Fisher's brilliant teaching career was dedicated to The Ohio State University where he began as an instructor in 1937 and achieved a full professorship in 1955. Upon his retirement in 1972, he was named Professor Emeritus. World War II found Dr. Fisher serving his government in Washington, D.C., with the Board of Economic Warfare and the Department of State.

Administrative duties and research challenged Dr. Fisher's talents and energy. Graduate studies in the Department of History as well as area and international programs at the University greatly benefited from his contributions. A highly respectable list of books and articles flowed from his pen, including what became a standard college textbook: The Middle East: A History. At the time of his death, Dr. Fisher was busily engaged in preparing a fourth revised edition. The Royal Historical Society in London recognized Dr. Fisher's scholarly accomplishments by electing him a Fellow in 1951. The Board of Trustees demonstrated its appreciation of Dr. Fisher's numerous, significant contributions to the University by granting him the Distinguished Service Award in 1982.

On behalf of the University community, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family its deepest sympathy. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as an expression of the Board's heartfelt sympathy.

William H. R. Howard

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on November 12, 1987, of Dr. William H. R. Howard, Professor Emeritus in the Department of Radiology.

Dr. William Harry Howard graduated from The Ohio State University in 1938 with an A.B. degree. He received his M.D. degree from Western Reserve University in 1942. Dr. Howard was appointed an Instructor in the Department of Radiology at The Ohio State University in 1946 and was promoted to Assistant Professor in 1952, Associate Professor in 1958, and Professor in 1968. Dr. Howard was also a Clinical Professor in the Department of Pediatrics. Dr. Howard retired in 1982 and at that time was named Professor Emeritus.

During his 46 years of service as a faculty member, he pioneered in the teaching and promotion of Pediatric Radiology having taught hundreds of physicians and particularly radiologists this subject. Dr. Howard served as the Chairman of the Department of Radiology at Children's Hospital from 1950 until his retirement in 1982. He served as a member of the Board of Directors of Children's Hospital and held membership in numerous medical organizations, among them the American College of Radiology and the Society for Pediatric Radiology of which he was a charter member. He made important contributions in the field of Pediatric Radiology for which he was known in the State of Ohio and nationally.

On behalf of the University community, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family its deepest sympathy. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as an expression of the Board's heartfelt sympathy.

Carleton L. Lohse

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on November 1, 1987, of Carleton L. Lohse, Associate Professor in the College of Veterinary Medicine.

Born on November 10, 1936, in Minot, North Dakota, Dr. Lohse received his D.V.M. degree in 1960 from Iowa State University, and his Ph.D. degree in 1971 from the University of Sydney, Australia. Dr. Lohse had been Associate Professor of Veterinary Anatomy at Ohio State since 1985. He taught gross and microscopic anatomy and was involved in anatomical research. He served as the department's acting chairperson in 1986. Prior to his appointment at Ohio State, Dr. Lohse was on the veterinary anatomy faculty at the University of California at Davis for 13 years.

A member of several professional anatomical associations, Dr. Lohse had been president and secretary of the American Association of Veterinary Anatomists.

On behalf of the University, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family its deep sympathy and sense of understanding in their loss. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as an expression of the Board's heartfelt sympathy.

Arthur Tye

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on October 1, 1987, of Arthur Tye, Professor Emeritus in the College of Pharmacy.

Arthur Tye was born in Rutherglen, Australia, on September 13, 1909. Following two years of pre-medical education at Wesley College, he to the Melbourne College of Pharmacy, graduating with the Ph.C. degree in 1930. He managed a community pharmacy in Melbourne, until his interests took him to Hong Kong, and then to Peking Union Medical College, where he served as Instructor of Pharmacology and Chief Assistant of the Department of Pharmacy (1932-37); and later as Professor of Pharmacy and Head of the Department of Pharmacy (1937-41). He joined the faculty of the National University of Peking as Professor of Pharmacy in 1942, where he developed an interest in pharmaceutical manufacturing, serving as Chief Pharmacist for Fu-Min Laboratories (1942-44); and Chief Pharmacist and Head of the Pharmaceutical Division of the Dio-Oriental Chemical Corporation in Tientsin (1945-47); also serving as Managing Director of Pharmacie Universelle, China's first professional prescription pharmacy.

In 1947, he joined the nascent graduate program at The Ohio State University College of Pharmacy. His doctoral dissertation (1950) introduced a more sophisticated method of quantifying the potency of morphine and other analgetics. Hired as an Assistant Professor in 1951, he transformed the traditional instruction in "materia medica" to a modern series of courses in pharmacology. Promoted to Associate Professor in 1953 and Professor in 1960, he embarked upon an intensive period of research, which resulted in nearly 40 scientific publications, and directed 36 graduate students at both the master's and doctoral level. His research may have reached its zenith in a series of brilliant collaborative papers with Popat Patil and Jules LaPidus which explored the structure-activity relationship of the optical isomers of ephedrine. He was one of the first pharmacologists in a College of Pharmacy to be elected to the American Society of Pharmacology and Experimental Therapeutics. Dr. Tye also provided staunch support of the College's continuing education program and a reasoned and moderating influence in undergraduate curriculum development. He lent his zest to the annual Ohio Pharmaceutical Seminar (1956-60), encouraged the establishment of the College's Pharmacy Extension Services (1963), and worked with Jules LaPidus and others to formulate a series of courses integrating concepts of medicinal chemistry into the traditional offerings in pharmacology (1969). Upon his retirement in 1970, he was named Professor Emeritus.

On behalf of the University Community, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family of Arthur Tye its deepest sympathy. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as an expression of the Board's heartfelt sympathy.

Upon motion of Ms. Casto, seconded by Mr. Teaford, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous voice vote.

THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY DEVELOPMENT FUND

Establishment of Named Funds

The Steve R. and Sarah E. O'Donnell Scientific Supercomputing Fund

The Steve R. and Sarah E. O'Donnell Scientific Supercomputing Fund was established February 5, 1988, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with a gift to The Ohio State University Development Fund from Steve R. O'Donnell (B.E.E. '62, M.S. Electrical Engineering '63) and Sarah E. O'Donnell of Westerville, Ohio.

February 4 and 5, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

REPORT OF RESEARCH CONTRACTS, GRANTS, AND GIFTS (contd)

THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY DEVELOPMENT FUND (contd)

The Steve R. and Sarah E. O'Donnell Scientific Supercomputing Fund (contd)

The annual income shall be used to facilitate the use of supercomputers for research by The Ohio State University faculty, for example, by providing computer graphics work stations for faculty access to the supercomputer at the Ohio Supercomputer Center. The Vice President for Research and Graduate Studies is authorized to withdraw no more than one-third of the original principal amount over a 12-month period, if necessary. The Vice President for Research and Graduate Studies will have sole authority to authorize expenditures from the fund.

It is the desire of the donors that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity. If the need for this fund should cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then another use shall be designated by the Board of Trustees in consultation with the appropriate college dean, department chairperson, or program administrative officer in order to carry out the desire of the donors.

The L. Edwin Smart Economics Symposium Fund

The L. Edwin Smart Economics Symposium Fund was established February 5, 1988, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from L. Edwin Smart, Jr., of New York as a memorial to his father, L. Edwin Smart, Sr. (B.A. '16, M.A. '23, Ph.D. '30), Professor of Economics at The Ohio State University from 1921 to 1962, and in appreciation of his own secondary education at the then University School of The Ohio State University, which he attended from 1935 to 1941. Mr. Smart, Jr., is chairman of the executive committee of TW Services, Inc., and was formerly chairman of the board of that company and its predecessors, Transworld Corporation and Trans World Airlines. He also serves as Director of Continental Corporation, The New York Stock Exchange and Sonat, Inc.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used as seed money to plan and host the Smart Symposium in Economics. The week-long symposium will be held yearly and will be of a character to gather internationally known scholars in the study of economics and related fields.

It is the desire of the donor that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity as a memorial to his father and that all proceeds from this fund shall be used in his honor. If the need for this fund should cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then another use shall be designated by the Board of Trustees in consultation with the appropriate college dean, department chairperson, or program administrative officer in order to carry out the desire of the donor.
February 4 and 5, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

REPORT OF RESEARCH CONTRACTS, GRANTS, AND GIFTS (contd)

THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY DEVELOPMENT FUND (contd)

Establishment of Named Funds (contd)

Unrestricted General Library Endowment

The Unrestricted General Library Endowment was established February 5, 1988, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts through unrestricted donations to The Ohio State University Development Fund designated for support of The Ohio State University Libraries.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used for such items as books, journals, personnel, supplies, equipment or for any activities related to preservation of library materials, as determined by the Director of The Ohio State University Libraries. At the end of any fiscal year in which there is a balance in income remaining, this balance shall be credited to the principal.

It is the desire of the donors that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity. If the need for this fund should cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then another use shall be designated by the Board of Trustees in consultation with the appropriate college administrative officer who is then responsible for the University Libraries.

The Harriet L. Reynolds Endowment Fund

The Harriet L. Reynolds Endowment Fund was established February 5, 1988, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from the estate of Harriet L. Reynolds (Ohio State Head Coach - Women's Field Hockey 1973-1987), family members, athletic department associates, and friends in honor and memory of Coach Harriet Reynolds.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to provide post-baccalaureate scholarship assistance at The Ohio State University for a former member of an Ohio State women's intercollegiate varsity sports team or, as a second priority, to provide added funds to enhance Ohio State's women's field hockey program. The selection of scholarship recipients will be made by the Associate Athletic Director in charge of the Women's Intercollegiate Sports Program, a representative for the Reynolds family, and the Department of Physical Education in the School of Health, Physical Education and Recreation in cooperation with the Director of Athletics and the University Committee on Student Financial Aid. Enhancement funds will be approved by the Director of Athletics. Any unused income each year may be added to the principal.

It is the desire of the donors that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity. If the need for this fund should cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used as determined by the Board of Trustees with preference being given to recommendations from the appropriate administrative official of the University who is then directly responsible for the intercollegiate athletics program at The Ohio State University.

The Helene L. & Clement F. Frymute Memorial Endowment Fund

The Helene L. & Clement F. Frymute Memorial Endowment Fund was established February 5, 1988, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from Charisann Froberg, Granville, Ohio.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to provide scholarships for students attending The Ohio State University at Newark who have documented their financial need and are likely to be academically successful. Scholarship recipients shall be chosen by the Dean of The Ohio State University Newark Campus, in consultation with the University Committee on Student Financial Aid.

It is the desire of the donor that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity. If the need for this fund should cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then another use shall be designated by the Board of Trustees in consultation with the person then responsible for The Ohio State University Newark Campus.

The Jonathan David Micha Pediatric Allergy and Asthma Research Fund

The Jonathan David Micha Pediatric Allergy and Asthma Research Fund was established February 5, 1988, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to the University Development Fund from family and friends in memory of Jonathan David Micha of Westerville, Ohio.

Establishment of Named Funds (contd)

The Jonathan David Micha Pediatric Allergy and Asthma Research Fund (contd)

The annual income from this fund shall be used for the research, treatment and cure of pediatric asthma and allergy conditions. The requisitions for funds are to be approved by the Dean of the College of Medicine in consultation with the leading faculty and researchers in the area of pediatric allergy and asthma.

It is the desire of the donors that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity. If the need for this fund should cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees with preference being given to recommendations from the appropriate administrative official of the University then directly responsible for the study and research of other pediatric diseases in the College of Medicine.

Change of Name and Description of Named Funds

The Dorothy McAllister and George L. Lewis Memorial Scholarship Fund

The Dorothy and George L. Lewis Scholarship Fund was established February 7, 1986, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from George L. Lewis, Professor Emeritus of Educational Theory and Practice, in memory of his wife; and gifts from sons Michael (B.S.Ed. '65, M.S., M.B.A. '82), Terry (M.A., Speech/Communication '72) and Patrick (B.M.E. '79, M.A., Music '84), and friends in honor of George Lewis and in memory of Dorothy Lewis. The name and description were changed February 5, 1988.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to provide one or more scholarships for undergraduate students in either Drama Education, Speech Education or Music Education who have declared their major and who have demonstrated academic ability (3.0 or above average). The selection is to be made by the College of Education Scholarship Committee upon the recommendation of a committee representing Drama Education, Speech Education, Music Education and the College, and with the approval of the University Committee on Student Financial Aid.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to those responsible for drama, speech and music education.

The Harry and Esther Sonkin Family Scholarship for International Understanding and Peace

The Harry and Carl Sonkin Memorial Award for Peace and International Understanding was established March 2, 1984, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from friends and families of Harry and Carl Sonkin. The name was changed to the Harry and Carl Sonkin Memorial Award for International Understanding and Peace, September 7, 1984. The name and description were further changed February 5, 1988.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to provide one or more scholarships for a deserving graduate student(s) for research or study abroad that contributes to the pursuit of international understanding and peace. The graduate student(s) must be enrolled at The Ohio State University in an academic degree program with a focus on international problems. He or she may be in any department or interdisciplinary field. The graduate student(s) must have demonstrated excellence in scholarship and an aptitude for the program of study or research to be pursued under the Sonkin Scholarship. The graduate student(s) must intend to engage in research either at The Ohio State University or outside the United States that demonstrably is concerned with enhancing the understanding of peoples in different cultures, improving the quality of social justice among nations, or exploring methods for international conflict avoidance or conflict resolution.

Selection of the recipient(s) is to be made by the Director of the University Center for International Studies in cooperation with the Dean of the College of Humanities, the Director of the Mershon Center or their representatives, and the University Committee on Student Financial Aid. The criteria for the selection of recipients are subject to review by members of the Sonkin family and the concerned Ohio State University administrators.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any purposes whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees with preference being given to recommendations from the appropriate administrative official of the University who is then directly responsible for academic programs in international studies.

THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY DEVELOPMENT FUND

Establishment of Named Funds

The Ohio State University Marion Campus Prairie Nature Education Center Endowment

The Ohio State University Marion Campus Prairie Nature Education Center Endowment was established February 5, 1988, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund designated for support of the Marion Campus.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

Ten percent (10%) of the annual income shall be added to the fund's principal. The remaining ninety percent (90%) shall be used to provide salaries, educational grants, equipment, supplies, upkeep and management of The Ohio State University Marion Campus Prairie Nature Education Center.

It is the desire of the donor(s) that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity. If the need for this fund should cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then another use shall be designated by the Board of Trustees in consultation with the appropriate college dean, department chairperson, or program administrative officer in order to carry out the desire of the donor(s).

The Franklin O. Vogelsang Memorial Scholarship

The Franklin O. Vogelsang Memorial Scholarship was established February 5, 1988, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with a gift to The Ohio State University Development Fund from the estate of Franklin O. Vogelsang (B.M.E. '29) of Canton, Ohio.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be distributed in the following manner: ten percent (10%) of the annual income is to be added to the principal; the remaining ninety percent (90%) is to be used to provide one or more scholarships for students enrolled in the College of Engineering. The recipient(s) will be chosen by the Dean of the College of Engineering in consultation with the University Committee on Student Financial Aid. Selection shall be based on: (1) the completion of one full year of study in the engineering curriculum, and (2) the recipient(s)' grades must have ranked the recipient(s) in the upper half of his or her class for the previous full year.

It is the desire of the donor that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity. If the need for this fund should cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then another use shall be designated by the Board of Trustees in consultation with the appropriate college administrative officer who is then responsible for the College of Engineering.

Thomas E. Powers Veterinary Clinical Pharmacology Fund

The Thomas E. Powers Veterinary Clinical Pharmacology Fund was established February 5, 1988, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from the Schering-Plough Foundation, Inc.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be distributed to the College of Veterinary Medicine. All income in 1988 and 1989 will be returned to the principal. Should the fund reach $500,000 within five years, it shall be known as The Thomas E. Powers Professorship in Clinical Pharmacology. Should it reach $1.25 million in five years, it shall become The Thomas E. Powers Chair in Clinical Pharmacology.

The professorship or chair holder will embody the principals of Dr. Powers. The appointee's qualifications will include a world-class record in research activities, teaching, and public service. The appointee will also promote dialogue between academia, industry, and government.

Beginning in 1990 (at the discretion of the Dean), the fund can be used to support research and education in veterinary clinical pharmacology. A primary consideration would be the commencement of The Thomas E. Powers Visiting Lecturer in Clinical Pharmacology.

It is the desire of the donor(s) that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity. If the need for this fund should cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then another use shall be designated by the Board of Trustees in consultation with the appropriate college dean, department chairperson, or program administrative officer in order to carry out the desire of the donor(s).

The Harry L. Thompson Scholarship Fund

The Harry L. Thompson Scholarship Fund was established February 5, 1988, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from Harry L. Thompson, (B.S.Ed.
'53, M.A. '60), Oak Harbor, Ohio.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used for one or more scholarships in the College of Education. Selection shall be based on need and/or scholastic ability. It is the desire of the donor that the scholarship(s) be given each year to an Ohio student(s). However, preference should be given first to a student(s) from Ottawa County and second to a student(s) from Northwest Ohio. Scholarship recipient(s) shall be chosen by the College of Education Scholarship Committee in consultation with the University Committee on Student Financial Aid.

It is the desire of the donor that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity. If the need for this fund should cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then another use shall be designated by the Board of Trustees in consultation with the person then responsible for teacher education.

The Geraldine McFadden Kuhn Scholarship

The Geraldine McFadden Kuhn Scholarship was established February 5, 1988, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from Wayne Heskett Kuhn (B.M.E.
'41) of Marion, Ohio.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

Twenty percent (20%) of the annual income shall be added to the fund's principal. The remaining eighty percent (80%) shall be used to provide one or more scholarships to deserving students of merit who are attending The Ohio State University at Marion and are pursuing study leading to a degree awarded by the College of Home Economics or the Department of English under the College of Humanities. The selection of the recipient is to be made upon the recommendation of The Ohio State University Marion Campus Scholarship Committee in consultation with the Dean of the Marion Campus and the University Committee on Student Financial Aid.

It is the desire of the donor that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity. If the need for this fund should cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then another use shall be designated by the Board of Trustees in consultation with the appropriate college dean, department chairperson, or program administrative officer in order to carry out the desire of the donor.

The Dr. Dale A. Ray Memorial Fund

The Dr. Dale A. Ray Memorial Fund was established February 5, 1988, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from Frank A. Ray (B.A. '70, J.D. '73), other family members, and friends of Dr. Dale A. Ray, Professor of Agronomy.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as the occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to support the Dale A. Ray Award of at least $100 to the outstanding grain crop student each year. Any additional income from the fund shall be used to support teaching programs in the Department of Agronomy that deal with plant breeding and small grains, to provide resources for the purchase of equipment and to provide support for attendance at conferences and institutes. The selection of the award recipient and expenditure of all funds shall have the approval of the Chairperson of the Department of Agronomy.

It is the desire of the donors that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity. If the need for this fund should cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then another use shall be designated by the Board of Trustees in consultation with the person then responsible for Agronomy extension and teaching.

Change of Name of Named Fund

The Margaret and Richard D. Wood, Sr., Endowment Fund

The Richard D. Wood, Sr., Endowment Fund was established December 15, 1976, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with a gift to The Ohio State University Development Fund from Richard D. Wood, Sr., (B.A. '50) Columbus, Ohio. The name was changed February 5, 1988.

The annual income is to be used at the discretion of the Dean of the College of Humanities in support of programs that will improve the ability of Ohio State students in all fields of study to read and write effectively in English.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to recommendations from the appropriate administrative official of the University who is then directly responsible for the teaching of the humanities.

Change in Description of Named Fund

Florence O. Wilson Fund

The Florence O. Wilson Fund was established September 2, 1971, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with a gift to The Ohio State University Development Fund from Miss Florence O. Wilson, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, to support the Ernest Q. Moores Demonstration Farm. The description was changed February 5, 1988.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used for support of an endowed chair in lactational physiology and mammary health within the College of Agriculture, Department of Dairy Science at The Ohio State University.

It was the desire of the donor that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity. Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then another use shall be designated by the Board of Trustees, in consultation with the appropriate administrative officials of the College of Agriculture and the Department of Dairy Science, in order to carry out the desire of the donor.

REQUEST FOR CONSTRUCTION BIDS AND ESTIMATE OF COST — FUNDING Resolution No. 88-81

Synopsis: Authorization to request construction bids is proposed.

WHEREAS the plans and specifications for the following project has been completed and, at the request of the Vice President for Business and Administration, the President recommended that the Board of Trustees authorize the request for construction bids:

DOAN HALL ELEVATOR MODERNIZATION

Project: Replacement of the controlling system of elevators 1, 2 and 3 in Doan Hall with collective microprocessors which will modernize and improve the operation of these service elevators. The new controlling units with computer programming for system dispatching and car selection will greatly reduce response time.

Funding: University Hospitals Funds

Estimated Construction Cost: $275,000.00
Estimated Project Cost: $320,260.00

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That the President and/or Vice President for Business and Administration be authorized, in accordance with established University procedures, to request construction bids on this project, and if satisfactory bids are received, to award the necessary contracts, with all actions to be reported to this Board at the appropriate time.

Upon motion of Mrs. Bowser, seconded by Ms. Casto, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous roll call vote.

REPORT OF AWARD OF CONTRACTS AND ESTABLISHMENT OF CONTINGENCY FUNDS Resolution No. 88-82

Synopsis: Contracts have been awarded for the projects listed below to the lowest and best bidders in accordance with University procedures.

WHEREAS resolutions adopted by the Board of Trustees at previous meetings authorized the President and/or Vice President for Business and Administration to sign the plans and specifications and, in accordance with established University procedures, to request bids and, if satisfactory bids were received, to recommend the award of contracts for the Rhodes
Hall 5th Floor - Pastoral Care Remodeling and Doan Hall 8 West - Detention Unit Remodeling projects as follows:

RHODES HALL 5TH FLOOR - PASTORAL CARE REMODELING

Description: This project provides for the relocation of an air handler in the fifth floor mechanical room to allow for construction of Pastoral Care offices adjacent to the Atrium Chapel, and the construction of restroom facilities contiguous with elevator equipment penthouse in the Atrium. Construction is scheduled to begin January 1988 and be completed within one hundred eighty days.

ACCEPTANCE OF REPORT OF AUDITS OF THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY AND THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY RESEARCH FOUNDATION

Resolution No. 88-83

Synopsis: The report of the audit of The Ohio State University for 1986-87 conducted by Touche Ross International and the report of the audit of The Ohio State University Research Foundation for 1985-86 and 1986-87 conducted by Parm's & Co., Inc., are recommended for acceptance.
February 4 and 5, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

ACCEPTANCE OF REPORT OF AUDITS OF THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY AND THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY RESEARCH FOUNDATION (contd)

WHEREAS in August 1985, with the approval of the Auditor of State, The Ohio State University entered into a four-year agreement with Touche Ross International for an annual audit of the University, with Parmis & Co., Inc., as a subcontractor to provide certain audit services; and

WHEREAS the Touche Ross audit of the University for 1986-87 and the Parmis & Co. audit of the Research Foundation for 1985-86 and 1986-87, both meeting the requirements of the Auditor of State, have been received and reviewed by the appropriate University offices; and

WHEREAS the accounts, records, files, and reports of the University and the Research Foundation have been found to be in essentially satisfactory condition, but certain recommendations have been included in the reports; and

WHEREAS the auditors' recommendations have been studied by the appropriate University offices, and procedures and responses have been developed as a result of the recommendations:

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That the Touche Ross International audit of The Ohio State University for 1986-87 (including reports of The Ohio State University Development Fund for 1985-86 and 1986-87, The Ohio State University Hospitals for 1986-87, and WOSU Stations for 1986-87) and the Parmis & Co., Inc., audit of The Ohio State University Research Foundation for 1985-86 and 1986-87 be accepted.

Upon motion of Mr. Teaford, seconded by Mr. Barone, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous voice vote.

The Board of Trustees met at its regular monthly meeting on Thursday, March 3, and Friday, March 4, 1988, at The Ohio State University Fawcett Center for Tomorrow, Columbus, Ohio, pursuant to adjournment.

* * *
Minutes of the last meeting were approved.

* * *
March 3 and 4, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

The Chairman, Mr. Redman, called the meeting of the Board of Trustees to order on March 3, 1988, at 6:30 p.m. He requested the Secretary to call the roll. The meeting recessed into Executive Session for the purpose of considering legal issues and personnel-related matters.

--0--

Mr. Redman reconvened the meeting on March 4, 1988, at 9:50 a.m.

--0--

Mr. Redman:

We'd like to have Professor Boris Mityagin of the Department of Mathematics address the Board, and we've allocated 10 minutes to that subject. Mr. Mityagin —

Professor Mityagin:

Thank you for a chance to speak at your meeting. The Department of Mathematics at OSU is one of the best in state universities in the country, and I'm sorry to be here and to speak not about its achievements and bright future, but about strange events which took place there in the last four or five years.

In May 1984 the Ohio Governor made a surprising decision to give as an award, an Ohio Eminent Scholar Chair in Scientific Computation and Numerical Analysis to Department of Mathematics for our "outstanding graduate and research program in scientific computation." Although everybody from a C-average graduate student to our triple-A president knew that such a program, either outstanding or mediocre, either research or graduate, does not exist and did never exist. Governor's decision was a part of Ohio Eminent Scholar Program established in 1983 by Ohio Legislature to attract outstanding scientists to the State of Ohio.

How the OSU top officials succeeded to convince the Board of Regents and the Governor to declare a non-existing program to be a winner in state-wide competition, or at least one of the best in the State, is a mystery. Proposal emphasized the Departments achievements but it was irrelevant to the field of the award. How cynical were authors of proposal. You can see from the statement of its leading writer Dr. J. Greenberg, "I think Ohio State is regarded as something of a joke in the area of applied and computational mathematics." It's a direct quotation. I would not agree with judgmental part of this statement, but a naked fact is no program in scientific computation did ever exist.
March 3 and 4, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

Professor Mityagin: (contd)

It was absolutely obvious that Department of Mathematics does not satisfy the Board of Regents' guidelines to the area's potential for excellence. To support the point of that requirement the proposal listed eight Department of Mathematics members and five faculty members from other departments. The list is impressive but none of listed was an expert in the area. How attractive the program was, you could judge from the fact that of eight listed Math faculty members, four left in the next two years, including the leading writer of the proposal, and two spent most of the four years on leave working in the other scientific centers.

Those paradoxes partly could be explained by the fact that the proposal has been admitted by OSU top officials to the Board of Regents in October '83 without any or at least any open discussion in the Department.

I skip long story of many years of painful and drainful search for an expert, but how could you attract an expert if there is nothing in the Department to attract him? You could not, and it pushes you to misrepresentation and mockery more and more as time goes on, after your first tries and failures to that direction.

There is no doubt, and I want to point that out, that scientific computation and numerical analysis are important areas to be developed in Math Department or other departments of OSU. A lot has been done, in particular the creation of a State Center on Supercomputers. It is not the issue in this discussion. The point is that Legislative decision of 1983 on an Ohio Eminent Scholar Program gave no channels for the area without any presence in the Department, and misuse of the program aimed to enhance excellence of State academic institutions just for getting funds and money for a university or a department was a deviation from the Legislative intentions and violation of its decision.

The Department made heroic efforts to find good candidate. In late '84 two offers made had been rejected. In 1986-87 one person applied and after long discussion he was even rejected as a candidate for associate professor position.

In fall 1987 Jennings's Administration was embarrassed, embarrassed, embarrassed by the fact that for three and a half years the position had not been filled yet. It reminded everybody about the '84 mockery and the only way to close the deal, put it aside and forget it, was to hire any person available. It happened that Dr. Baker applied for that position at that time and the procedures went ahead at the high gear. The search committee was ignored.

In December 9, 1987 session of advisory committee in the Department took place, nobody claimed that Dr. Baker satisfied the description and specifications of that position. Moreover, the overwhelming majority of faculty members who spoke in that meeting made clear that Dr. Baker is not qualified as the eminent scholar. The consensus of the meeting was expressed perfectly by Dr. Harvey Friedman, a university professor. After scientific presentation on Baker's papers and claims that they are on the level of Bachelor's diploma, Dr. Friedman said, "Oh, I thought that he (Dr. Baker) is much worse," but he knows something about integral equations; now, of course I will support his case.

One could claim that it was strange to ignore the issue of scientific level when you are talking on such a serious appointment. But don't blame my colleagues or our chairman. They were tired and psychologically exhausted by four years discussions. You could be also amazed that for four years they resisted to yield to administration pressures to hire any person available. Now, in December 1987, Department gave up and advisory committee voted to recommend this appointment.

It should be mentioned that although at least on the paper Dr. Baker is an expert in fluid dynamics, the opinion of our leading faculty members from Aeronautics or Mechanical Engineering Department was ignored also. They told to Chairman and Dean explicitly that it would be strange to appoint Dr. Baker as an Eminent Scholar.

No out-of-Math Department faculty member has expressed any support for Dr. Baker as a candidate for Ohio Eminent Scholar. It is true that some of them, and I would say the same, would be glad to have him at Campus as our faculty member. But it is presumably true about any hiring in our University, whether we are talking about full professor or tenure-track assistant professor. Scientific merits would put Dr. Baker hardly among our top 20 members, for sure not among top 15. I am talking about Department, not about the University.

To accept such a level for eminent scholar would be a mockery. It would jeopardize the implementation of the entire Ohio Eminent Scholar Program at OSU and the State of Ohio. How could we or you explain to our associate professors who are better than Dr. Baker, but have not been promoted because of our standards for full professor positions lately, that such a hiring is in the best interests of our University? How could we or you explain to an outstanding, recently hired faculty member in the same area, who is much — in another department, who is much better than Dr. Baker, but who with his great respect to The Ohio State University and to the title of Ohio Eminent Scholar, did not dare to apply for that position a year ago? How could we explain to him that such a hiring is not a mockery? You could not, because it is a mockery. The money has been given to enhance excellence and to attract an outstanding and eminent scholar.

Today President Jennings recommends to hire the only person available, the only for two years, as a way to cash in a million dollars. Such a perversion is not the way to excellence. Such an action is incompatible with our goal to be in 15-20 years among top 10 national universities. Such a hiring puts a low ceiling to our search for excellence. Thank you.

President Jennings:

Thank you, Professor Mityagin. I'd like to have Dr. Brand review the process that went on in this hiring. I should say that I first of all apologize to Dr. Baker and hope that the slanderous discussion of his qualifications is ignored by Dr. Baker. That type of discussion on the individual is inappropriate in a public setting. And I think that secondly it should be recognized that the eminent scholar decisions were not made by the Governor or the Legislature. They were made by the Board of Regents and on the basis of a peer reviewed process. Members of the peer committees were selected from all over the State and did not include Ohio State University.

I would like Dr. Brand to discuss the appointment process because I do not agree that Dr. Baker is a selection that does not represent eminence in mathematics. I think Dr. Baker can stand with any of the eminent scholars selected at The Ohio State University and can stand with any of the mathematicians in applied mathematics throughout the country, and will be of great benefit to The Ohio State University.

Myles, if you can review the process, I'd appreciate that.

Dr. Brand:

Yes, I will. The Mathematics Department has a very careful screening process, indeed a model such process. Let me just speak briefly about the selection of Dr. Baker.

In addition to widely advertising the position including affirmative action ads, the Department has an Advisory Committee consisting of 12 persons, 8 of whom are elected by the Department. This Advisory Committee holds open meetings with an advanced agenda announced and the minutes distributed to all the faculty members.

If eight committee members in the Department vote positively by a secret ballot in an open meeting for a motion on documentation, the Committee selects a list of six to eight external referees who are then contacted by the Chairman and asked to evaluate the candidates professional attributes and suitability for the position. When the responses have been obtained from the referees, the Committee then schedules a meeting to determine the suitability of the candidate for appointment.

This Committee meeting is announced in advance to all faculty and the faculty have access to the candidates' credentials including reference letters, and these are made available to all members of the Department. At the Committee session faculty members who are not on the Committee are given ample opportunity to discuss their views of the candidate in this
When this discussion is completed the Committee votes by secret ballot, either in open meeting or by mail ballot, on the motion to recommend appointment. Eight of the 12 positive votes are required to make a recommendation for appointment.

Regarding the qualifications of Dr. Baker, the University is indeed fortunate to have a man of such eminence. Regarding his scientific credentials, seven leading applied mathematicians, full professors at large centers of applied mathematics of research in this country and abroad, including the University of Minnesota, MIT, Cal Tech, Princeton, the Courant Institute from New York University, University of Arizona, and University of Oxford in England, have provided evaluations of Dr. Baker's research. Uniformly they place him among the strongest computational fluid dynamicists of his generation.

As to international standing, Professor T. Brooke Benjamin of Oxford writes, and let me quote, "Dr. Baker has established an excellent international reputation as a leading contributor to numerical studies in hydrodynamic problems. He is evidently a master of modern computation and unlike other notable workers in the field, his research is greatly reinforced by a deep understanding of the fluid mechanical problems that are explored numerically."

In keeping with the Ohio Eminent Scholar proposal, Dr. Baker has direct connections with industry. At the present time he is employed by Exxon Research. He was a faculty member and director of the multi-disciplinary applied mathematics program at Arizona, and this program includes students and faculty from the entire spectrum of science and engineering departments in the university.

All in all, it's hard to envision a candidate who could more accurately embody the qualities envisioned for the eminent scholar unless it's the same Gregory Baker 10 years hence. I also take serious exception with the claim that there was pressure from the Administration. That is simply false. Time and again, we have emphasized that we will refuse to make an offer unless we have a man or woman of true eminence. We do so in the case of Dr. Baker. The Dean of the College of Mathematical and Physical Sciences, William Kern, and the Chairman of the Math Department are here to answer any questions about process or qualifications that you might have. Thank you.

Mr. Redman:

If there's no further discussion? Thank you, Professor Mityagin.

Professor Mityagin:

Thank you.

AMENDMENTS TO THE RULES OF THE UNIVERSITY FACULTY

Resolution No. 88-88

Synopsis: Amendments to rule 3335-5-4815 are being proposed.

WHEREAS the University Senate pursuant to rule 3335-1-09 of the Administrative Code is authorized to recommend through the President to the Board of Trustees the adoption of amendments to the Rules of the University Faculty as approved by the University Senate; and

WHEREAS the proposed changes in the Rules of the University Faculty were approved by the University Senate on January 30, 1988, as follows:

AMENDED RULE

3335-5-4815 Committee on traffic, parking, and public safety.

(A) Membership.

The committee on traffic, parking, and public safety shall consist of seventeen members.

(1) Six regular faculty elected by the faculty council. The term of service is three years.

(2) Four students.

(a) One graduate student selected by the council of graduate students. The term of service is one year.

(b) One professional student selected by the inter-professional council. The term of service is one year.

(c) Two undergraduate students selected by the undergraduate student government. The term of service is one year.

(3) Two staff members (eligible for only "B" parking permits) appointed by the steering committee. The term of service is three years.

(4) Three administrators appointed by the president. The term of service is three years.

(5) Two members, non-voting.

(a) The assistant vice president for university public safety or designee.

(b) The director of the division of traffic and parking.
March 3 and 4, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

AMENDMENTS TO THE RULES OF THE UNIVERSITY FACULTY (contd)

(B) Duties and responsibilities.

(1) Be responsible for hearing grievances, criticism, and other testimony pertaining to traffic, parking, and public safety.

(2) Recommend through appropriate administrative channels, and to the senate, ways and means for improving traffic and parking conditions, and the administration and enforcement of traffic, parking, and public safety regulations and laws.

(3) Review, prior to their formal adoption and codification, proposed traffic, parking, and public safety rules and written operational procedures that have an effect on the users of these services. These shall include rules, policies, and university-wide procedures dealing with traffic, parking, personal security, and safety. These shall not include policies relating to the internal operations of university public safety divisions or those issues requiring specific legal, medical, law enforcement, or other expertise.

(4) Hold at least one publicized annual open hearing to receive information from interested parties with concerns about traffic, parking, and public safety.

(5) Hold such special hearings as the committee considers necessary when concerns about public safety, traffic, and parking arise in the university community. Reports of such special hearings shall be promptly forwarded through appropriate channels and to the senate.

Balance unchanged.

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That the foregoing amendments to the Rules of the University Faculty be adopted as recommended by the University Senate.

Upon motion of Mr. Kessler, seconded by Mr. Teaford, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous voice vote.

RESOLUTIONS IN MEMORIAM

Resolution No. 88-93

Synopsis: Resolutions honoring the service of nine of the University's faculty members who have recently died are being proposed.

RESOLVED, That the Board adopt the following Resolutions in Memoriam and that the President be requested to convey a copy to the families of the deceased.

Alice D. Edwards

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on December 14, 1987, of Alice D. Edwards, Instructor Emeritus in the Department of English.

Mrs. Edwards was born on July 25, 1911, in Byer, Ohio. She graduated from Kent State University in 1935 with a B.S. in Education and did graduate work in English at The Ohio State University.

Mrs. Edwards taught English and Latin in the schools of Brewster, Ohio, until she joined the English faculty at The Ohio State University in 1946. Upon her retirement in 1972, she was named Instructor Emeritus.

On behalf of the University, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family its deep sympathy and sense of understanding in their loss. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as an expression of the Board's heartfelt sympathy.
March 3 and 4, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

RESOLUTIONS IN MEMORIAM (contd)

Edward J. Hardick

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on February 3, 1988, of Edward J. Hardick, Professor in the Department of Communication.

Dr. Hardick was born on April 24, 1930, in Rochester, New York. He graduated from State University of New York Teachers College at Geneseo with a B.S., and received an M.A. degree from The Ohio State University and a Ph.D. from Michigan State University. Prior to assuming his appointment as Director of the Speech and Hearing Section in the Department of Communication at The Ohio State University, Dr. Hardick was Professor and Associate Director of the Speech and Hearing Clinic at Michigan State University and Director of Aural Rehabilitation Services in the Department of Audiology, School of Medicine, Wayne State University.

Dr. Hardick received many honors during his career. He was a Fellow of the American Speech Language and Hearing Association in 1970 and in 1972 was awarded the Outstanding Alumni Award from the Michigan State University College of Communication Arts Alumni Association. He was President of the Academy of Rehabilitative Audiology in 1974-75 and in 1983 was awarded the Honors of the Academy for service and meritorious contributions to the organization.

Research in the area of aural rehabilitation was the major thrust of Dr. Hardick's career. He authored or wrote several chapters for 3 widely used text books on this topic and numerous articles in the area of amplification and rehabilitation.

Organizations to which Dr. Ed Hardick contributed and was a member include the American Speech Language and Hearing Association; The Michigan Speech and Hearing Association; the Academy of Rehabilitative Audiology; the A.G. Bell Association for the Deaf; and the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Dr. Hardick was a teacher with genuine concern for his students and was thus instrumental in their success in both the academic and clinical realm. Dr. Hardick contributed significantly to the development of the current Speech-Language and Hearing Clinic, to the Speech and Hearing academic unit he served, and to the quality of The Ohio State University.

On behalf of the University, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family its deep sympathy. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as an expression of the Board's heartfelt sympathy.

Fred R. Keeler

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on December 2, 1987, of Fred R. Keeler, Instructor Emeritus in the Cooperative Extension Service.

Mr. Keeler was born on October 7, 1895, in Lynchburg, Ohio. He received his B.S. in Agriculture from The Ohio State University in 1918; then spent eight years teaching Vocational Agriculture.
March 3 and 4, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

Mr. Keeler began his Extension experience when he joined the faculty at The Ohio State University in 1926 as a County Agricultural Agent in Ross County. He continued in this position until his retirement in 1956. Upon his retirement he was named Instructor Emeritus. During his employment with the Cooperative Extension Service, he served as President of the Ohio County Extension Association in 1944. Mr. Keeler was respected by his peers and associates throughout the State as he worked to provide excellent Extension educational programs for the citizens of Ross County.

On behalf of the University community, the Board of Trustees expresses its sympathy and understanding to the family of Mr. Keeler. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as an expression of the Board's heartfelt sympathy.

Dale H. Magleby

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on December 14, 1987, of Dale H. Magleby, Clinical Instructor in the Department of Radiology.

Dr. Magleby was born on August 16, 1923, in Idaho Falls, Idaho. He received his B.S. degree in 1948 and his A.B. degree in 1949 from the Idaho State College. Dr. Magleby served in the U.S. Army from 1943 to 1946.

Dr. Magleby graduated from George Washington University College of Medicine in 1953, served a year of internship at the Memorial Hospital in Phoenix, Arizona, from 1953 to 1954, and three years of residency in the Department of Radiology at The Ohio State University. He became a Diplomate of the American College of Radiology in 1957.

Dr. Magleby entered private practice at Mt. Carmel Hospital in Columbus where he was the Director of Radiology for the past 15 years. Dr. Magleby kept his faculty appointment as a Clinical Instructor in the Department of Radiology of The Ohio State University College of Medicine and participated in the didactic activities of Radiology at The Ohio State University and also at Mt. Carmel Hospital where a significant number of medical students, interns and residents are rotating in clinical services. Dr. Magleby was a member of the American Medical Association; the American College of Radiology; the Radiological Society of North America; the Franklin County Academy of Medicine; and the Central Ohio Radiological Society.

Dr. Magleby will be missed by his professional colleagues and his many friends in the University and the radiological community particularly in Central Ohio.

On behalf of the University, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family its deep sympathy. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as an expression of the Board's heartfelt sympathy.

William Molnar

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on December 7, 1987, of William Molnar, Professor Emeritus in the Department of Radiology.

Professor William Molnar was born in Iglo, Hungary, on May 1, 1915. He graduated with an M.D. degree from the University of Budapest, Hungary, in 1942 and worked as a radiologist at the Nationalized Health Institute. Professor Molnar emigrated to the United States in 1950 and worked in the Department of Radiology at the Massachusetts Memorial Hospital in Boston from 1950 to 1951, and as an Instructor in Radiology at the Boston University School of Medicine from 1952 to 1954. He joined The Ohio State University in July 1954 as an Assistant Professor of Radiology. In 1957, he was promoted to Associate Professor and in 1961 to Professor. Upon his retirement in 1981, he was named Professor Emeritus.

During his long service as a Professor, Dr. Molnar contributed greatly in the teaching and clinical activities of the Department. His greatest contributions were made in the area of angiocardiography including coronary arteriography, as well as in radiological interventional procedures. His contributions were nationally acknowledged and published in several national peer review journals in more than 50 scientific publications. Some of his students serve as professors in several universities across the country.

Professor Molnar was a member of many professional societies among them the American Medical Association; the Ohio State Medical Association; the North American Radiological Society; the Franklin County Medical Society; and the Central Ohio Radiological Society. He was a Fellow of the American College of Radiology.

The Department of Radiology pays tribute to Professor William Molnar's many innovative contributions in the field of Radiology and to his many years of teaching particularly in the area of cardiovascular radiology.

On behalf of the University community, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family its deep sympathy and sense of understanding in their loss. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as an expression of the Board's heartfelt sympathy.

Enid C. Moore

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on January 16, 1988, of Enid C. Moore, Instructor Emeritus in the Cooperative Extension Service.

RESOLUTIONS IN MEMORIAM (contd)

Enid C. Moore (contd)

Mrs. Moore was born on September 3, 1907, in Baltimore, Ohio. She received her B.A. in Home Economics Education from Otterbein College in 1929; then spent five years as a Home Economics teacher in Wayne County, Ohio. From 1935 to 1939, she worked as a W.P.A. County Supervisor in Fairfield County. She spent eight years as a home supervisor for the Farmers Home Administration and Farm Security Administration serving Athens, Hocking, and Vinton Counties.

Mrs. Moore began her Extension experience when she joined the faculty at The Ohio State University in 1947 as a County Extension Agent, Home Economics in Scioto County. Mrs. Moore continued in this position until her retirement in 1975.

The National Association of Extension Home Economists presented Mrs. Moore the Florence Hall Award in 1966, for outstanding work in the delivery of home economics programs. She was a member of the American Association of University Women and the Soroptimist Club of Porstmouth, serving as President in 1973.

Mrs. Moore's contributions in providing excellent Extension educational programs during her career earned her the respect and admiration of her co-workers and many thousands of Ohio citizens throughout the length and breadth of Scioto County.

On behalf of the University community, the Board of Trustees expresses its sympathy and understanding to the family of Mrs. Moore. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as an expression of the Board's heartfelt sympathy.

Ralph S. Paffenbarger

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on January 21, 1988, of Ralph S. Paffenbarger, Professor Emeritus in the Department of Engineering Graphics.

Professor Paffenbarger was born April 25, 1894, in McArthur, Ohio. He completed his B.S. in Electrical Engineering in 1915, B.S. of Industrial Engineering in 1928, and M.S. in 1930 from The Ohio State University.

Professor Paffenbarger served as an Instructor of the Department of Engineering Drawing in October 1919; was promoted to Assistant Professor in 1923; to Associate Professor in 1930; and received the rank of Professor in 1936.

On July 1, 1944, he was appointed as Chairman of the Department of Engineering Drawing where he served as Chairman until his retirement in 1964. Upon his retirement he was named Professor Emeritus. In addition to his administrative and teaching duties he helped design and made the first seating plan for the Ohio Stadium prior to its dedication in 1922. He officiated at Ohio State track meets from the time Jesse Owens ran until well after his retirement, serving as Head Judge for most of those years. He co-authored numerous editions of college textbooks on engineering drawing. In 1977, he received the Distinguished Service Award for his dedication to the University.

Professor Paffenbarger was a member and secretary of The Ohio State University Athletic Board. He was a member and past president of the Columbus Rotary Club and The Ohio State University Faculty Club. He also was Past Commander of the American Legion and Past Master of University Lodge No. 631 F&AM where he served as secretary for many years. He was also a member of the Executives Council of Tau Beta Pi, the engineering honorary.

His professional organizations included American Society for Engineering Education where he served on various committees from 1944 through 1964. In 1956, he received the Distinguished Service Award for the Engineering Drawing Division of ASEE.

On behalf of the University community, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family its deepest sympathy. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as an expression of the Board's heartfelt sympathy.

Charles Roger Smith

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on December 31, 1987, of Charles Roger Smith, Dean Emeritus in the College of Veterinary Medicine.

Born in 1918 Hartville, Ohio, Dr. Smith attended Ohio University, and received his D.V.M. (1944), M.Sc. (1946) and Ph.D. (1953) from The Ohio State University. He began teaching at the veterinary college in 1944, and became Chairman of its Department of Physiology and Pharmacology in 1957. In 1969, Dr. Smith was named Director of the Office of Veterinary Medicine Education, a position he held until becoming Dean in 1973. Dr. Smith retired as Dean in 1980, but continued teaching part-time at the College until his death. Upon his retirement he was named Dean Emeritus.

Dr. Smith was a Charter Diplomate of the American College of Veterinary Internal Medicine (cardiology) and a Fellow of the American College of Veterinary Pharmacology and Therapeutics. He gained national and international recognition as an authority on comparative mammalian cardiovascular physiology and for his studies on the biology of the heart and cardiovascular diseases.

During his career, Dr. Smith published more than 100 scientific articles and wrote several textbook chapters. He was named the Ohio Veterinarian of the Year in 1979 and was presented with the College of Veterinary Medicine's Distinguished Alumnus Award in 1981.

On behalf of the University, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family of Dr. Charles Roger Smith its deep sympathy and sense of understanding in their loss. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as an expression of the Board's heartfelt sympathy.

Donald V. Unverferth

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on January 8, 1988, of Donald V. Unverferth, The James Hay and Ruth Jansson Wilson Professor in Cardiology and Assistant Director for Research Affairs, Division of Cardiology in the Department of Internal Medicine.

Dr. Unverferth was born on April 21, 1944, in Dayton, Ohio, where he spent the early years of his life. He attended The Ohio State University and was awarded a Bachelor of Science degree in 1966 and Doctor of Medicine in 1970. He served in the military from 1971 until 1973.

During his undergraduate days he was known by many for his outstanding performance as quarterback of the Ohio State football team from 1963 to 1965.

Dr. Unverferth completed his medical internship and residency at Ohio State, held a cardiology fellowship, and served as chief resident before joining The Ohio State University faculty in 1978.

In 1987, he was named to The James Hay and Ruth Jansson Wilson Professorship in Cardiology. He was the first to hold the position which was established for the purpose of honoring a distinguished cardiologist working in research, education, and disease prevention. Dr. Unverferth's work involved research on congestive heart failure, particularly cardiomyopathy, a sickness of the heart muscle.

Dr. Unverferth has authored numerous publications and was a fellow and member of several professional societies and university committees. Throughout his life, he actively devoted his time to professional and civic endeavors. He is especially remembered for his dedication and outstanding achievements in research and his outstanding attributes as a teacher and clinician.

On behalf of the University, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family its deep sympathy and sense of understanding in their loss. It was directed this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as an expression of the Board's heartfelt sympathy.

REPORT OF RESEARCH CONTRACTS, GRANTS, AND GIFTS (cont'd)

THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY RESEARCH FOUNDATION

Report - January 1988

Federal Research Contracts/Grants

$450,351.00 - Department of Education, Office of Postsecondary Education, Washington, D.C., Academic Facilities Program, Department of Biochemistry (G. A. Marzluf), University Libraries (W. J. Studer), Department of Communication (D. M. Dell), School of Natural Resources (C. B. Davis), and Research and Graduate Studies Administration (J. M. Hollander), 1 December 1987 through 31 July 1988. (Project 766521 - New)

$360,000.00 - Department of the Navy, Office of Naval Research, Arlington, Virginia, Joint Services Electronics Program (JSEP), Department of Electrical Engineering, ElectroScience Laboratory (L. Peters, Jr., P. H. Pathak, E. H. Newman, R. T. Compton and N. N. Wang), 1 October 1987 through 30 September 1988. (Project 766541 - Continuation)

$196,000.00 - Department of Health and Human Services, Public Health Service, National Institutes of Health, Bethesda, Maryland, Image Processing Equipment, Department of Surgery (J. F. Cornhill and S. R. Simon), College of Medicine - Administration (D. L. Fry), and Department of Otolaryngology (D. J. Lim), 11 January 1988 through 10 January 1989. (Project 766542 - New)

$150,000.00 - National Science Foundation, Washington, D.C., Glaciological and Climatological Analysis of the Past 2000 Years from Antarctic Ice Cores, Byrd Polar Research Center (E. Mosley-Thompson and L. G. Thompson), 1 July 1988 through 31 December 1988. (Project 764798 - Continuation)

March 3 and 4, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

REPORT OF RESEARCH CONTRACTS, GRANTS, AND GIFTS (contd)

THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY RESEARCH FOUNDATION (contd)

Federal Research Contracts/Grants (contd)

$128,691.00 - Department of Health and Human Services, Public Health Service, National Institutes of Health, Bethesda, Maryland, B(a)P-Metabolism and Modification of DNA in Human Skin Xenograft, Department of Physiological Chemistry and Comprehensive Cancer Center (G. E. Milo), 15 January 1988 through 31 December 1988. (Project 766549 - New)

$121,697.00 - Department of the Air Force, Air Force Systems Command, Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Ohio, Thermodynamic and Diffusivity Measurements in Potential Ultra-High Temperature Composite Materials, Department of Ceramic Engineering (J. D. Cawley) and Department of Metallurgical Engineering (G. R. St. Pierre), 1 October 1987 through 30 September 1988. (Project 766346 - Continuation)

$120,000.00 - Department of Agriculture, Science and Education, Washington, D.C., Regulation of Porcine Preadipocyte Growth and Use for Clone Production, Department of Animal Science - OARDC and Department of Animal Science (T. G. Ramsay and M. E. White), 15 September 1987 through 30 September 1990. (Project 766544 - New)

$120,000.00 - Department of the Air Force, Air Force Systems Command, Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Ohio, Modeling Cumulative Damage Processes in Composite Laminates, Department of Civil Engineering (R. S. Sandhu), 1 October 1987 through 30 September 1988. (Project 764779 - Continuation)

$111,000.00 - National Science Foundation, Washington, D.C., Structure, Dynamic Behavior, and Synthesis of Selected Solvated Carbanionic Substances, Department of Chemistry (G. A. Fraenkel), 1 December 1987 through 31 May 1989. (Project 765472 - Continuation)

$104,046.00 - Department of Education, Office of Special Education and Rehabilitation Services, Washington, D.C., Preservice Training for Ohio School Psychologists to Provide Related Services Promoting Placement in the Least Restrictive Environment for Students Who are Severely Handicapped, College of Education - Administration (T. M. Stephens), 1 June 1988 through 31 May 1989. (Project 766059 - Continuation)

$99,905.00 - Department of the Navy, Office of Naval Research, Arlington, Virginia, Mixing in Supersonic Shear Layers, Department of Mechanical Engineering (M. Samimy), 1 February 1988 through 31 January 1990. (Project 765931 - Continuation)
March 3 and 4, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY DEVELOPMENT FUND

Establishment of Named Funds

Edward Montgomery, Jr., Scholarship Fund

The Edward Montgomery, Jr., Scholarship Fund was established March 4, 1988, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from the estate of Edward E. Montgomery, Jr. (B.Mus. '69), Worthington, Ohio.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

Annual income shall be used to provide scholarships to entice and maintain talented music students to The Ohio State University Marching Band. If there is no marching band or OSU band into which it is merged, then the income shall be used for scholarship assistance for students of the College of The Arts, or its successor. Scholarship recipients will be selected by representatives of the School of Music in consultation with the University Committee on Student Financial Aid.

It is the desire of the donor that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity. If the need for this fund should cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then another use shall be designated by the Board of Trustees in consultation with the appropriate college dean, department chairperson, or program administrative officer in order to carry out the desire of the donor.

The Scott A. Webb Loan Fund

The Scott A. Webb Loan Fund was established March 4, 1988, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from the estate of Scott A. Webb.

The Scott A. Webb Loan Fund (contd)

The annual income shall be used to make loans to worthy students at The Ohio State University for the purpose of assisting them to obtain an education. The terms of the loans are under the jurisdiction of the University Committee on Student Financial Aid. Loan terms and application and repayment procedures will be consistent with other University loan procedures. Selection of the loan recipients will be made by the University Committee on Student Financial Aid.

It is the desire of the donor that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity. If the need for this fund should cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then another use shall be designated by the Board of Trustees in consultation with the University Committee on Student Financial Aid, in order to carry out the desire of the donor.

The Ethel Manley Long Fund

The Ethel Manley Long Fund was established March 4, 1988, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from Frank Clarke Long, Jr., M.D. (B.A. '32, M.D. '36), Columbus, Ohio.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used for programs and special events of The Wexner Center for the Visual Arts. All expenditures shall be approved by the Executive Director of the Wexner Center in consultation with the Dean of the College of The Arts.

It is the desire of the donor that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity. If the need for this fund should cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then another use shall be designated by the Board of Trustees in consultation with the appropriate college dean, department chairperson, or program administrative officer in order to carry out the desire of the donor.

Annual income shall be used for cancer research in the Arthur G. James Cancer Hospital and Research Institute. All expenditures shall be approved by the Medical Director of the Cancer Hospital and Research Institute in consultation with the Dean of the College of Medicine.

It is the desire of the donor that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity. If the need for this fund should cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then another use shall be designated by the Board of Trustees in consultation with the appropriate college dean, department chairperson, or program administrative officer in order to carry out the desire of the donor.

The Dean W. and Ruth Jeffers Cancer Research Endowment Fund

The Dean W. and Ruth Jeffers Cancer Research Endowment Fund was established March 4, 1988, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from Dean W. Jeffers, Columbus, Ohio.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to support cancer research in the Arthur G. James Cancer Hospital and Research Institute as approved by the Medical Director of the Cancer Research Institute and the Dean of the College of Medicine. If it is determined that funding for cancer research is so ample, then the income from this fund may be used for those purposes deemed appropriate by the Medical Director of the Cancer Research Institute.

It is the desire of the donor that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity. If the need for this fund should cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then another use shall be designated by the Board of Trustees in consultation with the appropriate college dean, department chairperson, or program administrative officer in order to carry out the desire of the donor.

REQUEST FOR CONSTRUCTION BIDS AND ESTIMATE OF COST – FUNDING

Resolution No. 88-95

Synopsis: Authorization to request construction bids is proposed.

WHEREAS the plans and specifications for the following projects have been completed and, at the request of the Vice President for Business and Administration, the President recommended that the Board of Trustees authorize the request for construction bids:

RHODES HALL ADMINISTRATIVE OFFICES

Project: Expansion of the existing first floor administrative offices to provide a total of ten offices and two conference rooms instead of the present five offices and one conference room; and renovation of the first floor entrance lobby and new reception desk. A new canopied entrance "air lock" vestibule is included to be bid as an alternate. This will provide weather protection for patients and visitors and will eliminate cold winds from penetrating the reception area.

Funding: University Hospitals Funds

Estimated Construction Cost: $599,500.00

Estimated Project Cost: $668,260.00
REQUEST FOR CONSTRUCTION BIDS AND ESTIMATE OF COST – FUNDING (cont'd)

BIOTECHNOLOGY CENTER RIGHTMIRE HALL – GROWTH CHAMBERS

Project: Renovation of approximately 3900 square feet in the basement of Rightmire Hall for the installation of fourteen growth chambers, including a new emergency generator and new electrical distribution center.

Funding: University Funds

Estimated Construction Cost: $425,000.00

Estimated Project Cost: $540,450.00

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That the President and/or Vice President for Business and Administration be authorized, in accordance with established University procedures, to request construction bids on these projects, and if satisfactory bids are received, to award the necessary contracts, with all actions to be reported to this Board at the appropriate time.

Upon motion of Ms. Casto, seconded by Mr. Barone, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous roll call vote.

REPORT OF AWARD OF CONTRACTS AND ESTABLISHMENT OF CONTINGENCY FUNDS

Resolution No. 88-96

Synopsis: Contracts have been awarded for the projects listed below to the lowest and best bidders in accordance with University procedures.

WHEREAS resolutions adopted by the Board of Trustees at previous meetings authorized the President and/or Vice President for Business and Administration to sign the plans and specifications and, in accordance with established University procedures, to request bids and, if satisfactory bids were received, to recommend to the Department of Administrative Services, Division of Public Works, the award of contracts for the Clinical Medical Services and Bee Laboratory Replacement projects as follows:

CLINICAL MEDICAL SERVICES

Description: This project provides for the construction of a four floor and basement addition providing space for clinical medical services which will serve all of the existing and proposed medical buildings contiguous to the east end of the existing University Hospitals, and the remodeling of existing spaces. This will provide an important link for cancer patients and operations between the main hospital and the Cancer Research Institute. The first floor will contain admitting offices, radiology and EKG testing areas; the second floor will house nuclear medicine, nuclear pharmacy and nuclear pharmaceutical research; the third floor will Synopsis: Providing for certain amendments to the First Supplemental Trust Indenture (the "First Supplemental Indenture"), dated as of December 30, 1985, between The Ohio State University (the "University") and The Huntington National Bank, as trustee (the "Trustee"), as amended by the Amendment Agreement (the "Amendment Agreement"), dated as of December 1, 1986, between the Trustee and the University, the Restated Standby Bond Purchase and Term Loan Agreement (the "Restated Standby Agreement"), dated as of December 1, 1986, between the University and The Industrial Bank of Japan, Limited, New York Branch (the "Bank"), and the Remarketing Agreement (the "Remarketing Agreement"), dated as of December 1, 1985, between John Nuveen & Co. Incorporated, as remarketing agent, and the University, for the purpose of permitting the assignment by the Bank of its obligations under the Restated Standby Agreement to The Industrial Bank of Japan, Limited, Chicago Branch (the "Chicago Branch").

WHEREAS on December 6, 1985, the Board of Trustees (the "Board") of the University adopted a resolution (the "Series 1985 B Bond Resolution") authorizing the issuance of the $42,500,000 The Ohio State University Variable Rate Demand General Receipts Bonds, Series 1985 B (the "Series 1985 B Bonds"); and AMENDMENTS OF RESTATED AGREEMENT, FIRST SUPPLEMENTAL INDENTURE
AND REMARKETING AGREEMENT — $42,500,000 THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY
VARIABLE RATE DEMAND GENERAL RECEIPTS BONDS, SERIES 1985 (contd)

WHEREAS the Series 1985 B Bonds are secured by a Trust Indenture, dated as of November 15, 1985, between the Trustee and the University (the "Original Indenture"), as supplemented by the First Supplemental Indenture; and

WHEREAS pursuant to the Series 1985 B Bond Resolution and the Original Indenture, as supplemented by the First Supplemental Indenture, the University and the Bank entered into the Standby Bond Purchase and Term Loan Agreement (the "Standby Agreement"), dated as of December 30, 1985, between the University and the Bank, for the purpose of providing liquidity support for the Series 1985 B Bonds; and

WHEREAS pursuant to the Original Indenture, as supplemented by the First Supplemental Indenture, the University and the Remarketing Agent entered into the Remarketing Agreement; and

WHEREAS on December 5, 1986, the Board of the University adopted a resolution authorizing the execution by the University of the Amendment Agreement and the Restated Standby Agreement for the purpose of amending the First Supplemental Indenture and the Standby Agreement, respectively; and

WHEREAS the Bank has requested the University to consent to (i) the assignment to the Chicago Branch of the Bank's obligations under the Restated Standby Agreement and (ii) the termination of all of the Bank's obligations thereunder; and

WHEREAS Section 12.7 of the Restated Standby Agreement permits assignment by the Bank of the Restated Standby Agreement, but provides that the Bank shall continue to be liable under the Restated Standby Agreement following any such assignment (the "Section 12.7 Assignment Restriction"); and

WHEREAS the Board has determined that it is an accommodation to the Bank consistent with the best interests of the University to waive the Section 12.7 Assignment Restriction and to authorize certain amendments to the Restated Standby Agreement, the First Supplemental Indenture, as amended by the Amendment Agreement, and to the Remarketing Agreement, for the purpose of assigning the Bank's rights and obligations under the Restated Standby Agreement to the Chicago Branch:

NOW THEREFORE

follows:

Section 1. Definitions and Interpretations. All words and terms defined in the Original Indenture, the First Supplemental Indenture and the Series 1985 B Bond Resolution and all interpretations therein provided shall have in this Resolution the same meanings, respectively, and be subject to the same interpretations as therein provided or used, unless the context or use clearly indicates another or different meaning or intent.

March 3 and 4, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

AMENDMENTS OF RESTATED AGREEMENT, FIRST SUPPLEMENTAL INDENTURE AND REMARKETING AGREEMENT — $42,500,000 THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY VARIABLE RATE DEMAND GENERAL RECEIPTS BONDS, SERIES 1985 (contd)

Section 2. Waiver of the Section 12.7 Assignment Restriction, Amendment of the Restated Standby Agreement, the First Supplemental Indenture, as Amended by the Amendment Agreement, and the Remarketing Agreement. The Chairman or the Treasurer are hereby authorized on behalf of the University, with advice of counsel, to consent to and take all necessary actions to waive the Section 12.7 Assignment Restriction and to amend the Restated Standby Agreement, the First Supplemental Indenture, as amended by the Amendment Agreement, and the Remarketing Agreement, for the purpose of assigning the Bank's rights and obligations under the Restated Standby Agreement to the Chicago Branch. In connection therewith, the Chairman or the Treasurer, with advice of counsel, may execute, on behalf of the University, any documents or certificates necessary to accomplish such waiver and assignment as shall not, in the Chairman or Treasurer's judgment, in any way impair the University's rights under the Restated Standby Agreement, the First Supplemental Indenture, as amended by the Amendment Agreement, or the Remarketing Agreement, or under any other agreement, document or certificate executed or delivered in connection with the issuance of the Series 1985 B Bonds.

Section 3. Text of Resolution. The text of this Resolution authorizing the execution by the Chairman or the Treasurer, on behalf of the University, of all documents and certificates necessary to accomplish the waiver and assignment and any acts related thereto, may be changed for the purpose of curing any ambiguity, inconsistency or formal defect or omission in this Resolution or in respect of this Resolution as it relates to such waiver or assignment. Such changes shall be subject to the approval of the Chairman or the Treasurer as being changes not inconsistent with the best interests of the University or contrary to the true intent or meaning hereof and shall be acceptable to Bond Counsel.

Section 4. Open Meeting Determination. It is found and determined that all formal actions of the Board concerning or relating to the adoption of this Resolution were adopted in an open meeting of the Board, and that all deliberations of the Board and of any of its committees that resulted in such formal action were in meetings open to the public, in compliance with all legal requirements including Section 121.22 of the Revised Code.

Section 5. Effective Date. This Resolution shall take effect and be enforced immediately upon its adoption.

Upon motion of Mr. Teaford, seconded by Ms. Casto, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous roll call vote.

ACCEPTANCE OF THE GIFT OF STOCK
COLUMBUS H.I., INC.
3110 OLENTANGY RIVER ROAD, COLUMBUS, OHIO
Resolution No. 88-101

Synopsis: Authorization to accept 100% stock ownership in Columbus H.I., Inc., (The University Inn) is being requested.

520
ACCEPTANCE OF THE GIFT OF STOCK
COLUMBUS H.I., INC.
3110 OLENTANGY RIVER ROAD, COLUMBUS, OHIO (contd)

WHEREAS the owners of Columbus H.I., Inc., desire to donate 100% of the outstanding stock of the corporation to The Ohio State University; and

WHEREAS the corporation consists of the assets and liabilities associated with The University Inn, a hotel located at 3110 Olentangy River Road, Columbus, Ohio; and

WHEREAS it is intended the corporation will retain its current legal form as a for-profit corporation; and

WHEREAS the renovation and modernization will result in a modern hotel and conference facility with 244 guest rooms and suites and 16,000 square feet of meeting and banquet space; and

WHEREAS the acceptance of this gift of stock is desirable and in the best interest of The Ohio State University:

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That the stock of Columbus H.I., Inc., be accepted as a gift to The Ohio State University through the Development Fund pending all appropriate legal and financial reviews; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That the Treasurer is authorized to retain the stock gift of Columbus H.I., Inc., for the University's Endowment Fund portfolio; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That the President and/or Vice President for Business and Administration be authorized to execute the necessary agreements in order for the corporation to refinance and renovate the hotel, including a guarantee by The Ohio State University Endowment Fund of one million dollars of the outstanding loan balance.

Upon motion of Mrs. Bowser, seconded by Mr. Barone, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution with five affirmative votes cast by Messrs. Redman, Barone, Kessler, and Mrs. Bowser and Ms. Casto, and a negative vote cast by Mr. Teaford, and an abstention by Mr. Immke.

President Jennings:

Thank you, Mr. Chairman. I've got one more item. As you know, we are in the process of a major curriculum review at Ohio State University, and it is one of the most important academic issues that we are currently engaged in, and I would like Dr. Brand to briefly update you as to where we stand on that issue. Myles, if you would?

Dr. Brand:

Yes, thank you for the opportunity. I'm very pleased to be able to report progress on the curriculum review. Let me briefly remind you of the process.
March 3 and 4, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

Dr. Brand: (contd)

A year ago last spring we set up a university-wide committee chaired by Professor Gerald Reagan to outline the conceptual framework for curriculum review at this University.

Unlike other universities, we are undertaking a complete curriculum review. We are looking at general education university-wide. We are also looking at the majors programs in every case, over 200, I should mention, and all the support and delivery services for education. So we're doing a full review.

That committee came forward with its report. The Arts and Sciences, the five colleges of Arts and Sciences, were then charged to form a committee to provide a model, at a conceptual level sufficient to be specific about the curriculum without yet talking about implementation.

That committee has been working very hard for almost a year now and has engaged the faculty completely in the debate. They have come forward with a first draft and expect by the end of the Spring Quarter to win acceptance from the faculty of a strong general education model, the first step in the process. That model will emphasize basic skills and competencies for all our students including writing and communication skills. It will assure that every student is scientifically and technologically literate, an important feature that's not shared by other curriculum reviews across the country. It will include a strong international affairs element, a language component, a strong social science component, as well as a strong humanities and fine arts component.

The faculty have been fully engaged in this process, as well as the students. We are now beginning to look forward to the implementation of the process in the next few years. Recently we had to Campus, as part of a lecture series, Ernest Boyer, who is from the Carnegie Foundation. Mr. Boyer is extremely knowledgeable about curriculum reforms across the country and indeed wrote a book recently, called College, that was very well received. Mr. Boyer had extremely laudatory things to say about our program, both its extent and its depth. I believe we're on the right track and I also believe that this will take Ohio State one step further towards greatness.

Mr. President, I'm very pleased about this proposal.

President Jennings:

Thank you, Myles. I appreciate those brief comments. The brevity of those comments should not indicate the lack of importance. This is one of the most important things going on at the University, not only now but in an historical context. It is a debate that is raging in academic circles across the country. It is a debate that has been engaged by virtually all segments of the educational community and the public, I might add, as well.

I'm also extremely pleased to point out that whether it's Ernie Boyer or Bloom at the University of Chicago, that the most current activities they've engaged in is the curriculum review and they have discovered what Ohio State has been engaged in for the past two years and indicated that Ohio State is substantially ahead of the rest of the country.

Now, at this time of the year in a university I know you're all aware, and the faculty is all aware, that we are now engaged in the planning process for the next fiscal year beginning in July of 1988. As Myles pointed out, the next steps of this curriculum will be taking place this coming fall, first steps being the development of the courses and experimental activity. I think it is important to point out not only to this Board but to the faculty, staff, and students that this is not only an extraordinarily important item, and a timely item, but this is going to be an expensive proposition as well. It is an expense that we recognize and it is an expense that should be made.

I want to indicate that when the budget material comes to you in May and June of this year, there will be a special allocation of $3 million to the Provost's Office to fund the costs associated with this curriculum. Those costs are going to involve not only course development, but will involve laboratory activity in the sciences and additional faculty as class sizes are smaller and more extensive. They will cut across the entire gamut of the institution. We expect the cost to be $3 million. It may go higher than that, but at this stage the 88-89 budget will include an allocation of $3 million to the Provost for specifically the costs associated with this curriculum. There will be additional new money, recurring money as well -- and I say recurring money, our folks know what recurring money is. That means they get it the following year, too, and the following year after that. That will be in the allocation. We can expect these costs to be well worth it, and well worth it to the future of this University, and well worth it to our most important clientele, namely the students of this Institution.

It is particularly timely that this freshman class of 1988 is the class of '92 where there will be a major celebration in Columbus, and this class will be engaged in that celebration. But they will be the first graduates of a major new curriculum that I think will lead the nation in undergraduate education.

Mr. Chairman, that completes my report.

Mr. Redman:

Okay. I would like to have committee reports, if any, from the Development Fund. Mr. Kessler?

Mr. Kessler:

No report.
March 3 and 4, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

Mr. Redman:

No report. The Research Board, Mr. Barone?

Mr. Barone:

We met yesterday and I will make that report at the June meeting, because I just gave a report at the last meeting.

Mr. Redman:

Very good. And the University Hospitals Board, Mrs. Bowser?

Mrs. Bowser:

We met last Thursday, February 25, and it was the first meeting we'd had using our new format of committee structure. As you know, we've gone through an evaluation and this is the first time that we have met with this new structure. It went very well for the first time, and you will probably be hearing more about it as we continue.

At our next meeting we plan to compare our Hospitals' effectiveness against other Big 10 hospitals with regard to the quality assurance and the various business measures. And I think, Mr. Kessler asked once, "You give us this information, but what is that compared to." So the Hospitals Board will be taking a look at that and hopefully we'll be sharing that with you.

Dr. Melchjian reported that the medical staff and the administrative leadership have been meeting regularly since January to discuss items of mutual concern related to budget reductions, bed allocation and census, and utilization of the nursing staff. We're also taking a look at the emergency department and the efficiency with which we're working there.

Mr. Covert reported to the Hospitals Board that the obstetrics and newborn patient care area has been licensed again by the Ohio Department of Health. And that the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals has given the hospital another full three-year accreditation. We really appreciate all the work that went into that, both from the medical staff and the administrative staff.

We continued on the Hospitals Board talking with Mr. Covert and his staff about the pressures, the financial pressures that are going to come to bear on the Hospitals this next year. It's sort of coming from different directions both with Medicare and Medicaid.

There was some announcement picked up by the press that lay-offs would be the way we would be handling this. We were assured that it wouldn't be across-the-board kinds of lay-offs, that this would be taken care of through normal attrition and retirement, and so on and so forth. But we're looking at everything in order to keep the costs in-line with what we know our income to be.
March 3 and 4, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

Mrs. Bowser: (contd)

And lastly, in our Board’s search for continuing education programs, next month we’re hoping to have a special meeting with Dr. William Cleverley, who is really an outstanding expert across the nation in hospital administration. He’s on our staff and we’ve never utilized his services. So we will be bringing him to the next Board meeting and discussing with him some of his ideas as to how we can financially —

Mr. Redman:

You mean the Hospitals Board?

Mrs. Bowser:

The Hospitals Board. That happens at Ohio State occasionally when we have a real expert right in our own backyard and we use other experts. We forget that we have someone on staff that’s traveling the country doing the same thing. So we’re looking forward to having Dr. Cleverley with us and utilizing his services. That’s my report.

Mr. Teaford:

Mr. Chairman, I think the changes that the Hospitals Board has made in terms of committees and everything are very much to be commended, and in fact maybe ought to emulated. But I think that we really need to call attention to what significant things the Hospitals Board has done over the last year in terms of their structure and improving the information they’re able to give us, and indeed the information that they themselves now know about the Hospitals and its administration.

Mr. Redman:

Well, I agree, Mr. Teaford.

Mrs. Bowser:

Thank you. It hasn’t been without a certain amount of pain.

Mr. Redman:

Any comments about Mrs. Bowser’s report? If not, I had a couple of items. I’d like to ask Mr. Ihrig to review the MedOhio financial statements of — did you give these to the other members of the Board, Mr. Ihrig?

Mr. Ihrig:

The Members of the Fiscal Committee had them and I apologize for not having copies for the other Board Members.

Mr. Teaford:

Perhaps you can send those to us.
March 3 and 4, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

Mr. Ihrig:

Yes. The period of seven months through January 31, the operations of the MedOhio are running under the projected budget, as they have been and they're taking actions to make sure that these come closer to budget. The actual year-to-date detail, averaged daily, are running around 165 versus a budget of 200. And that's resulted in a loss during the seven month period of $436,500, versus a projected loss of $154,000.

As of December, the Great Western facility was closed as was in the original plan to eventually close that facility and look for other opportunities for that based on the actual volumes that they had seen before and were projecting on that. The amount of referrals from those facilities -- the Hospitals Board at the last meeting was provided information regarding referrals. There were a total of 1,241 referrals during the July through January period, of which 48 per cent, or 596, were referred to University Hospitals.

If you look at the data without the emergency room referrals, since they would be referred to the nearest hospital facility, the per cent of referrals to Ohio State increases to 52 per cent. That ranges from a high of 83 per cent from the Upper Arlington facility, down to a low of 32 per cent form the Great Western facility. And most of those -- the orthopedics and related services received the most referrals followed by the emergency department, otolaryngology, dermatology and neurology. So there are referral activities going on, and the operation of the facilities -- trying to bring in the expenditures to the level of revenues -- continues. The Hospitals have just recently entered into the new agreement with another physicians group who will do the operation, the medical operation, of these facilities. They're looking for a significant turn around, not only in the number of visits, but also in the number of referrals to University Hospitals.

Mr. Redman:

Do you recall, Mr. Ihrig, when we decided to engage in this activity and invest $6 million in it, that we said at the time that we anticipated losses in the first couple of years?

Mr. Ihrig:

That's correct.

Mr. Redman:

But that the primary function was to help the medical department with referrals for basic medical services that seem to be declining at the University Hospitals. Is it realistic to assume that if someone is in Reynoldsburg, that they're going to be referred to Ohio State University and drive past Grant and Mercy or several other hospitals to get here?

Mr. Ihrig:

I think that depends on the medical specialty. In terms of
March 3 and 4, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

Mr. Ihrig: (contd)

emergency treatment, they will go to the nearest facility that can provide the service.

Mr. Redman:

So they wouldn't come here?

Mr. Ihrig:

Not for an emergency, but for other types of referrals that are on a nonemergency basis. Based upon the physician's evaluation in order to have those services done, then I think that the large majority of the referrals can be expected to come to University Hospitals, because "it isn't a case of having to get to the nearest facility." It's the physician that is needed and the type of medical service that they need that predominates in that instance.

Mr. Redman:

Has anybody made a survey of the people that actually attend your -- I suppose most of the Board knows it -- I used to be connected with Big Bear. We were continuously conducting surveys of the women that shopped in the stores, why they were there, why they didn't go there, why they shopped other stores, why they went to Kroger's, or whether it was because it was nearer, or the prices were better, or what.

Don't you think it might be appropriate to make some sort of survey of our own people here? And also it seems to me that MedOhio is not very well-known throughout the community, so that it seems to me we need to upgrade our advertising, or promotion, or something, to approach it in a business-like way.

Mr. Barone:

Professional.

Mr. Ihrig:

I agree with you, Mr. Redman. And the Hospitals, as they reported, are looking into taking steps along those lines, both looking at the cost side as well as looking at what is attracting people to MedOhio, and how to upgrade the number of people coming to the facility.

Mrs. Bowser:

They've been looking at that very issue. The first report they brought to us the Board didn't feel that it was comprehensive enough, that there were too few people interviewed. Dr. Jennings can back me up on this.

President Jennings:

Yes.
March 3 and 4, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

Mrs. Bowser:

They need to go back and do some more work before it is acceptable to us.

Mr. Redman:

Who did the interviewing, Mrs. Bowser?

Mrs. Bowser:

There's someone on staff now.

President Jennings:

Someone on staff, it was a very small sample. But the key was, on the general marketing plan, that in some areas it was far too broad a plan and in other areas was far too narrow. I hasten to add that our struggles on this involve the marketing of the overall Hospitals facilities.

Mrs. Bowser:

That's right.

President Jennings:

MedOhio will be an important piece of that, but a piece of that. We've asked our sales people in the Hospitals to come back with a revised proposal on the marketing of the Hospitals in general.

Mrs. Bowser:

I think there are two comments. If you may notice, if you watch TV, there is quite a bit of marketing of local hospitals done. And I think Ohio State -- and I don't have anybody here to comment to back me up -- I think we're looking at a way to market in keeping with our mission and our goal here, which is a little bit different than the private hospitals. One of the success stories, and Scottie can back me up on this, is our in-house insurance program which you call UAHP. This has had phenomenal success. So we know we have a good thing here. What we need to do is tell that story. I think a plan was proposed and it stopped with Dr. Jennings, who has now put himself in the marketing field and said no, this isn't the way we want to go, go back and work this out a little bit. We had quite a discussion at the last Board meeting about it.

Mr. Kessler:

Mr. Chairman?

Mr. Redman:

Yes, Sir.
March 3 and 4, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

Mr. Kessler:

In reading the statements -- and I know we were concerned when we made the investment -- in looking at the numbers, our losses are greater than we had projected by $300,000. I think it might be appropriate, Weldon, either through you or through our representatives on the Hospitals Board, to ask at a meeting in the next couple of months maybe to have them report to us on what they're doing about it to get back to their projection, as well as how they are marketing. That may go into a broader issue which you're touching on now, how we're marketing the whole Hospitals. I think this is a marketing problem more than a cost containment problem. So I think it would be appropriate, Mr. Chairman, maybe to ask Mr. Immke and Mrs. Bowser to ask the Hospitals to come back to us within the next couple of months with a complete review of the marketing plan, with the Hospitals included specifically.

Mrs. Bowser:

I just don't want you Trustees to think we aren't working on it. We are working, but we aren't satisfied with the plan that's come before us so far.

Mr. Redman:

I think, Mrs. Bowser, the only judgment we can render is when we look at the statements, they're not good. We entered into it with our eyes open --

Mrs. Bowser:

That's right.

Mr. Redman:

It was totally laid out, but we did have certain expectancies. I'm only making a suggestion in the hope that it will help. When I was on the Turnpike Commission some years ago, we continuously received complaints about the food service in the restaurants. There are 17 of them and 241 miles. It's a captive audience if you're on the turnpike and you're 50 miles from nowhere.

Mrs. Bowser:

Same way with the Ohio State Parks. I know about food service.

Mr. Redman:

And it got so bad that the Commission decided to put our own inspectors out. Now, I suggest that whoever does your marketing survey should not be from the administration. We had our inspectors report directly back to the Commission. They didn't know when they went in, who they were, and it's surprising how quickly some of the restaurant operations shaped up. Now, we finally decided that we wouldn't give the whole turnpike to any one franchisee. We split it up, and it took a lot of steps. It took a year to get it straightened out, but it was bad, it really needed help. That's what I'm thinking here, it's not the same type thing, I'm only saying that your marketing survey is where we need some help.
March 3 and 4, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

Mr. Redman: (contd)

Mrs. Bowser:

We'll take those comments back.

Mr. Teaford:

Mr. Chairman, too, I want to add something to what you had said before. I believe the principal reason we did this was an educational one. It might be useful to include in that report how we are doing on the educational mission of having MedOhios. I think we had no illusion that this wasn't -- we weren't going in this for the profit; we were going in this for educational purposes. I think that should be included in any report.

President Jennings:

Thank you, Mr. Teaford, that's a very important comment. That's one of the reasons that we were not satisfied with the marketing plan. It had a business emphasis only and not the educational and referral emphasis -- which is really the key -- to get our medical students, our residents, and our interns into an environment that is not just tertiary care. Because everyday our University Hospitals is becoming more of a tertiary care center. We want our students exposed to heart transplants, bone marrow transplants, major cancers, and so forth; but we also want them to be exposed to the common cold, pneumonia, and to appendectomies. Though you've all heard the speech before, we did a thousand heart procedures last year and only 17 appendectomies. When our students graduate, they're more likely to see an appendectomy than they are a heart procedure. And we need to have that balance. Thank you.

Mr. Redman:

If there's no other discussion, then I think we should put that in the minutes, Mr. Secretary, and ask the Hospitals Board to do as Mr. Kessler has requested.

I want to report on the Hospitals billing in response to Mr. Teaford's earlier instruction. I must say that it's been sort of like the tortoise and the hare, we haven't really dashed out there and gotten this job done. I must admit that it has complexities, and the doctors who are involved in it want to be sure that they don't end up on the short end of the stick. Dr. Tzagournis told me that Arthur Andersen had made a report. But when I met with the Price Waterhouse folks, I told them that I thought they should come back now with some sort of a detailed plan within 90 days. And the reason I said 90 days, was because of the fact that I'm going to be gone from here in 90 days. My term expires in May, and hopefully we would have something concrete to give the Board. We could have a fix on what it is we're going to do or we're not going to do, we're going to have a plan or we're not going to have a plan, and let's get it down on paper so everybody can look at it. If the doctors have complaints, let's get those all in this process before we develop the plan.
March 3 and 4, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

At the May meeting I hope to give you something that will spell out precisely how this is to be done. Now, it won't have all of the "T's" crossed and the "I's" dotted because it will take perhaps six months to install anything that everybody agrees on. It's not an easy task, but I think it's time that we get our teeth into it and have something specific to show how we're going to do it, and if we're going to do it, and everybody gets a chance for some input. So hopefully I'll have another meeting or two with the committee. They've requested that I do so. And I'm willing to help. Because I told the Price Waterhouse people I wasn't going to make the installation, because if I was, I would hope to get paid, you know. But I will be glad to participate and help in any way that I can. I think I can be helpful, but I'd like to get it done before I depart.

Arno Penzias is vice president of research at AT&T Bell Laboratories. His work at Bell Laboratories has included research in radio communications and related areas. He was among the scientists that worked on the pioneering Echo and Telstar® communications satellite experiments. Renowned for his scientific work in radio and astronomy, Arno Penzias shared the 1978 Nobel Prize in physics for his contribution in discovering evidence that supports the "big-bang" theory of the origin of the universe.

Penzias maintains close ties with the academic community and has held adjunct appointments at Princeton, Harvard, and SUNY Stony Brook. While he still conducts some personal research in astrophysics, the main focus of his current work is on the creation and effective use of information technology in society.

A native of Munich, West Germany, Penzias' college education began at the City College of New York, where he received a Bachelor of Science degree in 1954. After two years of service as an officer in the U.S. Army Signal Corps, he returned to college and earned both his master's and doctoral degrees from Columbia University. He has also received a number of honorary degrees and is the only American to hold an honorary doctorate from the Paris Observatory.

He is a member of the National Academy of Science and a number of other scientific and professional organizations. Penzias is a vice chairman of the Committee of Concerned Scientists, a national organization devoted to working for the political freedom of scientists in various countries. Ohio State welcomes him as speaker for this 303rd Commencement and is proud to honor him with a Doctor of Science degree for his lifetime of scientific achievement.

THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY
OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS OF THE
ONE THOUSAND TWO HUNDRED AND FORTIETH MEETING
OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES

Columbus, Ohio, April 7 and 8, 1988

The Board of Trustees met at its regular monthly meeting on Thursday, April 7, and Friday, April 8, 1988, at The Ohio State University Fawcett Center for Tomorrow, Columbus, Ohio, pursuant to adjournment.

* * *
Minutes of the last meeting were approved.

* * *
April 7 and 8, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

The Chairman, Mr. Redman, called the meeting of the Board of Trustees to order on April 7, 1988, at 6:30 p.m. He requested the Secretary to call the roll. The meeting recessed into Executive Session for the purpose of considering legal issues and personnel-related matters.

Mr. Redman reconvened the meeting on April 8, 1988, at 10:15 a.m.

Mr. Redman announced the appointment of the following persons to the Nominating Committee:

John W. Berry, Chairman
Shirley D. Bowser
Hamilton J. Teaford

Dr. James C. Garland, Chairperson of the Department of Physics, and two of his colleagues, will give a presentation on Materials Science.

Dr. Brand:

Mr. Chairman, may I take a moment to introduce them?

Mr. Redman:

Yes.

Dr. Brand:

Recently, the news media reported on major new discoveries in high temperature superconductors. Although these amazing new materials have drawn unusual public interest they also highlight, in a very dramatic way, how important new materials are in our modern society. Major advances in materials research in the past decade include, in addition to the discovery of high temperature superconductivity, the development of a new chemical process for producing novel ceramics and alloys, the miniaturization of electronic devises, the development of optical methods for data transmission, and the introduction of biomaterials relevant to a wide variety of modern applications.

Materials research is now emerging as a coherent field of research in itself. A vital combination of many traditional disciplines ranging from solid-state physics and polymer chemistry to metallurgy and mechanical engineering. Work in this field combines the intellectual challenges of the most fundamental problems in mathematics, chemistry, physics, and many areas of engineering. This field encompasses the excitement of improving the quality of life for the 21st century. It is increasingly clear to many of us that research in materials is essential to the health of all U.S. industries, including those in the State of Ohio.

Today, I have asked three Ohio State faculty members to brief you on materials research here. These faculty members are playing a key role in our rapidly developing and expanding efforts in materials research. Professor James Garland is currently Chairperson of our Physics Department. He is an authority on superconductivity in composite materials. Jim is a former Director of the Ohio State Materials Research Laboratory and a former Acting Vice President of Research and Graduate Studies. Jim received his bachelor's degree from Princeton, his Ph.D. in experimental solid-state physics from Cornell, and has been at Ohio State for eighteen years.

Professor Dennis Readey is the Chairperson of the Department of Ceramic Engineering and is a nationally renowned expert on ceramic materials. Dennis joined Ohio State in 1977, as a full professor, and before that time he was senior scientist and manager of the Rاثion Company. He has also been with the Department of Energy in Washington.

And, Dr. Arthur Epstein is both a Professor of Physics and a Professor of Chemistry. Art came to Ohio State in 1985 from Xerox. He is a leading researcher in new materials based on polymers and also on the new high temperature superconductors. Art did his undergraduate work at Brooklyn Poly Tech and received his master's and Ph.D. degrees in solid-state physics from the University of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen, if you would --

Dr. James Garland:

Thank you. It is really a pleasure to come before you all and talk about this subject which is not only dear to my own heart, but that of many of my colleagues at the University, in several different colleges and many departments.

From the earliest days of civilization human beings have used materials made of various substances in order to provide themselves with a more hospitable environment. Because early man had only a very rudimentary understanding of matter, and of the laws that govern matter, they were pretty much stuck with using substances that occurred naturally in nature: wood, stone, earth, and later -- as we were able to refine materials into their basic elements -- iron, copper, gold, and some of the other elements. These materials were used to provide shelter, clothing, containers for food and water, tools, and weapons.

Dr. Garland: (contd)

As society advanced people learned primarily through trial and error, to combine these natural substances together to make synthetic substances. These synthetic substances had properties that were better than the natural occurring. For example, the Romans had an early form of concrete, there are Japanese swords many hundreds of years old that are made of a form of tempered steel.

But the real advance came with the discovery that matter was made of atoms; that atoms were the basic building blocks of nature; that atoms could be formed together to make solids, liquids, and molecules; and that there were basic fundamental laws that guided the way atoms interacted with one another. This knowledge of the atomic nature of matter laid the groundwork for scientists and engineers to make enormous progress in the fabrication and application of materials.

Up to the 20th century, materials were used almost exclusively for structural purposes, and such considerations as strength, hardness, corrosion-resistance were the primary concern. In the 20th century, we discovered that we could exploit exotic materials for these electrical, magnetic, and thermal properties as well. While we have not lost site of their applications for structured purposes — and I point to certain Teflon and various graphite deposits as examples — we now use materials also for their electrical and electronic properties. For example, silicon, germanium, and gallium arsenide are all examples of materials which are used not because they can contain anything or support anything, but simply because they have desirable electrical properties.

Dr. Brand alluded to superconducting ceramics — the so called high temperature superconductors that have very much caught the public fancy. That subject is a nice example of materials research at its most sophisticated. For example, let me show you a drawing — this is a hand made transparency that was used at a Physics meeting last month — of the crystal structure of one of the new high temperature superconductors. We have learned that these new superconductors are made up of crystals that are unbelievably tiny — only a few atoms across. This drawing of various colored balls refers to different kinds of elements that go into making up this crystal. Notice how complicated the crystal is, how the atoms organize themselves into regular, repeating patterns. If we were to go into this crystal and pluck out that little green oxygen atom right there, superficially we haven't changed the material at all. It still looks the same, feels the same, weighs about the same, has the same texture, but it is no longer a superconductor. It is now an insulator, like an ordinary piece of glass.

In a sense, the development of this type of material is analogous to microsurgery, but instead of using scalpels to do the surgery we are using the tools of electron microscopes, fourier transform spectrometers, and molecular beam epitaxy machines — ultra-sophisticated and ultra-expensive surgical tools.
April 7 and 8, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

Dr. Garland: (contd)

Why do we make this kind of effort? The reason is that advanced materials are at the very foundation of a modern technological society. Here is an example from the space shuttle. The space shuttle is really the embodiment of modern materials research. Titanium alloys and graphite fiber composites are used for structural purposes, providing incredible strength with very light weight. The Challenger disaster was attributed to a failure of a material, the "O" rings in the booster rockets. Materials research is a part of the development of this kind of machine. Here I have listed some of the more exotic materials that are used in the electronics in the space shuttle -- the guidance mechanism, the control, the communication.

What do we mean by the phrase "materials research?" It's a little bit confusing, because the phrase embodies many different traditional academic specialties, crossing the boundaries between those specialties. Here is my flow chart that explains what materials research is in the context of Ohio State.

This green list shows some of the academic departments and some of the subspecialties within those departments where materials research is done. But the point I want to emphasize is that materials research, unlike most of the traditional research areas, really is a team effort. It requires scientists and engineers to work together, learning to speak a common language, and sharing their expertise. It is clear to me that all major universities have to make major initiatives into this general area if we are really going to contribute to the advancement of our civilization.

Now, I think next on the schedule is Dennis Readey, who is going to go into a little more detail about materials research -- what it is and how it fits into programs at Ohio State.

Professor Dennis Readey:

Thank you, Dr. Garland. As Jim pointed out, I am going to try and tell you a bit more about what constitutes Materials Research and Application and its importance at Ohio State and why it is particularly important at this time.

This definition of Materials Research and Applications shown in the overhead was developed by the National Academy of Sciences. The key here is that it is a "multidisciplinary" activity, as Jim pointed out, developed only during the last three decades. It deals with the generation and application of knowledge relating to the composition, the structure, and processing of materials to their properties and use. I can illustrate that by looking at the use of materials from the beginning of man on this Earth. The interesting thing is that we have described various periods of man's civilization by the materials that we have used. The Stone Age existed up to about 5,000 B.C.; the Bronze Age up to about 1,000 B.C.; at which time the Iron Age began. It lasted up to about 1900. I will define the Materials Age as starting about 1900 for the following reasons. In 1700 - 1800, different materials were being made by altering their compositions. It was not known exactly what was happening, but it was discovered that by changing compositions one could change the properties of materials. So the effect of composition on properties was becoming known during this period.

In the mid-1800's, the chemists began looking at the structure of molecules. So the concept of the effect of structure on properties started to become important. About 1863, metallurgists began looking at the structure of metals and rocks using microscopes -- examining the structure at a different level. So we had developed in about 1900, the ability to look at the structure at a microscopic-level and a compositional-level.
Interestingly enough, this is when some of the various academic disciplines in materials got started. Metallurgical engineering began about 1850, and, of course, you all know that ceramic engineering, as an academic discipline, was started here in 1894 at Ohio State by General Orton, the son of the first President of the University. So Ohio State has been a leader in the materials field from its inception.

Right after the turn of the century, the discovery of x-rays and the ability to examine the structure of crystals occurred. Now the investigation of structure at the atomic level gave all the tools necessary to identify the structure materials and relate structure to properties. As a result, from then on, the structure/properties relationship for a wide variety of materials was developed. In 1947, the development of the transistor was probably the first major success in the field of materials research and applications. Since that time, has come the development of analytical instruments and computers, largely because of the development of the transistors, which now allow us to tailor materials such as metals, ceramics, polymers, electronic materials, and composites at the atomic level

How this is done is depicted in the next transparency. I have tried to describe here, in the form of tetrahedral arrangement, the interacting between the synthesis of materials characterizing those materials by determining their properties. And the one thing that allows us to do that better today than ever before is the wide range of analytical instruments that are now available.
Likewise, the existence of computing capabilities such as the supercomputer facility here at Ohio State allows us to perform theory and modeling experiments at the atomic level. We can now design materials at the atomic level and determine if they really work the way the model predicts. Of course, that leads to application -- what we use materials for, what are the required properties for that material.

This next overhead shows the overall process for the development of a material having a given set of properties for a certain application. For example, we may want mechanical strength, or specific electrical, magnetic or optical properties. These in turn are determined by the structure. The chemical structure or composition, crystal structure, and the microscopic structure in turn are determined by the fabrication processes.
The interaction between processing, structure, and properties of materials leads to this interdisciplinary approach. It requires people from many different academic disciplines to be involved in the development and processing of new materials. In this particular viewgraph, I have tried to illustrate this in terms of three concentric circles. The outer one being the directly applied field such as: engineering, leading to applied sciences, and finally basic sciences. This cross-hatched or the gray area is the area covered by Materials Research and Applications. You can see it covers chemistry, physics, mathematics, metallurgy, ceramics, polymers, and a number of departments in engineering. As Dr. Garland pointed out, these are all academic disciplines that we have here at Ohio State -- all parts of materials research in engineering. This is one of the advantages of a large multidisciplinary university such as Ohio State.

The application of new materials generated by materials research "enables" the development of new or the improvement of old technologies. Jim gave the example of the space shuttle, here is the example of optical communications -- fiberoptics. This viewgraph shows a single glass fiber. The major breakthrough here was attaining a purity of this glass purer than semiconductive materials. As a result, one can transmit optical signals over long distances. Optical signals can transmit much more information than normal electric signals. So this single fiber essentially replaces all these copper wires in communicating or transmitting the same amount of information.

Given the importance of materials in current applications, the future applications from materials are even more important. Here is an example of laser fusion. This is an instrument at the Lawrence Livermore Laboratory in California which is -- these are laser banks here -- using lasers to generate small thermonuclear explosions which generate energy by nuclear fusion. One of the key breakthroughs was the development of laser glass. This is a piece of laser glass in one of these lasers that was developed by Owens-Illinois in Toledo. Another future application that is going to depend very strongly on the development of improved materials is another area of energy generation, also nuclear fusion using so-called magnetic confinement techniques. This is a picture of a Tokomak reactor. In order for this fusion process to operate properly, you need magnets made of high temperature superconductors. And we know now, in the last year, high temperature ceramic superconductors are possible. However, much work has to be done now in developing these into useful materials to make devices such as nuclear fusion a possibility.

I will now turn the presentation over to Dr. Epstein, who will show you some examples of new materials.

Dr. Arthur Epstein:

Thank you, Dennis. We are focusing here today on materials and their development and their impact on society. I thought it might be useful to show you some examples of new materials. It is hard to bring an entire laser fusion facility in here or bring in a space shuttle, but we thought we would focus on two kinds of classes of materials -- ceramics and plastics or polymers. They are two of the many kinds of new materials that are being studied now that have impact and an understanding of science and the development of new technologies.
April 7 and 8, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

Specializing to ceramics and plastics, these materials are familiar to you, you have seen them before -- ceramics are the kinds of dishes you have at home, you drop them on the floor they break, they're brittle, these are the old fashion kinds of ceramics. Old fashion kinds of plastics are the old, cheap toys you had as a child, they would fall apart, they would melt very easily. An old plastic bag -- you went to a supermarket 15 years ago and they would give you a plastic bag with a carton of milk in it. You would shutter because you knew that carton of milk was going to break right through the plastic bag and be on the floor, spilling all over the place, all over your clothes, all over your car. You hated it -- you didn't want to see anything plastic.

Well, those are the old versions. They were brittle, they were weak, they did not conduct electricity, they were insulators. I brought along several examples to show you how in these two classes of materials things are changing very rapidly. We now have new compositions that are tough, they are strong, they can now have designed into them electrical or optical functions. You are welcome to come up here afterwards and look at these. If you look at the list, unbreakable dishes are new kinds of ceramics. I didn't bring any in you, all have them at home -- your Corell dinnerware, your unbreakable mugs. You know they are tough and you're not afraid to throw them at the radiator because they are not going to break.

As we go into higher technology -- this is an example of silicon carbide, the raw mineral. It is now possible to form this raw mineral into a turbo-charged rotor, such as this. And this turbo-charged rotor is now being tested in some Buick automobiles, I believe, as a turbo-charger. It has tremendous advantages over the normal metal turbo-chargers, because it is much lighter and therefore it can turn much more rapidly -- turn it on very quickly and get a fast start.

Moving over, this is an example of a zirconia scissor, which is made up of another kind of ceramic. It has an advantage in that it doesn't wear. I can be used to make cutting blades for a newspaper plant. It would cut the newspaper print and you wouldn't have to replace them very frequently at all. The Coors Company in Colorado, now makes a ceramic hammerhead as a demonstration to show their ability to control ceramics. They have handed these out to the carpenters in the Denver area as tests. I'm not quite sure how well the tests are going, but I guess you can always use it to open a can of Coors beer if you are really desperate.

Here is an example of a new kind of electrical function. I will put a little more liquid nitrogen -- liquid air -- into it. These other ceramics are very strong and tough, but they are insulators and they do not conduct electricity. More recently we are learning how to incorporate electrical or electronic functions into ceramics. That can be of great importance. Here we have an example of new high temperature superconductors. We call them high temperature because we did get them to be superconducting by using only liquid air, which is very cheap, very inexpensive and not difficult to control. You can see right now here in the room — what we have is a small demonstration here of a magnet which can levitate on top of the superconductor. You are welcome to come up and take a look at that. You can see it sitting on top of the magnet.

Moving on from the ceramics to the other class of materials we are going to discuss — plastics. Plastics, as I mentioned earlier, were these very weak materials, they aged in the sunlight and turned very brittle. Here is an example of a nonbrittle plastic. If we take an Ohio State bag, you can no longer tear it so easily. You can load it up with real heavy text books from Physics and Chemistry and Engineering and it doesn't break. It's because we have learned how to control the order of the atoms in a polymer for our plastics so they are very tough and very strong.

Another example of very tough and very strong is to use some epoxy plastic reinforced with fiberglass to make a spring. And this new light weight spring is going into Corvettes. It saves about 200 to 300 pounds in the weight of the car. It also does not rust. Both of these kinds of materials do not conduct electricity. You can now also design electrical functions into plastics. I have an example of a plastic called polyacetylene which can now be made almost as conducting as copper. In fact, it is more conducting than copper on a weight basis, depending on how much it weighs. It will have applications in things such as a space shuttle or an air craft, and possibly even light weight wiring in automobiles. You can take these plastics and you can form them into sheets and these sheets will have properties for example, of modulating optical signals or optical signal processing, or also for absorbing radar — if you want to make something invisible to radar. If you drape a cloth over a tank — you can drape a cloth of this type of material on it and you wouldn't be able to see the tank by radar.

The Japanese have taken some of these plastics and made rechargeable batteries out of them. This type of battery made of this plastic has a greater charge in it than nickel-cadmium batteries and doesn't have the toxicity problems of cadmium. Well, those examples are there for you to look at.

In the last year or two the major national societies have issued reports concerning the future of materials and materials research. Each of these major societies which are responsible for the broad administration of science and engineering in this country, the American Chemical Society, the American Physical Society, the National Academy of Sciences, the National Academy of Engineering, and the National Research Council have all concluded that it is essential to have a thrust in materials research in this country at this time. We are on the leading edge of new materials being developed and those materials affect us -- the consumer economy and also the high technology economy.

The importance of materials is indicated in the kinds of support that goes into their research and development. These are conservative numbers for the amount of money that is spent in doing research and development in the area of materials. I limit the numbers to only the kind of upstream research that one would do at a University, or at a basic research or applied research laboratory or company. The Federal government spends on the order of about $2 - $3 billion a year in research in materials. That number is easily ten times larger if you talk about engineering applications and prototype production -- those are much more expensive functions. For example, it would be $30 billion if we included making new kinds of experimental aircrafts, even larger if we threw in the entire space plane type project. But this is a very conservative number of just actually the development of the new materials themselves, rather than the prototypes. Similarly, in industry at least $10 billion a year is for the development of the materials. If we put in the numbers for the development of the prototypes, that number is ten times larger. There is a large investment in this area. That large investment is mimicked in other countries. The Ministry for International Trade and Industry has made materials a major priority in Japan, France, Germany, and most industrial countries at this time.

What are OSU activities? The departments involved are listed here. This is the same list that Jim Garland had, so I won't repeat them. They involve most of the departments in Engineering, as well as Applied Mathematics, Physics, and Chemistry. If we total it up, there are on the order of about 80 or 85 faculty that are currently involved, with about 200-300 graduate students. In consideration of the importance of materials at this time, the rapid advances and the thrust in other organizations in this direction, we need to move in the next year to enhancing this role, integrating it, and hiring new faculty to enhance this to bring in a greater range of activities and to make this an even stronger aspect.

Let me summarize our presentation then. Materials have a major role in the development of society. We saw how materials have been key in taking man from the Stone Age to the Bronze Age, to the Iron Age, to the Steel Age; and now to the Semiconductor Electronic Age, New Materials Age. We're now talking about fiberoptics, ceramics, polymers, and plastics. These ages are even described by the kinds of materials you use and those are rapidly changing.

Materials studies are highly interdisciplinary. It requires structuring a little bit differently in that it requires people to interact; to go between synthesis, processing, experiment, using new equipment, using theory, and using applications. Materials and their processes are leading to new technologies.
which are showing up both in the consumer market and in terms of high technology.

And, finally, what is going on is a major national and international thrust in materials at this time. It has been recognized that it is the underpinnings of new technologies, the underpinnings of exports, the underpinnings of society, in many ways, in that there is an increased investment in this area on a world-wide basis. And, finally, The Ohio State University has a substantial base in materials. It is among the ten leading institutions in terms of the production of graduate students, the kinds of research we do here, and our leadership position. But it is also important to build on that base, to invest in it, and to increase the number of faculty in order to move forward in that area. Thank you.

Dr. Brand:

Thank you, Gentlemen. It's clear that materials research is vitally important for our national competitiveness. I take it that it was noticed when Art indicated that Japan is making a tremendous investment in this area. It is not merely basic science research that is at issue, but also the development of these applications. We want to be able to enter into the new industries that are developing. It is good for our nation to develop in these areas, and it is very good for the State of Ohio. I think that the role of Ohio State, here, is especially important.

It is also noteworthy that everyone who spoke stressed that it is a team effort between two of our strongest colleges, Engineering and Math and Physical Sciences. We have a substantial competitive advantage on the national scene, because of the strength we have across many disciplines. Here is where the scale of Ohio State really works to our favor -- our ability to cross disciplines with strength. Opportunity is upon us now. We have strength now, but the field is changing rapidly. We are looking towards making a continued major effort in this area.

Let me leave you with one thought -- and that is the Sargent Preston of the Yukon principle for academic administration: "the scenery only changes for the lead dog." Thank you.

Mr. Redman:

Thank you, Dr. Brand.

Mr. Redman:

Let us then have the committee reports from the Development Fund Board of Directors. Mr. Kessler --
April 7 and 8, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

Mr. Kessler:

Thank you, Mr. Chairman. I would like to make a brief report on the Development Fund Board meeting on March 11.

Vice President Tobin updated the Board on the progress of the Campaign. As of February 29, 1988, Campaign receipts totaled $265 million or 76 percent of the $350 million Campaign goal. Mr. Tobin said all indications lead him to believe that by the end of this calendar year, more than $300 million of the $350 million Campaign goal will have been achieved.

The Board heard a report on planning for a Campaign mass appeal and discussed at great length the alumni survey to be used as a part of a possible mass appeal effort. They also heard a report on the Columbus Campaign which has raised $116.9 million, or 87 percent of its $135 million goal.

The next meeting of the Development Fund Board will be Monday, June 27, at the Fawcett Center.

Mr. Redman:

Thank you, Mr. Kessler. Are there any comments or questions? If not we will move to the Research Foundation Board of Directors,

Mr. Barone:

Thank you, Mr. Chairman. The Research Foundation met last in February for which I gave a report and a written report was entered. However, the contract between Children's Hospital and the Research Foundation was finalized at that time and Mr. Thompson gave a full report on the contents of that contract between Children's Hospital and the Research Foundation today. Our next meeting will be in June.

Mr. Redman:

O.K. Any comment? Thank you, Mr. Barone. We would like to hear from the University Hospitals Board.

Mrs. Bowser:

The Hospitals Board Executive Committee met in joint session with its Strategic Planning Committee on March 31. The members present received the Touche-Ross Management Letter and reviewed recommendations from the audit firm on improvements in the various systems. I think the University Trustees already received that letter in their packet of material. We reviewed the Administration's response to the recommendation and the Board asked for an update in September on the implementation of the changes. There were no major areas of loss or deficiencies.

The Strategic Planning updates were given by Dr. St. Pierre, Dr. Tzagournis, and Mr. Covert relative to the drafts of the College of Medicine and Hospitals portion of the Strategic Plan. Each individual highlighted recommendations for change from their constituent groups.

It was pointed out that one area of concurrence still needing to be finalized among faculty is a consensus on Centers of Emphasis. Both the College of Medicine Executive Committee and the Strategic Planning Committee will meet to finalize recommended changes in the plan so that the total plan can be presented to the President in the next few weeks. And then the President will take the steps to present it to the Board of Trustees. Both the College of Medicine and the University Hospitals Board has been working on the strategic plan for some time and they are right down now to -- and I think Centers of Emphasis were finalized yesterday, as far as the College of Medicine was concerned.

Following the Strategic Planning session, a review of operating statistics and monthly analysis of financial performance took place. The Board was also briefed on the growth of the University Alternative Health Plan by representatives from Mr. Scott's office. The Plan represents approximately two percent of the Hospitals' total business. It was an excellent summary. Congratulations are in order for both Mr. Scott and Dr. Tzagournis in the development of this program and the meeting of service needs. To date over 9,000 employees participate in the University's PPO.

The Hospitals Board reviewed the medical staff's "Do Not Resuscitate" policy as well as guidelines for the termination of life support systems. This issue has been of major interest to the Board and I believe Dr. Mekhjian and the Medical Staff Administrative Committee are to be commended for the development of guidelines in this most sensitive area.

Lastly, the Board had an opportunity to visit briefly with Dr. David Schuller, the new Medical Director for the Cancer Hospital. He shared some of his thoughts as he approached this particular position, and we look forward to his leadership in the development of our total cancer program at The Ohio State University Hospitals.

That is my report.

Mr. Redman:

Thank you, Mrs. Bowser. I had a couple of questions. One with regard to the financial report, did we get that?

Mrs. Bowser:

The Hospitals portion of that?

Mr. Redman:

Hospitals.
April 7 and 8, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

Mrs. Bowser:

I think we did when we met with the auditors last month.

Mr. Redman:

Can you, off the top of your head, tell me how our occupancy is?

Mrs. Bowser:

Well, I think, Mr. Covert --

Mr. Covert:

Our occupancy in terms of the open beds that we have at this point, Mr. Chairman, is 79 percent. Between 79 and 85, depending upon the day of the week.

Mr. Redman:

Are we going up or are we going down?

Mr. Covert:

No. In terms of admissions we are holding pretty much to what we expected this year. We, as you know, budgeted for approximately 28,650 or so admissions and we are ahead of that this year. We see ourselves being down in terms of our length of stay; where we had been at 8.2 days on the average, per patient stay now is someplace in the neighborhood of 7.7 to 7.9 days. So, our admissions are holding firm in Columbus and outside Columbus, but the length of time that people are in is shorter and that is what we are seeing nationally. That is pretty typical for hospitals not only in the area, but the country.

Mr. Redman:

Thank you. My second question, Mrs. Bowser, was about what I read in the newspaper about the helicopter. What is the latest withdrawal by one of our partners in that --

Mrs. Bowser:

Several of our partners, but Mr. Covert is our in-house authority on helicopters, let him --

Mr. Covert:

Approximately one month ago we had received an indication from St. Anthony's, I believe, that they were going to at least temporarily, if not permanently, pull out of the Consortium activity. They would continue to utilize the services of the sky and helicopter service specifically and would continue to contract to do that. Several weeks ago we received the same indication from Mt. Carmel. They would continue to contract and utilize the service, but as an investment in and of itself, they were not prepared to do that. Following that, we had a discussion with one hospital locally and several other groups that are reshowing their interest in establishing a consortium. Cleveland and Cincinnati are also interested in being investors in that activity. It would be a consortium or network of helicopters and there are other hospitals that either own or operate helicopters services presently.
April 7 and 8, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

Mr. Covert: (contd)

Mr. Redman:

Would that mean that they would participate in the operation at Ohio State or are you just going to ban together for administration?

Mr. Covert:

No, we would ban together at this point in some form of affiliation. We are looking at it from two standpoints -- from a financial standpoint, obviously, but at the same time from a care and a backup standpoint. You may not be aware of it, but at this time we do serve as backup for the University of Kentucky, as they also serve as backup for us. We also serve as a backup for Miami Valley, Dayton, and Cleveland Metro Life Flight out of Cleveland. We have had negotiations with the University of Cincinnati, as they are involved in their own helicopter service out there -- it's certainly a backup for each other. I anticipate that deal will be finalized.

Mr. Redman:

How are we doing on that financially?

Mr. Covert:

The helicopter service in and of itself is a loss at this point in time. That was expected to be the case. As you know, as we indicated, in terms of its direct operation, this would not be a money making --

Mr. Redman:

Well, we anticipated that when we entered the program, but the loss of our partners, I think, would bring into question whether the loss is beyond reasonable expectation.

Mr. Covert:

The additional loss, if that is the question you are asking, that will incur as a result of that is approximately $500,000 to $600,000 --

Mr. Redman:

A year?

Mr. Covert:

A year. The reason that I say that is that it really depends on the volume of flights. Our volume of flights has increased tremendously. We had projected some 350 flights for the year. Within a little less than five months operation at this point, we are almost at 300 flights. We are now projecting, as we have revised our estimates as we go into the busy months of the year, that we may end up having over 600 flights. Now that can make a difference, obviously, in terms of revenues being generated that support the program directly. We will have more of a report for you probably in another month, as we complete our six month activity.

Mr. Redman:

In other words, you don't think this is an exercise in futility.

Mr. Covert:

No, Sir.

Mr. Kessler:

I have a question. If you have a consortium of financial partners, I assume that is a contract. How do they just drop out after they enter into it?

Mr. Covert:

Well, we -- obviously they decided at that point in time that they were willing to lose their investment that they had made up to that point. They will simply not belong any longer as an investor.

Mr. Kessler:

But, there is no penalty, there is no --

President Jennings:

They have lost their investment.

Mr. Covert:

They have lost their investment, the extended investment at that point in time.

Mr. Kessler:

And there is no money to pay back to either of those two institutions?

Mr. Covert:

That is correct.

Mr. Teaford:

Am I right that we are the only ones left?
April 7 and 8, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

Mr. Covert:

That is correct. Technically, if you would call it, we are a consortium in terms of having affiliations, in terms of consortium of investors --

Mr. Kessler:

How much did they lose when they pulled out?

Mr. Covert:

I'll just give you my approximates at this point -- for each one, probably in the neighborhood of $400,000 to $600,000.

Mr. Redman:

That's for three.

Mr. Covert:

That is for each, that is correct. That is a conscious decision, obviously, that they made to continue or not --

Mr. Kessler:

That investment was to buy the helicopter or what?

Mr. Covert:

No, it was the investment that each hospital had to put in on the front end.

Mr. Kessler:

Where did that money go?

Mr. Covert:

O.K. That money is still there supporting the program, but they will not --

President Jennings:

It's a leased aircraft.

Mr. Covert:

The penalty is that they will not get any money back that they invested.

Mr. Kessler:

So they kissed-off that much money. Thank you.
April 7 and 8, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

Mrs. Bowser:

And you can see their reason. They are faced with lots of cut-backs, too. And they can still use it, but they don't have to put the investment in.

Mr. Covert:

When we first went into it, OSU represented some 50% of the flights. After we got into it more, because we have a very extensive network external to Columbus, we represented over 80% of the flights.

Mr. Redman:

Any other questions, Mr. Kessler?

Mr. Kessler:

Thank you. That answers my question, Mr. Chairman.

Mr. Redman:

My last question is when -- do we have a target date for opening the Cancer Hospital?

Dr. Tzagournis:

December of 1988.

Mr. Redman:

And that would be on a partial basis, Dr. Tzagournis?

Dr. Tzagournis:

Yes. They will be phased in over approximately three months.

Mrs. Bowser:

The contractor is suppose to turn it over to the University in August and then the University has to do their thing.

Mr. Jackson:

I might add that I think the contractor's delivery date is optimistic.

Mrs. Bowser:

That is standard operating procedure.

Mr. Jackson:

I still think that the end of the year, as Dr. Tzagournis has said, is the appropriate time.
April 7 and 8, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

Mr. Redman:

Thank you, Mrs. Bowser. Are there any other questions?

APPROVAL OF DIVISIONAL STATUS
Resolution No. 88-103

Synopsis: A proposal to restructure the Speech and Hearing Science Section into the Division of Speech and Hearing Science is proposed.

WHEREAS the Council on Academic Affairs, the Dean of the College of Social and Behavioral Sciences, and the faculty of the Department of communication have approved divisional status for the Speech and Hearing Science Section of the Department of Communication; and

WHEREAS the Speech and Hearing Science Section meets the qualitative requirements for divisional status as specified in Rule 3335-5-34 of the Administrative Code; and

WHEREAS divisional status would formalize the current administrative and organizational procedures of the Speech and Hearing Science Section; and

WHEREAS divisional status would make Speech and Hearing Science more competitive in recruiting quality students, attracting and retaining faculty and grant monies; and

WHEREAS the proposed divisional status for the Speech and Hearing Science Section has been approved by the University Senate at its March 5, 1988 meeting:

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That the restructuring of the Speech and Hearing Science Section into the Division of Speech and Hearing Science is hereby approved.

Upon motion of Mr. Berry, seconded by Mr. Immke, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous voice vote.

AMENDMENTS TO THE RULES OF THE UNIVERSITY FACULTY
Resolution No. 88-104

Synopsis: Amendments to rule 3335-47-01 are being proposed.

WHEREAS the University Senate pursuant to rule 3335-1-09 of the Administrative Code is authorized to recommend through the President to the Board of Trustees the adoption of amendments to the Rules of the University Faculty as approved by the University Senate; and

WHEREAS the proposed changes in the Rules of the University Faculty were approved by the University Senate on March 5, 1988, as follows:
AMENDED RULE

3335-47-01 General considerations.

(A) The faculty is primarily responsible for initiating recommendations involving faculty appointments, reappointments, nonrenewal, and dismissal. The faculty also has a strong voice in the appointment and evaluation of department chairpersons, deans, and other academic administrative officers. Although the faculty plays a fundamental role in these matters, the final authority for the decision is lodged in the board of trustees or delegated by it to the president, the vice president for academic affairs and provost, or other academic administrative officer. The board or its delegate will give serious consideration to faculty peer recommendations. Faculty recommendations will be accepted unless they are not supported by the evidence presented regarding how the candidate meets published university criteria as set forth in faculty rule 3335-47-02 of the Administrative Code or unless the recommendations are unacceptable for other compelling reasons. When the decision of the board or its delegate departs from the faculty recommendation, the reasons for the departure will be communicated to the faculty group which made the recommendation.

(B) Nominations for promotion and/or tenure originate in the department or appropriate academic unit in accordance with the procedures established by the unit. The recommendation must provide a comprehensive assessment of the candidate's qualifications, together with detailed evidence to support the nomination. It must also include information about the nature and extent of consultation on the matter within the academic unit and must present any significant evidence and differences of opinion which would support a contrary recommendation. Nominations will subsequently be considered by the college, and if favorable concurrence is obtained, the dean will forward the nomination, along with the dean's assessment and recommendation, to the vice president for academic affairs and provost. Recommendations are subject to the approval of the vice president for academic affairs and provost, the president, and the board of trustees.

(C) No teacher attains tenure automatically. It may be acquired either in the original appointment to the regular faculty rank of professor, upon promotion from within the university to the rank of associate professor, or following a probationary period (as specified in rule 3335-47-09 of the Administrative Code). The granting of tenure requires the recommendation of the dean of the college after consultation with the chairperson of the applicable department, with the concurrence of the dean of the graduate school, the vice president for academic affairs and provost, the president, and the board of trustees.

(D) When some of the nominations from a college involve the granting of tenure, the dean should provide a statement showing how the proposed actions will affect the long-range staffing pattern of the department and of the college, taking into consideration expected attrition, budgetary limitations, the need for flexibility, and the effect on that fraction of the faculty already tenured.
AMENDMENTS TO THE RULES OF THE UNIVERSITY FACULTY (contd)

(E) Recommendations for promotion and/or tenure should be based on the merit of the individual, on a consideration of comparable achievement in the faculty member's own field or in closely related fields and on the judicious use of the fiscal resources of the department and college. Whenever possible, consideration should be given to how the nominee stands in relation to other people in the same field outside of the university who might be considered alternative candidates for the position. All available evidence should be considered and it is the responsibility of the academic units to provide complete documentation.

(F) In accordance with a policy of equality of opportunity, decisions concerning appointment, promotion, and tenure are based on the following criteria without discrimination as to race, creed, religion, national origin, age, sex, handicap, or Vietnam-era veteran status.

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That the foregoing amendments to the Rules of the University Faculty be adopted as recommended by the University Senate.

Upon motion of Mr. Barone, seconded by Mr. Immke, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous voice vote.

AMENDMENTS TO THE UNIVERSITY HOSPITALS BOARD BYLAWS
Resolution No. 88-105

WHEREAS The Ohio State University Hospitals Board pursuant to Bylaw 3335-103-01 of the University Hospitals Board Bylaws is authorized to recommend to the Board of Trustees the adoption of amendments to the University Hospitals Board Bylaws; and

WHEREAS the proposed changes to the University Hospitals Board Bylaws were approved at the University Hospitals Board meeting on February 25, 1988, as follows:

AMENDED BYLAW
3335-101-07 Hospital clinical departments.

(A) Appointment of the chief of each clinical department is subject to approval by the board on the recommendation of the dean of the applicable professional school and the vice president for health services. All such appointments shall be periodically reviewed by the board. Chiefs of clinical departments vacancies may be filled on an interim basis at any time by action of the dean of the appropriate professional college, after consulting with the board. (In general, the chiefs of clinical departments will be chairmen of
April 7 and 8, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

corresponding academic departments in the medical college.)

(B) The board may delegate, through approval of the medical staff bylaws or by appropriate board resolution, to the chiefs of the clinical departments responsibility for maintaining the quality of medical care in their services, and for recommending an applicant's appointment or reappointment to the medical staff of the hospitals and privileges for such an applicant.

(C) The dean of the college of medicine serves as the chief medical officer and shall appoint a medical director who reports to the dean and to the board. In matters relating to medical care in the hospitals, members of the clinical departments of the hospitals are accountable to the clinical chiefs, who are accountable to the medical director, who is accountable to the dean and to the board. The dean in this capacity is accountable directly to the vice president for health services and to the board. If one individual holds both the dean and vice president position, the medical director will serve as the chief medical officer in the hospital.

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That the foregoing amendments to the University Hospitals Board Bylaws be adopted as recommended by the University Hospitals Board.

Upon motion of Mr. Barone, seconded by Mr. Berry, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous voice vote.

PERSONNEL ACTIONS

RESOLVED, That the personnel actions as recorded in the Personnel Budget Records of the University since the March 4, 1988 meeting of the Board, including the following Appointment of Chairpersons of Departments, Reappointment of Chairpersons of Departments, Leaves of Absence Without Salary, Professional Improvement Leaves—Change of Dates, and Emeritus Titles as detailed in the University Budget be approved, and the Medical Staff Appointments approved February 25, 1988, by the Hospitals Board be ratified.

Appointment of Chairpersons of Departments

April 1, 1988 through June 30, 1990

Veterinary Anatomy James R. Blakeslee, Jr.

October 1, 1988 through September 30, 1992

East Asian Languages and Literatures Shigeru Miyagawa
April 7 and 8, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

PERSONNEL ACTIONS (contd)

Reappointment of Chairpersons of Departments

July 1, 1988 through June 30, 1990

Agricultural Economics and Rural Sociology  Joseph Havlicek, Jr.

July 1, 1988 through June 30, 1992

Plant Pathology  Charles R. Curtis

August 1, 1988 through June 30, 1992

Dairy Science  David L. Zartman

Leaves of Absence Without Salary

JOSEPH W. RICH, Professor, Department of Mechanical Engineering, effective Spring Quarter 1988, to serve as a senior Fulbright Fellow at Ecole Centrale des Arts et Manufactures in Paris.

ANTTI J. NIEMI, Assistant Professor, Department of Physics, effective Spring Quarter 1988, to visit CERN (a joint European research institution in high energy physics), in Switzerland.

Professional Improvement Leaves--Change of Dates

LINDA JAMES MYERS, Associate Professor, Department of Black Studies, change leave from Autumn Quarter 1988, Winter Quarter and Spring Quarter 1989, to Autumn Quarter 1988 and Winter Quarter 1989.

Emeritus Titles

J. CARROLL NOTESTINE, University Systems, with the title Assistant Vice President Emeritus, effective May 1, 1988.

LAWRENCE J. R. HERSON, Department of Political Science, with the title Professor Emeritus, effective April 1, 1988.

GEORGE P. WILSON, Department of Veterinary Clinical Sciences, with the title Professor Emeritus, effective April 1, 1988.

MAYNARD G. MUNTZING, Cooperative Extension Service, with the title Associate Professor Emeritus, effective April 1, 1988.

Upon motion of Mr. Immke, seconded by Mr. Barone, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous roll call vote.

RESOLUTIONS IN MEMORIAM

Resolution No. 88-107

Synopsis: Resolutions honoring the service of six of the University's faculty members who have recently died are being proposed.

RESOLVED, That the Board adopt the following Resolutions in Memoriam and that the President be requested to convey a copy to the families of the deceased.

Raymond E. Cray

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on February 6, 1988, of Raymond E. Cray, Professor Emeritus in the Department of Poultry Science.

Professor Cray was born on August 13, 1900, in Stockton, New Jersey, and lived during his early years on the family poultry farm. He received the B.S. in Agriculture degree from Rutgers University in 1922. Following graduation, he was employed by the New Jersey Agricultural College as an assistant poultry extension specialist until 1924 when he was appointed as a poultry extension specialist at The Ohio State University. During the period from 1924 to 1942, Professor Cray fostered the formation, organization and development of cooperative egg marketing programs in Ohio that provided market outlets for many of Ohio's egg producers. He was also involved in projects that led to the formation of The Ohio Poultry Improvement Association to control disease and provide a basis for using genetics in the selective breeding of poultry. He also received a M.S. degree from The Ohio State University in 1930.

From 1942 to 1949, Mr. Cray was employed by the Ralston Purina Company to establish egg marketing programs in several other states. Parallel work was undertaken for marketing programs in broiler and duck growing. In 1949, he returned to The Ohio State University to teach and conduct research in poultry marketing. Professor Cray published a variety of extension, industry and scientific articles on poultry, egg and meat marketing. From 1957 to 1963, Professor Cray served with The Ohio State University's Agency for International Development Project at the Punjab Agricultural University in India to establish and upgrade poultry science activities at this institution. He returned to The Ohio State University in 1963 in an administrative capacity for the Agency for International Development Programs in Brazil and India. Professor Cray retired in 1966 and was named Professor Emeritus.

Professor Cray was a member of The Poultry Science Association, American Agricultural Economics Association, American Marketing Association, OSU Faculty Club, Alpha Zeta, Gamma Sigma Delta, AAUP, and Kappa Sigma.

On behalf of the University, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family its deep sympathy. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as an expression of the Board's heartfelt sympathy.
The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on February 3, 1988, of R. Frank Donley, Instructor Emeritus in the Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology.

Dr. Frank Donley was born in August 1910, in Columbus, Ohio, and practiced medicine for many years in this city. He was one of Columbus' most distinguished obstetricians, and taught several generations of obstetricians and gynecologists. He did his pre-med education at the University of Dayton and the University of Cincinnati, graduating from medical school in 1935. Following that he was an intern at St. Elizabeth Hospital in Dayton (1934-35), a resident in obstetrics and gynecology at St. Ann's Hospital in Cleveland (1935-36), and at Mt. Carmel in Columbus (1936-37). He was a dedicated teacher, and taught for 12 years at the Mt. Carmel School of Nursing. He was a member of the American College of Obstetrics and Gynecology, and prior to 20 years of military service, practiced general medicine for three years. Dr. Donley gave more than 20 years of his life to The Ohio State University as a clinical instructor, and for the past 10 years was a dedicated part-time instructor in the Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology. He taught many residents and medical students during this period of time, and was considered one of the deans of obstetrics in this city. Upon his retirement in 1981, he was named Instructor Emeritus.

We have great appreciation and admiration for this man who was a gentleman, a scholar and a master clinician. He will be remembered for the contributions and the unselfishness that he gave of himself during his lifetime to the practice of exemplary health care for women in Columbus, Ohio.

On behalf of the university community, the Board of Trustees and the Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology expresses to the family its deep sympathy. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as an expression of the Board's heartfelt sympathy.

Mars G. Fontana

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on February 29, 1988, of Mars G. Fontana, Professor Emeritus in the Department of Metallurgical Engineering.

Dr. Fontana received his B.S. in 1931 from the University of Michigan and then continued graduate study there in Chemical Engineering. In 1934, after completing his doctoral research, he accepted a position at the DuPont Company in Wilmington, Delaware. For the next 53 years, Mars Fontana gave his productive mind, body, and spirit to the advancement of the science and engineering of materials developments and the prevention of corrosion and material failures in engineering systems. The first nine of those years were spent at DuPont; the next thirty at The Ohio State University; and the last fourteen as a senior adviser, writer, and lecturer.
April 7 and 8, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

RESOLUTIONS IN MEMORIAM (contd)

Mars G. Fontana (contd)

Mars Fontana carefully studied the mechanisms of the interactions of water, harsh chemicals, and stresses on metallic alloys. At DuPont, his science and engineering talents merged as he framed the mechanisms of corrosive attack and designed alloys, inhibitors, coatings, and electrolytic protection systems to prevent failures in production plant systems. These efforts led to his famous definition of "The Eight Forms of Corrosion." At The Ohio State University, he created a Corrosion Research Center and organized and led the Department of Metallurgical Engineering that put Ohio State in the forefront of materials research and corrosion science. Dr. Fontana is widely recognized as the "Father of Modern Corrosion Science and Engineering."

In his role as Department Chairman, he recruited and nurtured young faculty members, he led efforts to obtain funds for new laboratories, and he took an active part in the administration of the College of Engineering and in the faculty governance of the University. In the latter regard, he served as a member of the Faculty Council and as an effective senior faculty adviser during many University crises. By the time of his retirement in 1975, he had presented most of the important international lectures in his field and he had been named a Regents' Professor; a member of the National Academy of Engineering; a Fellow of all of the technical societies in his field; and had been named Professor Emeritus.

In 1981, the Board of Trustees officially renamed the building that he had worked so hard to create the, "Mars G. Fontana Laboratories." Other responsibilities and honors fell on him over the years. He was particularly proud of his honorary doctorate from Michigan and his honorary membership in the American Society for Metals. Just two years ago, he was the first recipient of the Outstanding Educator Award of The Metallurgical Society of AIME.

Mars Fontana, the teacher, changed the lives of all the students in his classes. He emphasized good analysis, clear and concise presentations, and simplicity wherever possible. In his consulting work and later industrial leadership as a director at Worthington Industries, he was famous for his ability to find the key to a complex problem, to identify the critical concerns, and to propose practical and successful courses of action. He passed that on to his students during his entire teaching career. His book, Corrosion Engineering, used throughout the world as the definitive engineering textbook on corrosion, emphasizes clear thinking and conciseness.

In Mars Fontana's life, responding to a sophomore student with a question was just as important as meeting a visiting dignitary. He was always open to questions and new ideas. He was very accessible and available to young people. He treated everyone with respect. He was generous with his own funds in many ways. Quietly he helped students and friends over rough spots. His generosity, along with that of his colleagues, friends and family, led to the endowment of the Mars G. Fontana Professorship. Earlier, a scholarship fund was created in his name.

The Department of Metallurgical Engineering and the Fontana Corrosion Center at The Ohio State University, its faculty, and its students are deeply indebted to his creative efforts. All of the companies for whom he consulted and the men and women who ran them were enriched by the advice of Mars Fontana. The quality of public higher education is better because of his dedication to the pursuit of excellence in teaching, research, and public service.

On behalf of the University, the Board of Trustees wishes to express its deep sympathy to Mars Fontana's wife, Betty, and his children Martha, Mary, Elizabeth, David, and Thomas and their spouses, his beloved grandchildren, and his brother and sister. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as an expression of the Board's heartfelt sympathy.

Gerald H. Goedde

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on January 1, 1988, of Gerald H. Goedde, Instructor Emeritus in the Cooperative Extension Service.

Mr. Goedde was born on April 5, 1923, in Ottawa, Ohio. He received his B.S. in Dairy Science from The Ohio State University in 1950; then spent two years as Farm Manager in Lapeer, Michigan; two years as Fieldman for The Nestle Company, Marysville, Ohio; and eleven years as Field Supervisor and Technician for Central Ohio Breeding Association in Columbus, Ohio.

Mr. Goedde began his Extension experience when he joined the faculty at The Ohio State University in 1965 as a County Extension Agent, 4-H in Miami County. In 1970, he became the County Agricultural Agent in Miami County and continued in this position until his retirement in 1985. Upon his retirement, he was named Instructor Emeritus. Mr. Goedde was respected by his peers and associates throughout the State as he worked to provide excellent Extension educational programs for the citizens in his county.

On behalf of the University community, the Board of Trustees expresses its sympathy and understanding to the family of Mr. Goedde. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as an expression of the Board's heartfelt sympathy.

Gerald H. Goedde

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on February 3, 1988, of Richard A. Popham, Professor Emeritus in the Department of Botany.

Richard A. Popham was born September 29, 1913, in Charleston, Illinois. He received a bachelor's degree from Eastern Illinois University in 1936, a master's degree from The Ohio State University in 1937, and a doctorate from The Ohio State University in 1940. He retired in 1980, after serving on the faculty since 1940. He was on leave for four years during World War II on civilian service. Returning to The Ohio State University in 1946 as Assistant Professor, he became Associate Professor in 1950, and full Professor in 1968. In 1982, he was given the title Professor Emeritus.

Professor Popham specialized in the study of developmental plant anatomy. His teaching induced him to write two texts for plant anatomy students: Developmental Plant Anatomy (1952) and Laboratory Manual For Plant Anatomy (1966). He taught the beginning botany course every year, and supervised that course from 1965 to 1969.

Richard Popham's research, which resulted in over 40 papers published in scientific journals, was mainly concerned with plant growth and the factors affecting plant development. He served as a consultant to the Battelle Memorial Institute (1958-1969), and as Research Collaborator for the Brookhaven National Laboratory (1964-1980). He directed 9 students through their masters degrees, and 4 students through their doctorates.

Richard A. Popham was strongly committed to service. He was a member and long-time treasurer (1937-1980) of the Ohio State Chapter of Gamma Alpha Graduate Fraternity, which he also served as national treasurer and president. He served Ohio State and its students on the Ohio Staters (1956-1969; 1976-1980). In 1962, he was made a faculty member of the student Sphinx Honorary Society, and in 1966 he received the Alfred J. Wright Student Leaders Award for guidance and counsel of students. He belonged to numerous professional societies, and was particularly active in two. In the Ohio Academy of Science, he served for many years on its Council, was the Business Manager of its Journal (1949-1963), and was its President (1965-1966). In the Botanical Society of America, he was the Business Manager of its Journal, the American Journal of Botany (1972-1981).

Many honors came to Richard A. Popham. He was elected Fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science (1940) and the Ohio Academy of Science (1944). He was elected a member of a number of honorary societies: Kappa Delta Pi (education); Phi Epsilon Phi (botany); Gamma Sigma Delta (agriculture); and the Society of the Sigma Xi (scientific research). In 1982, he was awarded the Certificate of Merit of the Botanical Society of America, given to only a few botanists for outstanding contributions to their profession. Richard Allen Popham will be remembered as an outstanding teacher and scientist who was fully dedicated to excellence in both.

On behalf of the University, the Board of Trustees expresses its deep sympathy. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the estate of Richard A. Popham as an expression of the Board's heartfelt sympathy.

RESOLUTIONS IN MEMORIAM (contd)

Ted R. Robinson

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on January 25, 1988, of Ted R. Robinson, Associate Vice President Emeritus, Regional Campuses - Administration.

Born on July 4, 1930, Dr. Robinson was a graduate of Iowa State University where he received the M.S. degree in 1959 and the Ph.D. degree in 1964. He served as the Assistant Dean of Students at Iowa State University from 1958-1964. Dr. Robinson was appointed as Associate Director of Admissions at The Ohio State University in 1964, and was named Director of Admissions in 1966. In 1968, he was appointed Associate Professor with tenure, Agricultural Education. He served as Vice President for Student Affairs from 1970-1973. In 1973, he became Assistant Vice President for Regional Campuses and from 1983-1985 he served as Associate Vice President for Academic Affairs (Regional Campuses). In 1985, he retired from the University as Associate Vice President Emeritus, Regional Campuses - Administration.

He served as the corporate representative from Ohio for the American College Testing Program from 1978-85 and was a member of the Board of Trustees of the American College Testing Program from 1984-87. He was president-elect of The Ohio State University Retirees Association.

On behalf of the University, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family its deep sympathy and sense of understanding in their loss. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as an expression of the Board's heartfelt sympathy.

Upon motion of Mr. Immke, seconded by Mr. Barone, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous voice vote.

THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY DEVELOPMENT FUND

Establishment of Named Funds

The Abba G. Lichtenstein Fund in Civil Engineering

The Abba G. Lichtenstein Fund in Civil Engineering was established April 8, 1988, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from Abba G. Lichtenstein (B.C.E. '48), Tenafly, New Jersey.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's permanent endowment fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to enhance the educational and research interests of the Department of Civil Engineering. This support will be used primarily in the area of infrastructures. Expenditures from the fund shall be approved by the Dean of the College of Engineering.

Establishment of Named Funds (contd)

The Abba G. Lichtenstein Fund in Civil Engineering (contd)

The Farm Income Enhancement Program Fund

The Farm Income Enhancement Program Fund was established April 8, 1988, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from Nationwide Insurance Company, contributing members of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation, and appropriations from the State of Ohio to fund a cooperative venture.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's permanent endowment fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income and additional gifts shall be added to the fund's principal until such time the principal reaches $1,250,000. The fund will create an endowed chair in the Department of Agricultural Economics and Rural Sociology. The mission of the chair is to benefit the nation's farmers by finding ways to increase profit and to assist farmers in finding solutions to policy and international trade problems. The chair holder will lead the research effort to develop innovative solutions that aid agricultural industries in expanding product uses, developing new markets, and making current markets more lucrative.

It is the desire of the donors that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity. If the need for this fund should cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then another use shall be designated by the Board of Trustees in order to carry out the desire of the donors.

The Robert J. Kane Lecture Fund in English Studies

The Robert J. Kane Lecture Fund in English Studies was established April 8, 1988, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from the Estate of Robert J. Kane (B.A., Arts & Sciences, 1921; M.A., English, 1922), Columbus, Ohio.

Establishment of Named Funds (contd)

The Robert J. Kane Lecture Fund in English Studies (contd)

The annual income shall be used to fund an annual lecture, administered by the Department of English, to be named the Robert J. Kane Lecture in English Studies. Each year a distinguished speaker of national or international reputation will give a major talk on a topic related to literature, criticism or critical theory, the study of language, film studies, literacy, rhetoric, folklore, or any of the other areas relevant to the disciplines of the Department of English. The fund will be used for the speaker's honorarium and for related expenses. The selection of the annual speaker will be the responsibility of the executive committee of the Department of English or its designees.

It is the desire of the donor that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity. If the need for this fund should cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then another use shall be designated by the Board of Trustees in order to carry out the desire of the donor, with preference being given to recommendations which meet the educational goals of the Department of English.

Gertrude Kuehefuhs Piano Accompanists Endowment Fund

The Gertrude Kuehefuhs Piano Accompanists Endowment Fund was established April 8, 1988, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from the Estate of Gertrude Kuehefuhs, Columbus, Ohio.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's permanent endowment fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to provide scholarships, assistantships, or grants to one or more talented student accompanists in the School of Music. Both undergraduate and graduate students are eligible to receive the scholarships. Recipients will be determined by the established procedures within the School of Music by the Director of the School of Music in consultation with the appropriate music faculty, the University Committee on Student Financial Aid, and with approval of the Dean of the College of The Arts.

It is the desire of the donor that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity. If the need for this fund should cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then another use shall be designated by the Board of Trustees in order to carry out the desire of the donor.

The Dairy Science Chair in Lactational Physiology and Mammary Health

The Dairy Science Chair in Lactational Physiology and Mammary Health was established April 8, 1988, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from industry, alumni, faculty and friends of the Department of Dairy Science.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's permanent endowment fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to provide salary and program support for the work of a distinguished teacher and scholar in the field of lactational physiology and mammary health as recommended by the Vice President for Agricultural Administration to the Provost of The Ohio State University and approved by the Board of Trustees. In the absence of such a faculty member, income shall be used for the development of this fund and/or to support research directed to the improvement of dairy management and dairy cow production.

It is the desire of the donors that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity. If the need for this fund should cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then another use shall be designated by the Board of Trustees in order to carry out the desire of the donors, with preference being given to recommendations from the appropriate administrative officials of the University who are then directly responsible for Dairy Science education or from the Vice President for Agricultural Administration.

The Ohio State University Staff Career Development Fund

The Ohio State University Staff Career Development Fund was established April 8, 1988, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from faculty and staff members of The Ohio State University.

The annual income shall be used to provide staff members of the University with grants for education, training and professional development activities related to their job and career goals. The grants may be used for tuition or fees for courses, workshops, conferences or other appropriate professional activities; books or other required materials; travel or other related expenses such as child care. Grants will be available for any regular full- or part-time staff member who has worked at the University a minimum of two years. Grants for part-time Employees will be prorated on the basis of their full-time equivalence. Individuals may receive up to two awards within any two-year period. Staff members who have not received an award will be given priority. The maximum award is $500. Smaller requests are equally encouraged. Criteria for the award shall include: 1) Appropriateness of education or training in relation to the employees' job, career or professional development goals; 2) Evidence that the requested education and training either is not currently available at the University and/or cannot be funded from other sources such as fee authorization.

The fund will be administered by the Office of Human Relations. Applications may be submitted at any time, and awards will be made on a quarterly basis. The Staff Advisory Committee will recommend recipients to the Executive Officer for Human Relations. Their review process will be based on stated criteria. The awards in any given year will not exceed the income of the endowment.

It is the desire of the donors that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity. If the need for this fund should cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then another use shall be designated by the Board of Trustees in order to carry out the desire of the donors.

The Stark County Alumni Scholars Program

The Stark County Alumni Scholars Program was established April 8, 1988, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from the Stark County/Ohio State University Alumni Club and residents of Stark County, Ohio.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's permanent endowment fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

Twenty percent (20%) of the annual income shall be added to the fund's principal. The remaining eighty percent (80%) of the annual income shall be used to provide scholarship support for one or more qualified students enrolled at The Ohio State University. Selection of the scholarship recipients will be made by the Stark County Alumni Club and The Ohio State University Alumni Association, in cooperation with the University Committee on Financial Aid.

The purpose and intent of this scholarship is set forth as follows: The recipients will be designated "Alumni Scholars." To be eligible, a student must have attended a high school in Stark County or be a resident of Stark County. Preference will be given to first quarter freshmen at The Ohio State University who are academically outstanding. This full tuition scholarship will be renewable to a maximum of 12 quarters.

Renewal will depend upon the student continuing to demonstrate outstanding achievement and successful academic progress toward a degree, consistent with similar University scholarships.

It is the desire of the donors that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity. If the need for this fund should cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then another use shall be designated by the Board of Trustees in order to carry out the desire of the donors.

The Paul G. Korn and Gary B. Korn Scholarship Fund

The Paul G. Korn and Gary B. Korn Scholarship Fund was established April 8, 1988, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from the Estate of Aunalee S. Korn, Sidney, Ohio.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's permanent endowment fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used for a scholarship for an undergraduate student with demonstrated financial need who is enrolled in food technology. Selection will be made each year by an appointee of the Dean of the College of Home Economics in consultation with the University Committee on Student Financial Aid and the Department of Human Nutrition and Food Management.

It is the desire of the donor that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity. If the need for this fund should cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then another use shall be designated by the Board of Trustees in order to carry out the desire of the donor.

Change of Name and Description of Named Funds

The Jean S. Bowers/Fern E. Hunt Fellowship Fund

The Department of Home Management and Housing Endowment Fund was established February 4, 1983, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from alumni, faculty and friends of the Department of Family Resource Management of the College of Home Economics. The name and description were changed to the Department of Family Resource Management Endowment Fund on September 5, 1986. Further changes in the name and description were made April 8, 1988.

The Jean S. Bowers/Fern E. Hunt Fellowship Fund (contd)

All gifts are to be invested in the University's permanent endowment fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

All of the annual income shall be used for graduate fellowships in the Department of Family Resource Management. Expenditure of income will be determined by the Chairperson and two faculty members of the Department of Family Resource Management.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to the recommendations from the appropriate administrative official of the University who is then directly responsible for consumer/family economics, equipment and family resource management education.

Mervin G. Smith Student and Faculty Fund in International Agriculture

The Mervin G. Smith International Scholarship Fund in Agriculture was established July 22, 1977, and revised February 3, 1984. The name and description were changed again in accordance with the wishes of the donor on April 8, 1988.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's permanent endowment fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used primarily to provide scholarships for undergraduate and/or graduate students in the College of Agriculture and closely-related areas who have demonstrated academic ability and financial need, with preference given to students for training, studying, and/or conducting research abroad. The selection of the recipients is to be made upon the recommendation of the administrator directly responsible for international affairs in the College of Agriculture, in cooperation with the Dean of the College of Agriculture and the University Committee on Student Financial Aid. The donor is to be consulted about the selection of scholarship recipients, during his lifetime.

An additional use of the annual income from the fund will be for an International Award of Merit each year to the outstanding international faculty member in the College of Agriculture. The first such award will be $500 but will not exceed ten percent (10%) of the available annual income thereafter. This faculty member shall be outstanding in international teaching, research, work abroad, consulting, or professional writing, or a combination thereof. The selection of the recipient is to be made upon the recommendation of a college faculty member.

committee in cooperation with the administrative person directly responsible for international affairs along with the Dean of the College of Agriculture. The award may be presented through the Gamma Sigma Delta Honor Society of Agriculture, Ohio Chapter.

At such time as the principal of the fund reaches $100,000 or more, some of the annual income can be used for seminars, expenses for participation in international meetings, improving foreign student education, and other purposes which promote international agriculture in the College of Agriculture. The use for these purposes shall be determined by the administrator in charge of international affairs and the Dean in the College of Agriculture in consultation with the donor, during his lifetime.

At the end of each fiscal year any unused income shall be added to the fund's principal.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income shall be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to recommendations from the appropriate administrative officials of the University who are then directly responsible for international agriculture, education and research.

Change in Description of Named Fund

The Admissions and Allocations Fund

The Admissions and Allocations Fund was established September 5, 1986, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from numerous donors. The description was changed April 8, 1988.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's permanent endowment fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to support projects and programs as determined each year by the Admissions and Allocations Committee of The Ohio State University Development Fund. Moreover, said Committee is authorized to invade the fund's principal to assure maximum benefit for deserving projects and programs.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees.

REPORT - UNIVERSITY'S INVESTMENT PORTFOLIO
Resolution No. 88-115

RESOLVED, That the report on the University's Investment Portfolio, dated March 18, 1988, as submitted to the Fiscal Affairs Committee of the Board of Trustees, be received and filed with the official records of the Board.

Thereupon the Board adjourned to meet Wednesday, May 4, 1988, at The Ohio State University Fawcett Center for Tomorrow, Columbus, Ohio, at 6:30 p.m.

Attest:

Madison H. Scott       Edmund C. Redman
Secretary              Chairman
The Board of Trustees met at its regular monthly meeting on Wednesday, May 4, and Thursday, May 5, 1988, at The Ohio State University Fawcett Center for Tomorrow, Columbus, Ohio, pursuant to adjournment.

Minutes of the last meeting were approved.
May 4 and 5, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

The Chairman, Mr. Redman, called the meeting of the Board of Trustees to order on May 4, 1988, at 6:30 p.m. He requested the Secretary to call the roll.

The meeting recessed into Executive Session for the purpose of considering legal issues and personnel actions as follows: faculty/staff appointments and reappointments, resignations and terminations, leaves of absence without salary, professional improvement leaves, emeritus titles, and medical staff appointments.

Upon motion of Mr. Immke, seconded by Mr. Berry.

—O—

Mr. Redman reconvened the meeting on May 5, 1988, at 9:50 a.m.

—O—

Mr. Redman:

I would like to have Dr. Frank Hale, Vice Provost for Minority Affairs, make a presentation to the Board.

Dr. Frank Hale:

Chairman, Members of the Board, and audience in the room, I wanted to come today to provide you with an update on the activities of the Office of Minority Affairs. First of all, I would like to express my appreciation to you for your leadership and support in terms of affirmative action and minority programming that has taken place over the years at this University. I want to give specific reference and appreciation to the leadership as designated by our own President, Ed Jennings, who has taken a very strong position through the years in giving support to our office. And, most recently, to the Action Plan which has obviously been global, in terms of its impact both on this campus and throughout the United States.

We are pleased that not only the University, but so many of our sister institutions around the country have been delighted with the step that we have taken. It is a courageous step that has caused many of them to take various aspects of our program and extrapolate to the extent that they can't meet their own needs. We are called upon, many of us on this campus, from time to time, to give some indication of the steps that we have taken. Many universities not having the initiatives already in place on their campuses have really borrowed from us, and in a sense that has made our job more difficult as they have attempted to achieve parity.

Just to give you a recent overview of some of the things that we are doing -- we would like to indicate that we have been very active around the State. In fact, we have been invited in by the superintendents, senior high school principals, and counselors in the major metropolitan areas throughout the State of Ohio to let them know about what we are doing on our campus. They have been very effective in the sense that they have called upon the various high schools around the State to invite us in and to provide a model. This model is very different from the traditional model of two or three recruiters going into the schools, placing the catalogue before the students and just saying "come." In many instances in the past when we have written to these high schools, they have placed our announcements on bulletin boards and students may or may not have been aware of the fact of our coming. It has not been uncommon for us to go to high schools with very high concentrations of minority students only to discover that four or five had been notified.

What we are doing now is having student receptions in high schools where we have 50% or more minority students. We have been meeting with 50 to 125 students at a time -- meeting at a time that is convenient for them and their particular counselors. Sometimes we go in the morning and have a continental breakfast or something of the sort and sit down and spend about an hour. We take with us our staff, our Director of the Freshman Foundation Program, our Director of the Minority Scholars Program, 2 or 3 academic counselors, and some students who are graduates of the particular high school we are attending. We have found that the results have been gratifying. In fact, our application rate is 28% above what it was this time last year. Our acceptance rate is much higher than it was last year. So what we are saying is, that the Action Plan is not only in place on paper, but as Ramseyer used to say "we are cutting through the paper." We are really getting some implementation going there.

The other thing that we would like to bring to your attention is that we noticed in 1980 that at this institution, as far as top minority scholars were concerned, it was extremely difficult for us to attract them. We had 80 national merit semi-finalists and of those 80 only four remained in the State of Ohio, and only one of those four came to The Ohio State University. As a result, with your support and your encouragement, we established what we called a Minority Scholars Program in 1982. It began with a pilot effort right here in downtown Columbus, with the sixteen public high schools. We were able to offer 21 of our top, brightest students scholarships to come here at the level of $1,000 a year. These are students who had completed the college preparatory curriculum and had a 3.0 average, B average or above. That program has since evolved to the point that the following year we brought in 45 students, the next year 60 students, 85, and as of this year we brought in 130 of those students. We anticipate that this September we will have 175 of those students.

What has really excited us is the fact that we have already engaged five of the top scholars right here in Columbus and Franklin County. Those students were able to meet with the President the day before yesterday -- the number one students at Briggs, Independence, Columbus Alternative, and Brookhaven, and the number two student at Dublin High School. All of these students rank at the very highest levels -- 3.75 and above and scoring at the level of 26 and above on the ACT. We think this is extremely remarkable. It is like going out and getting the top recruits in football. We have, in fact, landed a coup getting the very top students for The Ohio State University this coming year. We want to thank you for creating the kind of atmosphere that lets people know that we mean business at The Ohio State University with respect to affirmative action.

We have two other programs that we think in the long run, over and beyond the Young Scholars Program, are going to provide us with the foundation to attract more and more better students. We had, as you know, in October 1985 a community forum on this campus in which we invited the Vice President for the College Board to come to our campus, Adrienne Bailey. And what we were doing at that time was evaluating the report, "Equality and Excellence: The Educational Status of Black Americans." In that report we noted that most black students are tracked into vocational areas in the high schools and have not taken the kind of academic content courses -- the science courses, the technical courses -- that would make them competitive. We said we wanted to do something about that in Columbus and Franklin County. And what we did was to invite a team of persons from 42 schools in Columbus -- sixteen high schools and twenty-six middle schools -- an administrator, a high school counselor, a teacher of math, a teacher of English, and a parent representative; a team of five from each of those 42 schools. And to show you the kind of support that we have from the Columbus Public Schools, they granted those 210 persons a full day leave so that they could come out here and interact with our people in the English Department, and in the Math Department, and in other departments throughout the University.

As a result of that, we have established a College Readiness Program on our campus, in which we provide offices over in Scott Hall for two personnel from the Columbus Public Schools. All through the year now students are being shuttled in and out of this University so that our departments and colleges can "show and tell" what the possibilities are for the future. Along with that, beginning this summer, we will have an early-bird program that has been funded by the Affirmative Action Grant Program at this University. We will be inviting 142 middle school students from the eight middle schools that are contiguous with to The Ohio State University in the northeast/northwest quadrants. We know that if we capture these students early enough, it is going to make a difference, and in the future we will not have to pine because of the fact that only 26% of black high school students are enrolling in college -- many for financial reasons, but many more because they have been inadequately prepared.

Dr. Hale: (contd)

So we are pleased that we have the kind of collaboration that is going on between Ohio State University, the Columbus Public School system, and other school systems throughout the state. We know that this could not have been done without your support and without your help. And because of that fact, we wanted to acknowledge that support, express appreciation for it, and give you an update in terms of what is going on. Thank you very much.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS
BOARD OF TRUSTEES

Resolution No. 88-116

Mr. Scott read the Nominating Committee's report in which the following slate of officers were recommended:

WHEREAS pursuant to paragraph (B) of rule 3335-1-02 of the Administrative Code, the officers of the Board are to be elected at the May meeting to take office immediately following adjournment of the meeting (May 5, 1988) and shall hold their office through the May 1989 meeting:

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That the following slate of officers for 1988-89 be elected:

Leonard J. Immke, Chairman
John W. Berry, Vice Chairman
Madison H. Scott, Secretary
James L. Nichols, Treasurer

Upon motion of Mr. Kessler, seconded by Mr. Teaford, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous roll call vote.

---0---

Mr. Redman:

I would now like to have the committee reports, and first the Research Foundation, Mr. Barone --

Mr. Barone:

Mr. Chairman, at this time I would like to read a short report of the Research Foundation, I believe you all have it.

The Research Foundation grants and contracts for the month of March 1988 are shown in the Board agenda book. There are 102 awards listed which provide a gross income of $9.5 million.
May 4 and 5, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

Mr. Barone: (contd)

For the first nine months of the fiscal year (July 1, 1987 to March 31, 1988) we received 896 awards with a gross income of $76 million. Last year at this time we had 792 awards with a gross income of $63.8 million. This represents a 19 percent increase in funding for the nine month period.

The Federal sector increased significantly this month due largely to increased funding from the Department of Health and Human Services. Funding increases were also received from the State of Ohio and the Other Non-Federal sectors for the month of March 1988.

Some highlights of awards for March are:

-- $504,000 award from the National Institutes of Health to David J. Lim of the College of Medicine for continuation of research into inflammation of the middle ear.

-- $400,000 award from the Department of Education to Sheldon R. Simon of the Department of Surgery and colleagues in medicine and engineering to set up a rehabilitation engineering center for the study of human performance.

-- $194,000 award from the National Institutes of Health to Dean John M. Cassady of the College of Pharmacy for research on the natural inhibitors of cancer.

-- $50,000 award from the Ohio Air Quality Development Authority to Walter E. Carey of the Office of Radiation Safety to develop a course to train contractors in the correction of radon problems in homes.

These are some of the most interesting awards from the report. It shows an increase in the research department, but I think we should all be proud of the people that are doing it. Next month we will have our annual election of officers. That concludes my report, Mr. Chairman.

Mr. Redman:

Thank you, Mr. Barone. We would like to now have the Development Fund Board from Mr. Kessler.

Mr. Kessler:

No report.

Mr. Redman:

O.K. The University Hospitals Board --

Mrs. Bowser:

Yes, Mr. Chairman. You will have to bear with me while I read this. We met last Thursday and we used our new committee format. We all met simultaneously, so I wasn't in all the committee meetings. We now have three committees: the Professional Affairs Committee, the Administrative/Operations Committee, and the Strategic Planning Committee.

The Professional Affairs Committee reviewed the present Emergency Department admissions policy and learned that our new Risk Manager had joined the organization. We expect to receive a report from him in the next several months. Dr. Keller reported on our quality assurance activities in the Emergency Department and we learned of the need to improve centralization of patient records in both the Hospitals and Clinics. This is an area that will continue to be studied by the Medical Staff Administrative Committee as well as by the Board. Dr. Cornwell gave an overview of the College of Medicine research activities and we anticipate that this will be a regular agenda item for this Committee. We also learned of Dr. Balcerzak's application to the Board of Regents for funding for an Eminent Scholar grant in Cancer. We were quite impressed with the extent of the work that has been done in this regard, as well as his efforts to lead the grant team.

In the Administrative/Operations Committee it was reported by the Hospitals Administration that the Hospitals will finish the year close to budget projections and that we will receive the budget for 1988-89 at our May meeting. Mr. Ihrig gave a fine presentation on the University overhead assessments to the Hospitals. We were very appreciative of the summary he provided to the Committee. We received a report on our MedOhio facilities, similar to that which the Board of Trustees heard from Mr. Covert last month. The Committee discussed traffic and parking concerns at length, and asked that a study be jointly conducted by Mr. Jackson and Mr. Covert to identify ways to improve our efficiency on behalf of patients, visitors and employees.

The Strategic Planning Committee, of which I am a member, met and approved the Strategic Plan for the College of Medicine. You may remember we have been working on this for several years and it's now come to its finalized form. Also approved were a series of goals to be completed by the administration in 1988 and 1989, relative to implementation of the plan. I think that plan will be presented to the President and he in turn will present it to the Board of Trustees in the very near future.

Following the committee meetings the Hospitals Board met and we presented a formal resolution to Mr. Bill Hagler, who is a nephew of Mrs. Josephine Failer. We received a rendering from the Hospitals' administration on a new signage for the Faller Plaza in front of the Hospitals. You may remember that that Plaza was dedicated to Jo and, true to Jo's personality and form, she wanted very little designation. And the Hospitals Board feels now that they would like to make that a little bit more prominent, so we did have a rendering and that will be proceeding.
May 4 and 5, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

Mrs. Bowser: (contd)

I recommended that the Board members schedule a day-long seminar to allow time for reflection on stewardship responsibilities and optimal ways to carry them out. Mr. Covert has agreed to arrange for such a seminar, as well as for a joint meeting between the Hospitals Board and the Board of Trustees. That will be coming up, I suppose, in the next six weeks and I really urge you all to try to attend.

Submitted by Leonard J. Immke and Shirley D. Bowser.

Mr. Redman:

Does that complete your report, Mrs. Bowser?

Mrs. Bowser:

Yes, that's it.

Mr. Redman:

I might say that since I have been interested in the billing at the Hospitals Clinic we have moved to the point where Ernst and Whinney have made their first determination of the various practice plans. This was according to the new schedule and I hope that the Board will designate someone to foster the implementation of the plan which has now been agreed to. I have talked to Mike Covert and Dr. Tzagournis about the other side of the billing which is of the Hospitals services, separate from the physicians services. They are moving forward in that area with the idea of having a single bill for the Hospitals side. It would appear that for the moment there are no hurdles — everybody has agreed to go ahead. There are some physicians who have reservations about the plan but are willing to cooperate. I think it is up to us to implement it and help the doctors anyway we can to get it installed.

Mrs. Bowser:

Mr. Chairman, I think you should be commended publicly for your interest in this area and I would say you probably moved that along about five years. That is your area of expertise and I think that those present should know that you handled it beautifully. And I except that challenge to see that it's on schedule.

Mr. Redman:

Very well. I think that is about all I can offer. Except to say that I've told the Committee that if I could be helpful, I will be glad to come back and help anyway I can to implement the darn thing.

Mr. Teaford:

Well, we'll tell them if they don't shape up, you're coming back. That will scare them.
Mr. Redman:

Jennings is glad enough to be rid of me now, he doesn't want me hanging around here. Have we anything else then, Mr. Secretary? Mr. President will you present your agenda.

Mr. Teaford:

Mr. Chairman, you have wanted a report from me on the Foundation Board for some time and I have one finally.

Mr. Redman:

O.K., Mr. Teaford. I'm surprised, but I am willing.

Mr. Teaford:

As you know, that Board only meets twice a year and so it gives me very little opportunity to report, but we did indeed meet last month. You have heard the report in terms of the money and how much has come in from Vice President Tobin. One of the things we discussed is what do we do when we hit the goal before the end. There was a good discussion on that, and I think you will soon find out what we will do.

The only other thing of interest was -- it is interesting to me that very little of the money that is being donated is actually in the Foundation. It is almost all coming into the University. The Foundation Board adopted a policy some time ago that until there is at least $10 million there it would be invested as part of the University's portfolio. There is still only about $4 million in their coffers, so that continues to be the way they do it. The officers were reelected at the last meeting as well.

Mr. Redman:

Do you find anything wrong with that, Mr. Teaford?

Mr. Teaford:

No, I like it as a matter of fact. That is my report, Mr. Chairman.

Mr. Redman:

Thank you. You are going to urge Mr. Tobin to speed up the contributions, I assume, so we will get our goal by the year end.

Mr. Teaford:

That's right.

Mr. Redman:

We don't want him to rest on his laurels.
May 4 and 5, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

Mr. Teaford:

That's right, that's right, no sitting back. He leaned forward when you said that.

AMENDMENTS TO THE RULES OF THE UNIVERSITY FACULTY
Resolution No. 88-117

Synopsis: Amendments to rules 3335-5-452 and 3335-5-494 are being proposed.

WHEREAS the University Senate pursuant to rule 3335-1-09 of the Administrative Code is authorized to recommend through the President to the Board of Trustees the adoption of amendments to the Rules of the University Faculty as approved by the University Senate; and

WHEREAS the proposed changes in the Rules of the University Faculty were approved by the University Senate on April 9, 1988, as follows:

AMENDED RULES

3335-5-452 Secretary of the university senate.

(A) Unchanged.

(B) The responsibilities of the secretary of the university senate will be to:

(1) Unchanged.

(2) Unchanged.

(3) Serve as a voting member of the program committee and the rules committee, an ex officio, non-voting member of the steering committee of the university senate, and an ex officio member of the faculty advisory committee to the chancellor of the Ohio board of regents (FAC). (See Rule 3335-5-494 of the Administrative Code.)

Balance unchanged.

3335-5-494 Faculty advisory committee to the chancellor of the Ohio board of regents (FAC).

(A) The university's representation to the FAC shall consist of two regular faculty members and the secretary of the university senate.

(B) One faculty member shall be elected every two years, for a term of four years, commencing autumn quarter. During the first two years of the term the member shall be the representative-elect to the FAC. During the third and fourth years of the term, the member shall be the representative to the FAC. Faculty representatives will be eligible for re-election. The secretary of the university senate shall serve for the duration of the secretary's appointment.
May 4 and 5, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

AMENDMENTS TO THE RULES OF THE UNIVERSITY FACULTY (contd)

(C) The representative-elect shall be nominated by the executive committee of the faculty council and elected by the faculty council. The ballot shall include at least one more name than there are positions to be filled and shall provide space for write-in votes. When an unexpired term becomes vacant, the vacancy shall be filled in a manner consonant with the original method of selection. A member selected to fill such a vacancy shall serve for the duration of the unexpired term.

(D) The president shall report the names of the faculty representatives to the chancellor of the Ohio board of regents.

(E) Unchanged.

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That the foregoing amendments to the Rules of the University Faculty be adopted as recommended by the University Senate.

Upon motion of Mr. Immke, seconded by Mr. Teaford, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous voice vote.

RESOLUTION IN MEMORIAM
Resolution No. 88-120

Synopsis: A resolution honoring the service of one of the University's faculty members who has recently died is being proposed.
May 4 and 5, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

RESOLUTION IN MEMORIAM (contd)

RESOLVED, That the Board adopt the following Resolution in Memoriam and that the President be requested to convey a copy to the family of the deceased.

Ross L. Mooney

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on February 7, 1988, of Dr. Ross L. Mooney, Professor Emeritus in the Department of Educational Policy and Leadership.

Born on April 17, 1906, Dr. Mooney attended public schools in Lebanon, Ohio. He later received his A.B. from Miami University in 1929, and his Ph.D. from Yale University in 1935. He was appointed Assistant Professor and Research Associate to the Bureau of Educational Research at The Ohio State University in 1938, where he did research in the college personnel field. He served as Acting Junior Dean (personnel officer) and Acting Dean of the College of Education during 1944-45. He was appointed Professor and Research Associate of the Bureau of Educational Research in 1946 and did research on education as a creative enterprise. Dr. Mooney was appointed Coordinator of Research in the College of Education at The Ohio State University from 1957-60 where he developed research programs in education, psychology, music, and fine arts. He returned to the Bureau of Educational Research and Service in 1960, and remained until 1965 when the Bureau was dissolved into the School of Education. Upon his retirement in 1975, he was named Professor Emeritus.

In the Americans Abroad Program of the U.S. Department of State, Dr. Mooney served as consultant to The Henrietta Szold Institute (an agency for research and development in education) in Jerusalem, Israel. He was a member of the NDEA Guidance Institute staff at the University of Maine during the summers of 1961, 1962, 1966, and 1967. He was also a consultant to the Engineer Research and Development Laboratories, Army Corps of Engineers in the summer of 1956. He had been the major participant and lecturer in nationally sponsored workshops by the Council for Advancement of Small Colleges (1965); Phi Delta Kappa (1964); U.S. Office of Education (1964); University Council for Educational Administration (1961); Carnegie Corporation (1962); and the National Science Foundation (1957). Also, with similar services to universities such as: MIT, Stanford, Chicago, North Carolina, Syracuse, Pennsylvania State, and Harvard.

Dr. Mooney wrote numerous publications in the personnel and guidance field (e.g., Mooney Problem Check Lists); in educational administration (e.g., "The Problem of Leadership in the University," Harvard Educational Review, Winter 1963); and in the field of "education as a creative enterprise" (most recently, with Taher Razik, Explorations in Creativity, Harper & Row, Publishers, 1967).

At the June 1973 Commencement, Dr. Mooney received the University's Distinguished Teaching Award. In recent years, he continued to work with graduate students and colleagues in an active role as Professor Emeritus.

On behalf of the University community, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family its deepest sympathy. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as an expression of the Board's heartfelt sympathy.
RESOLUTION IN MEMORIAM (contd)

Upon motion of Mr. Berry, seconded by Mr. Teaford, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous voice vote.

THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY DEVELOPMENT FUND

Establishment of Named Funds

The Henry G. Cramblett Fund in Medicine

The Henry G. Cramblett Fund in Medicine was established May 5, 1988, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with the initial portion of a gift of $500,000 to The Ohio State University Development Fund from the late Mrs. Helen Simpson Lambacher (B.S.Ed. '33) of Venice, Florida, in memory of her parents, Lynn and Sarah Simpson, and in honor of Dr. Henry G. Cramblett's service as Dean of the College of Medicine and Vice President for Health Sciences from 1973 to 1982.

All gifts in the fund are to be invested in the University's permanent endowment fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

When additional gifts are added to the principal, an endowed chair will be established in accordance with the level of funding required to establish a chair at the time the donor's will was drafted in 1978. At that time the level of funding required to establish an endowed chair was $600,000. Subsequently, the annual income is to provide salary and program support in the Department of Pediatrics in The Ohio State University College of Medicine for the work of a distinguished pediatrician who is nationally noted for leading research and patient care in the area of infectious diseases. Appointment to the Cramblett Chair will be made at the recommendation of the Dean of the College of Medicine to the Provost and approved by The Ohio State University Board of Trustees after consultation with the Chair of the Department of Pediatrics and Dr. Henry G. Cramblett, as long as he is living.

It is the desire of the donor that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity. If the need for this fund should cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then another use shall be designated by the Board of Trustees in consultation with the appropriate college dean, department chair, or program administrative officer to carry out the desire of the donor.
Establishment of Named Funds (contd)

The Henry G. Cramblett Fund in Medicine (contd)

The Lawrence D. Jones Scholarship Fund

The Lawrence D. Jones Scholarship Fund was established May 5, 1988, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with a gift to The Ohio State University Development Fund in memory of Dean Lawrence D. Jones (B.C.E. '23) from his wife, Alice Jones of Columbus, Ohio.

Ten percent (10%) of the annual income shall be reinvested in the fund's principal to assure future growth. The remaining ninety percent (90%) of the annual income shall be used to provide one or more scholarships to students who have demonstrated superior academic ability as engineering majors at The Ohio State University. Preference will be given to Ohio residents. Additional consideration will be extended to students with proven financial need. Recipients will be named annually, but may be eligible to compete for renewed awards. Selection will be made by the Dean of the College of Engineering with assistance from the University Committee on Student Financial Aid.

Dean Lawrence D. Jones had a lifelong interest in the study of history. This interest should be considered if the need for this fund should cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income within the area of engineering education at The Ohio State University. If this occurs, the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to the recommendations from the appropriate administrative officials of the University who are then responsible for engineering and history education.

The John H. and Mabel D. Herrick Fund

The John H. and Mabel D. Herrick Fund was established May 5, 1988, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from John H. (B.A. '28; M.A. '36; Ph.D. '44) and Mabel D. Herrick of Columbus, Ohio.

Establishment of Named Funds (contd)

The John H. and Mabel D. Herrick Fund (contd)

The annual income shall be used in the College of Education to support projects designed to attract and hold competent faculty and staff members, or to increase their competence and effectiveness as employees. Expenditure decisions are to be made by the Dean of the College of Education.

It is the desire of the donors that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity. If the need for all or part of this income for the purpose indicated should cease to exist, or if the administrative organization for teacher education should change, the Board of Trustees upon recommendation of the chief executive officer of the University shall designate another use for the income no longer needed for this initial purpose, and shall reassign administrative responsibility to use the income as it deems advisable.

Bogner Endowment Fund

The Bogner Endowment Fund was established May 5, 1988, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from Donald P., Robert E. and Theodore R. Bogner of Wooster, Ohio, members of the third generation to operate the family construction business which celebrates its 75th anniversary in 1988. The endowment is named for the company's founder, the late Theodore I. Bogner, and his sons, Robert P. Bogner and the late Richard B. Bogner.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's permanent endowment fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to provide scholarships to students enrolled in the construction technology program at the Agricultural Technical Institute. Scholarship recipients shall be chosen cooperatively by the Chairperson of the Department of Engineering Technologies and the coordinator of Student Services, in consultation with the University Committee on Student Financial Aid.

It is the desire of the donors that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity. If the need for this fund should cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then another use shall be designated by the Board of Trustees to carry out the desire of the donors.

Feibel Lecture Fund

The Feibel Lecture Fund was established May 5, 1988, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from Donald Feibel, Mrs. Troy Feibel through the Columbus Jewish Foundation, and Robert Shamansky of Columbus, Ohio.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's permanent endowment fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to sponsor an annual community lecture (or lectures) on Judaism and law. Expenditures from the fund shall be approved by the Dean of the College of Humanities.

It is the desire of the donors that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity. If the need for this fund should cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then another use shall be designated by the Board of Trustees to carry out the desire of the donors.

Change of Name and Description of Named Funds

Milton Caniff Endowment Fund

The Milton Caniff Research Room Fund was established March 6, 1981, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts from the family and friends of Milton Caniff (B.A. '30; Doctor of Humane Letters '74). The name and description were changed May 5, 1988.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's permanent endowment fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to staff and equip the Library for Communication and Graphic Arts and to acquire, preserve, and organize multimedia collections which are representative of the mass media in 20th-century America. The income will be expended by the Curator of the Library for Communications and Graphic Arts in consultation with the Director of University Libraries.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to the University Libraries.

EMPLOYMENT OF ARCHITECT/ENGINEER AND REQUEST FOR CONSTRUCTION BIDS
ST. JOHN ARENA - ROOF REPLACEMENT

Resolution No. 88-122

Synopsis: Authorization to employ an architectural/engineering firm and request construction bids is proposed.

WHEREAS the original roof of St. John Arena, which was constructed in 1956, is extremely deteriorated and needs to be replaced with a totally new roofing system; and

WHEREAS $1,800,000.00 will be made available for this project from Department of Athletics funds, of which $1,500,000.00 is estimated for construction:

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That the President and/or Vice President for Business and Administration be authorized, in accordance with established University procedures, to select a qualified architectural/engineering firm for this project, to request construction bids on this project, and if satisfactory bids are received, to award the necessary contracts, with all actions to be reported to this Board at the appropriate time.

Employment of Architect/Engineer and Request for Construction Bids Ohio Stadium – Refinish Exposed Structural Steel
Resolution No. 88-123

Synopsis: Authorization to employ an architectural/engineering firm and request construction bids is proposed.

WHEREAS the structural steel of Ohio Stadium has not been repainted for more than twenty-five years, and the present paint is cracked, scaling, and peeling loose from the steel; and

WHEREAS complete removal of all rust and loose paint, and the repainting and repainting of all exposed structural steel will prevent further deterioration; and

WHEREAS $850,000.00 will be made available for this project from Department of Athletics funds, of which $775,000.00 is estimated for construction:

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That the President and/or Vice President for Business and Administration be authorized, in accordance with established University procedures, to select a qualified architectural/engineering firm for this project, to request construction bids on this project, and if satisfactory bids are received, to award the necessary contracts, with all actions to be reported to this Board at the appropriate time.

Upon motion of Mr. Immke, seconded by Mr. Berry, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous roll call vote.

GOLF COURSE - IRRIGATION SYSTEM REPAIR AND REPLACEMENT

Project: The present irrigation system at the Golf Course is more than 30 years old and deteriorated. Installation of a computer linked weather station to monitor and control the duration and watering sequence; modernization of existing pump controls; and repairs to existing cast iron mains; and replacement of all galvanized pipe with PVC lines will provide for a more efficient operation.

Funding: Department of Athletics

Estimated Construction Cost: $825,000.00
Estimated Project Cost: $887,750.00

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That the President and/or Vice President for Business and Administration be authorized, in accordance with established University procedures, to request construction bids on this project, and if satisfactory bids are received, to award the necessary contracts, with all actions to be reported to this Board at the appropriate time.

Upon motion of Amb. Wolf, seconded by Mr. Berry, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution with eight affirmative votes cast by Messrs. Immke, Berry, Teaford, Barone, Kessler, and Wolf, and Mrs. Bowser and Ms. Casto, and a negative vote cast by Mr. Redman.

Mr. Redman:

I might add that connected with that no, that I'm further impressed by Mr. Jackson's remarks that he may be able to cut $400,000 or $500,000 off the bid when he really gets his teeth into it.

Mr. Immke:

Mr. Chairman, I didn't hear a specific amount of reduction -- I did hear that there was a possibility of reduction.

Mr. Redman:

Well knowing Mr. Jackson, when he really gets into it, my guess is -- I have confidence in Mr. Jackson.

Mr. Kessler:

He's going to be out there on weekends watering it by hand.

President Jennings made the following statement:

Mr. Chairman, in keeping with the normal budget cycle for the University, it is my responsibility to report to you our budget plans for next year at this meeting, so that a resolution on the operating budget can be brought before this Board in June for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1988.

We continue to benefit from a bi-partisan state legislative climate that values higher education, and from increasing success in private fundraising. Examples of the benefits of the Academic Challenge, Eminent Scholars, the Ohio Supercomputer Center, and other important special projects for higher education abound to recognize the State's foresight. We are recruiting faculty to fill endowed professorships and awarding new academic scholarships to students thanks to generous contributions from our supporters around the State and the nation.

However, the State is now feeling the effects of an income tax base that is currently lower than it was in 1982. The State lacks the funds to meet higher education's full needs. Private dollars must continue to be designated for our margin of excellence, not the basic requirements of the institution, or their special benefits will be irreparably diluted.

While we continue to have a growing budget at Ohio State, there is a critical difference this year in the rate of that growth. State funding is, and will be for the foreseeable future, growing at a slower rate than we have seen in the past. The State budget increases provide only a 3.5 percent increase in the General Funds Budget for the coming fiscal year.
May 4 and 5, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

For an historical comparison, our increase last year was 4.1 percent in the first year of the current biennium. That compares to increases of 11 percent and 9 percent in the biennium just before. Our recovery period from the difficult years of budget retrenchment was enormously helpful in restoring budgetary equilibrium.

However, we can no longer rely upon the State for increases at those earlier rates. Growth in State funding will continue, but at a slower pace than before. We at Ohio State, rather than scale back our ambitious plans, must be prepared to sustain our momentum on our own.

To continue to enhance excellence, and to continue to capitalize upon opportunities as they arise, we must strengthen our resolve to make difficult judgments among competing priorities as we manage the growth and the impressive progress toward pre-eminence that we see rapidly advancing all around us, in all areas of the University community.

Last year, we experimented with a program of cost containment to help generate internal savings to fund our ambitious plans. It also included monetary incentives for participation in the form of individual bonuses.

While our experiment was successful in realizing the targeted savings, the institution needs to consider other approaches to achieve the broader goals of the cost containment concept: improved information sharing and shared decision-making; greater team work across normal departmental or office boundaries; and, in particular, quality enhancement throughout the institution.

To succeed in meeting those goals, I believe the pursuit of excellence should be separated from the necessity of cutting costs. Under cost containment, cutbacks somehow became the goal, rather than assuming a proper place as a side effect of quality enhancement through the creative use of resources.

For the coming year, I will recommend that our efforts to generate new funds internally return to the reallocation system we have used successfully in the past. Through reallocation, we will find the resources within the institution to enable us to hold tuition within the rates of increase recommended by the General Assembly, fund the enhancement of excellence in colleges and offices, and reward faculty and staff members through competitive levels of compensation.

The budget planning guidelines I am outlining today for the 1988-89 fiscal year have been developed after consultation with our faculty, staff, and students through the University's Fiscal Committee and the Faculty Compensation and Benefits Committee of the University Senate. Their long hours of dedicated work on these important issues should be recognized and is very much appreciated.

Our first priority in setting budget guidelines must be keeping student tuition increases to the lowest possible levels. The State recommendation incorporated in the biennium budget guidelines was an 8 percent tuition increase this year.

You will recall that last year, when faced with recommended tuition increases of 22 percent from the General Assembly, we succeeded in holding Ohio State's increase to 10.9 percent. The year before, in 1986 -- for the first time in many years -- Ohio State did not increase tuition at all. However, with continued modest State support, our ability to set Ohio State's tuition below the state-recommended increases has been exhausted.

This year, we must reluctantly accede to the funding levels for the instructional subsidy provided in the State budget by the General Assembly. This will require that an 8 percent tuition increase for Ohio resident students be recommended.

We will, additionally, raise certain non-resident tuition levels at a higher rate. The diversity of the campus generated by attracting students from varied backgrounds is important to the quality educational environment we provide. However, we need to bring the relative share of costs paid by out-of-state students more in line with that assumed by Ohio residents through their tuition plus instructional subsidy from the State.

In allocating funds within the institution, our first priority will be providing sufficient funding for student financial aid to ensure that we maintain the purchasing power of our grants to students with demonstrated need. We also will provide funds so that students newly eligible for aid due to the increase in tuition will receive the assistance they need.

At the same time, we will continue strongly urging our State officials to renew their commitment to returning the share of higher education costs paid by student tuition to the traditional one-third share. We must look to the State to provide sufficient funding for Ohio's public colleges and universities to hold their tuition adjustments closer to the inflation rates in order to maintain accessibility.

For the record, Ohio State's tuition ranks us fifth in the Big Ten, and tenth of the thirteen public universities in the State of Ohio.

A fundamental principle of Ohio State's land-grant mission is accessibility. I believe that no qualified student should be denied access to Ohio's flagship university on the basis of insufficient financial resources. Providing adequate State funding to keep our tuition as low as possible must be a priority goal for all the citizens of Ohio.
Other costs for students include various fees and charges for residence and dining halls, parking, bookstores, and other aspects of campus life. These charges are assessed by auxiliary services, which we expect to be self-supporting within centrally established guidelines. This year, we will ease prior restrictions on price increases in the auxiliaries, allowing each area to make its case for price changes based on their own goals and markets, and in a context of continuing to reduce internal costs.

However, we also will expect attention to be focused on the important goal of keeping an Ohio State education accessible in all respects, and the overall average of the increases is not to exceed the 8 percent tuition increase.

Our compensation for faculty and staff must remain competitive. The rising costs of benefits makes that more difficult each year. This year, just to maintain current medical benefits, our costs will increase some 40 percent — despite the continuing efforts of University Hospitals and the Office of Personnel Services to find imaginative new ways to meet the needs of our employees while holding costs down.

Salaries, however, remain the centerpiece of compensation. I will recommend a 1.5 percent across-the-board increase for all our faculty and staff members, with an additional 2.5 percent for merit increases. We also will continue our practice of making a central pool available for equity and excellence adjustments and to address market issues, totalling another 1 percent.

With these salary guidelines and the substantial increases in medical benefit rates paid by the institution, we will have an increase in salary and benefit costs of 6.8 percent. At this level, we are able to maintain our competitive position among the nation's best comprehensive research-oriented universities.

For equipment and supplies budgets in the colleges and offices, I will recommend budget increases of 3 percent, with options for each area to request additional funds for special priority needs.

In proposing these recommendations, I have not for one moment considered moving away from continuing our progress in identifying and enhancing excellence, as well as maintaining competitive levels of compensation for faculty and staff. However, to meet the guidelines I have outlined, the institution will need to generate $12 million dollars in additional resources if we are to balance our budget.

As I mentioned briefly at the outset, it is my intention to return to a reallocation process for internal generation of new funds. However, just as I have been committed to developing institutional flexibility through total resource management, I will expect the process of reallocation by the colleges and offices to reflect the same flexibility in setting goals.
May 4 and 5, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

President Jennings: (contd)

Furthermore, no area, large or small, will have its budget approved if its own budget approach is seen to be simplistic across-the-board percentage reallocations. This principle has been stated year after year. But year after year, too many of us have looked to across-the-board budget reductions to meet goals. As we return to reallocation, such across-the-board approaches will be unacceptable.

Admittedly, setting and funding priorities calls for difficult decisions. But we must recognize differing needs and, indeed, differing achievements in prior years that have left some areas truly lean and efficient, while others cling to out-of-date procedures and programs of dubious value to our fundamental priorities. Those differentiations must be made as part of the budget process, in the context of anticipating a substantial reallocation each spring.

Our understanding of total resource management also must be expanded to include human resources. Vice Presidents Weldon Ihrig and Madison Scott have been evaluating last year's cost containment effort and talking to faculty, staff, and students across the institution to hear their comments and suggestions. I will ask them, in the coming months, to develop its broader goals and most useful characteristics, in articulating a revised program that focuses on quality enhancement first and foremost.

As we focus on reassessment of all of that we do with firm commitment to quality, I have confidence that cost savings will be realized as a part of our success, rather than as the primary goal. And, while opportunities for bonuses as well as other recognitions for accomplishments will be considered, they will accrue directly to the individuals or groups involved, based upon the results achieved.

Part of total resource management is looking to ourselves for staffing the growth areas of the University. While the faculty are basically specialized, by and large our outstanding staff suffers no such limitation. As programs, projects, or services become obsolete, the people who made those efforts work need to be given opportunities to direct their skills and their loyalty to Ohio State into new areas and to match their professional growth to the priority directions of the institution.

For the coming year, new hiring to staff growth areas in the institution will be focused on internal redistribution and finding new opportunities for our most valuable quality asset, Ohio State's human resources.

The 1988-89 University budget we will present for your approval in June will be in accordance with these guidelines, which seek to make the best possible use of our substantial advantages of size, diversity, and institutional flexibility.

We have the capacity and the commitment to continue the pursuit of recognized pre-eminence, without losing sight of our fundamental land-grant mission. Working together, our faculty and staff members, along with our students, will continue to further Ohio State's unique identity as an outstanding example of comprehensive excellence.

Thank you, Mr. Chairman. I will be happy to respond to any questions that you or the Board might have.

Mr. Redman:

The only question I have, President Jennings, is the one I asked in the committee meeting, that I don't think you touched on in your report -- you're recommended budget will balance and the income will exceed or at least equal the expenses?

President Jennings:

The recommended budget will balance, Mr. Chairman, that is primarily why the $12 million internal reallocation -- although we don't at this stage know, it will be on the order of $970 - $980 million. You will not yet have, Mr. Len Immke, a billion dollar budget.

Mr. Redman:

Well, he can aspire to that. Thank you, Mr. President. Are there any other questions?

EXPRESSIONS OF APPRECIATION
Resolution No. 88-126

JAMIE CANO

WHEREAS Jamie Cano has served as President of the Council of Graduate Students during the past year; and

WHEREAS he has carried out his assignments in an outstanding manner; and

WHEREAS Jamie has worked diligently and with sensitivity in order to bring matters and concerns of special interest to graduate students to the attention of this Board; and

WHEREAS his resolve, dedication, and support of this University has been evidenced in innumerable ways over the past year:

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That this Board expresses to Jamie Cano their thanks and appreciation for his dedicated leadership and service to The Ohio State University, and wishes him success in the future.
May 4 and 5, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

EXPRESSIONS OF APPRECIATION (contd)

STEPHEN SASALA

WHEREAS Stephen Sasala has served as President of the Interprofessional Student Council during the past year; and

WHEREAS he has carried out his assignment in an exemplary manner; and

WHEREAS his leadership in representing the often diverse interested professional students has been useful in identifying their concerns and interests to the Board:

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That this Board expresses to Stephen Sasala its sincere appreciation and gratitude for a job well done and conveys to him its best wishes for success in the future.

SCOT ZELLMAN

WHEREAS Scot Zellman has served as President of the Undergraduate Student Government during the past year; and

WHEREAS he has carried out his assignment in an exemplary manner; and

WHEREAS his leadership in representing the interest of students has been positive in nature as has been his communication with both the Board of Trustees and the Administration:

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That this Board expresses to Scot Zellman its sincere appreciation and gratitude for a job well done and conveys to him its best wishes for success in the future.

JIM SCHAEFER

WHEREAS Jim Schaefer has served as Vice President of the Undergraduate Student Government during the past year; and

WHEREAS he has carried out his assignment in an exemplary manner; and

WHEREAS his leadership in representing the interest of students has been positive in nature as has been his communication with both the Board of Trustees and the Administration:

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That this Board expresses to Jim Schaefer its sincere appreciation and gratitude for a job well done and conveys to him its best wishes for success in the future.

Upon motion of Mr. Teaford, seconded by Mrs. Bowser, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous voice vote.
May 4 and 5, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

APPROCIATION TO EDMUND C. REDMAN

President Jennings:

Mr. Chairman, I have one more small assignment. Knowing that you're not quite done yet, that this isn't quite over until May 13, you still have some duties, Sir -- Ohio State would like to recognize, in all seriousness, your great contributions to the University. It has been a great nine years, and for seven of those nine years I have very much enjoyed working with you. It is particularly gratifying this year when we had so little controversy in the University while you were Chairman. And I am absolutely confident that if Central Billing also doesn't work, that we will call you back and ask you to be part of it. Those more senior members of the Board will recognize that not only did you provide great service to the University in terms of Central Billing, but also in your Hospitals Board membership. In addition, early on in your tenure, you were questioning us greatly on how we were making easements in the University, and had some problems in that regard straightened out.

I will mention also, that you are a long-time alumni of The Ohio State University. I think it is now sixty one years since you have graduated from Ohio State. And I think it is worth noting that as you look at the young people today, they are fine young people. They are much better behaved than the Class of 1927, who, for President William Oxley Thompson, that class gave him the great privilege of electing a cow as the homecoming queen for Ohio State. And noting that you were leading that --

Mrs. Bowser:

Leading the cow?

President Jennings:

Leading the campaign to elect a cow. Now for the students in the room, I am not recommending that for this student body. We would like to present you with this small token of our appreciation -- a gavel that you might cherish. And we thank you very much.

President Jennings presented Mr. Redman with a gavel, inscribed as follows, in recognition of outstanding service as a member and chairman of the Board of Trustees:

EDMUND C. REDMAN

in appreciation of his service

to the Board of Trustees of

The Ohio State University

Member 1979-1988

Chairman 1987-1988
May 4 and 5, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

APPRECIATION TO EDMUND C. REDMAN (contd)

Mr. Redman made the following statement:

Thank you, Mr. President. I will indeed cherish that. You said to keep the meeting short and I did mention that I had an hour and a half speech to make, so if you want to sit back and relax I will proceed. It would be remiss on my part if I failed to make a few remarks about nine years here, during which time we've had: two presidents, three provosts — and this is not necessarily in the order of their importance — three athletic directors, three football coaches, we've installed a hospitals board, hospitals administrator and we've begun the building of a cancer hospital. And regardless of the turmoil that went with all of these matters, I want to say that I applaud the Governors, both Governor Rhodes and Governor Celeste, for their appointments to this Board. I think we have all worked together well, that we've helped each other, we've been supportive, and I think if that tradition is carried on, that is the best that I can ask. And with that Mr. Chairman, I will bid you adieu.

THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY
COMMENCEMENT CONVOCATION

June 10, 1988
Commencement Speaker

Erich Bloch
Doctor of Science and Engineering

Erich Bloch is director of the National Science Foundation (NSF), the federal agency responsible for strengthening our nation's scientific and engineering research and education capabilities. He has held that position since his 1984 confirmation by the U.S. Senate and oversees an annual budget of $1.7 billion. During his three years of leadership, the NSF has emerged as a major force in helping our nation regain its competitive edge in science and technology.

After receiving his degree in electrical engineering from the University of Buffalo in 1952, he began work at IBM in what was then the new field of computer research. His contributions were major factors in IBM's emergence as a leader in the computer industry, and he had risen to the position of vice president for technical personnel development before he left for the NSF.

Under Bloch's direction, the NSF established several innovative programs that have had significant impact on higher education and the American science community. Among these programs are the engineering research centers at various universities, which are strengthening the United States' competitive technological base. Ohio State is the site of one of these centers—the Engineering Research Center for Net Shape Manufacturing.

He also has garnered unprecedented support from the White House for a plan to double the NSF budget. These additional funds will be used primarily to enhance the academic enterprise across the country.

Ohio State welcomes him as speaker for this 304th commencement and is proud to confer upon him an honorary degree.
Recipients of Honors

Philip Johnson
Doctor of Arts

Architect, historian, and critic Philip Johnson has had considerable influence on the profession of architecture. While he is credited with bringing Modernism to America, his career has been marked by a refusal to limit his work to a single style.

A native of Cleveland, Johnson earned his Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Architecture degrees from Harvard University and attended the Harvard Graduate School of Design.

As director of the Department of Architecture at the Museum of Modern Art during the 1930s, he curated important shows and contributed to books that introduced Modernism to the public. He also encouraged noted European architects to settle in this country.

Johnson used Modernism throughout much of his career and designed some of the greatest American Modernist buildings. Most notable are his Glass House, built in 1949 and one of the best known works of architecture in the world, and the Seagram's Building (co-designed with architect Mies van der Rohe) in 1954-58.

He eventually integrated other design elements as well. For example, he reintroduced decoration into many projects, established a strong connection with Minimalist sculpture, and ultimately broke with Modernism altogether and returned to historical allusions in architectural design. Today his buildings can be found in most major cities in a variety of contexts across the country.

The importance of his work has been widely recognized—among his awards are the 1979 Gold Medal from the American Institute of Architecture and the first Pritzker Architecture Prize, instituted in 1979. The University is pleased at the opportunity to honor him for a lifetime of distinguished achievement.

Roy Lichtenstein
Doctor of Fine Arts

Artist Roy Lichtenstein, an Ohio State alumnus, has attained great distinction as a scholar and master of contemporary art. His work is represented in nearly every major collection of modern art, both nationally and internationally.

He earned his Bachelor and Master of Fine Arts degrees at Ohio State and then spent 13 years painting and working as a graphic and engineering draftsman, window designer, and sheet metal designer. He also taught at several institutions including Ohio State, the New York State College of Education, and Rutgers University.

The turning point in his career was his first solo exhibition in 1962 at the Leo Castelli Gallery in New York City. From that time on, he devoted himself full time to artmaking, becoming a major force in the Pop Art movement and drawing inspiration from comic strips and advertisements, as well as art history itself.

He has received innumerable awards, commissions, and grants, has held international solo exhibitions, and in 1970 was elected to the American Institute of Arts and Letters. Among his recent works are Mural With Blue Brushstroke, in New York City, which was written about in a 1986 issue of LIFE magazine; Salute to Painting, at the Walker Art Center in Minneapolis; and Brushstrokes in Flight, at Port Columbus International Airport. The University welcomes him back as a distinguished alumnus and takes pride in his professional accomplishment.
Recipients of Honors

Toni Mendez
Distinguished Service Award

Toni Mendez, now president of her own New York literary and licensing agency, began her career as a dancer and choreographer. She created several shows in conjunction with newspaper cartoonists—projects which proved to be a segue into her present agency work. She has represented not only individuals but also publishing companies, newspaper syndicates, and government agencies in book and licensing projects. Among her highly successful projects in television, print, and licensing are Space Cadet, Milton Caniff’s Steve Canyon, B. Kliban’s Cat, and the federal government’s Smokey the Bear program. Her television projects include working with Norman Lear’s production company, Tandem, on the television series All in the Family.

While not an alumna, she has been very involved with Ohio State and has given generously of her time, talent, and resources to the University. In 1977, Mendez was instrumental in establishing Ohio State’s Library for Communication and Graphic Arts. Since then she has added her papers to the collection—papers that reveal the inner workings of the comics publishing and merchandising industry.

Mendez was a charter member of the National Campaign Committee for The Ohio State University Campaign, helped plan the University’s Festival of Cartoon Art, and has been a guest lecturer for advanced-level fiction writing classes. She has also encouraged support for the University in artistic, literary, and media circles in New York and across the country. Ohio State is indeed indebted to her for her enthusiastic and innovative support.

COMMITTEE APPOINTMENTS 1988-89 (contd)

Ohio State University Affiliates, Inc.
Leonard J. Immke (term 1 year)
John W. Berry (term 2 years)
Shirley D. Bowser (term 3 years)

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That the Committee appointments and the representatives to the Research Foundation Board of Directors, the Development Fund Board of Directors, the Inter-University Council, the University Hospitals Board, the University Foundation Board of Directors, and the Ohio State University Affiliates, Inc., Board of Directors for 1988-89 are hereby ratified and confirmed.

Upon motion of Mrs. Bowser, seconded by Mr. Barone, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous roll call vote.

The meeting recessed into Executive Session for the purpose of considering legal issues and personnel actions as follows: faculty/staff appointments and reappointments, resignations and terminations, leaves of absence without salary, professional improvement leaves, promotions/tenure, emeritus titles, and medical staff appointments.

Upon motion of Mr. Teaford, seconded by Mr. Barone.

Mr. Immke reconvened the meeting on June 3, 1988, at 10:05 a.m.

INTRODUCTION OF LESLIE H. WEXNER

Mr. Immke introduced the new member of the Board of Trustees:

I am pleased to have the opportunity to officially welcome Les Wexner as the newest member of The Ohio State University Board of Trustees. Mr. Wexner is very familiar to the Ohio State family through his work with The Ohio State University Foundation, as a speaker at commencement, and as a benefactor of the arts on campus. He is the founder, President, and Chairman of the Board of The Limited, Inc., which operates 3,200 stores and mail order divisions. Les has been extremely productive in civic, charitable, and corporate activities across the country and he will be, I am sure, an asset to our Board. Please join me in welcoming Les Wexner as a Trustee.
June 2 and 3, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

Mr. Immke:

Dr. Brand would you introduce Andrea Lunsford, Professor in the Department of English, who will make a presentation to the Board?

Dr. Brand:

My pleasure, Mr. Chairman. As you know, we are engaged in a major curriculum review and reform. We are looking at the entire undergraduate experience from the core or basic education courses through the majors, through the support and delivery systems. One of our major changes will be an increase in the requirements in writing and communication courses. Indeed, we are tripling that — if the proposal passes the faculty — we are proposing to triple it for all students. We are asking not only the English Department to assume a part of the instructional load, but the individual units as well so that students will obtain writing experiences in their major programs and in their areas of interest, as well as basic composition courses.

In order to carry out this significant increase in writing skills instruction, Professor Andrea Lunsford, who is Vice Chair of the Composition and Rhetoric Department in English, has been working with faculty members in other colleges. Professor Lunsford came to Ohio State last year from the University of British Columbia. She is a national leader in writing instruction movements — she has two books in press now, for example. In addition, she chairs the National Conference on Composition Writing in Colleges. I am also proud to say that she is an Ohio State Ph.D. in 1977. Professor Lunsford will relate one experience she is having right now in working with the College of Agriculture in developing writing instruction within that College. It is a very exciting program, very successful, and something we can certainly be proud of. Professor Lunsford if you would —

Dr. Andrea A. Lunsford:

I have with me this morning Professor Carl Zulauf from Agricultural Economics, who is going to talk a little about his part of the program as well. Thank you, for that introduction Myles. With all this talk about Buckeyes, I think that I am a real "super Buckeye." I was lecturing in England a couple of years ago and in a really interesting interpretation of my C.V., I was introduced, to my alarm, as the first person to graduate from Ohio State University. The original Buckeye, and with my gray hairs I can speak with great authority on all topics having to do with OSU.

I am, of course, delighted to speak to this body today about my special interest, which is writing in all of its aspects across the University curriculum. As you know, the country is awash in stories of the illiteracy of American youth and problems with writing throughout the country and especially in the public schools. The Appleby Stanford Study of a few years ago revealed that in spite of some real improvements in public schools we still could only count on any student in high school spending about four minutes a day in actual writing. This was a surprise to some and not so much a surprise to others. In report after report, like A Nation at Risk and many other commission reports, we have heard calls for a renewed interest in and increased emphasis on writing throughout the grade levels.

Well why are people so exercised about writing? Why are we so interested in this subject at Ohio State University? I think first of all because writing is not simply a matter of dotting our "i's" or getting our commas in the right places. Those activities are important, of course; they allow us to be better understood by people. But they are really a very, very small part of what writing entails. The larger part of writing entails creating a conceptual framework and then sustaining a sophisticated line of reasoning within that conceptual framework. That is the hard and big part of writing. And it is the definition of writing that people like Gene Fowler have in mind when they say, "Oh, writing is easy, all you do is sit staring a blank piece of paper until drops of blood start to form on your forehead." I have been in that position myself only recently. So perhaps writing is one of the most intellectually challenging acts possible -- it's obvious, of course, that I think it is.

Still, why is it so important to learning, let's say in a field like agriculture? Why have a Learning Through Writing Project at all, especially -- and I want to emphasize this -- since writing is very, very labor and time intensive? You can not teach writing, just as you could not coach football with one coach and seven hundred players; neither can you teach writing with one teacher and six or seven hundred students. It is very time and labor intensive. Well, I want to give three brief answers to that question and then just talk very briefly about the Learning Through Writing Project in Agriculture.

My first answer to the question, "Why is writing important to agriculture?" comes from evidence from the professional work place. To present to you only one small piece of evidence, a five-year study of ten professions in the United States found that members of those professions -- and these were professions as varied as chemists, consulting engineers, chief executive officers, and city managers, a very broad spectrum of professions in the United States -- not only spent between 40% and 50% of their time in some kind of writing or writing related activity, but that they ranked writing as most important in understanding the new information related to their profession and as most important in getting ahead in that profession. They also reminded us that writing skills are developed over a lifetime. If we could only just inoculate students as they came through the doors and say, "here is your dose of writing and now you will be a good writer." And they reminded us that skills in writing are not easily transferred from one field to another. So that if I had to go to work in President Jennings's office next week, although I am a pretty strong writer, I would have a lot of learning to do to be able to do the kind of writing that President Jennings's office would demand of me. Or if I decided to go into law, again, I might be a very strong writer, but I would have a lot of learning to do. So skills in writing develop over a lifetime and change from one field to another. At least we hope they develop over the lifetime. I was thinking of one of Ohio State's famous students, James Thurber, who, approaching the age of sixty, said that he thought he could detect inflammation of the sentence structure and hardening of the paragraphs as he approached sixty. Of course, you can look at his writing and see that that was not the case.

For my second answer to the question, "Why use writing to learn material in agriculture?" comes from studies of learners. These studies also corroborate the evidence provided by professionals on the job. Now I won't get on my favorite hobby horse about learning theory or harangue you about that. Let me just summarize by saying that research in artificial intelligence and in cognitive studies is beginning to map the territory of memory, which is, of course, instrumental to all of writing and to all of learning. The researchers are finding that writing is very closely tied to memory. There are, of course, historical reasons for this in the west. The Ohio State University's Brain Behavioral Lab which is, as far as I know, unique in higher education in this country, is exploring those relationships and studying the ways that the cognitive and social aspects of writing work to embed information in our neural pathways and to embed strategies for problem solving in those pathways as well. I think this sounds kind of formidable, but we all know what the artificial intelligence researchers are talking about. If we really want to figure something out, if we work through it in writing, we will know it in a way that we don't know it in any other way. I take it, in my very limited understanding, that that is what these people are studying.

Well, my third and final answer to the question, "Why we should use writing to learn material in agriculture?" comes from demographic information which I think urges us to connect writing to learning throughout the school years, including and perhaps particularly in the college years. Recent information from the Department of Labor presents us with some pretty startling pieces of information about our changing population and our changing student body. For instance, starting in September, thirty percent of the first graders in urban areas will be the first born of parents who dropped out of school for pregnancy -- thirty percent of the first graders. Those are children that will not come to school with much of a background in writing. Fifty percent of our population will soon have English as a second language, that is going to present us with some real challenges. Children, of course we know this already, spend upwards of forty hours a week watching television. And this is my favorite statistic from the Labor Department -- ninety-three percent of the American families do not match the norm for American families. So we have a seven percent norm -- that is to say families with two parents, and with one parent around to do some talking, reading, and writing with the child before the child comes to school.

Well such figures graphically demonstrate that the schools alone can no longer rely on traditional institutions to link writing and learning — the family, for instance, the church, or even large social institutions like the Boy and Girl Scouts. And I want to tell you if you can remember being in the Scouts, you did a lot of writing to get those badges. Those institutional supports are not as helpful to us as they once were. Still, we know for sure that facility in writing, or what the researchers call literate behavior, is an essential ingredient to learning. So in the face of such answers and such pieces of demographic information, what is a great land-grant, multiversity like Ohio State to do?

Well, I think we can begin to pick up the ball, to run with it, to take the initiative ourselves in linking writing and learning throughout our college years as forcefully and rigorously as we possibly can. It is entirely appropriate in this regard that the College of Agriculture, so closely identified with all of Ohio State and traditionally so dedicated to excellence in education for undergraduates and graduates, takes the lead in such a bold endeavor, and so the Learning Through Writing Project was born. I have distributed to you a one-page description of the goals of that project. The agriculture faculty quickly grasped the implications of the curricular review we have conducted under Provost Brand's direction and they also quickly grasped the importance of writing in the revision in the curriculum. So they proposed an experimental project designed to integrate writing more fully into their curriculum right across-the-board. This they have done, following their fine proposal with a very elegant research design and then implemented that design this quarter with rigor and enthusiasm. A core group of instructors redesigned their courses to integrate writing more fully into the whole course. A systematic evaluation of that program has gone on throughout the quarter and, in fact, tomorrow morning at 9:00 we will gather with the agricultural faculty to read pieces of writing that the students produced at the end of the quarter, compared to pieces of writing that the students produced at the beginning of the quarter. So we will have some very hard information about what changes occurred in writing over the course of this term with writing intensive activities imbeded in the courses. We don't have that information today to share with you, but some of the teacher evaluations of the program and the student evaluations are in.

I would like to conclude my remarks by quoting from one of the student evaluations of a class in which a particular kind of writing assignment had been introduced. On a 3 x 5 card the students were asked to write a mini-essay of what had gone on in their reading assignments and class discussions for the week. They had to do this all the time, quite regularly. You can imagine when this was announced in this particular class that many of the students probably felt as a lot of these students did. I have five pages here of comments from the students about the series of assignments that they didn't really warm up to at the first announcement. But many of the responses are very similar to the one that I will read to you now: "I believe that this idea of using file cards to judge the length of writing assignments is an excellent one. You needed (you being the teacher) a way to verify that the class was understanding the material." Of course that is one of the values of writing for the teacher, you can tell whether the student "gets it" or not. "The assignments were long enough to encourage creative thinking on our part, but they were short enough to prevent one from being dragged down by the assignment. I am not keen on writing assignments in general, but these were actually helpful," the student says. "I believe you have a good idea here and I will continue to use it. And, finally, I hate to say this, but these assignments were almost fun."

If we can get students to say writing assignments are almost fun, I think we will have succeeded in our endeavors. I would like to turn to Professor Zulauf, now, for a few words about the professorial part of this project. And, of course, we would be happy to answer any questions that you might have. Thank you, very much for letting me come here this morning.

Professor Carl R. Zulauf:

Thank you, Andrea. It is my pleasure to be here today and to follow-up on Andrea's introduction. I would just like to make a couple of observations about this program. I became interested in writing because I kept hearing from potential employers of students how writing, and communication in general, was so important to them. And how, in their view, the educational system was letting them down. They were having to spend a lot of time retraining writing and communication skills. I have a couple of observations on the proposal itself. First of all, it has been very helpful to be with faculty in the College who are committed to writing and to hear the diversity of ways of incorporating writing into one's course. Andrea has touched on one, another professor has rediscovered and reemphasized essay take home exams and grading them on the holistic style of writing, as opposed to subject matter; another is emphasizing term papers; another one that I am using is a congressional writing style -- one page, briefing paper for a representative or senator. Students have found it to be very useful, very helpful, and informative, as well as improving writing skills.

Dr. Lunsford:

Fun?

Professor Zulauf:

Fun, to a point. And, finally, I would like to say that the access to Andrea has been very helpful. To get a professional view from someone other than just subject matter discipline and outside your subject matter has been very useful. She has presented a lot of ideas -- some I've excepted, some I have not, but a lot of ideas for consideration that has broadened appreciation for writing. This holistic view of writing is something I was always leaning to, but could never conceptualize. It has been very useful to experience this assignment. I could not commend it highly enough, so I thank you very much.
June 2 and 3, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

Mrs. Bowser:

Am I permitted a personal comment?

President Jennings:

Yes, please.

Mrs. Bowser:

My father, who also served on the Board of Trustees, came to Ohio State in 1925 and, came to be recognized in the State of Ohio as quite an agriculturalist. He came and majored in English in the Arts College. His father felt that agriculture was something that he could learn at home, but that he needed to know how to speak and write in order to promote the agriculture that he knew. And so it delights me to see the College of Agriculture associated with this writing project.

Dr. Lunsford:

Well, they are the first.

Mrs. Bowser:

Well, they are first in my heart, too.

Dr. Lunsford:

Thank you, again.

Dr. Brand:

Mr. Chairman, may I make some concluding remarks? I want to complement Andrea, as well as the faculty members in the College of Agriculture.

We are moving past the kind of fragmentation that often infects a large institution. The cooperative efforts between the Arts and Sciences and the professional schools is clearly the direction that we are going to have to follow. I fully believe that Ohio State is leading the way nationally on this. When we look at the large universities, particularly the land-grant institutions that have the full range of activities that we have, it is only by taking advantage of that full range and collaborating amongst ourselves that we will have a true comparative advantage nationally. So, I see this as part of a larger effort and, again, I must complement all those who participated in this.

Mr. Immke:

Thank you, Myles.

--0--

Mr. Immke:

I would like to call on Mr. Barone to make the committee report for the Research Foundation.
June 2 and 3, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

Mr. Barone:

Thank you, Mr. Chairman. Members, I would like to give the report of what occurred at our meeting yesterday morning at the Faculty Club.

Research Foundation grants and contracts for the month of April 1988 are shown in the Board Agenda book. I would suggest to the Members to go through those, they are part of the agenda and are itemized there. There are 116 awards listed which provide a gross income of $7.5 million.

For the first ten months of the fiscal year (July 1, 1987 to April 30, 1988) we received 1,012 awards with a gross income of $83.5 million. Last year at this time we had 900 awards with a gross income of $71.6 million. This represents a 16 1/2 percent increase in funding for the ten month period. I believe this is the greatest ever for the Research Foundation.

Industrial funding increased significantly this month. Notable increases were also received from the National Science Foundation and the Department of Health and Human Services for the month of April 1988.

Some highlights of awards for April are:

* $278,542 award from the National Cancer Institute to the Department of Internal Medicine, for continuation of research into improved methods of treating cancer.

* $173,685 award from the National Institute of Health to the College of Nursing to determine the effects of an exercise training program with cancer patients.

* $45,000 award from the U.S. Department of Education to the Department of Slavic and East European Languages and Literatures to establish an Ohio State-Purdue University Russian Language Program at the Pushkin Institute in Moscow, USSR.

I think with President Regan's visit to Moscow, if anybody saw that, they could see the importance of being able to speak Russian. And the number of Russians that were able to speak English so fluently was amazing. I think this, in turn, should be very beneficial because it will teach the language, in Moscow.

I think we should thank Shirley for this next one --

* $50,000 award from the Kellogg Foundation to the Cooperative Extension Service, to promote family community leadership.

Thank you, Shirley. That completes my report; however, I would like to ad-lib on one of the facts that we discussed at length yesterday -- and Weldon can testify to that and that is to the fact -- we have a Research Foundation that brings in approximately $100 million a year and it is in a building that most of the employees there and anyone that sees it would think it is rather shabby. It needs a lot of remodeling and a lot of reparing. I just can't feel that any organization that brings in $100 million -- we should make some effort to better the working conditions, number one. And secondly, I think the award people who see the building would -- I would say that is very poor salesmanship to have something in such disrepair. I would like to have the Board think about this and have Weldon, with the help of Mr. Jackson, to see if we can better the working conditions and the facilities of the Research Foundation. Thank you.

Mr. Barone: (contd)

Mr. Immke:

Thank you, Mr. Barone. Mrs. Bowser, Hospitals Board Report --

Mrs. Bowser:

Yes. The Hospitals Board's Executive Committee met last Thursday and welcomed Joel Teaford who is the new member from the Trustees. We reviewed the Hospitals' proposed budget and heard updated reports on the progress of MedOhio physician recruitment.

A Cancer Hospital report was provided by Dr. David Schuller who shared with the members present a revised equipment list identifying major pieces of equipment yet to be funded for the operation of the Research Institute. These requests included the purchase of a cyclotron, PET scanner, a microtron, as well as additional operating rooms and computer hardware. The total amount comes to $10 million. It is anticipated that these needs will be reviewed with the President and that development dollars will be utilized to purchase the equipment. In addition, Dr. Schuller shared a new draft of an organization chart depicting the administrative reporting relationships of the Cancer Hospital. Though there are some differences of opinion on the proposed structure, it is anticipated that these will be worked out and brought back to the Hospitals Board for their consideration. Many of the recommendations made were to assist the Hospital in its application for an exemption from the Medicare DRG system. In this way, additional revenues can be generated for the Hospitals.

Insofar as the Hospitals budget proposal is concerned, the Hospitals propose to generate 28,645 admissions and revenues of $230 million. It is anticipated that an 8% rate adjustment will be made. Expenses are projected to be approximately $214 million. The details associated with this budget can be provided to you by Mr. Covert or Mr. Ihrig. After extensive review by the Operations and Executive Committees of the Board, this budget is recommended to the President and the Board of Trustees for their approval as part of the total budget package of the University.

There being no other major business, the Board adjourned its official meeting so that it could hear a presentation on the Hospitals' proposed fund raising efforts for the future. I submit this report.
June 2 and 3, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

Mr. Immke:

Thank you, Mrs. Bowser. Any questions? That completes our committee reports for this month.

RENAMING OF SCHOOL

Resolution No. 88-131

Synopsis: A proposal to change the name of the School of Public Administration to the School of Public Policy and Management is recommended.

WHEREAS the proposed name change of the School of Public Administration to the School of Public Policy and Management has the unanimous support of the faculty in the School, the faculty in the College of Business, and the Council on Academic Affairs; and

WHEREAS the proposed name more accurately reflects the teaching and research missions of the School and describes the scope of its programs; and

WHEREAS the University Senate approved the renaming of the School of Public Administration on May 7, 1988:

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That the proposal to change the name of the School of Public Administration to the School of Public Policy and Management, effective January 1, 1989, is hereby approved.

Upon motion of Mrs. Bowser, seconded by Mr. Berry, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous voice vote.

AMENDMENTS TO THE RULES OF THE UNIVERSITY FACULTY

Resolution No. 88-132

Synopsis: Amendments to rules 3335-7-15 and 3335-9-22 are being proposed.

WHEREAS the University Senate pursuant to rule 3335-1-09 of the Administrative Code is authorized to recommend through the President to the Board of Trustees the adoption of amendments to the Rules of the University Faculty as approved by the University Senate; and

WHEREAS the proposed changes in the Rules of the University Faculty were approved by the University Senate on May 7, 1988, as follows:
June 2 and 3, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

AMENDMENTS TO THE RULES OF THE UNIVERSITY FACULTY (contd)

AMENDED RULES

3335-7-15 Changes of schedules.

(A) No instructor shall change the hour or place of meeting of any class to which a student has been assigned except with the approval of the office of the university registrar.

(B) Instructors who deviate from regular university schedules by holding special sessions or examinations must have received approval from their department chairperson, regional campus dean and director or college dean to hold such special sessions or examinations. Such instructors shall accommodate students who may have conflicts because of required attendance in regularly scheduled classes. This rule does not apply to policies for the scheduling of final examinations which are provided in rule 3335-7-20 of the Administrative Code.

3335-9-22 Group absences.

(A) Whenever possible, group absences shall be planned so that they do not conflict with regularly scheduled classes.

(B) When a student misses class in order to participate in a university sanctioned event, such as a field trip for another class, or an athletic or band event, or a specially scheduled class or examination scheduled in accordance with rule 3335-7-15 of the Administrative Code, it is the student's responsibility to present, at the earliest possible date, documentation of the required absence to each instructor whose class is to be missed. Documentation may include a copy of the course syllabus that shows the scheduled activity from a class scheduling an event or special session, or a memo from the instructor, coach, or person in authority requiring the absence. It shall be the responsibility of the instructor of the class or coordinator of the event causing the student to miss class to provide such documentation to the student. This documentation may be the basis of an excuse for an absence from class under the policies provided in rule 3335-9-21 of the Administrative Code.

(C) Instructors of the regularly scheduled classes which have been missed by students attending special sessions or examinations should make reasonable efforts to assist students who miss a class due to authorized absence. The instructor, however, is not obligated to provide make-up classes, laboratory exercises, field trips, or examinations. The student is responsible for material covered in class during the absence. If an examination will be missed, the student should make alternate arrangements prior to the absence with the instructor of the class.

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That the foregoing amendments to the Rules of the University Faculty be adopted as recommended by the University Senate.
AMENDMENTS TO THE RULES OF THE UNIVERSITY FACULTY (contd)

Upon motion of Ms. Casto, seconded by Mr. Berry, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous voice vote.

CHANGE "THE HENRY G. CRAMBLETT FUND IN MEDICINE" TO "THE HENRY G. CRAMBLETT CHAIR IN MEDICINE"

Resolution No. 88-133

Synopsis: Changing "The Henry G. Cramblett Fund in Medicine" to "The Henry G. Cramblett Chair in Medicine" is proposed.

WHEREAS in accordance with the guidelines previously established by this Board, "The Henry G. Cramblett Fund in Medicine" was established on May 5, 1988; and

WHEREAS all gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates; and

WHEREAS at the time of the establishment of the endowed fund it was agreed that the fund be redesignated "The Henry G. Cramblett Chair in Medicine" when the level of funding reaches $600,000; and

WHEREAS the level of funding has now reached the level required through an additional gift from the Estate of the late Mrs. Helen Simpson Lambacher (B.S.Ed. '33):

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That The Henry G. Cramblett Fund in Medicine be changed to The Henry G. Cramblett Chair in Medicine. In keeping with the provisions of the original endowed fund, the annual income is to provide salary and program support in the Department of Pediatrics in The Ohio State University College of Medicine for the work of a distinguished pediatrician who is nationally noted for leading research and patient care in the area of infectious diseases. Appointment to the Cramblett Chair will be made at the recommendation of the Dean of the College of Medicine to the Provost and approved by The Ohio State University Board of Trustees after consultation with the Chair of the Department of Pediatrics and Dr. Henry G. Cramblett, as long as he is living; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That should the need for this faculty position cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees in consultation with the appropriate dean, department chair, or program administrative officer.

Upon motion of Ms. Casto, seconded by Mr. Wolf, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous voice vote.

WAIVER OF PARAGRAPH (G) OF BYLAW 3335-1-08
OF THE ADMINISTRATIVE CODE

Resolution No. 88-134

Synopsis: Request to waive paragraph (G) of bylaw 3335-1-08 of the Administrative Code for the naming of a road on the Lima Campus.

WHEREAS the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University did, on January 9, 1976, amend paragraph (G) of bylaw 3335-1-08 of the Administrative Code to state that "buildings and structures shall not be named for any person who is an officer or employee of the University or the State of Ohio, but may be named for a person who has been retired or has otherwise left such a position for a minimum of three years"; and

WHEREAS the President wishes to recommend that Progress Drive on the Lima Campus be named to honor James S. Biddle, who will retire this year as Dean and Director of the Lima Campus:

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That the applicable requirements of paragraph (G) of bylaw 3335-1-08 of the Administrative Code be waived so that Progress Drive on the Lima Campus can be named for an officer or employee of the University or the State of Ohio who has not been retired from such position for three years.

Upon motion of Mr. Wolf, seconded by Mr. Wexner, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous voice vote.

NAMING OF ROAD

Resolution No. 88-135

Synopsis: A new name is proposed for a road on the Lima Campus, currently known as "Progress Drive."

WHEREAS Dr. James S. Biddle contributed greatly to the development and progress of The Ohio State University Lima Campus throughout his 18 years as Dean and Director; and

WHEREAS the President recommended, with the concurrence of the President's staff, that the road on the Lima Campus currently known as Progress Drive be renamed in honor of James S. Biddle:

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That in accordance with the Bylaws of the Board of Trustees, the above specified road shall hereafter bear the name "James S. Biddle Drive."

Upon motion of Mr. Teaford, seconded by Ms. Casto, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous voice vote.

HONORARY DEGREES

Resolution No. 88-136

Synopsis: Approval is requested for awarding honorary degrees to three individuals.

WHEREAS the Committee on Honorary Degrees and the University Senate, pursuant to rule 3335-5-488 of the Administrative Code, have approved for recommendation to the Board of Trustees awarding of honorary degrees as listed below:

Marshall Hall, Jr. Doctor of Science
Austin Kiplinger Doctor of Humane Letters
Andrei Sakharov Doctor of Science

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That the above honorary degrees be awarded in accordance with the recommendation at a time convenient to the University and the recipients.

Upon motion of Ms. Casto, seconded by Mrs. Bowser, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous voice vote.

RESOLUTIONS IN MEMORIAM

Resolution No. 88-138

Synopsis: Resolutions honoring the service of three of the University's faculty members who have recently died are being proposed.

RESOLVED, That the Board adopt the following Resolutions in Memoriam and that the President be requested to convey a copy to the families of the deceased.

Nicholas T. Bobrovnikoff

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on March 21, 1988, of Nicholas T. Bobrovnikoff, Professor Emeritus in the Department of Astronomy and former Director of the Perkins Observatory.

Professor Bobrovnikoff was born in Starobielsk, near Kharkov in Ukrainia, in 1896. He graduated from the Institute of Mining Engineering in Petrograd in 1916. Russia was then engaged in World War I, and Bobrovnikoff immediately joined the Russian Army, in which he served as a junior officer until 1918. When Russia dropped out of the war in 1918, he entered the University of Kharkov, but after the Revolution occurred he joined General Denikin's White Army and fought against the Bolsheviks. Dr. Bobrovnikoff was wounded and suffered from frozen feet and typhus before Denikin's army collapsed in March 1920. By good fortune he was evacuated from the Crimea to Cyprus by a British warship.

Nicholas T. Bobrovnikoff (contd)

After nearly starving, Dr. Bobrovnikoff made his way to Prague, where he studied astronomy, physics, and mathematics at the Charles University, graduating in 1924. He was able to come to the United States to do graduate work at Yerkes Observatory at the University of Chicago. There he developed his interest in the spectra of comets, the subject of his Ph.D. thesis in 1927.

Receiving the Martin Kellogg Post-graduate Fellowship at the Lick Observatory in California, Dr. Bobrovnikoff wrote an authoritative memoir on the motion of the tails of Halley's comet at its 1910 apparition.

Dr. Bobrovnikoff became an American citizen in 1930, and married Mildred Schairer, who had taught school on Mount Hamilton while he was there. That same year he was appointed assistant professor at the Perkins Observatory, then operated by Ohio Wesleyan University. The great depression was then at its worst and Professor Bobrovnikoff had to struggle to survive and obtain any funds for research. In 1933, he was named Acting Director of the Observatory, and with the cooperation of Professor Alpheus Smith of The Ohio State University Physics Department, he played a major part in arranging the agreement under which Ohio State and Ohio Wesleyan have since jointly operated the Perkins Observatory.

Professor Bobrovnikoff served as Director of the Observatory until 1952, and continued working at the University, except for several years on leave for defense work, until his retirement in 1966. Upon his retirement he was named Professor Emeritus.

In spite of his heavy load of administrative work, Professor Bobrovnikoff published about 75 research papers. The majority concerned cometary spectra, but he was also one of the pioneers in the study of molecules in stellar atmospheres. He contributed to the identification of the bands of the oxides of titanium, scandium and zirconium in stellar spectra. In his last years, Professor Bobrovnikoff did unique research on the history of physical observations of comets, and also published a book, Astronomy Before the Telescope, in 1984.

On behalf of the University, the Board of Trustees expresses to Professor Bobrovnikoff’s three children its deep sympathy. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as an expression of the Board’s heartfelt sympathy.

Paul G. Craig

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on April 9, 1988, of Paul G. Craig, Professor Emeritus in the School of Public Administration.

A native of Middletown, Ohio, Dr. Craig received his bachelor's degree (1950) from Otterbein College and his master's (1951) and Ph.D. (1953) degrees in economics from The Ohio State University. He served as a faculty member from 1951 to 1970, advancing through the academic ranks from graduate assistant to professor, and again from 1972 until his retirement in 1980. Professor Craig served as Chairperson of the Department of Economics, as the first Dean of the College of Social and Behavioral Sciences, and as the Chairperson of the Coordinating Council of Deans for the Colleges of the Arts and Sciences. He was Vice President for Academic Affairs at Florida State University from 1970-72.

During his career at Ohio State, Dr. Craig developed the business forecasting and managerial economics courses of the MBA and the Executive Development Programs of what is now the College of Business. He also created the public budgeting courses of the School of Public Administration. As a teacher, he was superb. Blessed with energy, enthusiasm, and curiosity, compounded with a provocative, analytical mind, leavened with wit and laughter, Paul Craig was indeed a master at the craft of teaching. His many students will long remember him with appreciation and delight.

As a departmental and decanal administrator, Professor Craig was innovative and effective. He left each organization he served better than he found it. As Chair, he rebuilt the Department of Economics. As Dean, he gave the newly-created College of Social and Behavioral Sciences form and a sense of unity. Paul Craig served his University in many other ways, as a member of the Faculty Council, Faculty Advisory Committee to the President and Board of Trustees, as President of the Faculty Club, and in numerous formal and informal roles both before and after his retirement. Upon his retirement in 1980, he was named Professor Emeritus. In recognition of his many contributions to Ohio State, he received its Distinguished Service Award in 1986.

Professor Craig was no closet economist. He was one of those who cross-walk the worlds of the university, business and government. He worked as a consultant in economic forecasting, regional analysis for banks, insurance companies and governments. His was a rare capacity for translating technical analysis into realistic counsel for corporate and public decision-making. He served many well and represented his University to the extramural community with efficiency, candor, vigor and uncommon wit. His many civic and professional activities were of like character and quality.

Paul Craig was a unique man who delighted his friends, stimulated his associates, and improved the institutions and agencies that he touched. This University is fortunate that he was for so many years a distinguished member of its faculty.

On behalf of the University community, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family of Paul G. Craig its deepest sympathy. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as an expression of the Board's heartfelt sympathy.

Delos D. Wickens

The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow upon the death on April 9, 1988, of Delos D. Wickens, Professor Emeritus in the Department of Psychology.
June 2 and 3, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

RESOLUTIONS IN MEMORIAM (contd)

Delos D. Wickens (contd)

Professor Wickens was born on October 6, 1909, in Rochester, New York. He received his AB degree from Centre College of Kentucky in 1931, and his Masters and Ph.D. degrees from the University of North Carolina in 1937. He first came to The Ohio State University in 1937 and stayed until 1939, and then he returned in 1946 and remained on the faculty until his retirement in 1980. In addition, during this period of time he had various visiting research and professorial positions at Oberlin College, the University of Colorado, the University of Wisconsin, the University of California at Berkeley, Louisiana State University, and the University of Pennsylvania.

Professor Wickens's field was experimental psychology, and within that he specialized in the psychological processes underlying learning and memory. Following his retirement, he remained very actively involved in his research, and in addition to his appointment at The Ohio State University, he held appointments at Ohio Wesleyan University and Colorado State University.

Professor Wickens had a very distinguished career that was marked by well over 100 publications, including several books. In addition, his career was highlighted by his receiving a Distinguished Research Award from Ohio State University in 1980; a Distinguished Teaching Award from the American Psychological Association in 1979; the Howard Crosby Warren Medal of The Society of Experimental Psychologists for his outstanding research contributions; and in 1983 he was elected to Phi Beta Kappa. In addition, he was the presiding officer (President) of the Midwestern Psychological Association, both Divisions 1 and 3 of the American Psychological Association, the Psychonomics Society, the psychology section (J) of AAAS, and the Society of Experimental Psychologists.

On behalf of the University, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family its deep sympathy. It was directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to the family as an expression of the Board's heartfelt sympathy.

Upon motion of Mr. Wolf, seconded by Mr. Barone, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous voice vote.

President Jennings:

Mr. Chairman, Professor Paul G. Craig long-time member of the faculty and also served on the Investment Advisory Committee and Jim Nichols has asked to say a word about Professor Craig.

Mr. Nichols:

I think that many people on the campus are well aware of Dr. Craig's efforts on both the academic and administrative side of the University. I first came to know Professor Craig as a student here in the 1960's. I think it is less well-known, except among the Trustees, his efforts involving the investments and investments policies of the University. When I came as Treasurer nearly seven years ago, he had already spent about three years serving on the Investment Committee of the University, which includes the Fiscal Affairs Committee of the Board. During those nearly seven years, he always made himself available to attend meetings. Some years there were maybe only two or three years, other years there were maybe monthly meetings. He was always available for consultation and on his professor side — his academic side he would send me articles from time-to-time of research and suggest that perhaps I should look at these and see if it may not help me in terms of the investments of the University. He was always willing to give us his frank opinion in the meetings. Sometimes they were controversial, I know, but they were always interesting to listen to and discuss with Dr. Craig.

I believe, in the process of developing the University's Investment Policy some years ago, and about four years ago developing on our Income Distribution Policy, as well as our ongoing issues with various investments and debt related issues that he was always helpful. I will miss him personally in his counsel, and I am sure that that is true of all of the Trustees that have had an opportunity to work with him. Mr. President, I appreciate the opportunity to put that into the public record, a part of Dr. Craig that the general public is not aware of.

President Jennings:

Thank you, Jim. Those are very kind words and he will be missed.

REPORT OF RESEARCH CONTRACTS, GRANTS, AND GIFTS

Resolution No. 88-139

Synopsis: The reports on contracts, grants, and gifts and the summary for April 1988 are presented for Board acceptance.

WHEREAS monies are solicited and received on behalf of the University from governmental, industrial, other agencies, alumni, and various individuals in support of research, instructional activities, and service; and

WHEREAS such gifts and grants are received through The Ohio State University Research Foundation, the Engineering Experiment Station of The Ohio State University, and The Ohio State University Development Fund:

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That the research agreement between The Ohio State University and The Ohio State University Research Foundation for the contracts and grants reported herein, and the acceptance of the reports from the Engineering Experiment Station and The Ohio State University Development Fund during the month of April 1988 be approved.
June 2 and 3, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

REPORT OF RESEARCH CONTRACTS, GRANTS, AND GIFTS (contd)

Upon motion of Mr. Wolf, seconded by Mr. Barone, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous voice vote.

President Jennings:

I think that it is instructive to note that several months ago we signed several contracts with the State and the Honda Corporation and on this month's acceptance of Research Grants is $6 million from the Honda Corporation, that money has come in now. That endowment was for the College of Engineering should be expanded as the years go by, in terms, of increasing the funds from the operation of the Transportation Research Center.

THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY DEVELOPMENT FUND

Establishment of Named Funds

Transportation Research Fund (Honda)

The Transportation Research Fund (Honda) was established June 3, 1988, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University. As a part of Substitute Senate Bill No. 321 enacted by the General Assembly and approved by the Governor on January 21, 1988, an appropriation of $6 million has been paid to the endowment portfolio of The Ohio State University to be used pursuant to section 3335.45 of the Revised Code. This appropriation was provided through proceeds from the sale of the Transportation Research Center of Ohio by the State of Ohio to Honda of America Manufacturing, Inc., and in accordance with the sales agreement reached between the State of Ohio and Honda.

This appropriation is to be invested in the University's permanent endowment fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The income from this fund is to be distributed annually to the Treasurer of the State of Ohio and, in turn, appropriated to The Ohio State University to be administered by the College of Engineering for the support and encouragement of research by The Ohio State University in automotive, vehicular, and related forms of transportation, and for the development of improved highway facilities for vehicular traffic. The activities to be funded are to be determined in accordance with procedures established by the Dean of the College of Engineering of The Ohio State University.

It is the desire of the State of Ohio that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity. If the need for this fund should cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then another use shall be designated by the Board of Trustees in consultation with the appropriate college dean to carry out the desire of the State of Ohio.

John H. McConnell Endowment Fund for the Cancer Research Institute

The John H. McConnell Endowment Fund for the Cancer Research Institute was established June 3, 1988, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from John H. McConnell of Worthington, Ohio.
Establishment of Named Funds (contd)

John H. McConnell Endowment Fund for the Cancer Research Institute (contd)

All gifts are to be invested in the University's permanent endowment fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to support cancer research as approved by the Medical Director of the Arthur G. James Cancer Hospital and Research Institute and the Dean of the College of Medicine. If it is determined that funding for cancer research is so ample, then the income from this fund may be used for those purposes deemed appropriate by the Medical Director of the Cancer Research Institute.

It is the desire of the donor that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity. If the need for this fund should cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then another use shall be designated by the Board of Trustees to carry out the desire of the donor.

The Ohio State University Marion Campus
Theodore B. Myers Scholarship Endowment

The Ohio State University Marion Campus Theodore B. Myers Scholarship Endowment was established June 3, 1988, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from Theodore B. Myers (B.S. '43, M.S. '48, and Ph.D. '58), Professor of Zoology, Marion Campus.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's permanent endowment fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

Twenty percent (20%) of the annual income shall be added to the fund's principal. The remaining eighty percent (80%) shall be used to provide one or more scholarships or scholarship-loans to deserving students of merit who are attending The Ohio State University at Marion. Priority will be given to students who are studying the biological sciences. Repaid loans will be returned to the loan fund at the discretion of the Dean of the Marion Campus. Selection of the recipients will be made upon the recommendation of The Ohio State University Marion Campus Scholarship Committee in consultation with the Dean of the Marion Campus and the University Committee on Student Financial Aid.

It is the desire of the donor that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity. If the need for this fund should cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then another use shall be designated by the Board of Trustees in consultation with the appropriate college dean, department chairperson, or program administrative officer to carry out the desire of the donor.

The Papich Family Endowment Fund

The Papich Family Endowment Fund was established June 3, 1988, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from the Papich family members and their friends.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's permanent endowment fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income shall be used to provide financial support to scholars and/or students engaged in research of Slavic manuscripts on microfilms of the Resource Center for Medieval Slavic Studies (related to Serbian Orthodox Religion and Culture), which is housed in the Hilander Research Library. Requisitions for these funds will be initiated by the Director of the Research Center for Medieval Slavic Studies and approved by the Dean of the College of Humanities, in consultation with the University Committee on Student Financial Aid.

It is the desire of the donors that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity. If the need for this fund should cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then another use shall be designated by the Board of Trustees to carry out the desire of the donors, with preference being given to recommendations from the appropriate administrative official of the University who is then directly responsible for Slavic studies.

Change of Name and Description of Named Funds

The Phi Kappa Phi Ohio State University Chapter Scholarship Fund

The Phi Kappa Phi OSU Chapter Scholarship Fund was established June 9, 1983, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from The Ohio State University Chapter of the Honor Society of Phi Kappa Phi. The name and description were changed June 3, 1988.

These gifts are to be invested in the University's permanent endowment fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income is to be used to provide a scholarship(s) of not less than $900 per scholarship to undergraduate students at any of the campuses of The Ohio State University. Annually, one scholarship shall be designated as the Ted R. Robinson Phi Kappa Phi Scholarship, to recognize the distinguished contributions of Dr. Ted R. Robinson to higher education and to the Honor Society of Phi Kappa Phi, which he served as a charter member in 1972, as president of The Ohio State University chapter in 1980-81, and as regional vice president in 1983. The scholarship(s) are to be awarded to students exhibiting academic excellence in any baccalaureate field of study. Financial need is not to be a criterion in the selection of the recipient(s), nor is membership in Phi Kappa Phi. Selection of recipients is to be made by the University Committee on Student Financial Aid upon the recommendation of the Awards Committee of Phi Kappa Phi.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any purpose whatsoever as determined by the Board of Trustees, with preference being given to programs which support and encourage the academic achievement of undergraduate students.

William Green Memorial Fund

The William F. Green Fund for Fellows and Scholars was established May 9, 1955, through a gift of $100,000 from the American Federation of Labor in honor of and in memory of William Green, former president of the American Federation of Labor from 1924 to 1952. Mr. Green was born in Coshocton, Ohio, March 3, 1873, and rose from the ranks to labor statesmanship. He helped to define a significant period of labor history and philosophy. The name and description were changed June 3, 1988.

The principal is to be invested in accordance with Section 3335.12 G.C., the income to be used in the following manner:

1. Two undergraduate scholarships in the liberal arts, carrying a minimum annual stipend of approximately $800.00 annually.

2. One or more graduate scholarships or fellowships in the field of labor and industrial relations carrying an annual stipend which is competitive with other graduate fellowships or assistantships at The Ohio State University.

3. A number of annual grants to trade union members wishing to attend labor institutes conducted jointly by the unions and The Ohio State University.

Candidates shall be selected by a committee appointed by the President of the University. The committee will comprise four members from the departments of the social sciences, two representatives from the Ohio State Federation of Labor, and a senior faculty member of the labor economics department who shall serve as chairperson.

If in any year the scholarships, fellowships, or grants are not awarded, the interest on the fund may be added to the principal or be devoted to uses recommended by the committee.

In case the designated uses for these funds should cease or diminish so as to create unused funds, then on the recommendation of the committee administering the fund, the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University may use said income for the purpose of furthering education consistent with the original purpose of the fund. The committee shall preserve the approximate real value of all grants in terms of purchasing power by adjusting the number of grants and the amounts of the stipends.

The recipients shall be known as William Green Fellows or Scholars, and the American Federation of Labor shall annually receive a list of their names.

Noel F. George, Baker & Hostetler Chair in Law Fund

The Noel F. George Chair in Law Fund was established September 7, 1984, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with gifts to The Ohio State University Development Fund from Noel F. George ('32 Law) and The George Foundation of Columbus, Ohio. The name was changed to the Mildred S., and Noel F. George Chair in Law Fund on March 1, 1985. The name and description were further changed June 3, 1988.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's Permanent Endowment Fund under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

The annual income and additional gifts shall be added to the principal until such time as the principal reaches $750,000. At that time the annual income shall be used to provide salary and program support for the work of a distinguished scholar, researcher and teacher in Law. Appointment to the Chair will be recommended by the Dean of the College of Law to the Provost and approved by the Board of Trustees.

Should the need for this fund cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then the income may be used for any priorities to enhance the law program, at the discretion of the appropriate administrative official of the University who is then directly responsible for law education.

Change in Description of Named Fund

The Henry G. Cramblett Fund in Medicine

The Henry G. Cramblett Fund in Medicine was established May 5, 1988, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with a gift of $500,000 to The Ohio State University Development Fund from the Estate of the late Mrs. Helen Simpson Lambacher (B.S.Ed. '33) of Venice, Florida.
The $500,000 gift, representing the initial distribution of Mrs.
Lambacher's estate gift, memorializes her parents, Lynn and Sarah Simpson, and honors Dr. Henry G. Cramblett's service as Dean of the College of Medicine and Vice President for Health Sciences from 1973 to 1982. The description was changed June 3, 1988.

All gifts are to be invested in the University's permanent endowment fund, under the rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University with the right to invest and reinvest as occasion dictates.

When the final portion of Mrs. Lambacher's total gift of at least $600,000 is added to the principal, an endowed chair will be established in accordance with the level of funding required to establish a chair at the time the donor's will was drafted in 1978. Subsequently, the annual income is to provide salary and program support in the Department of Pediatrics in The Ohio State University College of Medicine for the work of a distinguished pediatrician who is nationally noted for leading research and patient care in the area of infectious diseases.
Appointment to the Cramblett Chair will be made at the recommendation of

The annual income shall be added to the fund's principal until the fund accumulates to $750,000. During the interim, disbursements not to exceed $40,000 per year from the annual income, additional gifts, and principal, if necessary, shall be made to support the present Ernst & Whinney Professor in Accounting. Upon reaching $750,000, the annual disbursements will be limited to the annual earnings on these funds and additional contributions, if any, so that the book value of the endowed principal balance does not fall below $750,000.

It is the desire of the donors that this fund should benefit the University in perpetuity. If the need for this fund should cease to exist or so diminish as to provide unused income, then another use shall be designated by the Board of Trustees, in consultation with the Dean of the College of Business and the Chairperson of the Department of Accounting, to carry out the desire of the donors.

President Jennings made the following statement:

Thank you, Mr. Chairman. I will call on Mr. Ihrig to summarize our discussion of yesterday. I would point out that since you have passed that $1,125 easement that that will be incorporated into this budget.

Mr. Berry:

That will make a significant impact.
June 2 and 3, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

President Jennings:

Weldon, will you summarize --

Mr. Ihrig:

During this summary what I will be doing is referencing this budget document, the gray document, that is at your places. Yesterday we reviewed in detail the process to develop the budget and pulled together the numbers for a balanced budget showing resources of $990.1 million to support planned uses of $989.8 million. Before going on, I would like to paraphrase that while these numbers are very large -- this will be, most likely, the last Current Funds Budget under a billion dollars on an annual basis -- that it isn't the dollars themselves that are the important part of this University, it is the people and the activities that they support that provide the excellence and the opportunities at Ohio State University. So these are only one of the means to an end.

In the second section of it, page 1, the document shows the overall budgeted resources in total. So this is a total University budget related to all sources of funds from State appropriations to fees, as well as the various gifts and grant activities that will be received and expended, and the sponsored research, as well as the earnings operations. As page 4 of the document shows, this represents a 5.4 percent increase in the total resources over the current fiscal year. The recommended budget for 1988-89 does incorporate the budget planning guidelines presented by President Jennings at your May Board meeting.

In addition to grouping Ohio State's budgets by campus, pages 6 and 7 show the sources and uses of funds by the basic fund categories we use to account for current revenues and expenditures: General Funds, Earnings Operations, and Restricted Funds are the three main categories. The Restricted Funds, budgeted at $223 million or 22 percent of the total, are monies received for specific purposes specified by an external entity such as in the case of Federal or private sponsored research. These funds are accounted for so that they are only spent for the purposes agreed upon with the external organization or person providing the funds.

Earnings Operations, budgeted at $325 million, or 33 percent of the total, are all those units who charge separately for their services, which includes University Hospitals, student dormitories, copying services, as well as sales of publications. These operations earn the revenues they spend, as well as pay University overhead and facilities costs. And we do budget those just like any earnings operations outside the University, with a profit and loss statement for which they are directed to break even and a balance sheet to pay their total costs. They also receive interest income on their positive balances, pay interest on any negative balances, and participate in allocations and reallocations throughout the University.

The General Funds, budgeted at $441 million or 45 percent of the total, are the unrestricted, non-earnings resources used to fund the core instructional, administrative, and physical plant activities at Ohio State. As shown on page 8 under the column titled "Unrestricted General," the major two sources of these funds are State instructional appropriations and student tuition and fees.

It is important to note that while the University's accounting system is based upon these three fund groups, management actions to support the needs of instruction, research, and support services are based upon making the best use of all available resources. The deans, vice presidents and department chairs have the flexibility and the responsibility to make maximum use of all available resources to support their priority needs.

Page 8 also summarizes the distribution of the University's total current resources for 1988-89 fiscal year. The column titled "All Funds" shows State appropriations as $316 million, which represent 32.0 percent of total resources, a decrease from the 32.4 percent last year; while student tuitions represent 15.5 percent of current resources versus 15.1 percent last year.

The General Funds budget at Ohio State is directly impacted by student enrollment expectations, not only the numbers on each campus, but also the mix of students by class rank and program. Enrollments affect not only tuition revenue, but also the amount of State instructional subsidies. Since Ohio State Columbus has a legislated enrollment limit of 40,000 Full Time Equivalent (FTE) students, the mix between class rank and program will have the greatest impact on these resources.

Pages 13 and 14 show Ohio State's historical enrollments along with our expectations for this coming Autumn Quarter. The projected headcount enrollment of 52,893 on the Columbus Campus is expected to result in a non-exempt FTE enrollment of 40,297 versus the 40,598 this past Autumn Quarter. This decrease in non-exempt FTE results from the planned effort to reach the 40,000 FTE limit mandated by the General Assembly in the early 1970's.

As in prior years, we are concerned about the total impact on Ohio State's students of all student related charges that the University controls. The chart on page 20 shows that the increase in the package of University controlled charges to resident undergraduate and graduate students, including tuition, residence hall room and board, books, parking, and football and basketball tickets are about 7.8 percent, in total — that is with a 7.8 increase, with a tuition increase recommended of 7.9 percent at the undergraduate resident level.

This 7.9 percent increase matches the State tuition assumptions used in the development of the instructional subsidy funding levels provided by the General Assembly. Since 1982, this University has been able to enhance accessibility by keeping tuition increases to approximately 50 percent of the levels...
June 2 and 3, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

included in the State budget. However, with modest increases in State support of this biennium and 3.6 percent this budget year, it is unfortunately our situation to no longer be able to retain this lower rate of increase. We have to set Ohio State's tuition level this year at the same level that has been recommended in the State budget.

Comparing Ohio State undergraduate fees with the Big Ten is difficult due to the variety of tuition arrangements, and not all of the Universities have yet decided on their new tuition rates. However, preliminary data indicates that this fee increase will keep Ohio State at its current rank of fifth out of the 9 public institutions in the Big 10. So this means that Michigan, Michigan State, Minnesota, and Wisconsin will still have tuitions higher than Ohio State. We also expect that Ohio State will retain its current ranking of 10th out of the 13 State universities in Ohio. And while we don't think that the University in quality in any sense ranks at those low levels, in the areas of tuitions we think we should be there. That is why we work very hard to keep our marketing positions as low as we can for accessibility.

The chart on page 21 provides a summary of undergraduate tuition since 1970-71, and the interesting column is the fifth one, which shows the tuitions over this period in constant 1988-1989 dollars. Over the past 18 years, Ohio State's undergraduate tuitions have increased only 7.47 percent over the inflationary rates of that period. This averages less than 1/2 of 1 percent increase per year over inflation. If we could add an excellence value factor to these data, I'm confident that Ohio State's students would be realizing a bargain exceeded nowhere else in the nation.

Details of the earnings budgets are provided on pages 27-31, and the table on page 27 shows that the University-wide average change in earnings rates for 1988-89 is only 4.9 percent, with a total average rate increase of 5.9 percent when tuitions are included.

Details on restricted and regional campus budgets are provided on pages 32-35.

We are presenting this balanced 1988-89 current funds budget totaling $990.1 million for your consideration and recommend its approval.

I would be very happy to respond to any questions regarding this budget.

Mr. Wexner:

Just to polarize the point, what if Ohio State were the most expensive, why would that be bad?
June 2 and 3, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

Mr. Ihrig:

Because of the overall diversity of students that we have at Ohio State, our primary mission has been to maximize that diversity so that students from all economic levels have the ability to come to Ohio State.

Mr. Wexner:

What would be the range of difference? I didn't look at the page.

President Jennings:

In terms of the public sector of higher education -- if we would go to the top of the public sector you would have roughly a 50 percent increase in tuition.

Mr. Wexner:

I was asking about the 13 that you mentioned.

President Jennings:

Oh, the 13 --

Mr. Teaford:

Miami is about 50 percent higher.

President Jennings:

We go roughly 50 percent -- for both state and nationally in terms of the public sector. Private sector would be out of the question. The basic ingredient here is the accessibility issue. The implementation of that is a three-legged stool, it is the low tuition, adequate student financial aid, and work opportunities. Roughly 70 percent of our student body is involved in some sort of scholarship or work opportunity at the institution. And as this institution compares more to the classic land-grant -- in the Big 10 that would be Purdue, Indiana, Wisconsin, Michigan State, Minnesota. Whereas, Michigan, the University of Indiana, and the University of Iowa are not land-grant institutions and do not typically have the classic land-grant mission of educational opportunities to all those individuals intellectually qualified, but not necessarily financially qualified.

Mr. Wexner:

If I heard correctly, our mandate of service would be the same as Michigan States and they're the highest?

President Jennings:

Of the land-grant institutions, Michigan State is the highest in the Big 10.

Mr. Teaford:

Michigan is higher than Michigan State.
June 2 and 3, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

Mr. Ihrig:

They're the land-grants, Michigan State.

Mr. Wexner:

I am seeing us as more analogous to Michigan State than Michigan.

Mr. Ihrig:

That is correct.

Mr. Wexner:

And Michigan State --

Mr. Ihrig:

Would be -- of the comparable institutions as far as the land-grant mission, Michigan State would be the highest in the Big 10.

Mr. Wexner:

And how much higher would they be than us?

Mr. Ihrig:

They are about $1,000 a year higher.

Mr. Teaford:

So, again, 50 percent.

Mr. Ihrig:

Miami University in Ohio is the highest in the State, and they are about $1,000 a year higher than Ohio State.

Mr. Wexner:

I think we should discuss that at greater length. I'm not proposing rejecting this proposal, but I guess as a merchant I'm interested in a competitor that does very well that has a price 50 percent higher than mine and seems to be serving its customers.

Mr. Teaford:

The reason Michigan State has the highest tuition is the State of Michigan is not supporting the --

President Jennings:

Oh no, the State of Michigan is actually supporting it better than we are. We are not only a low tuition institution, but we are a low State supported institution. We have come off of being a high tuition institution, you know when Weldon reports that less than 1/2 percent a year relative to inflation in the last 18 years. Ten years ago we were third in the Big 10 to Michigan and Michigan State, we have purposely driven that down. In the context of a State policy, over the last several years, we have been attempting to drive down tuition as a percent of cost to the traditional land-grant 1/3. We made great progress on that in the early '80's, moving from the 47 percent down to about 34 percent State-wide. This legislation that we are working with right now drives that number back up to State-wide about 40 percent for students paying the percent of cost. Tuition is indeed tied directly to State appropriations. You can see that. The way that we are budgeted, typically tuition is an off-set to our State appropriations. It is even more of an off-set at Ohio State because we have been doing less than what the State formulas have been recommending for several years now. This is the first time in seven years that we have done what the State appropriation is, the rest of the time it has been less. But we do continue to discuss that issue and monitor that issue. You should also note that in this budget is an appropriation for scholarships that keeps the purchasing power of the scholarship budget constant so that any student now at Ohio State, or coming to Ohio State, will have the same financial opportunities for scholarships that they had before, in terms of a percent of cost. So the students won't get driven out on the basis of these tuition increases either because of the 8 percent increase or because of new eligibilities because of the 8 percent increase. There is no question that we are a low tuition institution relative to not only the private, but relative to our public counterparts.
June 2 and 3, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

Mrs. Bowser:

I feel very strongly that we have to keep ourselves accessible to students. If it gets too high, there are students that even if you do have scholarship packages, are going to have difficulty coming up with the money to come. We do have a land-grant mission here and that is to make ourselves accessible.

President Jennings:

Absolutely.

Mr. Teaford:

As a matter of fact, it is hard to justify public education if not on the accessibility basis. We shouldn't be in that area if we do not have accessibility.

President Jennings:

But there again, I think, it is a very instructive to note that this budget reports 32 percent of it coming from the State of Ohio. John was saying yesterday, if you asked the public how much of our budget comes from the State of Ohio, most people would say 75-80%. The other important thing to note in this budget is about 30 percent from the State of Ohio, another 15 percent from the federal government, or about 45 percent of total tax dollars in this budget. You look at the budget of a major comprehensive private institution, you find that institution is about 15 percent supported by their home state, and about 30 percent supported by the federal government, or about 45 percent tax dollars in the comprehensive private institution.

The federal tax dollars in the private schools are much higher because it comes from the student aid package which is given at the federal level as a percent of cost. If you qualify for student aid at Ohio State, you qualify for about $4,000 a year full aid. If you qualify at MIT, you qualify for $15,000 for aid. The point is that our cost structure -- not only are our prices lower, but our cost structure is substantially less. The old argument that the privates have to have higher tuition because of no tax dollars, that doesn't fly with the comprehensive privates, because the amount of tax dollars are roughly about the same. Now the privates don't like me saying that -- and the student aid of course doesn't show up in the budget as tax dollars, but it is there.

It is instructive also to note in the privates that more and more their student body comes from only two economic classes: the quite well-to-do or the quite poor. The privates have a big financial aid package, but they don't have the middle class. We have a lot of students where their economics background doesn't qualify them for direct aid, but does qualify them for work opportunities and so forth. Our lower tuitions, in general, allow us to keep bringing in that middle class at this institution. I think this is a major long-term advantage that we have today, in terms of our pricing structure as federal student financial aid begins to decline. But at the same time, that doesn't hit the argument about Michigan State or Purdue or Wisconsin who are above us.

Mr. Wexner:

I would find it enlightening to look at those -- not only a chart that measures us against State institutions and regionals, but against, let's say, the ten best land-grant or comparable institutions on a national level. I would like to look at our performance, say, against Texas, as well as Indiana -- whoever you might think the ten best competitors in terms of size, mandate, and quality of education are. I think we should be looking at a national model not a local model, because that is who we are competing with.

President Jennings:

We do look at that and you will find, generally, tuition goes down as you move west.

Mr. Wexner:

I'm thinking in terms of excellence.
June 2 and 3, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

President Jennings:

Oh, I understand. That is why I keep insisting about comparing the State appropriation, because if you start on the East Coast, you will find high tuitions, generally, at the land-grant institutions. As you move west -- Texas, for example, has very low tuition.

Mr. Wexner:

But again, I think, that would even be useful in dealing with the Legislature, because if they have all the Ohio institutions competing with all the Ohio institutions, and they don't understand that we are competing with Texas or Oklahoma or whomever --

President Jennings:

In terms of publics, the best comparisons are the Big 10. There are some -- Berkeley is a public that we compare with, and UCLA, the Texas schools, the University of North Carolina. If you get outside of the publics, the Big 10 is our comparison. We do compare our faculty salaries to what we call Category 1, Ph.D. granting, institutions.

Mr. Teaford:

Unfortunately, the way the State funds -- the State treats us exactly the same as Shawnee State; namely X dollars per student. And there is no differentiation at all. That is the way the whole system of Regents -- I mean there was talk at one time that we weren't going to have a Regents anymore, but that is not true now. It would really take going to square one on all the funding, because they don't think we are any different from Shawnee State.

President Jennings:

Well, there is some differentiation because we get State subsidy on categories, so we get more for our graduate program and upper divisions. But for similar students at Shawnee State and Ohio State, the State subsidy is the same.

Mr. Wexner:

Education at higher levels.

President Jennings:

Well, that is right. The other thing, too, about the land-grant mission is that 100 years ago Ohio State was one of the few opportunities for quality education for the middle and poor class, but not today. In Ohio there are some very fine undergraduate opportunities other than Ohio State. The Legislature has already made that decision by putting a limit on our enrollment. We could easily, for example, right now have 80,000 to 90,000 students, or we could easily move to that in terms of our applications. But with this enrollment ceiling -- now we like that enrollment ceiling, because then you would also have a massive campus over on West Campus. We don't think we can get any bigger than we are now. But in terms of the land-grant mission, the State has always said, "every student can't go to Ohio State who wants to," because there is not enough room. And that is one of the reasons that we've gone to the selective admissions. But it is a question that we are constantly looking at, "what should our levels be?"
June 2 and 3, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

President Jennings: (contd)

Mr. Berry:

Which is an advantage though. There are pros and cons in everything.

President Jennings:

Oh, yes. Well, the other thing that is coming, too, is that as selective admissions becomes more institutionalized — and we are already seeing it, our attrition is declining, students aren't flunking out — we are going to have more students in the upper division in junior and senior year on a relative basis. Since I've been here, the freshman class has dropped from 8,200 to 6,300, but the size of the institution remains the same.

Mr. Berry:

I think all universities and colleges across the country, public and private, have definitely one thing in common and that is they don't have enough money for everything they would like to do. And I don't think they ever will.

President Jennings:

They never have, but it is getting more critical. We talked a little bit about obsolescence. I think a classic example is that late this year we will become the first higher education institution to own the next generation Cray supercomputer. A $22 million expenditure, plus an annual operating budget of $7 million. That machine -- I was talking to some NSF people just the other day, and they expect that machine to be obsolete, totally obsolete in three years. Here is a $22 million expenditure that is going to be out-of-date in three years. That is a pretty rapid turnover. While $22 million in a billion dollar budget might not seem like a lot, it is still a lot of money.

Mrs. Bowser:

Well, the MRI -- by the time we got the building built we had to get the update, because in the year and a half, or two years it took to build the building --

President Jennings:

We actually slowed it down by a year to get a higher level of technology. This stuff is changing so rapidly. The biotech --
June 2 and 3, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

we used to kid the biological science people that all they needed was a petrie dish and a microscope, not any more. We put $5 million into Rightmire Hall essentially for research in biotech. And if Pappachan Kolattukudy were here, today, he would say that is just the beginning. And he is right!

Mr. Berry:

Well, I think, again, I'll say for the record, Weldon, we complement you and your people for putting together this budget and President Jennings for setting out the guidelines. Overall, I think this is a very good budget considering all the pros and cons of it.

1988-89 CURRENT FUNDS BUDGET

Resolution No. 88-143

Synopsis: The budget for fiscal year 1988-89 is being submitted for adoption.

WHEREAS the levels of State support have been established for the second year of the 1987-89 biennium; and

WHEREAS appropriate planning and consultation within the University has been accomplished; and

WHEREAS the President is now prepared to present the 1988-89 budget:

NOW THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED, That the University Current Funds Budget for fiscal year 1988-89, as described in the accompanying text and tables, be approved, with authorization for the President to make expenditures within the projected income levels; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That student fees be increased for all students beginning Autumn Quarter 1988, as specified in the Schedule of Student Fees incorporated in this resolution effective Autumn Quarter 1988; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That the Secretary be instructed to incorporate all supporting documents into the minutes of the meeting, including faculty tenure approvals, salary rolls with promotions, and fees and charges for the fiscal year 1988-89, and to file these materials with the official records of this University.

Mr. Immke made the following statement:

Before I ask for your motion on that, the Personnel Committee of this Board met on June 2, 1988, and the following report is submitted to the Board of Trustees.

The position of President of this University is a highly visible one and as such, the President's performance is constantly being assessed by a variety of constituents, including faculty/staff/students, alumni, the media, and the public, in general. As is customary, the Board's Personnel Committee has also reviewed and discussed the salient components of the President's performance. This report is a result of that process for 1988.
June 2 and 3, 1988 meeting, Board of Trustees

The Board continues to appreciate the leadership effort on behalf of the University by President Jennings. His devoted service combined with his energetic commitment has been admirable. Given his performance and demonstrated ability to get the job done we have determined that President Jennings's salary should be increased by 8 percent for fiscal year ending June 30, 1989.

The salary increase was determined based upon relevant market consideration and salaries of presidents of other major land-grant research institutions. The Secretary of the Board is hereby authorized and directed to develop the appropriate documents to effectuate this change in salary.

May I now have a motion to approve the President's budget report and recommendations, as well as the Personnel Committee's proposal relative to President Jennings's salary for the coming year?

Upon motion of Mr. Berry, seconded by Mr. Wexner, the Board of Trustees adopted the foregoing resolution by unanimous roll call vote.

1988-89 CURRENT FUNDS BUDGET
THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY

I. INTRODUCTION

This year, the budget for the next fiscal year, 1988-89, can be presented to this Board at its June meeting, which is consistent with normal university practices. Since the Ohio General Assembly enacted a biennial budget effective 1 July 1987, we know the rate of State support available. This enables the 1988-89 budget to be brought forward at this June meeting of the Board of Trustees.

While pleased that we know the level of State funding, the rate of increase, at only 3.6 percent for instructional subsidies, makes even more imperative that $12 million in internal reallocations occur again in 1988-89. This University's long-standing commitment to keeping costs as low as possible is being further challenged as Ohio State seeks to provide the resources needed to continue its initiatives to enhance excellence in teaching, research, and related service. Faculty and staff members already have contributed significantly to the overall quality that exists at Ohio State. Our challenge is to do even more, as we are faced with lower rates of increase from State resources.

Another notable aspect of this budget is that this will be the first budget since 1982 in which Ohio State's recommended tuition increase will be at the level included in State biennial budget legislation. In prior years, this University has met its commitment to accessibility by keeping tuition increases to approximately 50 percent of the levels included in the State budget, and even had no tuition increase in 1986-87. However, Ohio State's financial ability to maintain these lower rates of tuition increases no longer exists, and we must now recommend increases at the rates proposed by the Ohio General Assembly. It is our hope that future tuition increases can be held to lower levels as the State budget is developed for the next biennium.

Even with 1988-89 being an extremely tight year in the level of budget increases, the faculty and staff have shown and will continue to demonstrate their commitment to assuring the highest quality instruction, research and services within the available resources.

II. SOURCE OF FUNDS

Current Funds Budget Resources proposed for 1988-89 total $990,160,000 as summarized by funding source in the Budgeted Resources. This amount includes State support totaling $316,440,000, which represents 32.0 percent of the total income budget. Other major sources of income include student tuitions, 15.5 percent, Federal grants and contracts, 10.2 percent, and Hospital Sales and Services at 20.3 percent.

The core instructional and general budgets of the University -- Unrestricted General Funds -- are estimated to have resources of $441.86 million, which amounts to 45 percent of total resources. Earnings operations -- such as University Hospitals, Residence Halls, Athletics, and the like -- are budgeted to bring in $325.12 million, which accounts for 33 percent of total resources. The remaining 22 percent of resources is in the restricted fund group which includes sponsored research projects, most private gifts, and such State-funded activities as the Ohio Cooperative Extension Service and the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center.

As reported earlier, it has been a goal of the University to hold tuition increases below the rates of increases recommended by the General Assembly, but this year -- with continued modest increases in State support -- our ability to achieve this goal has been exhausted. We are therefore recommending for Ohio residents the 8 percent increase in student Instructional and General fees that underlies the State funding models for 1988-89.

The review of tuition charges for non-resident students begun last year has been continued. The results of this review have indicated that the amounts for undergraduate, graduate, and law non-resident students continue to fall short of equitable levels. Therefore, selective increases of not more than 16 percent are being recommended for the non-resident surcharge.

The recommended tuition rates for both residents and non-residents of the various colleges and schools are shown in the Student Fee Schedule. While the rate of tuition increase for Ohio residents matches that recommended by the General Assembly, we continue to hope for significant improvements in future biennia that will return Ohio undergraduate students' share of their cost of higher education to the 33 percent level from the current 41 percent.

A major funding source for the University continues to be revenues from the sales and services of the earnings units. Continuing efforts to monitor and limit increases in all fees and charges of the University, the average increase in all University rates and charges will be approximately 6 percent. The weighted average of the earnings operations in total has been held to just under 5 percent, with Athletics proposing average rate increases of only 2 percent. Since the earnings operations have participated fully in the cost containment and reallocation activities this biennium, they are also eligible to compete for special needs allocations along with general funds units.

The other income components of the 1988-89 Current Funds Budget are in line with expected growth from 1987-88 revenues. Projected total revenues for 1988-89 show an increase of $50,330,000, which is some 5.4 percent above the estimated revenues for 1987-88. The projected rate of increase is slightly higher at the Regional Campuses and lower at the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center, with the net increase for Central Campus being approximately 5.5 percent.

III. USES OF FUNDS

As detailed in the Budgeted Uses schedule, and in the supporting documents, this University's planned expenditures from current funds total $989,840,000. This level of recommended Current Funds expenditures will support the following budget planning guidelines:

* Increase faculty, administrative and professional, and classified staff salaries by 1.5 percent and provide 2.5 percent in salary funds for merit increases, with a 1.0 percent pool available on a competitive basis for equity, excellence, and market adjustments.

* Fund Compensation increases for negotiated wage settlements.

* Fund increases of 3.0 percent in supplies, equipment, and general expense continuing budgets.

* Provide funding to maintain the purchasing power of University-funded student financial aid, plus cover new students who may qualify with the increases in tuition.

* Generate internal reallocations of $12.0 million across all campuses and fund groups.

* Provide resources to meet mandatory cost increases, such as utilities and employee benefits. Extraordinary cost increases in these categories include the mandated removal of PCB transformers and an unusually high increase -- of some 40 percent -- in the cost of providing medical benefits.

In addition, the 1988-90 State Capital Improvements bill is expected to provide more than $10.0 million for acquisition of instructional and computer equipment, to be supplemented by a University allocation of $2.3 million for research equipment and library acquisitions.

This balanced budget for 1988-89 is being presented for Board of Trustees approval.
