JOSEPH (JOE) COCHRAN

Synopsis: The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow regarding the October 22, 2023, death of Joseph (Joe) Cochran, former Operations Manager and Interim Director of Secrest Arboretum and Knox County Extension Agent.

Joe tirelessly served The Ohio State University, College of Food, Agricultural, and Environmental Sciences (CFAES) until he retired in 2019. He and his colleagues were heavily invested in Secrest Arboretum on the CFAES Wooster Campus. He was instrumental in rebuilding and restoring Secrest after the 2010 tornado. Joe also led efforts in planning, design and development of the Secrest Welcome and Education Center.

During his time at Secrest, Joe initiated several new programs, including the Secrest Academy of Landscape Sciences and Arts, or SALSA, an interactive course for horticulture professionals and avid gardeners. He also worked with Akron Public Schools’ Project Rise to welcome children and families experiencing homelessness to Secrest Arboretum for an annual day of outdoor learning and leisure.

Joe’s smile was infectious, and his generosity was boundless. Thanks to his contagious love of plants and horticulture, he was an inspiration to countless arboretum visitors and educational program attendees. He relished his role as a mentor to young people and budding professionals. As a leader, he took pride in fostering a lively and inclusive work environment and always was encouraging and kind to employees and visitors. Joe supported Secrest Arboretum and its visitors well beyond his retirement. Joe’s dedication to Secrest Arboretum, CFAES Wooster Campus and The Ohio State University strengthened our connections with communities and partners.

On behalf of the university community, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family of Joseph Cochran its deepest sympathy for their loss. It is directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to his family as an expression of the board’s heartfelt sympathy and appreciation.

DAVID MUNN

Synopsis: The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow regarding the November 19, 2023, death of David Alan Munn. David was an emeritus faculty member in the Agricultural Technical Institute (ATI) where he served as an associate professor of soils, agronomy, and environmental sciences.

During his 34 years at ATI, he loved teaching and counselling students, many of whom came to him long after his retirement and thanked him for the rich learning opportunities he provided.

After serving in the U.S. Army during Vietnam, he earned three degrees at Ohio State, including his Ph.D. in Agronomy in 1974. In 1976, he joined the faculty at ATI as an assistant professor. He retired in 2003 as an associate professor.

Colleagues recall David as an excellent example of servant leadership and a great citizen of the institute. He was kind, generous, thoughtful, and desired the best for all. He loved being outdoors and sparked that value in his students. He also was known for his sense of humor even during difficult times.

On behalf of the university community, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family of David Munn its deepest sympathy for their loss. It is directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to his family as an expression of the board's heartfelt sympathy and appreciation.

JOHN C. RICE

Synopsis: The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow regarding the September 25, 2023, death of John C. Rice, Assistant Professor Emeritus with The Ohio State University in the College of Food, Agricultural, and Environmental Sciences.

Mr. Rice started working with Ohio State University Extension in Muskingum County in 1965 as a county 4-H agent. In January 1968, he transitioned to serve as the Muskingum County agriculture agent. In February 1974, Mr. Rice transferred to Meigs County and served as the county agent focusing on agriculture as well as community and natural resource development. He also served as county chairman in Meigs County.

Mr. Rice was recognized as assistant professor emeritus upon his retirement on March 1, 1992.

During his career, Mr. Rice worked with numerous 4-H members, families, and farmers. Among his noted achievements were teaching farmers how to use Ohio Commercial Account Records, conducting income tax workshops, holding safety meetings with vocational agriculture teachers, and planning many vegetable schools to educate the public.

Before his work with OSU Extension, Mr. Rice worked as a teacher and bus driver for Frazesburg High School for several years. He also served in the United States Army from 1957 to 1958.

Mr. Rice enjoyed serving others and was very active in his community. He was a member of many organizations such as the Middleport-Pomeroy Rotary Club, the Eastern Local School Board where he served as president for several years, the Soil and Water Conservation Board, and the Masonic Lodge. Mr. Rice was a lifelong farmer, raising cattle and sheep for many years. He was also an avid Ohio State football fan.

Mr. Rice earned a bachelor’s degree in animal science in 1957, and a master’s degree in agricultural education in 1973, both from The Ohio State University. During his time as an Ohio State student, Mr. Rice was a member of the general livestock judging team, worked in the meat lab, and worked with cattle and horses.

On behalf of the university community, the Ohio State Board of Trustees expresses to the family of John C. Rice, its deepest sympathy and sense of understanding of their loss. It is directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees, and that a copy be tendered to his family as an expression of the board’s heartfelt sympathy and appreciation.

KEIKO KOMIYA SAMIMY

Synopsis: The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sympathy regarding the November 25, 2023, death of Faculty Emerita Keiko Komiya Samimy, professor of teaching English to speakers of other languages (TESOL) in the Department of Teaching and Learning, College of Education and Human Ecology. She was 71.

Professor Samimy had a long and distinguished career in the field of foreign and second language teaching and learning. She joined the College of Education in 1988. As a native of Japan, she spoke fluent Japanese and had working knowledge of Italian, French and Spanish.

She was a prolific and influential scholar whose major work fell into two primary categories. Earlier in her career, she focused on the impact of “affective variables” (such as emotions) on the learning of foreign languages. This work led to an area where she is known as one of its pioneers: foreign language anxiety. Her publications in this domain in the 1990s shed important light on the nature and impact of the fear that can be associated with learning another language.

This body of work created a foundation from which many other scholars have drawn their inspiration and knowledge. For example, her 1996 co-authored article, “Foreign Language Anxiety and Language Performance: A Study of Learner Anxiety in Beginning, Intermediate, and Advanced-Level College Students of Japanese,” was frequently cited. So was her 1999 co-authored “Revisiting the Colonial in the Postcolonial: Critical Praxis for Nonnative-English-Speaking Teachers in a TESOL Program” in TESOL Quarterly also was cited hundreds of times.

In the 2000s, Samimy’s focus shifted to a second primary concentration: the experiences of nonnative English speaking (NNES) professionals. In fact, she was an early leader of a group of internationally based scholars, the Non-Native English Speaking Teachers Caucus (NNEST), founded in 1997, which went on to establish this as a significant field of research and teaching.

At Ohio State, where Samimy taught until her retirement in June 2017, she created graduate-level courses on this topic that were among the first to be offered at any American university. They grew to be extremely popular and in great demand.

In terms of grants, in 2007, Samimy collaborated with colleagues to receive a five-year, $1.5 million grant from the U.S. Department of Education, Office of English Language Acquisition, Language Enhancement and Academic Achievement for Limited English Proficient Students. The ESL – Content Teachers Collaborative trained content and English-as-a-second-language teachers in the knowledge base and skills to help them improve the academic achievement, literacy and English language development of what was then Ohio’s more than 40,000 ESL students.

Samimy first served as co-director, then took over as director when her colleague left Ohio State. During the project, 23 different Ohio school districts took part. Professional development included workshops and graduate-level courses, including cutting-edge distance learning to reach teachers throughout the state.

It was also at Ohio State where Professor Samimy distinguished herself in another important way: as a skilled and beloved mentor to a very large number of graduate students, many of whom have gone on to their own noteworthy careers in the academic world. As a teacher and a scholar, as well as a valued colleague, Professor Samimy, in her always gentle and dignified manner, created a rich legacy of devotion and success that is a model to others.

On behalf of the entire university community, the Board of Trustees expresses to the friends and family of Professor Emerita Keiko Komiya Samimy its deepest sympathy and compassion for their loss. It is directed

STEVEN JAY SCHWARTZ

Synopsis: The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University expresses its sorrow regarding the November 25, 2023, death of Steven Jay Schwartz, Professor Emeritus of Food Science and Technology in the College of Food, Agricultural, and Environmental Sciences.

Dr. Schwartz held the Carl E. Haas Endowed Chair in Food Industries in the Department of Food Science and Technology at the Ohio State University from 1996 until his retirement in 2018. Before joining the faculty at Ohio State, he was a Professor of Food Science at the North Carolina State University from 1983 to 1996.

His research program involved innovative food science and nutrition discoveries that directly impacted human health. As the Haas Endowed Chair, he leveraged his research and relationships within The Ohio State University and beyond to adeptly forge important industry collaborations that would actively support the research and discovery work taking place within the department.

His leadership and his ability to collaborate across disciplines resulted in several initiatives. He served as a co-founder of the Food Innovation Center and director of the Nutrient and Phytochemical Analytic Shared Resource of the OSU Comprehensive Cancer Center. In addition, he served as site director of the Center for Advanced Processing and Packaging Studies. He utilized this National Science Foundation IUCRC Founded Center to foster partnerships between industry and universities for the mutual benefit of both parties and the advancement of food processing and packaging research.

Dr. Schwartz also served as the director of the Center for Advanced Functional Foods Research and Entrepreneurship. He utilized this interdisciplinary center that is comprised of a diverse group of scientists, medical professionals, and policy experts to serve as a catalyst for research and development of novel functional foods and components that enhance health.

His final professional accomplishment was spearheading the OSU Discovery Themes Initiative entitled Personalized Food and Nutritional Metabolomics for Health, known as Foods for Health (FFH). Dr. Schwartz’s work in food and nutritional metabolomics was the foundation behind this impactful discovery theme.

Dr. Schwartz brought prestige to Ohio State as an elected Fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science which recognizes meritorious efforts to advance science or its applications. He was an enthusiastic collaborator and committed mentor to a countless number of students, visiting scholars, and young faculty.

On behalf of the university community, the Board of Trustees expresses to the family of Professor Steven J. Schwartz its deepest sympathy and sense of understanding of their loss. It is directed that this resolution be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be tendered to his family as an expression of the board’s heartfelt sympathy and appreciation.

RESOLUTION OF RECOGNITION FOR DR. PIERRE AGOSTINI

Resolution No. 2024-76

Synopsis: The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University wishes to recognize and congratulate Dr. Pierre Agostini, professor emeritus of physics, for winning the 2023 Nobel Prize in Physics.

Born in Tunisia, Pierre Agostini received multiple degrees from Aix-Marseille University in Marseille, France, including his doctorate in physics. He worked as a researcher at the French Alternative Energies and Atomic Energy Commission (CEA) research site in Saclay before joining The Ohio State University in 2005 as a Professor of Physics. Upon his retirement in 2018, the Board of Trustees conferred him emeritus status in recognition of his distinguished academic career at the institution.

Agostini continues to engage in research activities and mentorship to this day. Working in collaboration with Hagenlocker Chair of Physics Louis DiMauro for over 30 years, the Agostini-DiMauro Atomic Physics Research Group studies ultra-fast and strong-field atomic physics, both theoretically and experimentally. Their research in particular uses ultra-fast laser pulses to study the movement of subatomic particles.

In October 2023, the Royal Swedish Academy of Sciences awarded Agostini (alongside Ferenc Krausz from the Max Planck Institute of Quantum Optics in Germany and Anne L'Huillier from Lund University in Sweden) with the 2023 Nobel Prize in Physics "for experimental methods that generate attosecond pulses of light for the study of electron dynamics in matter."

Because electrons can move at approximately 2,000 miles per second, it is exceedingly difficult to capture their movement. Agostini and his fellow Nobel laureates, however, pioneered the creation of light pulses lasting merely attoseconds (one quintillionth of a second) to track electron movement.

In recognizing this work, the Nobel Prize committee noted the limitless possibilities that this research can unlock, citing that Agostini and the other awardees “have given humanity new tools for exploring the world of electrons inside atoms and molecules.” The committee further identified the broad potential that such research may have across a wide variety of different disciplines, including in engineering, where tracking the movement of electrons could allow for highly increased efficiency in the operations of electronics, and in medicine, where the use of attosecond pulses could have significant diagnostic applications.

Agostini’s groundbreaking scientific achievements have meaningfully advanced both science and society more broadly. Even beyond these impressive advancements, though, Agostini is widely regarded as an exemplary colleague, a caring and humble man who cares deeply about science, education, and promoting and supporting others.

On behalf of the entire university community, the Board of Trustees congratulates Dr. Pierre Agostini, professor emeritus of physics, for winning the 2023 Nobel Prize in Physics, and expresses its deep admiration for his decades of innovative research and significant contributions to the university community. It is directed that this resolution shall be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees, and a copy will be tendered to Agostini as an expression of the Board’s heartfelt appreciation of his accomplishments both presently and throughout his career.

RESOLUTION OF APPRECIATION FOR THE ROBERT F. WOLFE AND EDGAR T. WOLFE FOUNDATION, ANN ISLAY WOLFE, CHAIR

Resolution No. 2024-77

Synopsis: The Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University warmly expresses its gratitude to the Robert F. Wolfe and Edgar T. Wolfe Foundation and foundation chair Ann Islay Wolfe for their $50 million philanthropic commitment to help fund The Ohio State University Wexner Medical Center’s new hospital tower made in honor of the late John F. Wolfe.

At Ohio State, the Wolfe family’s multigenerational philanthropic investments have supported countless priorities including cancer research, veterinary medicine, athletic facilities, scholarships, and eight endowed chairs and professorships. The Wolfe family has provided civic and philanthropic leadership for organizations across the community, including COSI, the Franklin Park Conservatory, the Scioto Mile and the Columbus Zoo and Aquarium. Ann Islay Wolfe, chair of the Wolfe Foundation, has devoted her time to championing health care including serving as the longtime chair of the Nationwide Children's Hospital Foundation Board.

This newest gift — one of the largest ever made to The Ohio State University Wexner Medical Center — was inspired by John F. Wolfe’s altruistic philosophy and unwavering dedication to supporting the momentum of Ohio State’s health care system.

John F. Wolfe’s legendary generosity spanned many decades in which he donated his time and counsel by serving on various boards, steadfastly supporting the vision and growth of the university. That civic leadership grew from family tradition. Just like his father, cousin, and many other family members, including his wife Ann, John F. Wolfe understood the importance of advocacy in a community's development. He strongly believed in the unlimited potential of a nationally renowned academic medical center at Ohio State, and his legacy continues to shape the present and future of health care in Columbus, across the State of Ohio and beyond. This transformational gift exemplifies his passion for service and the Wolfe Foundation’s ongoing dedication to the community.

The gift will greatly help Ohio State continue to meet and exceed the unique health care needs of the rapidly growing central Ohio region at the new inpatient tower. At 1.9 million square feet and 24 floors, the hospital is the single-largest facilities project undertaken at the university. It is designed for flexible and team-based care that prioritizes the patient and their family. The hospital’s interdisciplinary focus will allow for collaborative teaching, research and clinical trials throughout the building. With up to 820 private rooms and 51 neonatal intensive care beds, it will add much-needed capacity to care for the rapidly growing central Ohio community.

In recognition of the impact of this gift, the new inpatient tower will have two named spaces: The John F. Wolfe Lobby, as well as the Wolfe Foundation Crossroads, which will serve as the primary physical connection point to The James.

Philanthropic commitments such as this gift from the Wolfe Foundation play a critical role in accelerating progress toward new treatments and teaching opportunities for the generations to come.

On behalf of the entire university community, the Board of Trustees expresses its deep gratitude to The Robert F. Wolfe and Edgar T. Wolfe Foundation and Ann Islay Wolfe for their continued support of Ohio State. It is directed that this resolution shall be inscribed upon the minutes of the Board of Trustees, and a copy will be tendered to the Foundation and Mrs. Wolfe as an expression of the Board’s heartfelt appreciation.

Iles Award for the Graduate Study of Myth in the Center for the Study of Religion was established February 10, 2012, by the Board of Trustees of The Ohio State University, in accordance with the guidelines approved by the Board of Directors of The Ohio State University Foundation, with a gift from Sarah Iles Johnston. Effective February 22, 2024, the fund description shall be revised.

The annual distribution from this fund shall be used for one award each spring semester to a graduate student in the Division of Arts and Humanities in support of that student’s research on myth. The award shall be supplemented by $1,000 from the Division of the Arts and Humanities. The award shall also be supplemented by up to $1,000 from the student’s home department. It is the donor’s desire to provide as significant financial support as possible to one eligible recipient.

To be eligible, candidates must be conducting research on myth. Studies of the myths of any culture from any period of human history are eligible for consideration. A myth is a story that is sacred to and shared by a group of people who find important meanings in it, as it is conveyed through narrative, art or ritual. Eligible projects include, but are not limited to: the relationships between myths and religious practices, the uses of myth in literary and artistic productions, and the reuse of one culture’s myths by other cultures. Possible approaches include, but are not limited to, the anthropological, the literary, the historical, and the folkloric, as well as creative approaches that aim to represent a myth as part of a new artistic product.

Candidates will be selected based on merit, although some preference will be given to proposals that cite specific need of funding for travel or for other expenses related to research or to performance or production of artistic projects. Preference will be given to candidates whose projects are part of a doctoral dissertation (with exceptions granted for students in departments that offer only the master’s degree). Recipients shall be selected by a committee consisting of the highest ranking official in the College of Arts and Sciences or his/her designee, the highest ranking official in the Center for the Study of Religion or his/her designee, the highest ranking official in the Center of Folklore Studies or his/her designee, and a member of the Department of Classics, as appointed by the highest ranking official in the department or his/her designee, in consultation with Student Financial Aid. Award amount is at discretion of the committee. If the Center for the Study of Religion ceases to exist as an independent entity at The Ohio State University, then the endowment will be placed in the Department of Classics and the selection process will remain in place.

The University may modify any criteria used to select scholarship recipients should the criteria be found, in whole or in part, to be contrary to federal or state law or University policy.

The highest ranking official in the College of Arts and Sciences or his/her designee has the discretion to hold all or a portion of the unused distribution in the distribution fund to be used in subsequent years, and/or reinvest all or a portion of the unused distribution in the endowment principal.
