FULL-BOARD PUBLIC SESSION

Board Trustee John Zeiger reconvened The Ohio State University Board of Trustees on Thursday, May 18, 2023, at 3:00 p.m.

Members Present via Zoom: Michael F. Kiggin

Members Absent: Hiroyuki Fujita and Gary R. Heminger

Mr. Zeiger:

Good afternoon, everyone. Thank you for joining us. In Chairman Fujita’s absence I have been asked to step in and lead today’s session. So at this time, I would like to go ahead and convene this meeting of the Board of Trustees. Will the Secretary please note the attendance?

Ms. Eveland:

A quorum is present.

Dr. Zeiger:

Thank you. Reminder to everyone that this meeting is being recorded and livestreamed for the public on WOSU. So that we are able to conduct the business of this meeting in an orderly fashion, I would ask that any sound on cell phones and other devices be turned off, and I would ask that all members of the audience observe rules of decorum proper to conducting the business at hand.

Today I would like to express congratulations on behalf of the Trustees to the entire Ohio State community for an outstanding spring semester and academic year. Several of our graduate and professional programs have been recently recognized and reaffirmed as among the very best in the nation. And the work of our faculty and scholars continues to earn national recognition and make a difference for our students and the people and businesses of our community. We were informed again this week during our meetings of a number of our faculty members who have been recognized as members of very elite national organizations and academies, and again we recognize that makes a big difference for our students and for the rest of the university.

Closer to home, we would like to recognize our undergraduate student trustee, Tanner Hunt. Tanner not only graduated a week ago Sunday, but today will be his final meeting with the Board. Tanner, we appreciate all your dedication to Ohio State and the contributions you’ve made. It has been a real pleasure working with you and your input has been invaluable. I am very pleased your mother and sister are here with you today...there in the front row...welcome and thank you for loaning us Tanner for the past two years.

[APPLAUSE]

Tanner, we know you have a great career prospect lined up and you are off to start that, but we will miss you. Again we appreciate you and all you have done for the Trustees and the university.

Mr. Hunt:

Thank you everyone, I really appreciate it. When I first came to Ohio State, I never thought this would be part of my college experience. It’s been an immense privilege. To the Board, President’s Cabinet, student leaders and anyone else I’ve had the opportunity to cross paths with, I really appreciate your confidence in me and the support in my development as a Student Trustee. Also, thank you to Ohio State as a whole for allowing two voices to serve in this capacity; I believe it is really important. Lastly, thank you to my family. My dad wasn’t able to come but thank you to my mom and dad for raising me and teaching me how to carry myself. I don’t think I would be in this chair if it wasn’t for you two. And my sister, for all your love and support, and checking me when my head gets too big. I will leave it at that. Thank you everyone, it has been a great two years.

[APPLAUSE]

Mr. Zeiger:

We have not one but two recent graduates on our Board of Trustees. Taylor Schwein is our graduate student trustee, and she received her Master of Science in nursing this spring, but Taylor is going to continue with us for another year as our graduate student trustee as she works to complete her doctorate degree in nursing.

Taylor, again thank you for all you do for this Board. Any comments about graduation?

Ms. Schwein:

Two down and one to go!

Mr. Zeiger:

I love the spirit. I finished at two.

We also are privileged today to have two new trustees with us as the public may be unaware. Trustees currently serve a nine-year term and cycle off and the Governor then appoints the replacement trustees. The Governor moved very expeditiously this time and we very much appreciate it. This process brought us George Skestos and Brad Kastan as our two new trustees. We are fortunate they both bring very significant experience and expertise to our discussions, and I am sure they will find it as rewarding as we have in their service in the next nine years. Thank you both.

[APPLAUSE]

Whenever we have new trustees that means we lose old friends. For the last nine years Abigail Wexner and Alex Fischer have served with a unique distinction on this board and we would be remiss if we did not express our appreciation to the two of them for major contributions. Abigail has brought a sense of judgment and decorum and knowing how to do the right thing in the right way to every meeting. Alex clearly has had a major involvement in all the building programs at Ohio State. We heard today with one notable exception, we are on schedule and on budget which is remarkable, and Alex had a big hand in that. While they are not here, we do express appreciation to Abigail and Alex for their long-time commitment.

[APPLAUSE]

Trustees are with charged with the responsibility of using their best judgement to protect the university in a fiduciary capacity and we try in every meeting to focus on what is best for the university in a strategic sense. It is not our role to run the place, but we are charged with responsibility for its strategic direction. This week the Board took several steps that I think should be highlighted today.

On Tuesday, the Board announced its opposition to the current version of Senate Bill 83. This was an action that was not taken lightly. It was the result of many consultations and considerations, but it was a statement we felt strongly about and one that was unanimously adopted by all trustees.

We needed to send a message to the General Assembly that we acknowledge the issues that are being raised not only by them but also by other components of society, but we believe there are much better solutions that will not undermine the traditional shared governance model of universities, or risk weakening academic rigor, which we are committed to or impose extensive and expensive new bureaucratic reporting requirements. We have tried to make clear in our statement that we will seek to continue to work with the members of the legislature to address the fundamental flaws in the current version of this legislation, but those flaws are indeed fundamental because we believe they will diminish OSU’s ability to fulfill its educational and research missions, and negatively impact, in our view, the economic future of the state of Ohio. We do however share with the General Assembly a commitment to free speech, open dialogue, and the importance of all views, diverse views of every nature being openly discussed without a threat of intimidation or negative consequences. The university is taking steps already to reinforce that we are sensitive to this issue and make sure all viewpoints are welcomed and respected within and on our campuses.

Today, the Board will take action to approve a resolution which reaffirms the fundamental and foundational values of intellectual diversity and our commitment to it. Today the trustees will also adopt a robust, updated campus free speech policy that again ensures the ability of all to be heard whether we agree with what they have to say or not. Additionally, in April of this year, the university updated its uniform hiring practices so as to preclude the use of required diversity statements except when they are required or mandated by federal law, research contracts, licensure requirements or accreditation mandates.

The Board also looks forward to working with the members of the General Assembly on Senate Bill 117, which would establish the Salmon P. Chase Center for Civics, Culture, and Society at Ohio State; that is an effort to broaden, even further, the intellectual diversity on our campuses and to provide an even better platform for education on the basic tenants of American democracy.

The Board’s statement outlines our highest priority concerns with Senate Bill 83. I strongly encourage everyone to read the statement if you have not already. It is available on the university's news website.

Shifting gears, we ought to talk for a second on the presidential search, which is a focal point for all of us.

Chairman Fujita updated the university community last week on the status of the search for Ohio State’s 17th president. We are pleased to report that great progress has been made. There is strong interest by highly qualified candidates and the process is moving forward efficiently and timely.

We are very thankful for the engagement of students, faculty and staff throughout this process, and we encourage all of you to keep providing input, comments and nominations online so that we have a maximum pool to evaluate for this extremely important decision.

During the time between the presidential hire and now, the members of the President’s Cabinet will continue to lead the management and operations of the university. This aligns with how it has been done in the last presidential transition period and, I must say, we trustees are confident that the Cabinet is doing a very good job managing these issues on a day-to-day basis with only bringing extreme, priority issues to the Board. We are most appreciative of the Cabinet’s commitment and success in this endeavor.

Let’s reflect for a second on spring commencement. We can forget sometimes when we are trustees sitting here dealing with some weighty issues that this a great institution. This year we graduated at the spring commencement, not counting the earlier two commencements in the academic year, spring we graduated 12,400 individuals with certificates and degrees. Truly a remarkable accomplishment for our faculty and our university.

Closer to home on May 3 one of our dear colleagues, Dr. Reggie Wilkinson, served as the keynote speaker during a special ceremony recognizing master’s, specialist and doctoral candidates from the College of Education and Human Ecology. He also received the Department of Political Science’s 2023

Distinguished Alumni Award this month. Congratulations, Dr. Wilkinson, and thank you again for your tremendous service as a very, very fine trustee.

[APPLAUSE]

In closing on these opening comments, I would like to say that we are deeply thankful for the continued dedication and support of our faculty, our students and our staff across this university.

The Board looks forward to continuing to support you and the outstanding teaching, learning, service and discovery that you do here — now, and into the future.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS

Ms. Kessler:

As mentioned earlier, Dr. Fujita had to depart early due to a prior commitment, but I would still like to note for the record the Board’s sincere gratitude for his strong leadership as our Board chairman this past year.

In keeping with our standard practice, Mr. Zeiger, as chair of the Talent, Compensation and Governance Committee, spent time talking individually with each trustee about their thoughts and opinions on the performance of our Board chairman and their recommendations moving forward. Out of that collaborative process the trustees have unanimously agreed to bring Dr. Fujita forward for reappointment. In addition, Dr. Fujita has recommended Mr. Zeiger for appointment as the Board’s vice chair.
May 16-18, 2023, Board of Trustees meetings

With this, we are bringing forward the following slate of officers for reappointment or appointment:

- Hiroyuki Fujita as Chair of the Board, and
- John Zeiger as Vice Chair of the Board.

Mr. Zeiger:

Any comments, discussion? Hearing none I will take the liberty to again commend Dr. Fujita for a tremendous commitment to OSU during the last year. I have been privileged to serve with three different chairs of this board and no one works harder and is more personally involved to accomplish consensus on important issues than Dr. Fujita. I thought it was extraordinary when I spoke to each of you there was not a single person who didn’t have the enormous regard for his commitment and appreciation for what he has done. Thank you for your support of him.

Are there are any other comments? Hearing none I will ask the secretary to call the roll call on the pending motion.

Ms. Eveland:

Motion carries.

Upon motion of Ms. Kessler, seconded by Dr. Wilkinson, the Board of Trustees passed the foregoing forgoing motion by majority roll call vote, cast by the following trustees: Mr. Stockmeister, Ms. Kessler, Mr. Von Thaer, Mr. Kaplan, Mrs. Harsh, Dr. Wilkinson, Mr. Kiggin, Mr. Mitevski, Mr. Bigby, Mr. Perez, Mr. Kastan, Mr. Skestos, Mr. Hunt, and Ms. Schwein. Mr. Zeiger abstained.

CONSENT AGENDA

Mr. Zeiger:

Thank you all. We have now arrived at the portion of our meeting to deal with our consent agenda. Each trustee has been given a copy of the consent agenda, it is also available online for the public to review. Please notice we have placed two items for action directly on the consent agenda for approval today as they were not dealt with in committee. The first is Resolutions in Memoriam which recognizes the passing of emeritus faculty members. The second a resolution reaffirming the foundational values of intellectual diversity as I mentioned, that would be item two on the list of consent agenda items. Also, please note, number seven is the adoption of the campus free speech policy. A previous policy has been in effect for many years but this is an updated policy the Board adopted on an interim basis some months ago but wanted the full input from faculty, and that process has been completed and now we are adopting it on a permanent basis.

RESOLUTIONS IN MEMORIAM

Resolution No. 2023-104

BARBARA A. NELSON

Synopsis: The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sympathy regarding the death on January 10, 2023, of Faculty Emerita Barbara A. Nelson in what was then the School of Physical Activity and Educational Services, College of Education and Human Ecology. She was 91.

Nelson received her BA from Montclair State University and taught fifth grade and high school in New Jersey before relocating to Ann Arbor. There she earned an MA and PhD from the University of Michigan.

Arriving in Columbus in 1967, she joined the brand-new School of Health, Physical Education and Recreation in the College of Education, which combined the separate Men's and Women's Physical Education Departments.

In her faculty role, Nelson was the coach of Field Hockey and taught in the Physical Education Teacher Education Program. As Title IX became a reality, she became interested in the personal meanings and social connections of sport. The area was first known as the Psych-Soc of sport. Interestingly, as women became more involved in sport at all levels, the subject was not yet being studied by sociologists or psychologists.

To bring together researchers, Nelson invited interested researchers from around the country and Canada to a seminar held at Ohio State in the early 1980s. The meeting brought together prominent coaches, researchers and writers and identified a new interdisciplinary area, Women in Sport. She and her program were sought after by graduate students from the United States and beyond.
Nelson was an excellent teacher and mentor to students who, themselves, have become leaders and scholars in the field of sport and leisure.

She retired in 1995 and became active and an officer in The Ohio State University Retirees Association. She continued her membership in the Ohio State Women’s Golf Association.

In all, Nelson spent 26 years serving Ohio State as a coach, teacher, advisor and mentor to undergraduate and graduate students. They continue to honor her memory with their good works and loyalty to our university.

On behalf of the entire university community, the Board of Trustees expresses to the friends and former students of Emerita Professor Barbara A. Nelson its deepest sympathy for their loss. It is directed that this resolution shall be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees, and a copy will be tendered to her loved ones as an expression of the board’s heartfelt appreciation.

SAMUEL JAMES WOODS

Synopsis: The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow regarding the death on February 3, 2023, of Samuel J. Woods, Professor Emeritus of Crop Production and Management at the Agricultural Technical Institute (ATI), College of Food Agriculture, and Environmental Sciences, The Ohio State University.

Professor Woods served on the ATI faculty from 1977 until his retirement in 2005. During his 28-year tenure at ATI, he provided leadership to the Crop Production and Management program. Dr. Woods was instrumental in growing the program, started in 1972, into a state and nationally recognized program. He annually advised 40 to 50 crop production students. He advised the on-campus student Agronomy Club. Many of his students were passionate and become successful crop producers and strong contributors to the agronomic industries because of Dr. Woods advising and teaching. Professor Woods taught courses in crop production, weed control, crop disease, and forage crops. He received a CFAES advising award.

Professor Woods had great connections with the agronomic industry. A major accomplishment was the establishment of the ATI Land Lab which consisted of farmland dedicated to the crops program and an industry donated building for classroom and laboratory instruction on the farm. By establishing the Land Lab, ATI students were and are provided real-world learning experiences in planting, spraying, harvesting, and precision agriculture … an opportunity to operate real production agricultural equipment and manage crop production and farmland. These experiences are not offered at many colleges and universities. The Land Lab also afforded Dr. Woods the opportunity to conduct applied research projects involving his students. The agronomic industry provided excellent promotional and financial support for Professor Woods’ teaching and research programs. Each year he would publish a “Land Lab Report” outlining the teaching and research work that was done at the ATI Land Lab.

Dr. Woods was an excellent ATI citizen. He served on many committees that contributed to student success and the success of the Institute. He provided the leadership to the development and implementation of the Associate of Science in Agronomy – the transition program leading ATI students to a Bachelors Degree in the Horticulture and Crop Science Department.

On behalf of the university community, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family of Professor Samuel James Woods its deepest sympathy and sense of understanding of their loss. It is directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to his family as an expression of the board’s heartfelt sympathy and appreciation.

SYED SAIDUDDIN

Synopsis: The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow regarding the death on November 10, 2022, of Syed Saiduddin, Professor Emeritus, Department of Veterinary Biosciences, The Ohio State University.

Professor Saiduddin earned his veterinary degree in India at the Andhra Veterinary College. He worked for the Indian Department of Animal Husbandry before applying to the University of Nevada, Reno, where he completed a Master of Science degree in 1964. He then completed a PhD program at the University of Wisconsin in 1968, studying under Dr. L.E. Casida, followed by post-doctoral studies at Tufts University under Dr. E.B. Astwood. He joined the faculty of the Department of Veterinary Physiology and Pharmacology at The Ohio State University in 1971 as an instructor where he continued research in the areas of endocrinology and reproductive physiology and taught reproductive physiology at the undergraduate, graduate, and professional levels. He was very active in professional societies, university governance, graduate education, and mentoring students and junior faculty during his 34 years of service before he retired in 2006 as a Professor Emeritus.

On behalf of the university community, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family of Professor Syed Saiduddin its deepest sympathy and sense of understanding of their loss. It is directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to his family as an expression of the board’s heartfelt sympathy and appreciation.

RECOGNITION OF FUNDAMENTAL EDUCATIONAL RESPONSIBILITIES
Resolution No. 2023-105

Synopsis: Recognition of fundamental responsibilities in the education of students at The Ohio State University.

Members of the General Assembly of Ohio have raised questions regarding the university’s commitment to intellectual diversity in its academic pursuits, and its dedication to allowing students the freedom to develop and express independent views on societal and political issues. In response, the Board of Trustees wishes to reconfirm the university’s foundational commitment to the values of free speech, open debate, intellectual diversity, and the development of independent decision-making abilities in our students.

WHEREAS the Board of Trustees recognizes that, as a land-grant institution, the university has a deep and abiding responsibility to provide an educational environment that supports students as they learn, grow, and develop; and
WHEREAS it is essential that students have the ability to engage in free, open, and rigorous intellectual inquiry as part of such an educational environment without intimidation or fear of retaliation; and

WHEREAS, in providing such instruction and support to students, the university faculty is expected to develop students’ abilities to make independent and informed conclusions about the important social and political issues facing their communities, consistent with the protections of academic freedom and requirements of academic responsibility; and

WHEREAS these abilities are best honed through a curriculum that provides and values true intellectual diversity, and that further recognizes the value of hearing and understanding different ideas and perspectives in reaching one’s individual conclusions about matters of import; and

WHEREAS the Board of Trustees therefore recognizes that promoting, supporting, and protecting a free and independent inquiry process is central to the university’s academic mission, and that the twin values of academic freedom and academic responsibility work in parallel with a willingness to hear, understand, debate, and learn from the differing points of view that arise as part of those discussions; and

Vice Chair John Zeiger reconvened The Ohio State University Board of Trustees on Friday, July 14, 2023, at 4:32 p.m.

Mr. Zeiger:

Reminder to everyone that this meeting is being recorded and livestreamed for the public on WOSU. So that we are able to conduct the business of this meeting in an orderly fashion, I would ask that any sound on cell phones and other devices be turned off, and I would ask that all members of the audience observe appropriate rules of decorum proper to conducting the business at hand.

The critical issue for today’s meeting is the consideration of a recommendation from the Finance & Investment Committee and our chief financial officer for a tuition adjustment. At this point I would ask Mike Papadakis and Kris Devine to make a presentation explaining the proposed change and the reason it is required.

Mr. Papadakis:

So anytime we have a conversation on this topic we always want to start it with a level set to make sure we are thinking about student access and affordability. Currently, we operate under the Ohio State Tuition Guarantee Program. It is a program that has been in place since FY2018, so this is the sixth class of students who will be part of that program. It is important to note that residents of the state of Ohio are part of this program, we are not only locking in tuition fees we are also locking in room and board for up to four years.

We think the total cost of attendance and affordability at Ohio State is important, so we lock in all those fees for our students for four years. Another part of what we think about when we think about affordability is making sure we are handing out significant amounts of student financial aid. As you can see on slide 2, we have highlighted several different programs. I will give a few highlights. When you think of total student financial aid for next year, we are forecasting our Ohio State students will receive $450M; with $364M of that financial aid comes from Ohio State, the rest of those dollars come from various federal and state programs. Again, $364M in aid from us to our students for next year.

Some of the programs listed are parts of our larger programs aimed at affordability. Again, I will just give some highlights. The Buckeye Opportunity Program, which is a program we launched in 2018, it basically provides full tuition fees for Ohio Pell-eligible students. We rolled that program out in 2018 in Columbus and in 2019 at our regional campuses. We also have available the President’s Affordability Grant Program, which roughly impacts 13,000 students every year and gives students grants from $500-$1,500 each to hopefully help offset some of their costs.

The Land-Grant Opportunity Scholarship program has doubled in size allowing us to provide two full-ride scholarships to every incoming class for every county in the state of Ohio. Every county, every year, gets two full-ride scholarships to Ohio State University.

We also want to thank our state legislature for passing a very significant increase in the Ohio College Opportunity Grant (OCOG). The increase is roughly $500 per student going into the next biennium.

The last program to highlight is the Scarlet & Gray program which launched last fall. We had 125 students in that program, and we expect 125-150 students in that program again this fall. Thinking about ways we can give our students opportunities or pathways to hopefully graduate from Ohio State debt free.

On the next slide, slide 3, I want to highlight a couple thoughts on why we are having a conversation about tuition increases today. As you think about the operations of the university and how we fund the overall academic mission it is important to not just think about today but how we got here. If you think about the last decade, we had roughly five years where we froze tuition. Also, during that time period, we entered the sixth year of our Ohio State Tuition Guarantee program, which is a program where we increase rates up front then lock them in for four years.

The other pieces to highlight are total State Share of Instruction (SSI) has certainly not kept pace with inflation over the last 20 years. As you can see on the chart at the bottom of the page, thinking about where we’ve received our funding from you can see that transition in the past decades where we were mainly state funded to now where the vast majority is coming from tuition and fees.

Last but not least, the operating environment we’ve encountered in the last couple years has experienced lots of impact from inflation, commodity costs, labor costs, student wages, full-time wages, natural gas, food prices etc. Ohio State has been impacted by all those things; highlighted on the page for you are some thoughts around what those rates have been over the past couple of years.

As we think about the proposal today while viewing slide 4, I am going to begin on the left side of the page and work my way through the undergraduate proposals first, then graduate student proposals on the right and go in more depth on these as well.

First, a number of fees are not going up at all for returning in-state students who are already part of the Ohio State Tuition Guarantee program. Also, our international surcharge and our non-resident online programs have a 0% increase for next year.

Next, in the box to the bottom left, for our in-state students we are asking for a 3% increase. This is a 3% one-time increase locked in for four years. Again, it is a one-time increase.
July 14, 2023, Board of Trustees meetings

The non-resident surcharge request is for a 5.2% increase, or roughly $1,269; housing and dining are both looking for a 3% increase, then student health insurance is given in a range; this is a pass-through cost negotiation with an outside party then the cost is passed through to our students.

Mr. Mitevski:

Mike, can we have an idea what the size of the incoming class will be this year and perhaps the composition of it – resident vs. non-resident?

Mr. Papadakis:

Great question. We think our incoming class will be somewhere between 8,100-8,200 students. We will be somewhere in the ballpark of 33-35% out of state, so 65-67% in state.

On the right side of the page on slide 4, just a couple quick thoughts on graduate programs then I will hand it over to Kris to go into more in depth. We are proposing a 3.8% increase for both in-person and online programs for residents and a 4.2% increase for non-residents.

In the box below, still on slide 4, we have several different master’s programs, we are asking for a rate increase for some of the new programs and for some of our existing programs. All those rate increases are market based. We do a lot of work so our programs are cost competitive around the county with the other programs and make sure they are a good value for our students as well.

Any questions at this point?

Mr. Zeiger:

Mike, thank you. I know that there are literally a thousand details in the work you, Kris and your team have done, and I also want to emphasize for the public that the entire package of these slides which show all those details on the various different programs and fees are available so perhaps we can keep the detailed discussion at a relatively truncated presentation. However, I do think it is important that Kris help people understand how it is these proposals come forward and process by which the university itself and the academic side of the house is involved.

Ms. Devine:

Sure, I will talk about that as I go through the slides, so we ensure everybody understands.

I’ll start with the undergraduate section — undergraduate tuition and fees for FY24 on slide 6. As Mike noted, tuition is built on base tuition for Ohio students, this is the tuition guarantee for four years. Incoming students will pay the 3% increase, but that amount is then locked for a four-year period. We are proposing an increase in instructional fees by 2.6%, and 0.4% increase to base tuition to provide funding specific for student wellness and mental health.
efforts. This 3% aggregate increase is within the state guidelines. Domestic non-resident students will pay the base tuition plus the non-resident surcharge. The non-resident fees for both domestic U.S. residents outside of Ohio and international students is set based on market pricing and peer comparison reviews. How we compare to our peers in this context I will talk about on the next slide. The only other thing I want to mention on this slide is program course and technology fees have a 0% increase for undergraduate students this year. Back in spring of 2019 we eliminated about 70% of our course fees in the interest of student affordability.

Slide 7 is our way of trying to really understand and show where we land compared to peers as well as where we land compared to Ohio schools. With the tuition increase proposed, Ohio State will remain the second most affordable university for resident undergrads amongst selective admission public universities in the state and more affordable than nine of the 15 Big Ten schools or seventh most affordable for resident students. The specifics by schools are outlined in the appendix on slide 25 if you’re interested in that information.

I also want to note we are increasing and investing .4% of the increase in the office of student life, student wellness and mental health education and prevention efforts to allow us to continue our strategic activities to ensure our students can continue to be successful inside and outside of the classroom.

The graph on the bottom left-hand side of slide 7 lays out by component what type of fees are embedded in the undergraduate mandatory fees and tuition. You will see where we land at the first subtotal for residents at 3%, you will also see the recreation fee in there added at a 2.8% increase, and it should be noted the international surcharge — international students pay base, plus domestic non-resident, plus international surcharges. We are not increasing the international surcharge. Their total fee will still go up consistent with domestic non-resident but when we look again at our market comparison, we are 11th in the Big Ten for most affordable, which means we are getting higher in the price point compared to where we want to be over time to ensure we are staying competitive.

I guess the only other thing I want to mention, even with all our components it is interesting to note this year we had 70,000 completed applications for Ohio State, last year we have 65,200. So, our brand remains strong and the demand for the service remains strong which is excellent news for Ohio State.

I am going to flip to graduate tuition. On slide 9, we are proposing a 3.8% increase in base tuition and a 4.2% increase in non-resident tuition for graduate tuition and fees. The rates are valued against Big Ten peers. Master’s and PhD students will pay these rates unless they have differentials. On slide 10 we will talk about how we compare at those rates in comparison to our peers. And again, we added at the bottom what the fee components are for graduate students. You will see graduate programs for tuition mandatory fees will increase about $500 for Ohio and $1,629 for non-resident students. Those base rates were not increased from 2014-2022, therefore, we had a bigger gap between our price point than our peers than what we wanted to be comfortable with. These rates will put Ohio State at the seventh most affordable of 15 schools in the Big Ten for residents and 11th in the Big Ten for non-residents. Again, comparison for specific schools both within the Big Ten and comparison to Ohio can be found on slides 34 and 35 of the deck provided.

Jumping to tag master's and professional tuition and fees on slide 12. The process on how these prices are determined are each graduate and professional college program looks at their tuition compared to market pricing and demand. We have an internal process that is very judicious to review fees that each college will bring forward to Senate Fiscal Committee to review. Senate Fiscal is a subcommittee of our Faculty Senate, and that subcommittee is comprised of deans, administrators, students and faculty. This subcommittee reviews each proposal for market pricing demand, cost structure and necessity of the fee increase and will gather student input for any existing programs. Once satisfied with the answers and the information provided then the committee will recommend approval or no approval to the provost and the chief financial officer depending on the data they gathered. The chart on slide 12 provides an overview of the fee proposal increases for graduate and professional fees for FY2024.

On the next slide (slide 13) there is a lot of data here as you can see. This shows differential fees for each program as outlined. There are three new programs we are bringing forward this year: two in cybersecurity and one in Doctor of Nursing Education. The details specific to those fees, how they were justified, demand for the program, etc. are outlined on slides 37 and 38 of the deck. These fees are all based on market assessments at the colleges and can increase or decrease depending on demand and market changes. You will note the supply change demand differentials are proposing to change as a decrease in order to align with market rate. I think it is important to know it can go either way depending on that assessment. I think that is a good validation that the process is judicious.

Next slide (slide 14) covers program course fees for graduate programs, new program course fees are shown on this slide. I am not going to go through them as the specifics are available for you review on slides 39 and 42. These slides are intended to provide the background on what the process was, the justification for the need for the change and the fee request.

Jumping to housing and dining on slide 16. Housing and Dining is a tuition guarantee program for Ohio State. Generally, students will live in on-campus housing for two years. We have given you some background on what rate increases have been historically. The need for rate of increases depends on increases in support for operations and repair and maintenance. We try to ensure we are keeping up to speed on repairs and maintenance and deferred maintenance in the housing and dining areas. Off—campus benchmarking indicate rates are going up 3-5% in the marketplace. Dining specifically, I will call out food increases due to inflation have been very significant as well as our labor market. It is really challenging to get students to work in the dining hall which is a big component of our workforce, the labor and demand and labor price is increasing. The proposal will outline we have a 3% proposed increase to cover operations and repairs and maintenance for housing and dining. The rates vary depending on which plan you choose either both in housing or dining. We are mindful where we are with the price point in this particular demographic. We could have an increase based on state biennium regulations up to three-year average CPI which equates to 4.6% but we are only going to increase at 3.3% this year.

The last slide, slide 19, is on student health insurance. We are proposing an increase of 1.73 – 1.76%. This is a 100% pass-through charge based on a third party vendor. We require all students at OSU to have health insurance. Eighty-seven per-cent of the students have health insurance from someone else, predominantly from parent plans. International students are required to be enrolled in the Ohio State Health Plan to ensure they have health insurance. Here again the rate increase is what is negotiated with our third party vendor who provides the service.

After this, you have many slides for your reading pleasure if you so choose to.

CONSENT AGENDA

Mr. Zeiger:

Mike and Kris, thank you for all the effort that you and your team have put into developing these proposals and justifying them to us. We appreciate it. Are there any questions from the members of the board regarding the proposals I know we have all received the written documents, I am confident we have all reviewed them with care. I am particularly appreciative of the finance committee under Tom Mitevski’s leadership. They have engaged significantly on reviewing this with a lot of hours going into that. But are there any final questions from the Trustees regarding these proposals? Including all of those who are on Zoom with us.

Hearing none, at this point we do have four proposals on our consent agenda, resolutions, which basically incorporate and finalize the detail Mike and Kris have shared with us today and have all been provided to the Board previously and been reviewed along with the underlining documentation as well. There are four different consent agenda items set forth both in the materials the Trustees have and available to the public.

At this point I would ask Mr. Mitevski, as Chair of the finance committee share a few thoughts about the process and at the appropriate point make a motion.

Mr. Mitevski:

Thank you, John. I would just add that our Finance and Investment Committee has been working with Kris and Mike and the team for several, several months to look at all these presented increases to make sure they are affordable and competitive, and to also assess the landscape. I mean inflation has been increasing over 7% for the last couple years. We want to make sure this is affordable and competitive and while at the same time allowing us to invest and reinvest. I would like to make a motion to approve as presented.

Mr. Zeiger:

Any further discussion?

Hearing none, I'll ask the Secretary to call the role to approve all four of the consent agenda proposals or resolutions which will incorporate and put into effect the information Mike and Kris have laid out regarding tuition and fees including dining and housing.

RESOLUTIONS IN MEMORIAM

Synopsis: Approval of Resolutions in Memoriam is proposed.

BE IT RESOLVED, That the Board of Trustees hereby approves the attached Resolutions in Memoriam and that the President be requested to convey copies to the families of the deceased.

Norman Kent Booth
Richard E. Burkart
Joseph A. Levey
Aaron J. Miller
Synopsis: The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow regarding the death on April 3, 2023 of Norman Kent Booth, Professor Emeritus of Landscape Architecture in the Austin E. Knowlton School of Architecture in the College of Engineering.

Professor Booth taught Landscape Architecture at Ohio State for 30 years, from 1973–2004, when he retired from academia. He attained the rank of professor and served as head of the Landscape Architecture Section from 1996 to 2003. He was honored in 1999 by being designated a Fellow of the American Society of Landscape Architects.

As detailed in Testing Grounds: 100 Years of Landscape Architecture at the Ohio State University, Booth’s work had an influential impact on the design education model, “integrating elements of traditional site planning and environmentalism with a graphic style derived from 1950s modernism and the new informality of the 1970s.”

In Testing Grounds, Professor Booth reflected on how the Landscape Architecture Section evolved in the early 1970’s

“I was hired about a year or two after Jot Carpenter was hired [1972], at the beginning of a rather rapid buildup and enlargement of the program, so we were all rather young faculty with virtually no teaching experience prior to starting to teach. We pretty much had the ability to shape the program, and during the ’73, ’74, ’75 time period there was a lot of effort put forward to define what the program was all about and to set the course for many years to come. I think the core of that was a weekend retreat - we went to Mohican State Park for a whole weekend - and out of that came the direction that the program would take for the next twenty-five, thirty years. Even though that evolved over time and always changed, the core of that was really set early on in those years, and I think there were a number of things that were unique. One, that we had the ability to do that, and two that there was a lot of emphasis on making a program where the graduates were prepared to walk into an office, either a private practice or government service, so that students were job-ready and had the necessary education and background.”

On behalf of the university community, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family of Professor Norman Booth its deepest sympathy and sense of understanding of their loss. It is directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to his family as an expression of the board’s heartfelt sympathy and appreciation.
Synopsis: The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow regarding the death on March 13, 2023, of Richard E. Burkart, Professor Emeritus in the School of Music in the College of Arts and Sciences. He was 91.

Richard E. Burkart was born in 1931 in New Orleans, LA. He began practicing and studying the cornet at age 8. He later attended Jesuit High School in New Orleans where he was appointed Solo Cornet in the Band and Orchestra. Burkart later graduated from LSU in 1955 (BME Music Ed., BM trumpet performance, MM trumpet performance). Upon graduation he was hired as the Professor of Brass at Lamar University in Beaumont, TX where he also played Principal Trumpet with the Chicago Little Symphony, and the Beaumont Symphony Orchestra. After 14 years at Lamar, Burkart was accepted into the DMA program at the University of Wisconsin, a relatively novel degree at the time.

After completing his doctoral degree in 1971, Burkart was offered the position of Professor of Trumpet and Graduate Studies in Brass at The Ohio State University. In his new teaching position, he played with the Columbus Symphony Orchestra, the Faculty Brass Quintet, the Lancaster Festival Orchestra, Ringling Brothers Circus, and the Robert Shaw tour of France in 1992. He was also known to have played in and conducted the Longhorn Rodeo Band in Texas, Ohio and around the country. In his retirement years Burkart returned to his musical roots from New Orleans as a member of the Toll House Jazz Band performing Dixieland Jazz around Central Ohio and touring Germany, Austria, and Italy in 1997.

With his colleagues Tom Battenberg and Robert Hightshoe, he co-hosted the 1980 International Trumpet Guild (ITG) Conference at OSU. In 1988 Burkart was instrumental in the partnership between the ITG and The Columbus Foundation to establish the Ellsworth Smith International Trumpet Competition which he hosted at OSU in 1988 and 1994.

Through his teaching at Lamar and OSU, Dr. Burkart has had a profound influence on generations of our nation’s outstanding trumpet players and teachers. His former students have become highly respected band directors, soloists, service band members, orchestral musicians, as well as college professors of trumpet throughout the country.

Above all his accomplishments, Burkart was a devoted family man, who raised six children and dealt with hardships that would have crushed a lesser spirit, including a daughter rendered quadriplegic in a car accident as well as his dear wife Janet’s long battle with Parkinson’s disease.

Richard Burkart died peacefully at his home on March 13, 2023. He was 91 and was preceded in death by his wife Janet in 2014 and his daughter Elizabeth in 2018.

On behalf of the entire university community, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family and loved ones of Professor Richard E. Burkart its deepest sympathy and compassion for their loss. It is directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to his family as an expression of the board’s heartfelt sympathy and appreciation.

Dr. Levy assembled the Bachelor of Music Degree in Jazz Studies, wrote the curriculum, and became its first Director. He organized the first Spring Jazz Festival and the first Summer Jazz Camp for high school musicians. He acted as jazz clinician at the Pennsylvania Music Educators Convention, the Ohio Music Educators Convention, and the West Virginia Music Educators Meeting. He was a Director of the OSU Jazz Ensemble and his students played in major big bands such as Stan Kenton, Woody Herman, Buddy Rich, Maynard Ferguson, Ray Charles, and Las Vegas show bands.

Dr. Levey performed on tenor sax, clarinet, and flute with the Jerry Kaye Orchestra to back up such performers as Rosemary Clooney, Carmen McRae, Natalie Cole, Mel Torme, Vic Damone, Al Martino, Sonny and Cher, Bob Hope, and many others.

A skilled conductor, Dr. Levey acted as Music Director for several Theater Department musical productions. They included ONCE UPON A MATTRESS, YOUR OWN THING, THE FANTASTICKS, A FUNNY THING HAPPENED ON THE WAY TO THE FORUM, and MOTHER COURAGE.

He has been published by Broadcast Music Inc., Shawnee Press, Prentice Hall, and University Press of America.

Dr. Levey is survived by his daughter and son-in-law, Jan and Anthony Roppo of Sunrise, FL; granddaughter and grandson-in-law, Emily and John Trahan, of Orlando, FL; niece, Eve Selman of Tampa, FL, and nephew, Jeff Selman of Denver, CO.

He is preceded in death by his wife, Elizabeth Levey, and grandson, Anthony Roppo.

On behalf of the entire university community, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family and loved ones of Professor Joseph A. Levey its deepest sympathy and compassion for their loss. It is directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to his family as an expression of the board's heartfelt sympathy and appreciation.
AARON J. MILLER

Synopsis: The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sympathy regarding the death on May 19, 2023, of Professor Emeritus Aaron J. “AJ” Miller, who upon his retirement chaired what was then the Department of Educational Studies: Humanities, Science, Technological and Vocational in the College of Education. He was 93.

Miller arrived at Ohio State in 1966 from Oklahoma, where he had earned a master’s in trade and industrial education and an EdD in higher education from Oklahoma State University. While at Oklahoma State, he became an assistant professor and head of the electronics technology department. He then became chairman of the technical education department. He left that role to become director of Vocational, Technical and Adult Education for Oklahoma City Public Schools.

With that substantial experience, which included five years as an electronics field engineer for RCA and service in the U.S. Air Force during the Korean War, he came to Ohio State and joined the Center for Vocational and Technical Education, which later became the National Center for Research in Vocational Education. He rose to the position of associate director of field services and special projects.

While with the center, Miller became well known as project director for one of the first national initiatives in career education. With funding from the U.S. Office of Education, he created and tested the Comprehensive Career Education Model for K-12 schools. Key to the model was uniting students, their parents, schools, the community and employers in a cooperative educational venture. The goal was to ensure students gained information and experiences representing the entire world of work, starting in their earliest years.

During field research, Miller validated a definition of career education, which was not standardized at the time. He then recruited six school districts in different states to develop, test and validate curriculum materials and educational strategies based on the model. The model and the curricula have served as the basis for many career education programs across the country.

In 1973, Miller left the research center to join the faculty of the College of Education as chair of its Vocational-Technical Education Program. He later served as acting associate dean of the college for a period of time.

Miller had a long service record associated with the field of vocational, career and technical education. He was involved with what is today the Association for Career and Technical Education, what was then the Association of Industrial and Technical Teacher Educators, as well as the University Council for Vocational Education. His work is preserved in what is today the ERIC Clearinghouse on Adult, Career and Vocational Education. He authored many papers in professional journals, presented at conferences and consulted in many countries, including Kenya, the People’s Republic of China, the Republic of Mauritius and the United Arab Emirates.

Miller retired from Ohio State in 1993, after which he served as commissioner for what is today called the Accrediting Commission of Career Schools and Colleges.

On behalf of the entire university community, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family and friends of Professor Emeritus Aaron J. Miller its deepest sympathy for their loss. It is directed that this resolution shall be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees, and a copy will be tendered to his family as an expression of the board’s heartfelt appreciation.
